CAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 24.—Chicago was the hottest place in the United today. The official thermometer the roof of the Federal Building 87 deg. this afternoon. On street the temperature was several degrees higher, but a fifteen- wind from the southwest made heat more bearable.

The 87-deg. mark today is the April record. The highest reached in 1914 was 81 deg. The previous record this year was 84 on day. According to the weather there is no immediate prospects relief. Sunday will be another day, according to the official forecast and there is no rain in sight. the highest temperature in country was recorded in the other cities recorded temperatures of 86, 85 and 84. In De- where the high point was 84, humidity was greater than Chi- One death and two prostrations from heat were reported in De- Reports from other cities told high temperatures, Grand Rapids, Cincinnati, Evansville, Ind., and Tenn., reported a maximum of 86. Pittsburgh, Pa., was another hot place. The high point reached there was 84.

Up to a late hour tonight there had been no heat prostrations reported in Chicago. This was due, however, to the fact that Saturday is generally observed as a half-holiday and the workers had taken refuge in the parks and other shady places.

The warm weather reached from Medicine Hat, where the cold weather used to be manufactured, to the Atlantic seaboard. In Detroit the temperature was 84, the highest for an April 24 since the Weather Bureau was established. Thomas Klomozich, one of the three overcome by the heat, died while being taken to a hospital.

Straw hats began to lose their novelty. Panamas and wide-brim straws with weird-colored bands were frequently seen on the streets.

Soda water, baseball, hand-holding couples on park benches, families picnicking under the slender shade of budding trees and the opening for the day of the "Coastwise" lake excursion traffic gave evidence of summer temperature.

Collar stores were overworked, the drinking fountains just installed in the Loop were well patronized and the electric companies turned on more generators to keep electric fans going.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

So far as the war may be said to explain itself the Germans have had two purposes in view in the West—(1) to take Paris; (2) to take Calais. The attempt on Paris was abandoned last fall. The attempt on Calais, apparently abandoned, seems now only to have been postponed. The Kaiser's men are again hard at it and reinforcements are being sent in to sustain or complete the attack on the allies' line that reached the apogee of sensationalism when the German stinkpots were let loose. The allies appear to have retaken some lost ground.

Villa, accusing of cowardice his generals, whom he blames for his recent defeat at Celaya, is now reported to be trying to get together still another army. Gen. Huerta is said to be headed for the southwest to take up arms again in Mexico.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NORTH OF FRANCE, April 24.—There is no doubt that the action which has been proceeding about Ypres for a week, and which will probably be known in history as the second battle of Ypres, is the hardest and hottest yet developed on the extreme western front. Indeed, no battle of the war has developed so much action on so concentrated a front. It is the third desperate attempt of the Germans since this war began to break through the combined British and Belgian lines and take the important city of Calais.

From an attack on one small but important hill, the action has spread until it involves at least half of the British-Belgian line and it is widening hourly. It began a week ago in an attack on Hill 60, where the Germans held positions of great importance for the use of their artillery. There had been mining and counter-mining. Had the British not fired the three mines which precipitated the actions, the Germans, before the day was done, would doubtless have blown up the British positions at their front. Through very severe fighting the British secured the craters and held them against strong counter attacks. At the present time and contrary to German reports, Gen. French's army retains all this hill except the portion strategically important on its forward slope.

During the fight for this hill, the British counter-attacked several times in order to prevent the Germans from drawing off reinforcements to the critical point. This series of attacks and counter-attacks running along the whole line developed into that general attack on the British lines with Calais for the objective which the Germans probably have been planning ever since matters began to come to a deadlock in the Carpathians.

The Germans, making full use of their artillery, launched infantry attacks in their old manner—close lock. As formerly, the British and French slaughtered them heavily with machine guns and rifle fire. Then on Thursday the Germans suddenly threw in that attack with asphyxiating bombs, which will doubtless become famous in this war. It succeeded in breaking the line of the French near Bixschoote, although not to such an extent as the Germans claim in today's communique.

The nearest British support was part of the Canadian contingent. Fighting with desperate bravery, the Canadians succeeded in recovering part of the lost ground. They are still at it today. On a favorable wind, the sound of cannonading can be heard as far away as the coast towns.

The nature of the gas carried by the German asphyxiating shells remains a mystery. Whatever the gas is, it spreads rapidly and remains close to the ground. It is believed not to be specially deadly. It overpowers its victims and puts them hors de combat for a few days without killing many. The effect at Bixschoote may have been due to the panic caused by the new device. Its composition and the manner of discharge probably are not a mystery to the scientific artillerists of the allies. That such devices might be used in war has been known for a long time, but the positive prohibitions of the Hague conference prevented the more civilized nations of Europe from going far with experiments in this line.

CHINESE APPEAL TO THE HAGUE; JAPS SEND STERN ULTIMATUM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—An appeal to The Hague Tribunal to aid China in resisting the twenty-one demands made by Japan will be cabled tonight by the Chinese Six Companies, representatives of that organization announced. The message was drafted and adopted at a recent secret mass meeting of Chinese. It purports to represent the sentiments of the Six Companies, which are said to be composed of Chinese throughout North and South America.

The translated message set out that the integrity and sovereignty of China is at stake; that there is at present in China no representative government, no parliament; and that the President of China is keeping the Chinese people in the dark as to the number and nature of the demands.

The cablegram relates further that the President of China is taking no one into his confidence in the Japanese-Chinese negotiations, and charges that Yuan Shi Kai is ready to accede to the Japanese demands, which the cablegram says number twenty-one. The appeal, which is signed by the six separate presidents of the Six Companies, characterizes the present Japanese-Chinese situation as a "crisis," and pleads for the help of The Hague Tribunal.

Dispatches received today from Peking by two Chinese newspapers here state that the Japanese demands upon China number fifty-one and that Yuan Shi Kai has acceded to all but seven of them.

Li Sum-Ling, a representative of the Chinese Minister of Finance, who is here on a financial mission, said he seriously doubted the veracity of the dispatches.

THREE-DAY LIMIT SET BY JAPAN.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

HONOLULU (T. H.) April 24.—An ultimatum demanding a satisfactory answer within three days to the demands of Japan on China has been sent by the Japanese Cabinet to Eki Hioki, the Japanese Minister at Peking, for delivery to the representatives of China at the negotiations, according to a dispatch from Tokio to the Hawaii Shinpo, a Japanese newspaper here.

BERKELEY, April 24.—Early returns of the election for Mayor held here today indicate that Samuel C. Irvine, nonpartisan candidate, defeated J. Stitt Wilson, Socialist and former Mayor, by a large majority. Returns from seventeen of the thirty-three precincts show Irvine 1000 votes ahead.

Mayor Charles D. Heywood, who was a candidate for re-election, was defeated at the primary held three weeks ago.

PEACE TALK IS ABSURD, FRENCH WOMEN PROTEST.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 24, 10:21 p.m.—Following the protestation of the National French Women's League against the Women's Peace Conference at The Hague, the women of France, the National Council of French Women, the French Women's Suffrage Union and Mme. Juillette Adam, in the name of the French Women's Crusade, have sent refusals to invitations requesting them to participate in the conference.

Mme. Adam, writing to Ellinor Fell, the English delegate, declared:

"To ask French women to seek arbitration or mediation at this hour, or to talk of an armistice, is to ask them to consent to national abdication."

FURTHER CONCESSIONS BY AUSTRIA TO ITALY.

ROME (via Paris) April 24, 6 p.m.—The council of ministers which was to have been held this afternoon to discuss the international situation was postponed. This was interpreted to mean that Baron Sonnino, Minister of Foreign Affairs, contrary to expectations, was not ready to communicate anything definite to his colleagues regarding the negotiations with Germany and Austria.

It is reported that Austria has made further concessions in the endeavor to preserve Italian neutrality, but it is said that these are not satisfactory to Italy. It is stated that Baron Sonnino is obdurate in the demands representing a minimum of what Italy expects. Great excitement reigns here and in Vienna and Berlin over the negotiations.

Premier Salandra and Baron Sonnino frequently see King Victor Emmanuel and discuss the matter after interviews with Prince Von Buelow, the German Ambassador in Rome, and Baron De Macchio, the Austrian Ambassador.

Italy's military preparations already are nearly perfect and they are daily becoming more complete.

NEW EARTHQUAKE SHAKES ITALY.

AVEZZANO (Italy) April 24 (via Paris, April 25.)—A strong earthquake shock occurred at 4 o'clock this afternoon and lasted several seconds. It was preceded and accompanied by deep rumblings. Great alarm was caused among the people who have not yet recovered from the recent disastrous earthquake in this section.

It seems that the epicentrum was at Tagliacozzo, where several houses and a historic castle, already damaged by the last earthquake, were badly shaken. Some tottering walls fell. Assistance has been dispatched from this place.

Germans Pouring Strong Reinforcements Into Flanders for Attack on Calai

The Great War.

TO PRESS THE ATTACK ON THE ALLIES' LINES.

Second Battle of the Yser Canal District More Sanguinary than the First.

Canadian Troops Make a Brilliant Counter-charge and Save the Situation, According to Sir John French. London Hears that the Kaiser's Cohorts Have been Checked—New Russian Offensive.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 24, 10:15 p.m.—The Germans are pouring troops into Flanders to press the attack which at the beginning has forced the allies back to the Yser Canal to the north of Ypres. This movement, according to reports reaching Holland, has assumed even greater dimensions than those which preceded the battle that raged for more than two weeks in this same region last October. On that occasion the operations ended in the discomfiture of the Germans, who had declared their intention of pushing their way through to Calais.

It appears that the Germans have a similar aim today and have set out to capture Ypres, which is described as the key to the French ports.

While the attack originally met with considerable success, due, according to the allies, reports, to the use by the Germans of asphyxiating gases, it is said to have been already checked.

SAVED BY CANADIANS.

The Canadians, who held the extreme left of the British line and were forced to retire when the rest of the front was pressed back, made a brilliant counter-attack, regaining most if not all the ground which they had conceded, and retaking four guns which they had left in the hands of the Germans. In the words of Sir John French, they saved the situation.

The British report does not say how much ground they recovered, but the statement in the Berlin official report that a British attack at St. Julien was repulsed shows that they are well back in their old positions, for this town, which is on the main road between Ypres and Poelcappelle, is immediately south of Langemarck, from which point the German attack was launched.

The Germans, however, still maintain their hold on the Yser Canal farther north, for they speak of storming the village of Lizerne, which is across the canal between the towns of Steenstraate and Het Sast, which they took in their first rush. The German attack to the south of Ypres, which was made simultaneously with that to the north, apparently has failed entirely.

These attacks are believed to have been the commencement of another big battle, which, with both sides strongly intrenched, promises to be one of the bitterest and bloodiest of the war. Telegrams from Holland tonight tell not only of the movement of German reinforcements to the front but of long trains of dead and wounded which are passing to the rear—a condition of affairs which also must exist in the rear of the allied army. The outcome of this battle is awaited with the utmost eagerness.

OTHER FIGHTING.

In the meantime fighting goes on in Champagne and the Woevre, as well as in the Carpathians. Despite torrential rains, the Russians appear to have resumed their attacks on the Austro-German positions guarding Uzsok Pass. The capture by the Russians of hill No. 1001, it is claimed, will greatly facilitate their operations, reducing in importance hill No. 992, which the Austrians still hold.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE.

Confirmation of this new Russian offensive is contained in the Austrian official report, which records fighting on Turka road, which traverses Uzsok Pass.

There is no official news as yet of operations in the Dardanelles or the North Sea, but in the latter region there is evidence of activity on the part of the Germans, who have sunk or captured several neutral vessels. The Danish steamer Nidaros was captured; the Norwegian barks Oscar and Eva, and the Swedish steamer Ruth were torpedoed by submarines; the Norwegian steamer Caprivi was blown up by a mine off the English coast, while the Finnish steamer Frack was torpedoed in the Baltic.

ITALY.

Diplomats are watching Italy, which apparently has not yet reached a decision on her future attitude. The fact that the meeting of the Council of Ministers, called for today, was postponed, would seem to indicate that negotiations between Italy and the Germanic allies are still proceeding or that Italy is waiting for a final answer to her demands for territorial concessions.

German Account of the Fighting.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, April 24 (by wireless to Sayville.)—The German general headquarters gave out the following official statement:

"Attempts made by the enemy to reconquer lost terrain to the north and northeast of Ypres (Belgium) failed. The French and British attacks broke down under the German fire. The number of prisoners—French, English and Belgian—rose to 2470. The pieces of cannon captured up to the present total thirty-five. In addition a large number of machine guns and rifles and much ammunition and other war material were taken by the Germans. West of the Ypres Canal the Germans stormed the town of Lizerne.

"In the Champagne region the Germans blasted an enemy trench. Near Beausejoferme the French shelled their own trenches with artillery. Between the Meuse and the Moselle French attacks failed.

"The enemy who had entered the German trenches were ejected.

"In the forest of Le Pretre the Germans made progress.

"In the Vosges there were no war operations on account of the fog and snow.

"In the eastern war arena there is no change in the situation."

Paris Report on the Ypres Fight.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, April 24, 10:35 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the War Office tonight:

"To the north of Ypres the Germans during the night of April 23-24 and during Saturday made strenuous efforts to avail themselves of the surprise they had engineered the day before yesterday with their asphyxiating gases. Their attempts failed.

"On Saturday at daybreak on the left bank of the Yser they had succeeded in carrying the village of Lizerne. The French Zouaves and Belgian carabineers, however, through a vigorous attack, recaptured the village, which was soon left behind us.

"In conjunction with the Belgian army, we made perceptible progress on our left. On our right we advanced more slowly.

"During that time the British troops were subjected to a fierce attack. They immediately replied by a counter-attack, the result of which is not yet known.

"In Champagne, on the northern salient of the Beausejour blockhouse, the Germans exploded five powerful mines near our trenches. Despite the violence of the explosion, our troops, outstripping the enemy, at once occupied the excavations, which were about seventy-five feet in diameter.

"Very fierce encounters have taken place in the Ailly wood, where the Germans are making desperate efforts to recapture the 700 meters of trenches (about half a mile) which we took from them April 22. Thus we were forced to evacuate this morning a section of these trenches, but we retook it during the course of the day and now hold it.

"In the forest of Apremont and at the Tete-de-Vache (Cow's Head) the enemy shelled our positions violently, but there was no further attack."

SAYS GREECE IS READY TO UNITE WITH ALLIES.

PARIS, April 24.—Christakis Zographos, former Minister of Greece, is quoted today by the Information as declaring that Greece was ready to unite with the allies in the operations at the Dardanelles, if invited to do so.

The Information says that M. Zographos made this statement to Hubert Jacques, a correspondent of this paper. Up to the present time he said, Greece had not been asked to co-operate with the allies. The Foreign Minister is quoted as saying that in respect to this question the policy of his Cabinet is identical with that of M. Venizolos, the former Premier, whose retirement is generally understood to have been brought about by his desire for participation in the war by Greece on the side of the allies.

"It is simply a question of the propitious moment," the Foreign Minister is quoted as saying.

SOLITARY CONFINEMENT GERMAN ACT OF REPRISAL.

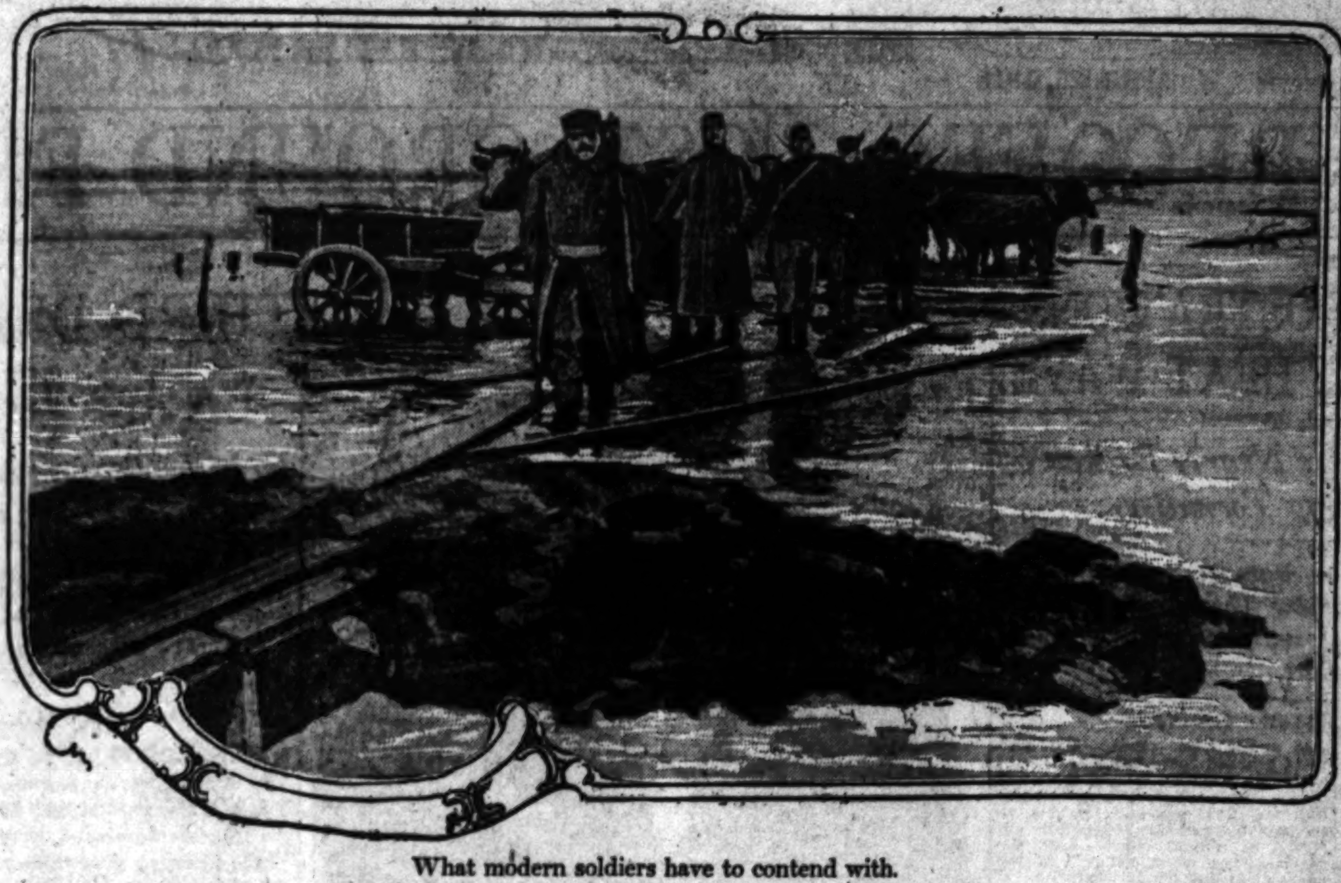
LONDON, April 24.—There was received here today a list of the thirty-nine British officers placed in detention barracks, ten of them in solitary confinement, by the German government in retaliation for the declination of Great Britain to accord honors of war to crews of captured German submarines.

Included in the list of seven captains and thirty-two lieutenants are the names of Lord Garlies, Alexander Fraser, Master of Saltoun, Lieut. Goschen, son of Sir William Edward Goschen, former British Ambassador to Berlin; Robin Grey, a nephew of the British Foreign Minister, and many sons of peers. Nearly all the prisoners belong to crack regiments.

The Lay of the Land in the Ypres District.



What modern soldiers have to contend with.

The above photograph sent out by the German Press Bureau in Berlin gives an idea of the country along the Yser Canal and in the Ypres district where the Germans and the allies are now engaged in what is said to be the most sanguinary battle of the whole war. The country was flooded by the allies last fall. The water remains on the ground and winter rains and snows have contributed to make the situation worse. Frequently the soldiers are said to be in water up to their waists in the fighting in this vicinity.

GERMANS WANDER LIKE ULYSSES

REMNANT OF EMDEN'S CREW IS HEARD OF AGAIN.

Men Who Commandeered Schooner in the Indian Ocean Elude Allied Patrol Ships, but Get Rough Treatment from the Arabs After They Land.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, April 24 (via wireless to London.)—The crew of the German warship Aysha, composed of men who escaped when the cruiser Emden was sunk by an Australian warship in the Indian Ocean November 10, have escaped again from allied patrol ships and arrived at the Arabian harbor of Lidd March 27. They covered by sea the 300 miles from Hodeida to Lidd.

After reaching the coast the sailors attempted to continue their journey overland, but were attacked by Arabs, supposedly at the instigation of the English. After three days' stubborn fighting the attacks were repulsed and they reached the road to Hodachas, where the railway was open. The adventurous Germans suffered heavy losses.

The bold exploits of this remnant of the Emden's crew have constituted one of the most dramatic episodes of the war. The men were members of a landing party which was on Cocos Island when the battle occurred between the Australian cruiser Sydney and the Emden in which the German cruiser was sunk.

Under the leadership of Lieut. Von Muecke the landing party commandeered the schooner Aysha and sailed away. Since that time there have been many conflicting reports regarding their activities.

Manila heard that they had captured a collier on which they had mounted two Maxim guns and had been making raids on French commerce. The French Ministry of Marine announced December 18 that the auxiliary cruiser Empress of Japan had captured the collier with the men on board.

A Berlin dispatch February 5, however, said the Aysha had reached Hodeida, Arabia, where the crew was given an enthusiastic welcome by Turkish troops.

The port referred to in the Berlin dispatch to London today as Lidd may be Jidda on the Red Sea coast of Arabia. The ultimate destination of the Germans is a matter of speculation, but apparently they are headed for Turkey.

WANTED IN LOS ANGELES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—After eluding the authorities in a chase across the continent, William Pepper, or Pepperstein, who is said to have deserted his wife and two children in Los Angeles, was apprehended today by process-servers of the Municipal Court. The officers had learned that Pepper was stopping at the home of his sister and early this morning they watched the house. Shortly after 7 o'clock Pepper came out and the officers followed and arrested him, using a photograph in the Los Angeles Police Bulletin as a means of identification.

Pepper's wife, who had come East when she received information that he had left Chicago for Philadelphia, was immediately sent for to identify the man. Officer Moser said the identification of the man was easy because of a peculiar scar at the side of his nose. The alleged wife-deserter was taken before the Municipal Court and real estate security was demanded for his appearance at a hearing.

RESIDENCE BURNS.

In the absence of the occupants a two-story frame residence at Eighteenth street and West Boulevard, just outside the city limits, burned down last night, causing a loss of $6500. The building was owned by J. N. Sanborn and occupied by Mrs. Hazel Barton and Miss Mason, sisters, who came here two months ago from Seattle. They went to San Diego yesterday morning. The fire department refused to fight the blaze because it was outside the city limits.

Greater Activity in Naval Action is Reported from the North Sea—Crews are Granted but Ten Minutes to Board Lifeboats Before Their Larger Craft are Sent to the Bottom.

LONDON, April 24, 7:45 p.m.—The The Norwegian steamship Caprivi, which sailed from Baltimore April 6 for Christiania by way of Ardrossan, Scotland, struck a mine at a point fifteen miles northeast of Tory Island last night and sank, according to a dispatch received here today by Lloyds' agency from Inishtrahill, Ireland. The crew was landed at Inishtrahill today.

The Danish steamer Nidaros, 612 tons net, has been captured by a German warship in the North Sea and taken into port at the Island of Sylt. The Nidaros sailed from Denmark for England with a cargo of American products.

The crews of the Norwegian barks Oscar and Eva were landed at Dury Island, Scotland, today by the steamship Anna, flying the Danish flag. A German submarine overhauled the barks about 170 miles northeast of the Longstone and allowed their crews ten minutes to board lifeboats. The submarine then shelled the abandoned vessels.

Subsequently the submarine stopped the Danish steamer Anna and ordered her to take aboard the crews of Oscar and Eva. The barks were bound for a Scottish port and were loaded with pit props.

The steamer Marie, cotton laden from Galveston for Malmoe, Sweden, is being detained at Kirkwall, Scotland, pending the purchase of her cargo by the British government under the cotton agreement.

The steamer Livonia from Galveston for Copenhagen is being held at Falmouth, England, pending an investigation of her cotton cargo.

The freighter Ruth was sunk by a German submarine on Wednesday when about 100 miles east of May Island in the North Sea. The crew was rescued and was landed at Leith, Scotland.

STOCKHOLM, April 24 (via London.)—The Finnish steamer Frack has been torpedoed and sunk in the Baltic by a German submarine. It is believed that the members of her crew were saved.

The Frack carried a cargo of iron ore and was on her way to Abo, Finland.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 23 (via London.)—Six officers and nineteen members of the crew of the British submarine E-15 sunk in the Dardanelles last Saturday were brought to Constantinople today. The officers and three of the wounded rode in carriages, while the other men walked across the Stamboul bridge to the War Department with a small escort.

The procession was watched by an immense crowd as the men were the first British prisoners of war to reach the city.

BRITISH RESERVE DECLINES IN MONEY AND BULLION.

LONDON, April 16.—Since the beginning of the year the Bank of England bullion movements on foreign account show that on balance a little over £5,000,000 has been exported or set aside, this figure allowing for the marking on £9,000,000 for redemption of treasury notes. In the same period the reserve has declined by about £12,250,000 and the coin and bullion by fully £13,000,000. Therefore something like £8,500,000 of gold coin has gone into circulation at home in order to meet cash payments necessitated by the war and a considerable part has probably gone to France for the payment of British troops.

That the drain is abnormal may be gathered from the fact that in the corresponding period of 1914, £900,000 was received from abroad, while at the same time the coin and bullion and the reserve in the Bank of England declined about £900,000, indicating that only £1,800,000 in gold had been withdrawn for home purposes.

Another remarkable change in the bank return since the beginning of the year has been growth in public deposits and other deposits which together now exceed £207,000,000, compared with £151,000,000 at the end of December, 1914.

According to the Board of Trade employment in March showed a general improvement. There was a shortage of male labor in many instances, especially in engineering, shipbuilding, coal mining and agriculture and of female labor in some branches of the clothing trade.

Compared with a year ago, the trades affected by the war, such as engineering, shipbuilding, woolens, hosiery, boots and mens' clothing, showed a decided improvement, but plate, cotton, linen, lace, silk, pottery, brick and glass trades were considerably below 1914.

FIRST ARMY OF ITALIANS NEARLY A MILLION MEN.

PARIS, April 24, 5:20 p.m.—French military writers estimate the full military strength of Italy at two million men, of whom 800,000 probably form the active field army.

The chief of the Italian General Staff is Lieut.-Gen. Count Cadorna. He was born September 4, 1850, and is a son of Raphael Cadorna, who was distinguished for his services in the Crimea. Lieut.-Gen. Cadorna is regarded as a brilliant thinker, cool and tenacious, and still in the height of his powers.

The principal assistant to Lieut.-Gen. Cadorna is Lieut.-Gen. Porro, under-chief of the General Staff. The latter is 61 years old. He is very popular with the army, and is reputed to possess high strategic prowess.

CHRIST GIVEN AN OPIATE?

DR. HAUPT INSISTS BIBLE IS HIS AUTHORITY.

Professor of Scientific Languages in Johns Hopkins University Tells American Philosophical Society this was Jewish Custom When Criminals Were Executed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Christ was given an opiate as he suffered on the cross, Dr. Paul Haupt, professor of semitic languages in Johns Hopkins University, told the American Philosophical Society here today.

Dr. Haupt's paper was entitled "Opium in the Bible." He said that the "gall with wine proffered the Saviour" as told in Matthew's xxvii, 34, indicated, by strict interpretation, a bitter fluid and opium.

"Myrrh," told of in Mark xv: 23, he added, denotes the drug.

"The talmud," the professor declared, "states that a 'cup of wine with lebonah' was given criminals before their execution. Lebonah means incense, as a rule; but in this case it was used for opium."

TAFT FAVORS LONGER TERM.

BUT IS AGAINST TINKERING WITH CONSTITUTION.

Former President Also Criticises Passage of Bills of Doubtful Constitutionality and Then Putting Them up to Supreme Court to Decide—Has Lost Sixty Pounds.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BALTIMORE (Mo.) April 24.—Former President William H. Taft made three addresses here today. He spoke on "The Opportunities of Citizenship" at the City Club, a few hours after Secretary of State Bryan had given advice to new voters at the same place. The former President then went to the Johns Hopkins University, where he gave an intimate view of "The Presidency, Its Powers, Its Functions and Its Responsibilities."

"I have often thought it would have been better," said Mr. Taft, "to have made the term six or seven years with ineligibility for re-election. But I don't want to tinker with the Constitution. There are so many people who think it ought to be radically changed that I prefer to have a few spots on the sun rather than run the risk of it going out altogether."

Mr. Taft had a few caustic words to say about pressure put upon the President to approve bills of doubtful constitutionality which had been passed to satisfy "the folks at home" and which went to the Supreme Court for decision as to the constitutionality. That, he thought, was the cause of much of the criticism of the Supreme Court which is heard. The large number of measure it has decided unconstitutional, he said, is used as an argument of the court's antagonistic attitude towards the things the people want."

Mr. Taft also spoke at the banquet tonight of Yale alumni.

TAFT TELLS HOW HE LOST WEIGHT.

BALTIMORE (Md.) April 24.—William Howard Taft, speaking at the luncheon of the City Club today, confessed to a loss of sixty pounds in weight by dieting. The former President gave this recipe for throwing off weight:

"One must refrain from eating sugars and farinaceous foods. Then he must not eat fats and must take plenty of exercise. After the proper weight is obtained, it is not necessary to exercise so frequently, but one must not take two helpings."

CAPTURES PAIR SINGLE-HANDED.

HUSKY DETECTIVE SEES THEM TAKE HIS CAR; VICTOR IN HOT BOUT.

Detectives James of the "Flying Squadron" appeared at the Central Police Station three hours early last night. In the wake of the six-foot policeman, firmly held by the coat sleeves, were two prisoners. Both looked the worse for wear.

"Suspicion of grand larceny," said Detective James to the property clerk, and both prisoners were led away by the turnkey. "That is what happens to people when they try to steal my girl's automobile," was all Detective James would say.

After much questioning the story came out. While driving in his girl's automobile Detective James saw a friend standing in front of No. 122 North Main street. He stopped the car near the curb and got out.

Standing with his back to the automobile, Detective James did not see two men approach the car, look it over and then get in. The policeman, however, turned around just in time to see the machine start to roll away.

With a shout he took after the automobile and caught it about 100 yards away. The fun began. The two men in the car did not want to get out and a free-for-all with the detective as the center took place. It ended with Mr. James in possession of the automobile and two prisoners.

The prisoners refused to talk about the taking of the automobile, but declared they are jitney bus drivers. They gave their names as Fred Whiting and Charles Goodwin.

GOES TO PRISON ON A FAST TRAIN.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE ST. LOUIS BOARD OF ALDERMEN IS ON WAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—August H. Frederick, who recently resigned from the presidency of the Board of Aldermen, to which he was elected this spring by a 22,000 plurality, today pleaded guilty to forgery in the first degree.

He was sentenced to ten years in the State penitentiary. It was announced he would be taken to prison today.

The charge on which he pleaded guilty was the forging of the name of Mrs. Esther Ellis of Winchester, Ill., to a $2100 deed of trust.

Frederick was taken to the penitentiary at Jefferson City on a fast train this afternoon. None of his family was present to see him off.

ACCIDENT VICTIM DIES.

Man Whose Car Hit Jitney, Causing Fatality, Taken in Custody, but Later Released.

Harry Craig, injured Thursday night when a large automobile driven by Wallace Reid, a motion-picture actor, crashed into a jitney bus at Temple street and North Broadway, died early last night at the California Hospital. Mr. Reid, who is awaiting trial for a violation of a traffic law, was taken to the Central Police Station by Detective Fitzgerald following the death of Mr. Craig, but was released following a telephone conversation between the detective and Deputy District Attorney Shannon.

Mr. Reid was taken into court yesterday and his trial on the traffic law violation charge was set for Tuesday. He is out on $75 bail. He declared yesterday that the accident was in no way his fault. Yesterday pictures were taken of the wrecked automobile which, according to Mr. Reid, show his machine struck the jitney bus near the rear left side, indicating he saw the machine in time to attempt to avoid the accident. He declared his machine was running at about twenty-two miles an hour.

According to Detective Fitzgerald, who had charge of the investigation, if Mr. Reid is charged with manslaughter it will be after the inquest, which will be held in a few days.

The accident, according to the police, occurred when Mr. Reid's machine was going at high speed. The bus, with E. Winn driving, and Harry Craig of No. 1115 Colton street and Al Atwood of No. 1028 South Hope street as passengers, was running west on Temple street. The car driven by Mr. Reid was going north on Broadway.

U. OF C. ALUMNI PLAN BIG PARADE.

FIFTY CLASSES TO GATHER AT BERKELEY TO CELEBRATE CALIFORNIA DAY.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERKELEY, April 23.—The greatest pilgrimage ever held on the University of California campus and perhaps the longest ever held anywhere, will take place here on May 8, when the alumni for over fifty years back gather to take part in the celebration of "California Day."

Fifty classes, graduated by the university since it was founded, will have representatives in the march. Gardner Williams, the oldest living alumnus, a member of the class of '65 and perhaps the only man left who remembers the university's first days back in the hills before there was a town within ten miles of it, will be one of the participants in the pageant. Among the others who have signified their willingness to partake of the fun of the celebration are ex-Gov. Pardee, '79, Dr. A. A. D'Ancona and Superior Judge M. T. Farmer, '09.

The plan of the march is from Harmon Gymnasium to the Greek Theater. The line will be in order of classes. A brass band, composed of four musical organizations, will accompany the marchers. At the theater, in addition to the prominent speakers of the day, the Stanford axe, California's oldest tradition, will be brought out.

OBJECT TO SPLIT OF CALIFORNIA.

HIGH SCHOOL DELEGATES ARE OPPOSED TO CHANGE IN THE STATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—One hundred delegates, representing more than twenty high schools of San Francisco and the bay cities, attended the thirty-fourth semi-annual convention of the Debating League of California here today. Among the resolutions adopted was one protesting against the proposed division of the State.

"The Monroe Doctrine and its relation to international peace between North and South America" was the subject of an extemporaneous debate.

CUT NEW HAVEN STOCK.

Shareholders in Special Meeting Vote to Retire Large Amount of Securities Now in Treasury.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) April 24.—The stockholders of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company in special meeting today by ballot voted 1,076,128 for and none against, to reduce the capital stock of the company from 1,800,170 shares to 1,571,179 shares by retiring and cancelling 228,991 shares now in the treasury, and to accept amendments to the company's charter recently passed by the general assemblies of Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Positive denials that the directors had considered an issue of preferred stock were made by President Howard Elliott in a short address.

Garrison, Scott and Crozier Witness Demonstration of New Turret Which is Going to Philippines.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANDY HOOK (N. J.) April 24.—Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, Brig.-Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff, and Brig.-Gen. William Crozier spent today here witnessing a successful test of a new turret mounted with two fourteen-inch guns which is to be sent to the Philippine Islands. The test included the firing of several heavy charges.

Later Mr. Garrison went to his home at Seabright, N. J.

DEDICATE ITALY'S BUILDING.

Appropriate Celebration is Held at Panama-Pacific Exposition and Several Speeches Made.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—Italian children from American schools celebrated with native songs the dedication of Italy's buildings and exhibits at the Panama-Pacific Exposition today. Eight buildings represent the periods of Italian architecture, and the exhibits symbolize the history of Italy's art, craftsmanship and social development. Beside the displays in the group of buildings there are representations from Italy in virtually every palace in the exposition.

Ernesto Nathan, Commissioner-General from Italy, and former Mayor of Rome, presided at the dedication programme.

Vice-Commissioner Ferdinando Daneo bore a message from King Victor Emmanuel III.

Wonderful Drink Habit Treatment
The Neal Treatment Restores Drinking Men and Women to Sobriety in Three Days.
If men and women who have become mastered by drink will spend three days at the head Neal Institute of the Pacific Coast, 945 South Olive street, taking the Neal Treatment—or take the Neal Home Treatment—the craving for just so many drinks each day will be removed. Hypodermic injections never used. Now is the time to stop drinking before something terrible happens. For full information call or write or phone. G. U. Neal, Manager. Phones, Broadway 4602; A4072. What Leads to Tuberculosis?
In the opinion of many medical authorities, the development of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) is hastened, if not actually precipitated, by a loss of lime from the system. "Where there is a decalcification the lime salts must be supplied medicinally," says Dr. J. W. Carhart of San Antonio, Texas, in the May, 1913, issue of "Medical Progress."
To supply these necessary salts has, in many instances, proved a difficult matter, since in some of the forms they are not easily assimilable.
In Eckman's Alterative, however, calcium (lime) is so combined with other remedial agents as to be assimilated by the average person without digestive disturbance, and to this, in part, is due the success of this remedy in the treatment of tuberculosis and chronic throat and bronchial affections.
We make no boastful claims for Eckman's Alterative, but a careful record of results obtained during years of widespread use warrants the assertion that many such cases apparently have yielded to it.
It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, hence its use is not attended with danger. Your druggist has it or will order it, or you can send direct.

SPLIT IN RANKS OF JITNEY MEN.

State-wide Organization to be Their Next Move.

Great Depreciation Caused in Street-car Property.

Take Cream of Business of the Traction Lines.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—A State-wide organization of 5-cent fare automobile men to fight the proposed bills for regulation of the business, now before the Legislature, was declared imminent today by H. V. McMeans, former president of the San Francisco Jitney Bus Association and at present a director of that organization. McMeans charged there was an organized railroad lobby in Sacramento to force through the Conrad and Cogswell bills, which he said would cripple the 5-cent fare automobile business.

He asserted that the present organization of nickel-fare automobile men in San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Fresno and Bakersfield would affiliate.

Five-cent fare automobile operators in San Francisco, according to Mr. McMeans, are now under an annual tax, city and State combined, of between $162 and $199. Included in this minimum and maximum is the cost of an accident insurance policy made mandatory by the Board of Supervisors.

A split in the ranks of the 5-cent fare men resulted today in the incorporation of a second organization here, called the California Safety Jitney Association.

SPECIAL REPORT ON THE JITNEYS.

OAKLAND, April 24.—The investigation of the Special Transportation Committee of the Oakland Commercial Club into the jitney, from a community standpoint, was concluded today by the issuance of an exhaustive treatise which, after reviewing all the phases, decided from the standpoint of the building up of the outlying districts of a city, which the jitney does not reach.

The jitney, says the report, serves a city within a radius of three miles from the center of town. In doing this, it competes with the profitable part of a street railway system. With lessened profits, the car company cannot maintain the unprofitable service in outside districts, and thus cannot develop those districts. The report then, taking the stand that the jitney cannot operate more than three miles for 5 cents, concludes:

"If the public supports the jitney and puts the street cars out of business, it must expect a zone system of fares for the jitney. Three miles is the outside limit of profit at present rates."

COMPILES JITNEY FIGURES.

The report takes jitney figures from all jitney cities and makes its average from all compilations totalled. The jitney is found to travel 137 miles per day, with an income of 5.5 cents per mile. Considering depreciation of auto, cost of operation and $3 per day for the driver, the report finds that operation costs 7 cents per mile and concludes that the jitney owner is "eating his machine" since he cannot allow for depreciation and is really living on his original investment.

The jitney's effect on bonds of utility companies is rated as tremendous. A valuation of $107,422,000 in the State is said to have depreciated 8.25 per cent. in four months since December, or $8,887,000. The report points to the effect on banks by this shrinkage, and also the effect on the incomes of city and State, which exact proportions of the earnings of street railroad companies.

Analyzing the jitney's effect on streets, the report quotes statistics from the city of London, where deterioration increased more than 100 per cent. after motor busses began operation.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION.

Congestion of vehicular traffic is one of the main phases given attention. In Oakland, it says, 11,300 persons are hauled home from the three main business blocks between 5 and 6 every evening. This takes 234 street cars, operating on a fifteen-second headway. As it takes thirteen jitneys to seat as many as one car, the report concludes that 3000 jitneys would be needed to handle the traffic.

While the report takes no sides on the jitney controversy, it hints that the jitney is a thing which makes no big money itself, yet is here to stay in some revised form, is popular, and may continue to be just a powerful enough factor in traffic work to knock out the profits of a surface car company, without going so far as to take the place of the car company. The report takes the stand that the ultimate result comes hardest in the end on those districts which the jitney cannot reach and the car companies cannot afford to serve much longer.

The report is the result of an exhaustive investigation by Stephen E. Kieffer, consulting engineer; J. H. L'Hommedieu and M. R. Sherwood, the committee.

SCHOONER UPSETS, THREE LIVES LOST.

COMBER CAPSIZES GASOLINE CRAFT WHILE CROSSING COQUILLE BAR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARSHFIELD (Or.) April 24.—As the gasoline schooner Randolph was crossing Coquille bar today a huge comber capsized it, and three lives were lost.

The vessel was washed ashore with its captain, Charles Anderson, and Henry Colvin, a member of the crew, still alive, imprisoned in the hold. Rescuers chopped a hole in the hull and took them out.

Chauncey Carpenter, a passenger, the only man on deck when the wave struck the schooner, swam ashore.

Those lost were Ernest McConnel, part owner of the vessel, and Milton Cox and R. E. Knorr, passengers.

OAKLAND GANG IS AT IT AGAIN.

BROADWAY UP THERE A FAVORITE BOULEVARD FOR HIGHWAYMEN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

OAKLAND, April 24.—Operating on Broadway in the heart of the downtown business section, two armed and unmasked men held up the brokerage office of G. F. Arthur shortly after noon today. Arthur, who was alone in his office, was bound to a chair, gagged and warned to make no outcry. The men secured $15 from a safe and made their escape.

Arthur managed to rid himself of the gag and make an outcry. He was heard and was freed by Miss Calantha Bracktle, who went to his aid. This is the third holdup of the kind committed on Broadway within the past two months by the same gang, the police believe.

MRS. ROACH OF LOS ANGELES PREFERS CHARGES.

Letter Which has Reached the Police of Portland, Or., Declares Writer's Relatives are Traveling About the Country in Company of Two Other Women.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 24.—Charges against Egbert Roach and his father, F. C. Roach, have been preferred by Mrs. F. C. Roach of Los Angeles, in letters to Dist.-Atty. Evans. Egbert Roach was convicted last fall on charges made by 14-year-old Margaret Fryckman. Mr. Evans has turned the case over to Federal authorities for investigation.

The elder Roach, according to his wife, has deserted her and is traveling about the country with Mrs. A. G. Smith, his son, Egbert, and his married daughter, whom he is charged with having taken from her husband two months after she was married. Egbert Roach, who by the terms of his parole, was required to turn over to the girl he wronged $250, and who agreed to stay away from drink, is "spending his days in idleness and his nights in cabarets," his mother charges.

Meantime, according to Mrs. Roach, she is living in a Los Angeles hotel on an allowance of 50 cents a day. That is all her husband will give her, she writes. He even has employed a man to watch her mail, she charges, and this charge is borne out by the fact that she signed her correspondence "Miss May Fowler, General Delivery."

OREGON MAN STABBED.

Body of Citizen of Corvallis Discovered in Yard Indicates Consummation of Foul Murder.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CORVALLIS (Or.) April 24.—William Purdy, who lived with his mother here, was found dead in the yard of his home. He had been stabbed with a dirk just below the heart.

The body was found lying head down on a woodpile just below a window, from which the glass had been broken. The police believe he was murdered in his room and his body hurled through the window. His mother left yesterday for a visit in Portland. An inquest will be held late today.

Turned-over chairs and a stand in the parlor indicated there had been a struggle before Purdy was stabbed and hurled through the window. Apparently the house had not been robbed. So far the police have uncovered no clew.

REFERS LAPIQUE CHARGES.

Erratic Los Angeles Attorney Demands Impeachment of Fourteen Judges by the Legislature.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, April 24.—Charges demanding the impeachment of Justices Sloss and Henshaw of the Supreme Court, Judge Conrey of the Appellate Court, and twelve Superior Court judges filed with Speaker Young by John Lapique of Los Angeles, were referred to the Assembly Judiciary Committee for examination and report today.

Although members of the Assembly have been told that Lapique is serving a term in jail and is regarded as irresponsible, Speaker Young declared to the Assembly that he could not take the responsibility of refusing to recognize the constitutional right of any citizen to address the Legislature for redress of a grievance, and that the danger of establishing a precedent for the disregarding of charges of impeachment cannot be risked.

It is expected that the Assembly Judiciary Committee will file an early report recommending immediate dismissal of the charges.

Can Arizona Tax Railway Property Brought to the Border to Escape the Ruffians of Mexico?

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 24.—The Southern Pacific Railroad Company raised before the State Tax Commission today the question of whether the State legally can tax rolling stock belonging to its lines in Mexico, after it had been brought to Nogales simply to protect it from marauding bands of revolutionists. Answering the complaint of the railroad company, officials of Santa Cruz county asserted the right to tax all property receiving the protection of the State of Arizona. A hearing will be held next Tuesday.

WILL PUMP AIR INTO THE F-4.

NEW PLAN FOR SALVAGING THE SUBMARINE ADVANCED AT HONOLULU.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE.]

HONOLULU (T. H.) April 24.—One or more divers will be lowered tomorrow to make another survey of the submarine F-4, it was announced tonight.

Plans have been made to attach an air hose to the hulk for the purpose of forcing air into it in the hope of decreasing the vessel's weight by a hundred tons. This will be done if the divers report that the top is not punctured and the salvage valve is accessible for this purpose.

If the weight can be decreased in this manner the work of towing the hulk toward shore will be made much easier.

Another cable attached to the hulk was worn through today and this necessitated a change in the construction of the lines, chains being spliced between them.

MOTORISTS MAY DROP DOWN THERE VIA THE TIOGA ROAD WHEN IT IS READY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 24.—Stephen T. Mather, assistant secretary of the Interior, announced today that the government had accepted the proffer of the Tioga road, a fifty-six-mile stretch which taps the heart of the Yosemite National Park, and which was built ten years ago by mine owners. The government, according to Mr. Mather, will begin to put the road in shape about May 1. When the Tioga road is in shape for travel transcontinental motorists westward bound by the northern route will be enabled to drop down from Ely, Nev., to the Yosemite instead of going first to San Francisco. Mr. Mather said the old trail should be in shape by July.

Woodbridge Farmer Accuses Couple of Living Together Without Marriage Ceremony—School Trustee and Prominent Church Man Involved, is Held at Stockton.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STOCKTON, April 24.—B. F. Woodson, a prominent farmer of Woodbridge, this county, and Mrs. Evelyn May Becktel, wife of an Oakland painter, occupy cells at the County Jail on a charge of residing together for more than a year without the formality of a marriage ceremony. The complaint was sworn to by the woman's husband, Otto I. Becktel. Woodson is also married and is the father of grown children. He was estranged from his wife several years ago. Becktel declared, according to the District Attorney, that he last saw his wife on January 3, 1913.

At that time she was in Santa Cruz, having left her home in Oakland because of domestic trouble. He said he went to Santa Cruz loaded with presents, hoping that his wife could be induced to return, but she refused. Woodson's alleged relationship with the woman came about, according to Becktel, through a real estate transaction. Mrs. Becktel met Woodson when he was called in to help the Becktels select a home in Oakland for the expected arrival of Mrs. Becktel's parents. Becktel stated that Woodson first took Mrs. Becktel on trips to look over property and that they later made such trips a subterfuge to be together.

Becktel left the selection of the home to his wife. At a later date Becktel declared he came to Stockton to search for his wife and by chance met Woodson, who appeared to sympathize with him keenly and promised assistance. Becktel said he never dreamed that his wife was then at Woodson's home. Owing to the fact that Woodson has been a school trustee and prominent in church affairs, the arrest has caused a mild sensation in Woodbridge.

ITALY'S PANIC WEARING OFF.

MONEY IN POSTOFFICE BANKS BEING REPLACED.

Confidence of People Gradually Being Regained and it is Said but Few are Now Taking Advantage of the Moratorium—System to be Extended.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

ROME, April 15.—The panic which seized depositors in the postoffice banks in Italy at the outbreak of the European war is "plainly wearing off," according to the report of Signor Riccio, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs. From July to December last there were withdrawals amounting to a net loss of 189,000,000 lire (approximately $37,400,000,) or a reduction of 8.83 per cent. of the deposits of the first part of the year.

"The postoffice depositories, however," says Signor Riccio, "regained the confidence of the people by the system of paying on request without having recourse to moratorium. I have raised the interest on deposits from 2.50 to 2.88 per cent., which makes it higher than any banking concern. In time I intend to introduce the system of checks. In this way we hope to save our thrifty working classes from the clutches of dishonest private banks. Even with the storm of 1914 the total deposits in the postoffice banks represent more than one-third the sum deposited in all other Italian institutes of credit. An extension of the postoffice savings banks, for the receipt of the savings of emigrants, is contemplated."

From 1909 to 1913 the deposits in the postoffice banks rose from 1,582,000,000 lire to 2,091,000,000 lire, with an average addition of 127,000,000 lire every year. The high point in July, 1914, was 2,139,000,000 lire.

UPTON SINCLAIR SUES SOCIALIST.

FORMER EDITOR OF "APPEAL TO REASON" SAID TO HAVE BROKEN CONTRACT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FORT SCOTT (Kan.) April 24.—This afternoon in the Federal Court here Upton Sinclair of Gulfport, Miss., the Socialist author, filed suit through his attorney, Hubert Lardner, against Fred D. Warren of Girard, Kan., formerly editor of the Appeal to Reason, for $12,000, which he claims is due him as the result of a contract which Warren entered into with him two years ago, but which he claims Warren has failed to fulfill.

Sinclair claims he made a contract two years ago with Warren to run a serial story from his pen in the Appeal and also to put it in book form and then sell at least 100,000 copies. He printed the story in the Appeal, is the claim, but never kept the rest of the contract.

FEW DOCTORS IN GLASGOW.

THOSE THAT ARE THERE ARE BADLY OVERWORKED.

Appeal is Made to the People to Only Call Physicians in Case of Urgency and to Put in Their Requests Early so that Schedules may be Arranged.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLASGOW (Scotland) April 2.—The serious situation which has arisen owing to the dearth of physicians is emphasized by a notice issued by the Scottish Emergency Medical Service Committee appealing to the public to refrain from calling upon doctors unnecessarily. The appeal says:

"It will help materially to relieve the great strain now imposed on medical practitioners remaining at their posts throughout the country—many of whom are at present working 15 or 16 hours a day—if patients will send for the doctor early as possible and so allow him to arrange his daily round with a view to economy of time. When the case is not an urgent one and a visit the next day would suffice, this should be stated.

"Local educational authorities are asked to note that, important as is medical inspection of school children, it is not nearly so urgent as the care of those who are dangerously ill. An appeal is therefore made for the release of school medical officers entirely or in part during the present emergency."

Retired doctors are invited to offer their services, and the younger lecturers and assistants in the medical schools and hospitals are asked to forego their usual Easter holidays or to substitute for them a "change of work."

COUNTRY LIVING OFF THE ARMY.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, April 10.—"Officially, the army is supposed to be living off the country, but really the country appears to subsist on the army," says a letter from the front. "There is plenty of evidence of this in the empty tins of bully beef, jam and butter seen in the back yards of houses innocent of trops."

RELIEF FOR SERVIA.

FOURTH UNIT LEAVES ENGLAND.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LIVERPOOL, April 3.—The fourth Servian Relief Fund Unit, known as the "British Farmers' Hospital," left for Salonica today. The party travels on board one of the British government transport vessels, formerly a Mediterranean liner. The party includes 120 persons, surgeons, nurses, orderlies and administrative officials. There is one young American in the group, Richard Schellens of Groton, Ct., a Yale and Oxford graduate, who, since the war began, has been in the employ of the American diplomatic service between Berlin and London.

The relief party is specially equipped to deal with typhus, cholera and the other prevailing diseases in Servia.

BRITISH RELEASE TWO STEAMERS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, April 24.—The Admiralty issued orders today for the release of the steamers Veneiro and Montenegro, detained by the British authorities at Gibraltar.

Both these vessels have on board American cotton consigned to Swiss firms through Italy.

Negotiations are proceeding for the creation in Switzerland of an organization similar to The Netherlands Overseas Trust Company in Holland, through which the Swiss government may accept consignments and guarantee that they will not be reshipped to Germany.

Prof. del Marmol Dead.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, April 3.—Prof. Tarrida del Marmol, a well-known Spanish Revolutionary veteran, and the most noted of political exiles resident in England, is dead at his home in Highams Park. His expulsion from Spain came about through his allegations that prisoners were tortured in Montjuich Prison, Barcelona.

Cotton for Germany.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

AMSTERDAM, April 10.—A telegram from Gothenburg, Sweden, to the Berlin Tageblatt states that the harbor of Gothenburg is overcrowded with cotton steamers on their way from America to Germany. Over 500,000 bales of cotton have passed through Gothenburg for Germany since the beginning of the war.

Britain 'Phone Deficit.

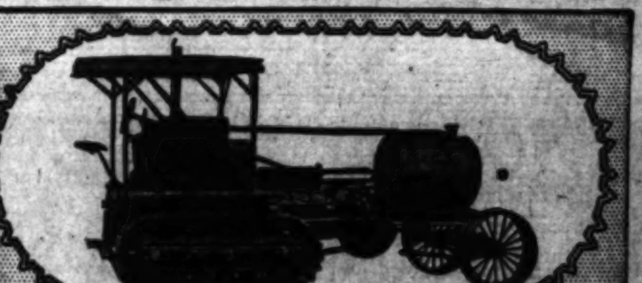
[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONDON, April 10.—A deficit of $6,000,000 in the telegraph and telephone service of Great Britain is shown in the annual report of the Postoffice Controller. The gross amount received by the government for telegrams and telephone service was $52,000,000.

Russia Aids Galicia.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

PETROGRAD, March 30.—The Russian government has appropriated $5,500,000 for the relief of war sufferers in Galicia. The money will be largely used to purchase wheat and horses for the farming population.



Get Your Crop in on Time with a "Creeping Grip" Tractor

WHY let low, wet spots in your field set you back? Your time is limited—your crop must be started without delay if you want maximum yield when harvest time comes.

Here's the tractor that asks no favors of soft, wet ground. It can pull your plows through any ground that's worth working. The creepers do not sink or pack the soil—they cannot slip and lose power. They creep along over the ground, getting a firm grip and giving you maximum traction with the least weight on the soil, least consumption of fuel, and least wear and tear on the power plant.

The machine rides on steel rails on the endless track. The creepers oscillate over rough spots. Thus the power plant is carried smoothly, free from jolts and vibration. The frame sets upon 3 points of suspension, which eliminates binding on the bearings.

No other power is as well suited for pulling your plows, harrows, seeders and combined harvesters. Let us tell you how you can cut your present cost of doing this work.

Write for Catalog

No other tractor is as carefully built as the "Creeping Grip." We put in it the best materials than can be produced. A demonstration will convince you. In writing please tell us how many acres you operate, so that we can suggest the best size suited for your work.

Twenty-fourth Continental Congress Ends After Report of Peace Committee Is Heard.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A single session today concluded the twenty-fourth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which has been meeting here this week. The congress adjourned after hearing numerous routine reports. Several proposed changes in the organic law of the society were referred to the next congress.

The report of the Peace Committee of the congress, presented today by Miss Janet Richards of this city, urged international disarmament and the establishment of an international police and an international court.

Among the amendments to the by-laws of the society which were not acted upon were several limiting the president-general, the head of the society, to a single term of three or four years.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription othine — double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR NO DANDRUFF—25 CENT DANDERINE.

Hair coming out? If dry, thin, faded, bring back its color and luster.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

RAINS INCREASE FLOODS; DEATHS THIRTY-FIVE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

AUSTIN (Tex.) April 24.—Heavy rains falling here late tonight brought new suffering to those whose homes have been badly damaged by the floods and who have endeavored to continue to live in them, despite the damage they have sustained.

While both Waller and Shoal creeks are higher tonight as the result of the rains, there appeared to be no danger of additional damaging floods from the creeks. The Colorado River is high here, but the city is not believed to be in danger from it.

With fourteen bodies recovered there were reports tonight of twenty-one persons missing although no more bodies were recovered today.

Mayor A. P. Woolridge today at the meeting of the City Council to repudiate "exaggerated reports of damage," declared that with the most generous estimate not more than $1,000,000 in damage to property has been done. Likewise he denied "extravagant reports" of the number of drowned that have been sent out. It was not believed here the death list here will exceed thirty-five, if it runs that high.

Eighteen lives lost is the total reported to date in the flood.

Immigration.

ALIEN RUSH TO FRONTIER; THOUSANDS SEEK WORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, April 24.—Four additional immigration inspectors have been stationed along the Washington-British Columbia frontier, it became known today, to check the rush of aliens into this country following the abandonment of the bread line maintained for many months in Vancouver.

In the past week more than 100 aliens were captured after they had crossed the border. They were returned to Canada. Owing to the war, railroad building and other work that usually takes thousands of men into the woods of British Columbia in the spring are suspended.

PROBLEMS OF BUTTE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BUTTE (Mont.) April 24.—Butte, it was asseretd today, cannot hope to take care of the army of unemployed men moving upon it from every direction. Officials of the mining companies said they had advices that unskilled laborers, attracted by the news of the copper boom here, were headed this way by the thousands.

"Already there are more men of this class in Butte than can be employed," said C. F. Kelly, vice-president of the largest company here, today. "We cannot provide work for these men. While the companies have been putting on skilled miners, they have no employmen for men who are without experience."

GREETS FRIENDS OF FORMER DAYS.

SEN. CUMMINS SHAKES HANDS RIGHT AND LEFT AT LONG BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, April 24.—United States Senator Albert B. Cummins is enthusiastic about the Los Angeles-Long Beach harbor system. During his visit here today he was shown over the harbor district, and his praise of the enterprise of Southern California capitalists in improving the natural waterways was unstinted. He believes that, when the local harbor is connected with the Los Angeles system of waterways by the channel already surveyed, Congress will grant an appropriation for the improvement of this end of the harbor system.

The distinguished Iowan was immediately surrounded with oldtime back east friends when he arrived here at 10:30 o'clock this morning. There are about 1000 former Iowans in this city, and many of these pushed forward to shake his hand and claim former acquaintanceship. John Hewitt, bookseller, reminded the Senator that he lived next door to him back in Pennsylvania. H. M. Brown, hotelman of Des Moines, was greeted affably as an old-time comrade. Malcom F. McNie was remembered by the city's guest as a confrere of the Iowa State Legislature. A. Dixon of the Marine Bank was also hailed as a friend. The reception at Hotel Virginia was followed by a trip to the harbor, then luncheon at the hotel. John G. Spielman, head of the local Iowa Society, was chairman of the Committee on Arrangements for the entertainment and reception of Senator Cummins.

Bahara Afana, local Syrian merchant, was informed today that the government authorities at Ellis Island, New York, had refused admittance in to the United States of his blind sister, Miss Amelia Afana, who has undergone many hardships in journeying from her native land towards Long Beach. Gamil Afana, another brother, is in New York endeavoring to secure a change of ruling by the immigration authorities, with little hope. W. A. Yarwood, of this city, has taken up the case of the blind Syrian girl with his cousin, John H. Wymans of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

An echo of the celebrated social vagrancy cases was heard today when R. G. Swaffield, attorney, made application for C. E. Espey to the City Council for the return of $500 bail money deposited by Espey when he was arrested on the charge of vagrancy last summer. Espey at first forfeited his bail. Then he decided to stand trial by jury, was acquitted and now wants his bail money back. The city will refuse the demand, taking the stand that the bail had been forfeited when Mr. Espey failed to appear before Judge Hart next day.

SIENKIEWICZ ASKS AID.

Polish Author, Who Heads the Emergency Committee, Writes Personal Letter to United States.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Mrs. Robert von Moschzisker, chairman of the Polish division of the Emergency Aid Committee, has received a letter from Henry Sienkiewicz, the Polish author, who heads the European Polish Aid Commission, in which he states that 7,000,000 soldiers have been fighting over the fields of Poland during the last eight months, and that 15,000 villages have been destroyed. More than 1,000,000 persons are homeless and in dire distress, and he adds that to date his commission has only been able to raise and distribute about $100,000. Upon receipt of the letter $5100 was sent to the author as Pennsylvania's first money contribution for Polish relief.

CAPITALIST FELT KINDLY TOWARD KLEIST.

But Felt Somewhat Peeved When He Found Son-in-law Wearing His Socks, Cravath and Scarfpin—Insists His Daughter Wanted an Annulment to Get Married.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 24.—Edward N. Breitung, capitalist, was called to the stand when the suit for $250,000, brought against him and his wife by Max Frederick Kleist, a coachman, for alienation of their daughter Juliet's affections, was resumed in the United States District Court today.

Mr. Breitung's testimony, a resume of that given at the first hearing of the suit which ended in a mistrial, was that he was disposed only to act in Kleist's interests from the start, and was willing to help him. One cross-examination, however, Mr. Breitung admitted that on one occasion he was going to strike and kick Kleist, but Juliet intervened. This was when Kleist called on his parents-in-law here. Mr. Breitung said Kleist was wearing "my socks, cravat and scarfpin."

"Why were you going to strike him?" the witness was asked.

"Because he made a slighting remark about my daughter."

Kleist protested, the witness said, that the socks, cravat and scarfpin were given to him by Juliet. After Mr. Breitung's anger had cooled, he said, he asked Kleist to go to New Mexico. The witness said he did this to give him a chance to make good.

Mr. Breitung said his daughter had asked him to have the marriage annulled. He told her, without giving any reason, that it could not be done, he said.

"She said she wanted to get an annulment and get married," Mr. Breitung said. "She said she was somewhat ashamed."

Five Thousand More Go Out in the Big Lumber Yards Closed by Labor Trouble.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 24.—Five thousand and more men were added to the list of 125,000 unemployed in Chicago today when practically all of the eighty big lumber yards in the city closed pending settlement of the carpenters' strike. The action of the lumbermen was due chiefly to a lack of demand for their wares. The lumber yards that have shut down do an estimated annual business of $25,000,000.

The arbitration boards of the Carpenters' District Council and the Carpenter-Contractors' Association are expected to meet again Monday. Until then, it was said, no joint efforts would be made to bring about a settlement.

WILSON ISSUES DENIAL.

Declares He has Not Taken Personal Charge of Controversy in Riggs Bank Case.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 24.—At the White House a statement was issued by Secretary Tumulty today denying reports published in the morning papers that President Wilson had taken personal charge of the government's side of the controversy between the Riggs National Bank and Secretary McAdoo and Comptroller Williams.

It was said that the President had consulted Atty.-Gen. Gregory and Louis D. Brandeis, as special counsel, to keep himself informed.

TRINIDAD (Colo.) April 24.—Testimony that the battle between deputy sheriffs and striking coal miners on October 26, 1913, in which John Nimmo was killed, was begun when a party of deputies was fired upon by a crowd of armed men near the Ludlow depot, was given today in the trial of John R. Lawson on a charge of murder. Lawson is accused of being in command of the strikers on the day of the battle. The defendant is the district No. 15 member of the International Executive Committee of the United Mine Workers of America.

Charles L. Fanning, a young cow puncher, was the witness who told of the beginning of the battle. He said that he was a deputy sheriff stationed at the Ludlow section-house in the early days of the recent strike of the miners. With other deputies he started on horseback to go to the Ludlow station to meet the afternoon Colorado and Southern train from Trinidad as was customary. He was about 100 yards ahead of his companions.

SAW ARMED STRIKERS.

"What did you see as you approached the station?" asked Norton Montgomery, assistant Attorney-General.

"I saw one hundred or more men around a long string of box cars."

"How many were armed?"

"I saw about fifty with guns."

"What happened then of an unusual nature?"

"The first thing that happened was when they began shooting at me, and I turned around and went back."

Fanning detailed his part in the battle which followed the alleged retreat of the party which had started for the station. He told of seeing the body of John Nimmo. On cross-examination Edward P. Costigan of counsel for Lawson asked Fanning where he was born.

"When was I born—that has nothing to do with the case," replied the witness. He finally said he was 25 years old.

LINDERFELT'S TESTIMONY.

Before Fanning took the stand the cross-examination of K. E. Linderfelt was completed. Linderfelt said he had served six months in Mexico under Madero and had seen military experience in China and the Philippines. He said he was a first lieutenant in the Colorado National Guard at the time he was commissioned a deputy sheriff in October, 1913.

Linderfelt declared that he never worked for a mining company until two months ago, when he took a position with the Victor American Fuel Company at Hastings. He said he was no longer in the employ of the company.

James H. Wilson testified that he was commissary and paymaster for the party of deputy sheriffs stationed at Ludlow under command of Linderfelt. He said he stayed in the section-house throughout the fight in which Nimmo was killed.

His right collarbone was broken in two places and his body was terribly bruised. Internal injuries are feared, and two nurses are in attendance at his bedside in his home, No. [illegible] Franklin avenue.

Mrs. Ince was so overcome by the news of the accident that she was not able to discuss it last night. It is understood Mr. Ince was racing another motion picture man in a rival car, and that they were speeding at a perilous rate when the Ince car skidded and turned turtle. He was taken at once to his home, and since then he has been under the care of two surgeons. Last night his condition was less satisfactory than at any time.

"For the Woman who Knows"

For the woman who knows, nothing need to be said as to the merits of Peruna. She knows already that Peruna is a great remedy for her many ailments.

But there are many women who do not know what a valuable remedy Peruna is. Catarrhal complaints of any sort, whether of the head or the internal organs, yield to Peruna if taken regularly.

Mrs. L. A. Patterson, 238 Utah Ave., Memphis, Tenn., is one who knows. "I have been a friend of Peruna many years. We always recommend it to our neighbors."

Mrs. L. Martin, Yolo, Cal., also knows of Peruna. "I am sure Peruna saved my life. I had been very sick three months. Doctors were in despair. No one can describe my joy and happiness because of the change Peruna produced in me."

Women in all walks of life are making similar statements. They also find it a reliable and valuable household remedy. Every woman should have a copy of "The Ills of Life."

SCHOOL BOARD FIGHT WARM.

Two Tickets and Independents Make Fast Pace.

Whiffen Day at Harbor the Week-end Effort.

Spurt in Sebastian Campaign is Planned.

The campaign for the Board of Education is affording the hottest angle to the primary nominating fight, with two opposing tickets and a number of independents in the field making a fast pace.

At every public meeting candidates for the school board are put through a catechism that pries into private life, personal taste, and individual style. Voters are being lined up for one ticket or another or for one or another individual, with the result that the competition has developed a battle that will be waged hotly until the polls are closed a week from next Tuesday.

The so-called administration ticket, headed by J. B. Bean, the only member of the old board seeking re-election, is opposed by the so-called nonfactional ticket at the head of which is ex-Judge Walter Bordwell. The administration ticket being out and out for Supt. Francis makes its contention all the more apparent when it holds that any other ticket is an anti-Francis ticket.

This argument is met by the nonfactionalists, who assert that they are neither pro-Francis nor anti-Francis, but that they are favoring peace in the schools.

The third ticket in the school board fight, and whose identity has been lost in the shuffle, has been proposed by the Socialists. In addition there are a number of independents. The Francis ticket has only six candidates proposed. There are seven places to fill on the Board of Education and fourteen candidates will be nominated at the primaries.

WHIFFEN DAY.
DOINGS AT HARBOR.

President Whiffen pointed his campaign guns toward the harbor yesterday. An auto procession carried the Mayoralty candidate and committee to Gardena, where a festival was being held, and from there to Wilmington and San Pedro. President Whiffen addressed various meetings during the day and evening.

The plan of holding political meetings in motion-picture theaters, which proved so popular in the primaries and general campaign last fall has been adopted by Campaign Manager Snowden. As it is difficult to assemble an audience to hear a political speech this means of catching audiences unawares, when the people go to see the "movies" has been utilized.

FOR SEBASTIAN.
BIG CAMPAIGN WIND-UP.

The Sebastian Campaign Committee is planning a whirlwind wind-up for the coming week with speech-making in every part of the city. The activity will reach from the harbor district to Hollywood, with several meetings each night. The oratory squad consists of several well-known speakers who have been with the campaign from the start, supplemented by others who have joined the Sebastian forces in the last few days.

Campaign Manager McAleer asserted yesterday that the house-to-house work done by the committee in the last week has been quite effective. The Sebastian meetings this week will be as follows: Monday, No. 2135 East First street; No. 820 Central avenue, and No. 1427 West Twenty-fourth street. Tuesday evening, No. 6112 Santa Monica boulevard; No. 2211 North Broadway; No. 2v0 North Avenue Sixty-four. Wednesday, No. 626 Sunset boulevard; No. 4712 Normandie avenue; No. 3226 San Pedro street, and No. 1017 Wilde street. Thursday, No. 2111 West Jefferson street; No. 1904 San Pedro street; No. 4428 Moneta avenue; Eagle Hall, San Pedro. Friday night, No. 5521 South Vermont avenue; No. 5505 Central avenue, and No. 1612 Sunset boulevard.

WROTE IT HIMSELF.
ALLEN'S RESPONSIBILITY.

Robert M. Allen, candidate for Mayor, yesterday issued a long list of names which represent his Campaign Committee. The committeemen are selected from all walks of life and from a number of political parties and from none at all.

But Mr. Allen says he will be the chairman of his own committee and will take responsibility for everything that is done in his campaign. He will be responsible for every act, he says.

"I wrote my own platform, too," he adds.

Mr. Allen's campaign will be continued through the coming week in much the same fashion that has marked his activities during the last month when he has spoken at a number of meetings, making flying trips about the city.

Back of Attorney Stephens.

Prominent citizens who believe that City Attorney Stephens should be re-elected at the primaries will participate in a luncheon at the Hollenbeck Hotel at noon next Wednesday. At this time they will launch a campaign for Mr. Stephens, urging the people to indorse his record by voting him in at the primaries for another term. The voluntary movement has been headed by the following: E. A. Lane, George W. Dryer, George Beebe, Joseph Loeb, John S. Mitchell, Oscar E. Farish, Frank P. Doherty, Marshall Stimson, Arthur W. Eckman, H. Stanley Benedict, Dan Laubersheimer, Wesley J. Bryant, Joseph Mesmer, George H. Dunlop, Leo S. Chandler, W. C. Shelton, T. R. Spalding and Isadore Dockweiler. Others have been invited to the luncheon and will sign a public statement.

Political Potpourri.

The primary election will be held one week from next Tuesday. Those who have registered between January 2, 1914, and April 5, 1915, are entitled to vote.

S. H. Rigby's campaign for the Council has been marked by several successful neighborhood rallies in the last week.

The Christian Socialist Forum will hold an open meeting for candidates for the Council this afternoon at Blanchard Hall.

Richard W. Kelly, who is running for the Council, issued a statement yesterday in which he said he has lived in Los Angeles nearly forty years and never sought office before.

When E. L. Williams, the jitbus candidate for the Council, issues the call there is a jitbus parade. The seventh affair of this kind to upset downtown traffic occurred last night.

Manhattan Beach.

TRUSTEES ARE RECALLED AT MANHATTAN BEACH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MANHATTAN BEACH, April 24.—"Harmony" is the by-word here tonight as the result of the recall election held here today. By a vote of two to one Eli Auchmoody, Capt. H. C. Coe, members of the Board of Trustees, and former City Clerk Clarence E. Jenkins were recalled. Though Mr. Jenkins resigned his office more than a month ago, and has not held office since that time, yet the voters officially recalled him from office today. Subsequently to his resignation Mr. Jenkins announced that he would remain in office if the voters should vote to retain him, and that he would serve as Clerk for $60 a month instead of the $125 he formerly received. He also said he would do the work of the City Auditor and thus save the city $100 additional a month.

For the recall of Mr. Auchmoody the vote stood: Yes, 137; no, 57, while Walter R. Taylor, who ran against him, received 119 votes. S. A. D. Clark, also an opponent, received 14 votes. For the recall of Capt. Coe, the vote was: Yes, 119; no, 72. Frank Daugherty, his opponent, received 106 votes. Mr. Jenkins, who had nothing to lose, as he was not in office, was officially unseated by 122 voting for his recall and 76 voting against it. Llewelyn Price, present-appointed City Clerk, received 115 votes. Not half of those registered cast their ballots, the vote cast being 212, compared to a registration of 446.

With Mr. Taylor and Mr. Daugherty as the newly-elected Trustees, city officials say that Manhattan Beach politics will hereafter be characterized by the word "harmony," and that factional fights will be dropped—if possible. This is the second recall election inside of two months. There was no disorder, though considerable electioneering was done.

MRS. MULHOLLAND SERIOUSLY ILL.

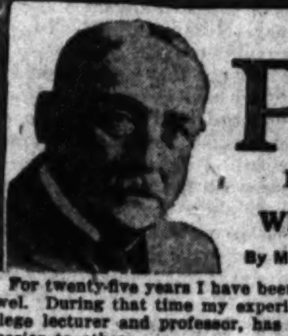
WIFE OF ENGINEER IN STATE OF COMA; LITTLE HOPE FOR RECOVERY.

Surrounded by children and close relatives, Mrs. William Mulholland has been at the point of death at the German Hospital in Boyle Heights for several days and little hope for her recovery is held forth, and not even for her return to consciousness, she having been in a state of coma since yesterday morning.

The wife of one of the foremost residents of Los Angeles, chief engineer of the water department, and one of the widely-known engineers of America, she has always been of a most retiring disposition, never caring to share in the public honors showered upon her spouse. Not even the camera has been able to find her individuality, as she has frequently refused to pose for pictures except in a family group.

Her life has been one of devotion to family, the rearing of her five children, Rose, Harry, Thomas, Lucille and Ruth Mulholland. A native of the town of Port Huron, Mich., she came to California with her parents twenty-eight years ago and shortly after arrival met big "Bill" Mulholland, as he was then and has ever since been known. She was then Miss Lily Ferguson, a quiet, unassuming young woman, who had graduated with honors from a convent at Terra Haute, Ind.

Married in 1890 in Los Angeles, she has never been away from home for more than a few weeks at a time. About a year ago it became necessary for her to undergo an operation. The object intended was not accomplished and Mrs. Mulholland just a short time ago underwent another operation, from which she will probably not recover. Dr. Kurtz and a staff of assistants have been doing everything possible toward bringing a change for the better, but so far have not been able to win in the almost hopeless fight.



I CURE PILES

Fistula and All Rectal Diseases

WITHOUT an OPERATION

By MY PAINLESS DISSOLVENT METHOD.

For twenty-five years I have been curing diseases of the rectum and lower bowel. During that time my experience as hospital and railroad surgeon, as college lecturer and professor, has enabled me to develop a method that is superior to others.

My method is not a "home cure" or a "correspondence treatment," but it is an application of skilled treatments administered under the most rigid antiseptic conditions in my office.

I solicit old, severe and obstinate cases of fistula, prolapsus, fissure and ulcertation that have heretofore resisted all treatments employed. If you are a sufferer from rectal trouble I invite you to investigate my method thoroughly by talking or writing to any of my cured patients. If you will call at my office I will be pleased to give you the names and addresses of many well-known Los Angeles people I have cured, whom you may interview in regard to my treatment.

Read what a few well-known Southern California people have to say of my method. Many similar letters are on file in my office.

WELL-KNOWN SANTA MONICA MINISTER CURED.

This is to certify that Dr. C. H. White has cured me of a distressing hemorrhoidal ailment of 25 years' duration. His method of treatment is effective, but not severe. He has the appliances, the knowledge and the skill born of many years of specialization in this fruitful source of physical disease. He accomplishes all his claims in his advertising, and at reasonable expense.

I take pleasure in heartily commending the man and his methods.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SUPERINTENDENT CURED.

My Dear Mr. White: I am thankful for the privilege of bearing witness to your ability to treat, without pain, and with success, the delicate and disabling disease which result from sedentary work. To all who need the services of a skillful, sympathetic and experienced specialist in your line, I heartily commend you.

Very sincerely yours,

ERVIN S. CHAPMAN, D.D., LL.D., Superintendent State Anti-Saloon League.

PRESIDENT OF WHITTIER COLLEGE CURED.

For more than ten years I was a sufferer from a painful affliction, which nearly ruined my usefulness as an organizer and teacher. Dr. C. H. White of Los Angeles has completely cured me by a process that was painless and rapid, and I desire to go on record as recommending the Doctor in diseases of his specialty.

WRITES LETTER TO CHICAGO DESCRIBING MURDER.

Says Her Husband Decided to Remain by the Ranch Although His Life had Often been Threatened. Assistance Sent After Mexicans' Attack Came Too Late.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 24.—A letter from Mrs. John B. McManus, dated at Mexico City, March 13, three days after her husband was murdered by Zapata soldiers, reached Mrs. McManus's sister-in-law, Miss Elizabeth McManus, here today. The envelope was marked "received through Department of State in diplomatic pouch." The letter gave the story of the writer's anxiety over her husband.

"We all begged John to come with us or to move the stock closer to the city," ran the letter, "but he scoffed at the idea, saying he was capable of protecting himself. I am just beginning to realize the hell he had lived through to do it. Because I was so worried about his safety he had not told me of the numerous times he had been shot at and searched and how often he had to face alone the dangers of the present anarchical conditions in Mexico. It is hard to imagine a case of greater bravery and courage or a more wanton murder than his."

Mrs. McManus tried to warn her husband by telephone of the movements of the soldiers, but the wires were cut between the city and McManus's dairy ranch. Next word was received that the ranch was being attacked.

"I called up every one who could give assistance, beginning with the Brazilian legation," continued the letter. "The legation immediately sent out a machine with flags and a protest, but they arrived too late."

Mrs. McManus went with others to the ranch house.

"And such a sight," she wrote. "John had to be lowered from the roof where he had gone, the better to protect the place and—oh, I can't write about it. I didn't see him—I couldn't. He had been hit in the head at close range with either a dum dum or a shot and the whole top of his head was gone.

"The house was beyond description. The windows were peppered with bullets—about 400 joined the attacking party—the floors were a confusion of broken glass, upset furniture, dresser drawers, closets, books, pictures, broken eggs and dirt. They took what they wanted and threw the rest on the floor.

"You probably think it strange that I do not now leave for the States, but I am placed like so many other Americans. Here I can support my family with comparative ease, but to give my property away, as I would have to do if I left now, and then try to make a living in the States, would be practically impossible."

The letter stated that the funeral was attended by nearly everybody in the foreign colony.

Mr. Bunker is a practical, successful farmer with a lifetime of good, solid farming experience to back his opinion. He is one of the many men in Pahvant Valley who came with very little money. Mr. Bunker says that $10,000 would not buy his 80-acre farm and stock today.

Gentlemen:

I came to Pahvant Valley, Millard County, with very little money. I have farmed all my life and I believe I know something about what constitutes good farming conditions, and I want to say that opportunities are far better here than in any section I have ever seen or heard about. I am farming 80 acres of as good land as any man could want. I have 62 acres in alfalfa and I have been averaging 5 tons to the acre on three cuttings. I believe this is the best alfalfa-hay and alfalfa-seed country on the map. For hogs, dairying and sugar beets this is certainly a "number-one" place.

The water is cheap, and there is plenty of it. I am here to stay and make money. I wouldn't take $10,000 for my 80 acres and stock today. My land should eventually be worth $250 or more per acre. I want to urge farmers who are not entirely satisfied with their present conditions to come here. We have a wonderful soil, climate and water system. All we need is more settlers.

Pahvant Valley

On Main Line of Salt Lake R. R. in Southwestern Utah.

$70 Per Acre for Land and Perpetual (Gravity) Water Right. $25 An Acre Down. Balance in 10 Years.

Under $1,000,000 Irrigation. Estimated Annual Cost of Maintenance from 40 to 50 Cents Per Acre.

Would you be interested in land which practical farmers claim has netted them close to 100 per cent profit per annum on their investment? Where in the West can you find land at this price and with so many advantages that will make a better record? Last year one sugar-beet grower netted $118.75 per acre. He says his land should be worth $300 per acre in three years. Arthur Griffith says "The price of land here is dirt cheap. Alfalfa, sugar beets and hogs will make a farmer wealthy in this country." Charles A. McClain says, "This is a better country for general farming than California. An energetic farmer can make more money here with less effort than in any country I have ever seen." Our lands at Delta in the Pahvant Valley are settled by practical farmers from nearly all the Western States. Let us send you our booklet containing honest, simple, straightforward facts written by Pahvant Valley farmers themselves. We want you to know the truth about Pahvant Valley from the men who live there and have succeeded.

This is the most unusual farm land booklet ever published in the United States. You never saw one like it before. It is called "Sworn Statements About Pahvant Valley Irrigated Farm Lands." Special excursions on Wednesdays and Saturdays from Los Angeles at low homeseekers' rates.

HUBBY BUYS OWN SHIRTS; SORROWS.

When a man goes to a drug store for medicine, he has to have a prescription; and when he goes to a clothing store, he should take along his wife. At least that is the result of somber cogitation on the part of one of this city's foremost business men today, as he sadly thinks of the missing $5 bill with nothing to show for it, and wonders if "Bill," his friend, is having the same trouble at home he had.

The victim is so well-known in this city his name should not be mentioned. It might cause him great embarrassment. But his character is such that he loves to be independent.

The other day he decided he needed new shirts. Remembering a former trip to a haberdasher, when his wife was along, and of the doubtful satisfaction derived from the purchase made there, he thought to avail himself of the opportunity and incidentally show his better half he could buy shirts by himself.

But his bump of location was poor and he drifted into a Spring-street store that was not the right one. This was discovered later. The gushy clerk "roped and threw" him, selling two shirts that could be both seen and heard. Their coloring and decoration were identical.

That evening the business man unfolded his ability to the wife, with the result an argument started. The man finally settled all debate by declaring the shirts fitted exactly and were just the color he wanted.

The following morning he took out the several hundred pins that go with every new shirt, and tried one on. The sleeves were seven inches too short; the tail of the shirt also lacked many inches; with great difficulty did he get one breast button into its relative buttonhole. The purchase was a rank failure.

To hide his defeat the business man quieted the jubilant better half by stolidly declaring he would get his money back. Putting back the several hundred pins, he made up the shirt again.

By hunting industriously for a long time the man at last found the store where he had bought the offending garments. But over the front of the emporium was a newly-painted sign:

"Closed by the Sheriff."

Afraid to go home with the shirts still in his possession he wandered through the city. On Broadway he met his friend "Bill." Bill took the package.

"What shall I do with it?"

"Take it home, but don't tell your wife or mine. Good night."

No returns have been received from Mrs. Bill.

Teachers After Special Pay for Certain Work Ask State Senators to Pass Maddux Bill.

Urging the passage of the Maddux bill granting powers to Boards of Education and School Trustees to make special salaries for teachers in special school work, the Special Teachers' Club last night sent a swarm of telegrams to Sacramento.

The club has been organized for the purpose of getting an amendment to an old law which prohibits the payment of special salaries for certain school work. The Maddux bill corrects this. Inasmuch as the practice of paying special salaries has been pretty generally followed all over California, the Maddux bill merely legalizes it.

The proposed amendment to the old law will give special teachers a rank in salaries with the assistant teachers in the highest grades.

The Senate Education Committee has reported the bill favorably and the matter will come up in the Senate tomorrow. Meanwhile a number of Senators are being importuned by wire by their friends in Los Angeles and other cities to support the measure.

HUERTA PLANS TO COME BACK.

Is on Way to Mexico Now to Start New Campaign.

Will Form "Third Party" and Seek Power Once More.

Backed by a Great American Syndicate, is Report.

It was learned from an unquestionable source yesterday afternoon that Gen. Victoriano Huerta is on his way to El Paso, where he will cross the boundary line and confer with Gen. Pasqual Orozco and five other ex-Federal generals. This conference is to lay plans for the reformation of the old Huerta government, that will be known from now on as the "Tercera Partia" or Third Party. Because of the impoverished state of the Mexican aristocracy, and the known finances of Gen. Huerta, funds for this proposed campaign can come from only one source—an American syndicate interested in having Huerta back in power.

Ever since the ex-President of the southern republic returned to the United States, it has been tacitly understood he had not returned for a pleasure trip. His visit to Washington was also significant, inasmuch as the head of a large American oil syndicate was in that city at the time, with no other object in view than to welcome the one-time dictator. Washington was the half-way mark between Huerta's landing point and the headquarters of the oil syndicate. Also, the newspapers would think the old dictator had come to see his friend, President Wilson. It was well arranged.

But in the meantime, Gen. Pasqual Orozco, Gen. Emmanuel Mercado and four other ex-Federal commanders, were quietly massing some 4000 men near Las Cruzas, a small town across the border from El Paso.

WHAT HE REALLY DID.

Gen. Huerta did not try to see President Wilson. Outside of giving some unimportant interviews, in which he hinted a meeting might be solicited with the American executive, Gen. Huerta spent his time sightseeing. So it was reported. The fact is, Gen. Huerta was making financial arrangements to back him on a dash to his old home, Mexico City.

An official, once high in Mexican political circles before the chaotic reign of the last few Presidents, received word here yesterday to the effect his old commander was starting for El Paso. He had been expecting this for some days. Word had been passed to him of the gathering Federals along the northern border of Mexico.

Gen. Pasqual Orozco is an old Huerta general. In addition, he has an item to settle with Zapata, now a close friend of Gen. Villa. This item is the murder of his father, two years ago.

Gen. Mercado is another Huerta adherent. Since the departure of his commander last year, he has been shunted about the checkerboard of Mexico, now on one side and now on another. He has always stood by Gen. Huerta.

MAY RECEIVE WELCOME.

The new party, it is understood, will not assume a high-sounding name. It will be called, plainly, the "Third Party." The coming and going of Villa and Carranza have palled on the Mexican, so it is thought he will probably welcome the arrival of Gen. Huerta, who at least, is a thorough soldier. As to the humane side of the issue, the average Mexican peon would have a difficult task set for him should he endeavor to discern among Zapata, Villa, Carranza and Huerta.

The third party will rely entirely upon the hope that when their banner is unfurled within the next month or so, the soldiers of both factions will flock to their standard.

The impoverished state of the old Mexican aristocracy, that stood behind Huerta during his administration, is such at the present time as to prohibit any financial aid from them. Gen. Huerta's personal resources are sufficient to keep him comfortably, but it would be impossible for him to finance a campaign such as he is planning, with his own money. It is understood a large American syndicate is anxious to have the country at peace immediately, as at present a great profit might be reaped, could that syndicate start shipping its oil to Europe.

VILLA SHOOTS ELDER OBREGON.

EXECUTES HIM IN REVENGE FOR LATE DEFEAT.

Aged Man was Non-combatant in Guadalajara, Taking Issues with Neither Faction, but is Obliged to Suffer Death on Account of His Connection.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 24.—Francis S. Elias, Consul for Mexico under the Carranza faction, announced today that he had received a telegram from Gen. Obregon asserting that Gen. Obregon's brother, Francisco, taken prisoner by Villa and sent to Chihuahua, had been shot by Villa's order.

Mr. Elias made public the text of a telegram sent him by Gen. Obregon from Irapuato, reading as follows:

"I wish to make it known to you that Villa, to avenge himself upon me for the defeat which my troops have inflicted upon him, has sent my brother, Francisco Obregon, a man 70 years old, a prisoner to Chihuahua. He was living peacefully in Guadalajara and was a noncombatant. He took issue with neither faction. When Villa fled from the city he ordered that he be arrested. This is nothing more than revenge which he is seeking from me for the defeat which he suffered."

Another dispatch from Gen. Obregon, Mr. Elias asserted, has been received later, stating that Gen. Obregon had sent a telegram to Gen. Villa pointing out that his brother was a feeble old man and a noncombatant, and requesting his release. The only reply received to this message, Mr. Elias said the dispatch stated, was a message from Villa which read: "Your brother has been shot."

GEN. ITURBE MEETS DEFEAT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) April 24.—Gen. Iturbe, the Carranza commander coming up from Sinaloa to reinforce Gen. Calles in Sonora, has been defeated, and Navajoa, Sonora, captured by Villa troops under Gen. Juan A. Garcia, according to a message received today by the Villa agency here from Jose Maytorena. Gen. Sosa, Maytorena's cavalry chief, is pursuing Iturbe's retreating and disorganized column, it was stated.

MEXICAN CARGO FOR UNITED STATES

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ON BOARD U.S.S. COLORADO EN ROUTE TO GUAYMAS, (Mex.) April 23 (via Wireless to San Diego, April 24.)—The first cargo shipped from the West Coast of Mexico to the United States since the first of the year left La Paz for San Francisco today aboard the American steamer Rosalie Mahony. The freight included a consignment of leather and hides valued at $65,000.

The Carranza forces are now operating the first government-owned line of commercial steamers from Mazatlan to Salina Cruz and way ports. The new line is called the "Linea Constitucionalista," and is reported to be doing a lucrative business. Real money is scarce and financial conditions have been aggravated by the introduction of large quantities of counterfeit bills believed to have been brought from the United States by an individual not a Mexican. The Villa garrison of sixty men at La Paz is prepared to retreat to the surrounding hills at the first appearance of the Carranza troops.

The only mail between the West Coast of Mexico and the United States is carried by the American warships.

RETAKES GUADALAJARA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

EL PASO (Tex.) April 24.—The West Coast metropolis of Guadalajara has been reoccupied by Villa troops, said an official Villa announcement today. It was stated that after the departure of Gen. Medina, who joined in Villa's mobilization in Central Mexico, the column of Gen. Buelna from Tepic State arrived at Guadalajara.

Rupture.

VILLA IN ROW WITH ANGELES.

Blames Defeat to Cowardice of Chief Lieutenant.

Iturbe, Carranza General, is Beaten in Sonora.

Cargo from the Mexican West Coast Shipped Here.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A serious rupture between Gen. Villa and his chief lieutenant, Gen. Angeles, was reported to the Carranza agency here today in a message from Eagle Pass, Tex. Gen. Villa, the message added, has ordered his personal followers to Torreon, where he is concentrating garrisons from towns along the border. Gen. Angeles remained at Aguascalientes, it was stated, to meet the advance of Gen. Obregon from Irapuato.

The text of the Eagle Pass message, as given out at the Carranza agency tonight, is as follows:

"The serious breach between Villa and the ex-Federals serving under him caused by Villa laying all the blame for his recent defeats upon the cowardice of the ex-Federals, and this charge embracing Gen. Angeles, has caused Villa to order all his followers to concentrate at Torreon. Urbina has evacuated San Luis Potosi and proceeded to [illegible] where he is covering the retreat of Villa. All the garrisons along the border have been ordered to evacuate and concentrate at Torreon without delay. This leaves Gen. Angeles, Raoul and Emilio Madero to face the brunt of Obregon's advance upon the north."

The Race is On.

A TITANIC STRUGGLE FOR PROSPERITY PRIZES

"Times" Great Trade Contest is Developing into a Wonderful Race for Rich Awards — Contestants are Urged to Adopt Systematic Efforts in Endeavor to Win—Special Display Arouses Interest.

THE Times Prosperity and Trade Contest is the great big event that is talked about in all circles of city activity. As the contest grows older the race becomes more keenly contested and the interest grows proportionately on the part of all participants—both among the advertising merchants and the seekers for the valuable prizes that are offered.

Candidates who have set out in a determined effort to win one of the grand prizes are engaged in a titanic struggle to accumulate as many credits as possible. Some of the contenders have organized a splendid canvassing system to develop trade among the various merchants represented in the contest, and this method is proving wonderfully successful in accomplishing its purpose.

No candidate has any patented system for gathering credits, and what some have already done may be accomplished equally as well by others if sufficient energy and determination are put forth in carrying out these successful ideas. The contestant accomplishes most who makes a point of securing the aid of the greatest number of friends. With so large a list of business houses represented in the contest, it would be impossible for one individual, even with the aid of one or two others, to gain a very large proportion of credits as the result of his own trading. But it is possible for each candidate to talk about the contest to his friends at large and interest them all in his effort to capture a prize.

Neither is it obligatory to approach only your friends in the matter of credit-getting. Some of the leading candidates have systematically called on all their neighbors, asking them to do their purchasing with the merchants represented in The Times Trade Contest. Others make a point of calling at all the houses in the neighborhood of each merchant, telling the residents of the contest and asking that the householders buy their goods from Contest merchants and save the credit slips for the contestant.

USE GOOD METHODS.

These canvassers frequently take a supply of the advertising pages of The Times showing the list of business houses in the Contest and leave a copy with those who may be willing to assist in collecting the credit coupons or cash sales slips. The Trade Contest Department will be glad to supply copies of these advertising pages to contestants who apply for them to be used in this way.

These methods, followed by some of the leading entrants in the race, are applicable to all contestants, whether living in Los Angeles or in any of the thirty-four towns outside the city which are represented in the Contest. Every day from now to the end of the contest is an important one to each contender for a prize. The contestants who are giving their best efforts toward interesting the largest number of others in patronizing Trade Contest merchants are the ones who are most likely to be awarded the prizes at the close of the event. Therefore it is to the advantage of every one to enlist as many workers as possible in the endeavor to add credits to each one's present list.

HE CHECKERBOARD OF THE WAR.

BY HARRY CARR.

HERE have been four great military operations in this war whose real purpose has been the subject of much controversy. military riddles are: The German retreat from the Marne September; the Turkish attack upon Egypt; the Russian advance the Carpathians and the naval bombardment of the Dardanelles. A fifth riddle is now added by the German advance sent crashing against the allied lines near Ypres.

The immediate objective of this attack is plain, but the ulti- purpose of the German General Staff is a mystery. There that seem to tell us that this tremendous offensive at is preliminary to some great strategic movement.

THE POSSIBILITIES.

The following possibilities readily suggest themselves: That attack may be the first blow in an attempted invasion of Eng- that it may be a feint preliminary to another rush for Paris the St. Mihiel wedge; that it may be an effort to strike the English-Belgian line a crippling blow while the Russian flounders helplessly in the snows of the Carpathians and before lian army is drawn into the fight.

To consider these possibilities with intelligence, it is well to review the events leading up to the present fight in Flanders. In the western theater of operations, the war began with two movements; one was an attempted invasion of Alsace-Lorraine French army; the other was a great turning movement by Germans through Belgium and in the direction of Paris. The intention was to get between the French army and Paris; by two great swinging movements to squeeze the French army the Vosges hills and crush the English back against the When the German plans developed the French abandoned of Alsace-Lorraine and hurriedly retreated until their rested on the forts of Paris and their right flank upon the of Verdun. furious attack upon the Ypres region indicates that the has been chosen. The Kaiser is either about to invade or is making a great bluff of doing so.

Coupled with this land attack upon Ypres is the statement from the German battle fleet has at last come out of Kiel been scouting in the North Sea ready for battle. If the were contemplating an invasion across the channel, it important that the British fleets should be drawn away channel by some such sally-out by the German fleet.

Before this is attempted it would seem important for the in- invaders to pretty thoroughly whip the English army, and Belgians and French in Flanders. That is the job which the Germans have now launched their army.

THE STINKPOTS.

The reports from the fighting indicate very plainly that this is of a different character and for a different purpose than which have been roaring across the trenches all winter. of a new shell sending out asphyxiating gases is one of the

The greatest problem of opening the Spring campaign was to enemy out of the trenches. Cold blooded reports in the military journals state that cannon have not been as suc- in this work as the newspaper reports signify. Especially in of shrapnel, the men in the trenches simply duck down the storm. The only way the allies have found to clear the is the wasteful way of the bayonet. At Neuve Chapelle, the tried the experiment of preceding the infantry bayonet by a tremendous storm of shell fire; but it is now admitted Chapelle was one of the worst disappointments the have as yet encountered. The Germans are trying to solve of driving the foe out of his ditches by the use of the It stands to reason that they must have had these for some time and have been saving them for the beginning new movement of greater import than any undertaken the movement of the troops to the trenches.

It may be contended that this German attack upon Ypres is a counter blow to the British forward movement which be- Neuve Chapelle. There are facts upon which such a theory be based. A British attack, if successfully pushed through in the line at Neuve Chapelle, would cut off the Channel now in German control from the rear and would compel the to evacuate the greater part of Belgium. An attack like at Ypres would be a strategic counter to such an attack by the English line of communications.

IS IT BLUFF?

Coincident with the advance upon Ypres, the Germans are the French on the center and in the Verdun region. who have served in the French army in this vicinity assert real German offensive is planned for this Verdun district; will develop at the apex of the famous wedge at St. Mihiel; threatened invasion of England is mostly bluff.

One of the undoubted purposes of this new German offensive is to prevent the English bringing their full pressure to bear upon Constantinople. Of all the battlefields, the allied assault upon the Turks is the most difficult for the Germans to handle because the most remote.

Although the least directly vital to the German defensive of any of the battlefields, it is in a larger sense one of the great arteries of the German war god. In a defensive sense it is important to Germany because the fall of Constantinople will enable England to send Russia the munitions of war for lack of which the Czar's soldiers are almost at a standstill, according to some reports, and to take back wheat from the blocked-up Russian ports on the Black Sea.

If the British and French are left reasonably free to land large bodies of troops in Turkey the city of Constantinople is pretty sure to fall. If the German offensive in Flanders proves to be as serious a menace to England and France as the first reports of the fighting indicate, the British troops probably will be called home—at least no attempt will be made to detach any great force for the conquest of Turkey.

As stated at the head of this article, there are two puzzling features relating to this assault upon the Dardanelles. One was the march upon Egypt by a mere handful of Turks—the number being estimated as not much over 1000; the other mystery is why the allies should have attempted the hopeless task of hammering down the fortifications of the Turkish straits with the fire of warships.

On the whole, I find no reason to leave the cause assigned in the Checkerboard when the bombardment first began; that it was a move more political than military.

Whatever the final purpose of this new German drive, the Kaiser has tackled a man's job. The British soldiers are at their best in defending themselves against a direct assault. The French artillerists, who are the past masters of cannon fire, will come into their own in just such a defense.

If one can forget the men who are dying, the next few weeks will witness a glorious contest of brains and science and comparative efficiency, the like of which has never been seen before in the world.

VETERAN HOTEL MAN IS HONORED.

ASSOCIATION GIVES BANQUET FOR ITS RETIRING PRESIDENT.

Fifty members of the Southern California Hotel Men's Association attended a banquet at the Alexandria last evening in compliment to Walter Raymond, retiring president. The speakers paid high tribute to Mr. Raymond, who was a pioneer in the tourist and hotel business in Southern California.

Vernon Goodwin, managing director of the Alexandria, was toastmaster. President George A. Hart of the association presided at the meeting. Following were the speakers: Charles A. Cooke of San Francisco, "Relations, Business and Personal;" Rome Miller of Los Angeles and Omaha, "Random Shots Hotellic;" Attorney S. F. MacFarlane, "Secondhand Stuff;" and a response by Mr. Raymond.

"If each of you is as happy as I am on this occasion, then you know nothing but joy," Mr. Cooke said. "I have known Mr. Raymond longer than any man here except Frank Miller. I became associated with Mr. Raymond in the Raymond-Whitcomb Tours in the '80s and continued in that position until 1909, when I entered the hotel business.

"I believe the tourists concern of which Mr. Raymond was the head did more to advertise Southern California to the world than any other corporation or individual with the exception of the railroads. Many prominent citizens of Los Angeles, including your present Mayor, came here under the guidance of Mr. Raymond's tours. I, myself, directed the party of which Mayor Rose was a member.

"My long association with Mr. Raymond enabled me to become acquainted with his many admirable qualities. He has always had a pleasing smile and a hearty handshake for everybody and he told the truth and nothing but the truth about Southern California.

"Mr. Raymond built the Raymond Hotel in Pasadena in 1886. It burned down and he built it again and it is still over there. This fine hotel is a fitting monument to the man."

INSTALL MACHINERY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MANHATTAN BEACH, April 24.—Pumping machinery is now being installed in the 1000-foot well recently drilled by this city and residents here are anxiously waiting to learn more regarding the adequacy of the water supply of the well. The excavation for the well has cost the city $5000. By July 1 the city's contract with the Hermosa Beach Water Company will have terminated and a proposition once made to the Manhattan Beach officials to continue the present service has been withdrawn. The State Railroad Commission advised the Hermosa Beach Water Company that it was within the province of its rights to discontinue the service after July 1.

Some choice Ocean Front Rooms with Sleeping Porches can now be secured at "Hotel del Coronado."—[Advertisement.

PEEVISH, CONSTIPATED CHILDREN LOVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Harmless "fruit laxative" cleanses stomach liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomach ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in just a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless fruit laxative; they love its delicious taste and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Truck Tires Free
Unless the 1915 Goodyear S-V Outwears Any Other

Here is an offer which Truck users cannot afford to neglect. It will settle for you, without any risk, the entire Truck Tire question.

For three months—April, May and June—this amazing warrant goes with every S-V Truck Tire put on under these conditions:

Every Penny Back

Equip opposite wheels, at the same time, one with a Goodyear S-V, one with any other standard make tire of like rated size, bought in the open market.

If the Goodyear S-V fails to cost less per mile than the other, we will return you its full purchase price, making the S-V free.

Mark that—no partial rebate, no mileage adjustment, no replacement. The tire that fails is free. Get this guarantee in writing when you buy the tires.

Never Such a Warrant

Never before has such a warrant been given on any class of tire. If widely accepted, it means with us a million-dollar stake. It is given without reservation against any tire in the field. It covers accidents as well as wear.

Numerous makers claim to build tires as good as the Goodyear S-V. Let us stop arguing in print and in person. Let us compare them on opposite wheels. We have done that already, under every condition. Over 5,000 S-V tires were tested out on trucks before we made this offer. We know to a certainty the results you'll get, barring accidents.

GOODYEAR
S-V Truck Tires

We have worked for eight years on this Truck Tire problem. We built 29 types before arriving at this one. We built 74 models of this S-V type before we attained this perfection.

We give you in it, as compared with others, 20 per cent more available tread rubber. The shape ends bulging, breaking or excessive grind. The compound minimizes friction.

The tire can't creep, as we press it on at a minimum of 50,000 pounds. It can't separate, for the tread, the backing and the rim are welded into lasting union.

Go to a Goodyear Distributor or ask our local branch where you can get this warrant on the latest S-V tire. Accept it while the offer lasts. (2368)

MOTHERS' GREAT INFLUENCE.

Ninety Per Cent. to Fathers' Ten on the Young, Says Eastern Field Welfare Worker.

"Daddy's" influence on the young child's character is discounted 90 per cent. by Mrs. Hugh Lawson Rankin, Colonial Dame and club woman of Philadelphia, who has been interested in welfare work for children for a quarter of a century. Mrs. Rankin, now a visitor in Los Angeles, registered at the Lankershim, has been president of the Fayette county branch of the Children's Aid Society of Western Pennsylvania for twenty years.

"After dealing with thousands of children I have observed that the importance of the father's influence on a child's character up to the age of 12 years may be reckoned at 10 per cent. against 90 per cent. for the mother," Mrs. Rankin said yesterday. "Nearly everything depends on the mother.

"Often the father's influence is worse than nil. Sometimes in the case of men who use tobacco, swear or drink, their influence on their children is minus. When a child reaches the age of about 12 years he begins to realize the importance of money and then the influence of the father begins to develop rapidly in his life. The older children become the more they are impressed with the power of the pocketbook."

Mrs. Rankin is a descendant of John Grubb, member of the Colonial Assembly. Her great-grandfather on the paternal side was Henry Beeson, founder of Beesontown, now Uniontown, Pa.

OLDEST PREACHER.

Lacking only two years of having reached the century mark, Rev. David Higgins, who has the distinction of being the oldest active Methodist minister in the United States, delivered the opening prayer at the Brown-Curry tabernacle services here yesterday.

Just four years ago, when Dr. Higgins was 94 years "young," he was graduated from the University of Southern California, where he took a two years' course in philosophy. Instead of looking to be almost a hundred, Dr. Higgins appears to be on the sunny side of 70. He likes to preach and never misses an opportunity. He has been heard numerous times in this city.

Dr. Higgins has been a minister for seventy-three years, and has held some of the most important pastorates in the country. He has made his home in Pasadena seven years.

NEW MARYLAND WING.

In order that a new and handsome west wing may be added this summer to the Hotel Maryland, Manager Linnard yesterday sold a half interest to J. B. Coulston, L. A. Boadway and H. E. Boadway.

The addition, which will contain forty-two rooms, will be modern hotel equipment. The furnishings, including hangings, furniture and rugs, will be first-class. The new wing will be ready for occupancy next fall and will correspond with the east wing.

Through the deal yesterday the board of directors has been increased to six. The officers include D. M. Linnard, president; L. A. Boadway, vice-president; H. E. Boadway, secretary and treasurer.

ONE-CENT TAXES.

The smallest assessment which has ever been levied in the Crown City was paid yesterday by J. W. West of No. 796 North El Molino avenue. This amount paid was 1 cent, which he paid the Security National Bank for his assessment on the northeast sewer district.

If it is considered lucky to be assessed small amounts, then Mr. West should consider himself fortunate. Eight years ago he paid 8 cents for street work, although he declares that he has not escaped large assessments. The sewer just does touch his property, hence the penny assessment.

TREMBLING BANDITS.

When two masked bandits held up Sydney Drawbaugh of No. 1224 South Marengo avenue early yesterday morning they not only took all his money, his gold watch and other jewelry, but also went away with his letters, papers and his pouch of tobacco.

Mr. Drawbaugh was walking along on East Orange Grove avenue near Stevenson avenue when the bandits stepped from behind a wagon which was standing in the road, and at the point of pistols ordered him to throw up his arms. The hand of the bandit who searched his pockets trembled violently, according to Drawbaugh. One of the men was coatless and hatless.

FRUIT BUYER PASSES.

Noted Covina Citrus Man Attacked by Apoplexy While at Work in Orchard.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COVINA, April 24.—John Heath, orange rancher and fruit buyer, and one of the best-known men of the Covina Valley, died this morning suddenly of cerebral apoplexy at his home on Cienega avenue. The attack came upon him while at work in the orchard. He was brought to the house and expired shortly after the arrival of Dr. G. D. Jennings.

Mr. Heath was 47 years old and unmarried. He was one of nine children of a pioneer family that began the culture of citrus fruits here when the plains were largely covered with sunflowers and mustard. While operating large ranching interests he at the same time engaged in buying fruit in company with a brother, and was known very well throughout the entire citrus district of Southern California.

Besides his mother, Mrs. Susan M. Heath, he leaves eight brothers and sisters, who are: J. W. Heath of Covina, Joseph E. Heath of Pomona, L. W. Heath of Los Angeles, H. G. Heath, Pomona; Mrs. Anna Deck of Pomona, Mrs. Ethel Stanton, of Pomona, Mrs. Laura Matney and Mrs. Ella Coltrin of Covina.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock on Monday at the Christian Church, of which he was a member.

AN DIEGO CAPITULATES TO ANGELENO AUTOISTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DIEGO, April 24.—With a honking of horns mingled with the laughter of the motor- caravan of nearly 300 automobiles made its way up Fifth street over the Puente Cabrillo into the exposition. It was the of the Southern California Automobile Club, in whose honor the of the exposition were suspended and the cars were permitted to enter and drive into the exposition contrary to the usual custom. the greatest automobile ever held in San Diego and the close of the first half of motor tour ever made in in point of number of the distance covered, the tour Southern California Automobile from Los Angeles to San Diego. was motorists' day at the fair more appreciative guests were entertained. Though they had 177 miles yesterday, none of seemed too fatigued to enjoy the programme. Many were up at this morning, starting on side to Point Loma, Tia Juana and points of interest. tonight the motorists as enthusiastic as they the Isthmus. The drill of Cavalry troops on the tractor field of the exposition was the first feature of the day's programme, and, as the troops made spectacular charges, drilled and gave exhibitions of riding, the motorists applauded warmly.

The opening of the engagement of Creatore's Band at the exposition was the big feature of the day and the motorists were quite as enthusiastic over the music.

Tonight Creatore's Band was stationed at the south end of the Isthmus and many of the visitors danced on the street to the music of the band or in the "49" camp and in the big Isthmus dance hall. Motor costumes of all kinds were seen and the motorists proved to be as tireless in their dancing as in driving.

Tomorrow morning, rain or shine, the motorists will leave in a body for Los Angeles by the coast route. Secretary Standish L. Mitchell, in the pilot car, the Cactus Kate, will lead the long caravan, preceded by the scout car, the Moon car, driven by Lynn C. Buxton and Gordon Gassaway.

The service car, the Autocar, which accompanied the motorists on the trip down, will also accompany them on the return trip, and the club auto truck will also follow for use in case of trouble. The motorists say they will make the coast trip no matter what the weather or road conditions are.

HAPPY VALLEY HAS FESTIVAL.

Gardena Entertains Crowds on Strawberry Day.

Carpenter in Buick Wins Amateur Road Race.

Queen and Her Court Head Splendid Parade.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GARDENA, April 24.—While Queen Rita waved her wand in regal splendor and 7500 enthusiastic residents of Gardena Valley and hundreds of visitors from all over Southern California shouted excitedly, Lawrence Carpenter in a Buick won the twenty-five-lap amateur road race of fifty-six and one-fourth miles here today at the third annual Strawberry Festival. His time was 1h. 22m. 55 4-5s.

Bill Nieman in a Saxon won second in 1h. 23m. 29s. Harold Dill in a Ford was third and a Metz was fourth. Another Ford and a Moline were compelled to retire before the race was concluded.

The auto race was only one of many features of the day. Strawberries in every conceivable form were shown, and a long parade of floats and autos from Gardena and many sister cities was formed at 10 o'clock and marched through the principal streets.

The baby show was the chief attraction for the women and the winners were: Melvin Cooper and Homer Webber, tied with 98 per cent.; Allene Crenshaw, 97 per cent; Elizabeth Livard, 96½ per cent; Beulah Emerson, 96 per cent. Youngest baby—Swanson; Japanese baby, Lieoka Takaha; a special award was made to the Carson triplets.

Red and green flags—strawberry colors—decorated the streets and buildings, together with the United States flags and bunting.

HEADS THE PARADE.

The Gardena Valley Band led the parade, followed by a float from Bridgedale, with a vine-covered summer-house effect and charming young ladies throwing candy to the assembled multitude.

Moneta, united with the Odd Fellows and Rebeccas in making an effective float in red and white and the symbol of the Odd Fellows. Members of the Odd Fellows marched in line directly behind their float.

Perry was represented by a prettily-decorated float, surmounted by a rainbow. The Spanish American Institute was represented by some of the little Spanish lads on motor-driven vehicles decorated with grain and mustard.

The queen was royally driven by three handsome horses. Two little pages sat at the foot of her throne.

The Gardena Grammar School had a beautiful float in the shape of a basket of sweet peas. Compton was represented by several members in an auto, glorious in California poppies and green foliage.

Other floats represented the Strawberry Park School; W. T. Gatton, with pure-bred swine; Garden Grammar School, brave in mustard; the Agricultural High School of Gardena and Moneta; the County Road System, Baker Garage, the Japanese Florists, with many bunches of carnations; the Gas company, the Methodist Chuch, Rosecrans Rancho, the Woman's Progressive Club, Baptist Primary Department, and the Poultry Co-operative Association, besides numerous private autos and equippage.

PRIZES AWARDED.

The prizes were awarded to the following:

Horse-drawn vehicles—Won by Bridgedale; Odd Fellows, second.

Motor-drawn vehicles—High School won; Wednesday Progressive Club, second; Gardena Chamber of Commerce, third.

Decorated vehicles—Mrs. Johnson won; a pony rig, second; a jitney bus, third.

Decorated autos—J. W. Strickling of Strawberry Park won; Hodge & Jeffers of Gardena, second; Hercules Tires of Compton, third.

Horseback riders—Mrs. J. W. Strickling won; Miss Edmondson, second; Miss E. Biggert, third.

The judges for the floats were Mrs. E. B. Thomson of Pasadena, president; E. B. Conley of Pittsburgh and Charles Mason of Compton. The decisions were unanimous in all awards.

POULTRY EXHIBIT.

A fine poultry exhibit represented the whole valley. No awards or prizes were given. Strawberry Park was well represented by Bamford's prize-winning stock of White Plymouth Rocks. The High School had five pens of good utility stock. Other exhibitors were: Mr. Sperry of Strawberry Park, Faustina Davila, Mrs. Longacre, Mr. Lonergan, with a beautiful strain of Partridge Plymouth Rocks; Mr. Schofield and Mr. Hammond, Buckeye poultry yards; Taylor & Rehor, P. I. McLaughlin, Gillingham ranch, exhibiting capons, Bickford; Steele of Moneta, Mrs. Ben Long of Bridgedale, Mrs. Biggert and Miss E. Biggert, with fine rabbits; Russell & Murray, Mesmore & Tilley, fine turkeys; Mrs. C. B. Ormsbee, John J. Dean, Mr. Leonard, Mr. Norton of the High School, Mrs. Thompson and Frank Linnastruth with fine-penciled Indian Runner ducks. Schofield had a brooder full of young ducks.

Other exhibitors in attractive booths were O. B. Webb & Sons, Standard Oil, Mason & Robertson, Wood & Graham, The Rebeccas and Odd Fellows, the Baptist Aid and Progressive Club served lunches and other delectables.

The general committee consisted of M. A. Schofield, president; Mrs. Weed, treasurer; S. B. Hall, secretary; R. Robertson, D. A. Towne, Mr. Russell and H. Paine. J. H. Norton, president of the Gardena Chamber of Commerce, took all representatives in an auto to the parade.

INVITED GUESTS.

About seventy-five invited guests from Los Angeles county were present. Members of the school board were much pleased with the district and decided Strawberry Park needed a new school. Pacific Electric officials, prominent Los Angeles business men, officers of the Chamber of Commerce and leading Japanese men from Los Angeles were included in the list of guests. All officials were bountifully served with dinner at the Woman's Club House. The Los Angeles Board of Education was represented by Mr. Bean and Col. Steadman.

The Gardena Valley is the largest shipper of strawberries in Southern California, and this festival is an annual event in celebration of this most delectable fruit.

The Japanese helped to make the day a success. Secretary Hashi of the local Japanese Association had charge of their portion of the programme. The association expended $250 on Japanese daylight and evening fireworks display. Also they contributed 250 crates of strawberries. During the day they gave away to the crowd 7500 plates of strawberries with sugar.

FAILS TO RECOGNIZE WIFE WHEN SHE SURPRISES HIM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, April 24.—Failing at first to recognize the charming young woman whom he had married in Cripple Creek, Colo., August 30, 1913, Wynn Weller, a prominent young business man of San Pedro, undertook to sell her a bill of groceries when she unexpectedly presented herself at the store this afternoon.

"What can I do for you?" inquired Mr. Weller, courteously, as he stepped up to wait on a handsome young woman who entered the store.

"Hello, hubby; don't you know me?" was the response.

Taken completely by surprise, Mr. Weller for a moment could only gasp, for he had been so busy with his plans to surprise everybody else that he had entirely overlooked the possibility of being himself the victim of the joke as a result of his wife's arrival two or three weeks in advance of the expected time.

While on a visit to his old home in Colorado nearly two years ago, Mr. Weller got married, and for reasons of their own the happy couple decided to keep the matter secret. The new Mrs. Weller's arrival today, however, caused the groom to make explanations to the Weller family, and his wife received a cordial welcome.

SENTENCED FIVE YEARS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, April 24.—Dan Southwell, former Marshal of Imperial, convicted of receiving bribes for protection, was sentenced to five years in Folsom today by Judge Church of Fresno county. The court signed a writ of probable cause and allowed Southwell his liberty on $5000 bail pending the appeal of the case. Deputy District-Attorney Simon opposed the former bondsmen and new guarantors were found in Mrs. Mary C. Bennett and H. S. Grumbles, a rancheman of Heber. The request that the application for probation be withdrawn was granted. Courthouse rumor has it that the report prepared several days ago was adverse.

MYSTERY FIRES MAY BE SOLVED.

PHOSPHORUS FILLED TOBACCO POUCHES FOUND NEAR CANTALOUPE SHED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, April 24.—Indications that a series of mysterious fires in the valley were caused by an incendiary developed today in the discovery of two tobacco pouches filled with phosphorus in an incipient blaze but a block away from the cantaloupe sheds destroyed yesterday.

An employee of a livery barn, seeing the smoke arising from a pile of hay just outside the building, extinguished it with water and then discovered the pouches. The police believe they were left there after being soaked in water with the belief that the hay would be ignited when the phosphorus dried out.

In addition to the burning of cantaloupe sheds at both Brawley and El Centro yesterday the Sheriff's records describe the loss of sixty tons of hay in a stack fire on the Workman ranch near Seeley this week. Although ranch hands extinguished the blaze in one end fire broke out at the other despite the fact that the wind was blowing the other way and no sparks could have carried.

These fires and those which destroyed another cantaloupe shed at Brawley and another at Heber recently are believed by the police to have been caused by I.W.W.'s, a member of that organization from Los Angeles having made threats of trouble in a courtroom here.

2 Drops of "GETS-IT," Out Comes the Corn!

It's the World's Wonder; Never Fails.

You'll make goo-goo eyes at your feet after you use "Gets-It," and you'll find the places where those blankety corns used to be, just as smooth as your cheek.

"How Wide Is a 'GETS-IT' Smile? Well, a Good Deal Over 2 Feet!"

There's no corn or callous among the millions of feet in the world that "Gets-It" will not remove—there's no escape. "Gets-It" is the new way, the simple, common-sense, sure way. It does away with greasy ointments, pads, salves, cotton rings, harnesses, knives, scissors, razors, files and the limping and painful pigeon-toe walk of so many corn-pestered people. All you do is to put two drops of "Gets-It" on—the corn shrivels up—and good-by. Nothing else in the world like "Gets-It." Millions are using it. There's no pain, no trouble, no changing shoes because of corns.

"Gets-It" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. Sold in Los Angeles and recommended as the world's best corn cure by the Owl Drug Company.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

Hazard-Slauson Play Day.

The Slauson Playground Association entertained the Hazard playground folk Thursday at the former's annual dinner and day of play. The members of both associations were in costume. The rooms of the clubhouse were tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Dinner for Sales Managers.

The members of the Los Angeles Sales Managers' Association and their wives and lady friends will be the guests of Supt. Francis and Principal Dunn Wednesday evening at the Polytechnic High School. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. President Feltshans of the association has notified the members that there will be a surprise feature on the programme.

City Club's Election.

The results of the recent election of officers for the coming year was announced at the meeting of the City Club yesterday afternoon. Dr. Francis B. Kellogg was elected president, Louis Myer first vice-president, George H. Dunlop second vice-president, John S. Meyers treasurer and W. R. Stevenson secretary. R. W. Burnham and Harrington Brown, with the preceding officers, comprise the board of governors.

Whistler at Trinity.

Miss Margaret McKee, the popular young whistler, will give a concert at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Trinity Auditorium, assisted by Bertha H. Wilcox, dramatic reader; Bernardine Whalen, violinist, and Constance Loeser McDermott, harpist. Miss McKee not only vies with the birds in their own warbling but blends their music in a wonderful way with the compositions of the great masters. Admission will be free. A silver offering will be taken.

Free Rooms and Halls.

The Times offers to women's clubs and associations, State societies and to other civic, charitable and patriotic organizations, the use of sanitary, well-lighted and furnished committee rooms and assembly halls in The Times Building, First and Broadway, without any expense whatever. Applications for the use of these rooms should be accompanied by proper credentials from worthy organizations. For further information, apply to E. N. Martin, Business Office, The Times Building.

DYNAMITE HUNT TO GO RIGHT ON.

DETECTIVE BURNS LOOKS FOR NEW LEADS IN CAPLAN-SCHMIDT TRIAL.

The long hunt for dynamiters, conducted by Detective William J. Burns with such brilliant success, has not ended. The noted detective, who is in Los Angeles to confer with Dist.-Atty. Woolwine in regard to the prosecution of Schmidt and Caplan, said yesterday at the Alexandria that the trial of the accused dynamiters of the Times Building and the investigations coincident with the prosecution probably would disclose the names of other persons connected with the "crime of the century" who are still at large.

After a short business trip in the East Detective Burns will return to Los Angeles to remain until Schmidt and Caplan are placed on trial this fall. For several months he will give his personal attention to obtaining evidence against the defendants and following any new leads that may develop.

"I expect the trial of Schmidt and Caplan and the preliminary work of obtaining evidence to develop new facts in regard to the plot of the dynamiters and implicate new men," Detective Burns declared yesterday. "We will follow the new trails whether they lead to persons in high or low estate. In the name of justice the long hunt shall continue."

IN MEMORY OF BARD.

Drama League to Celebrate Shakespeare's Birthday With Programme Including Student Actors.

William Shakespeare's birthday will be celebrated here tomorrow evening under the auspices of the Drama League. The bard was born somewhere between the 23rd and the 26th, and the Drama League has chosen the latter date for its celebration, which will be in the auditorium of Polytechnic High School. No admission is to be charged.

As a prominent feature of the programme will be an address by Reginald Poel of London, a nephew of the William Poel, who is famous for his new-fashioned manner of staging plays. Mr. Poel will talk on "Out-of-door Shakesperian Performances in England." As he spent several years in directing out-of-door performances of old plays, including Shakespeare, in England, he speaks with authority.

Various local high schools will also contribute to the entertainment. Hollywood High School students will present the first act of "As You Like It." Manual Arts will offer four scenes from "Romeo and Juliet," which they produced recently. Los Angeles High will give the first act of "The Tempest." The Polytechnic High School Orchestra will render Old English music. The reading of several Shakespeare scenes will be given by the Galpin Shakespeare Club.

Dr. Allen Gaw of the University of Southern California, will preside. Dr. Gaw was recently elected president of the Los Angeles center of the Drama League.

SENATOR IS GUEST.

Cummins of Iowa Meets Score of Southern California Republicans at Elaborate Luncheon.

In compliment to United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, an elaborate luncheon was given in the red room of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, last Friday. The host was Philip A. Stanton, member of the Republican National Committee from California, who desired that Senator Cummins have ample opportunity to meet some of Southern California's representative men while here.

Covers were laid for twenty, the other guests being Senator John D. Works, ex-Judge Walter Bordwell, C. C. Chapman, F. C. Roberts, P. J. Beveridge, Capt. Fredericks, William M. Garland, Frederick C. Fairbanks, T. E. Newlin, Philip L. Wilson, former U. S. Senator Frank P. Flint, George P. Adams, Capt. H. Z. Osborne, E. W. Britt, J. H. Call, W. M. Bowen and J. P. Trausue.

While Senator Cummins's name has been mentioned as a probable candidate for the Presidency, the luncheon has no special political significance beyond that it brought together a group of men who have long been identified with stalwart Republican affairs in California. Both Senator Cummins and Senator Works made short talks.

ATTORNEY ROGERS WEDS.

Daughter of Railroad Man is His Bride—Honeymoon Tour After the Sebastian Trial.

Earl Rogers and Miss Edna Landers, daughter of John D. Landers, an official of the Canadian-Pacific Railroad, were married yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 253 South Serrano street, Justice James of the District Court of Appeal officiating. The bride is well known in this city in musical circles.

Members of the immediate families were present. Mrs. Laura Travers, sister of the bride, and Charles Scholtz, associated with Mr. Rogers, were the attendants.

At the conclusion of the Sebastian trial Mr. and Mrs. Rogers will take an extended honeymoon trip. During the summer they will reside near Santa Monica, and in the winter in the home recently purchased in Berkeley Square.

TWO WOMEN INJURED.

Jitney Bus Collides With Street Car and Serious Results Follow—Accident Unavoidable.

Two women passengers in a West Jefferson-street jitney bus were painfully injured early yesterday afternoon, when the vehicle collided with a Grand-avenue street car at West Jefferson street and Grand avenue. The victims are Miss Emma Dallane, No. 765 Santee street, and Mrs. L. B. Palmer, No. 2116 West Thirty-first street. They were taken to their homes in the bus.

According to witnesses the bus was going west on Jefferson street and the car north on Grand avenue. The motorman said he was unable to apply the brakes in time to prevent the collision and the police say the accident was unavoidable.

Iron Worker Praises Duffy's

Here's a case of a strutural iron worker who suffered severe stomach trouble, but thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey he is almost ready to resume his hazardous calling:

"For many weeks I was laid up sick in bed in the hospital with stomach trouble which gradually wore me away to a mere skeleton. The hospital treatment did not seem to improve me, so my doctor said I would not get well and told my people to take me home, as there was nothing any one on this earth could do for me. When I reached home my doctor ordered me to be fed on a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey every two hours. After taking Duffy's for over one week without another morsel of food entering my system, I began to have a longing for something to eat, and to my surprise found I could keep a little oatmeal gruel on my stomach, and gradually I regained my former appetite and felt better. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the cause for my present good state of health, and my doctor says I will soon be able to go back to my trade of structural iron worker. I am not afraid of the truth and hope others will benefit from the use of Duffy's the same as myself."—Thomas Satchell, 275 Tillary St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

may be relied upon in extreme cases where other foods are rejected. When taken as directed just before meals, it assists in keeping healthy the essential functions of digestion because it induces activity in the flow of gastric juices so the food you eat will digest naturally. This action on the digestive process is of great importance as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It's a medicine for all mankind, and you, too, can money totalling $2675 will be for the most artistically-arranged entries in this pageant. This money will be awarded in sums ranging from $200 to $5.

At the head of the pageant, which will be in six divisions, directed by Gen. Wankowski as grand marshall, will be the decorated autos entered by the Board of Supervisors, the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce.

Municipal floats have been entered by the following cities: Santa Ana, Pasadena, Long Beach, Ocean Park, Huntington Park, Monrovia, Azusa, Gardena, Montebello, Inglewood and Fullerton. Chambers of commerce and boards of trade of other Los Angeles county cities have expressed their intention of participating by making class A entries, in which the prize money will total $1000.

Lindsay, Tulare county, will be represented by a float which will show the orange from bud to ripe fruit. Upon this float will ride the Tulare orange queen and her court of pretty girls.

Many entries have been received in the three classes devoted to autos, and in class D—electrics driven by women—Southland society will be largely represented.

Entries from Alhambra and Covina have been made in class G (one-horse vehicles.)

In class H there will be many elaborate floats, including a strong German-American representation by the German-American Alliance, the Saengerfest Committee and the Turn Verein Germania.

Among conspicuously-elaborate entries in this class will be that of the Japanese Association of Southern California, which will be a pageant in itself, with its own oriental fiesta queen and her court.

In this class also will be two floats entered by the pupils of the Tudor Hall School for Girls, and which will be noteworthy for their expensiveness. The money with which to build them was subscribed by the girls themselves.

Leading women of motion-picture companies will be seen upon floats in this part of the production.

Among the pony-vehicle entries a conspicuous one will be that of Yoanne and Thelma Jaeger, Pasadena children, who will introduce to Southern California a new red rose, used in the color scheme of their entry.

Friend Hears Sad Report, Calls by Telephone and Gets Good News He Can't Doubt.

When Dr. L. G. Visscher was overcome with fatigue at the Gamut Club Friday night, after a strenuous day of activity, and carried from the building to an ambulance, some of his friends feared the worst had come. A report was current yesterday that he had expired at a hospital. A friend, ready to shed tears, called the doctor's secretary at his office, No. 412 West Sixth street, yesterday afternoon, for confirmation of reported bad news, and had the pleasure of talking with Dr. Visscher.

"I'm here to say the report is all wrong," Dr. Visscher declared. "I'm very much alive. I fainted at the Gamut Club after a trying day's work, but recovered immediately after I was carried outside, and went home and not to a hospital. I was up at 8 o'clock this morning as usual and have done a regular day's work."

TERMINAL RATES FOR THIS CITY.

TRAFFIC EXPERT'S VIEWS ON FREIGHT TARIFF MUDDLE.

Readjustment, in His Opinion, will Resolve Itself into Battle for Supremacy Between Railroads and Steamship Companies — Commission's Decisions Overlap.

Asserting that Los Angeles will get terminal rates, but expressing the fear that the entire proposition of readjusting rail rates to meet water competition will resolve itself into a battle for supremacy between the railroads and the steamship companies, Traffic Manager Gregson returned yesterday from a conference in Washington with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"A decision, or rather a formula for the railroads in this matter will probably be made public the coming week," said Mr. Gregson, "though matters are considerably muddled.

"For instance, it now appears probable that the commission's decision in this case will overlap other decisions. Naturally this will breed more or less confusion and also opposition from certain quarters. But this is to be expected."

Continuing, Mr. Gregson stated that the decision may be expected to be GREAT ARMADA ON THE ROCKS.

Miles of Beach Lined with Millions of Wrecks.

Portuguese Men-of-war Sent Ashore by the Wind.

Launch Passes Through Sea Covered with Them.

A great fleet of Portuguese men-of-war was stranded on the coast of Los Angeles county day before yesterday. The battered hulks, beaten to pieces by the waves and disintegrated by the elements, have almost totally disappeared. Scarcely a vestige remains of the vast fleet that had so proudly breasted the waves, and there was no hope of salvage.

For at least fifteen miles the men-of-war, with but little save the superstructure left, lined the Malibu coast from the Frank Siert ranch at Oak Creek, in Ventura county, to Point Duma—a continuous line of intense, glowing, blue color which came from the sea host that, cast up by the waves, lined the rocky shore.

This fleet was not composed of war vessels, but of countless millions of small, invertebrate marine animals, known to fishermen and seafarers on this Coast as the Portuguese man-of-war. Belonging to the same family of hydroids as the Porpita, and somewhat similar in appearance, the individuals composing this great fleet, which was so utterly destroyed, have been designated by scientists the velella, and the queer creature has borne that name since the middle of the fifteenth century. The name is supposed to have been given because of the animal's most striking peculiarity, a somewhat fanciful likeness to a little sail.

RAFT WITH A SAIL.

The velella is a tiny flat boat—a small raft bearing a silvery sail—about three inches long and one inch or more wide. The upper side of the oblong disk is occupied by a gas-filled, pneumatic float and on the under side is a central feeding mouth surrounded by numerous smaller mouths. Near the outer edge there is a fringe of blue tentacles. The AWARD ROSE GARDEN PRIZES NEXT WEEK.

Exhibit of Cut Blooms by Contestants in "The Times" Building to Follow Announcement of Judges will be the First of its Kind Ever Held in Southern California. Inspection Nearly Completed.

THE committee of judges for The Times Rose Garden Contest decided yesterday to announce their findings and name the prize winners in The Times of Wednesday morning, May 4. Nearly all of the gardens entered have already been inspected, but a few in which the blooms are backward cannot properly be judged for several days.

At the request of several of the contestants an exhibit of cut roses from the gardens entered in the contest will be held on the day of the announcement, day and evening, in the assembly-room on the second floor of The Times Building. Some of the growers are planning to make as extensive exhibits as their gardens will permit, and all will be labeled to show the product of the various gardens.

It will be the first show of magnitude confined exclusively to roses ever held in Southern California. Every contestant who has roses in bloom at that time is invited to send in some blooms, whether it be an elaborate assortment or only a few buds. In addition the members of the Judging Committee will have a showing of cut buds and open blooms from their gardens. Details will be announced later.

The exhibit will not only give the contestants an opportunity to see what others have accomplished in growing roses, but will enable thousands of other visitors to the show that day to know what amateur rose lovers and rose growers of Los Angeles and vicinity are accomplishing.

Fred H. Howard, chairman of the committee, will send in some blooms from his Montebello garden. Frank Lewin, also of the committee, will have an exhibit from his beautiful Hawthorne garden. Mr. Lewin has experimented with thousands of varieties of roses grown in all parts of the world and his collection is undoubtedly one of the finest among amateur growers in the country. William R. Ruess, the third member of the committee, has also promised to assist in making the show a success.

MYRIAD FRAGRANT BLOOMS.

Roses never bloomed more freely nor more beautifully anywhere than they have in Southern California this spring. Every variety thrives well here from the hardy perpetuals to the delicate teas and hybrid teas. The whole countryside has been beautified with them. In the gardens of millionaires and laborers alike they have lifted their fragrant beauty to the eye of the beholder in every community and in almost every dooryard.

PUBLIC AND POLICE LIKE ARM SIGNALS AT CROSSINGS.

With Whistle Silent, Crowd Moves Along Better—Traffic Squad Soon to Have Only Six-footers—How Great Stream is Kept Moving at Fifth and Broadway.

The new system of "human semaphores" in operation at the street intersections of the business district has proved an unqualified success from the standpoint of traffic efficiency and has been given enthusiastic approval by the traveling public.

This statement was made last night by Lieut. Butler, who is in charge of the traffic bureau of the police department. The new regulation has been in effect since last Monday and six days is considered by him sufficient to give it a fair test.

"There were several serious objections to the whistle signals at the crossings," Lieut. Butler said, "and the new system has entirely eliminated them. Now pedestrians and drivers of vehicles cannot become confused once they understand the system. All they have to do is to look for the uniformed policeman. If his back or face is toward them they know traffic is closed, but when they see either side of his face they know it is safe to negotiate the crossing. Under the old system many accidents were narrowly averted because of failure to hear the officer's whistle and sometimes because of inability to discover in time which way was being opened."

POLICE ALSO PLEASED.

While several of the forty regular traffic "cops" opposed the "semaphore" system when it was suggested by Lieut. Butler, all of them after a few days' trial declared it a great improvement over the whistles and they say the crowd could hardly get so big they could not handle it with dispatch.

The elimination of the whistle, it is believed, will make the life of the traffic officer more desirable, too. In the past many of the officers were compelled to give up their posts, the constant blowing of the whistle having a disastrous effect upon their throats. One officer ruined all his front teeth by contact with the whistle and had to purchase two gold bridges.

The magnitude of the corner traffic problem is best illustrated by statistics taken at Seventh street and Broadway and Fifth street and Broadway, the former being the more difficult to control because street cars cut the corner, while at Fifth street and Broadway the lines bisect only. Owing to the difference it requires but one officer to handle the traffic at the upper point, while two are needed at the lower

F. M. Wilson is in charge at Fifth street and Broadway. During the rush period between 3 and 6 p.m., he keeps on an average 15,000 pedestrians an hour moving, a fraction more than five street cars per minute and about 1500 automobiles, wagons and other vehicles each hour.

At Seventh and Broadway, two officers direct the traffic for between 12,000 and 14,000 pedestrians each hour between 3:30 and 6 p.m., four street cars per minute and 1400 vehicles per hour.

There are forty patrolmen assigned to regular duty as traffic "cops." They are to be found at all of the busier crossings in the business center, taking in the area bounded by First, Eighth, Main and Hill streets, with an additional officer at Ninth and Main streets and an assistant at several of the irregularly laid out intersections.

FIGHTS TO WIN BACK HUSBAND.

New Jersey Society Romance is Shattered Here.

His Wealthy Santa Barbara Family Accused.

Alienation Alleged; Hundred Thousand Asked.

No wedding in New Jersey last fall was more picturesque or promising than that of Miss Christine Buist and Dr. Horace F. Pierce. Attention was drawn to it yesterday when Attorney Lee Riddle filed suit in the Superior Court on behalf of the bride, demanding $100,000 damages from the groom's mother, father and sister, for alleged alienation of his affections.

Scandal is to issue when the case comes for trial, for the bride alleges her husband's family charged her with being "indolent, extravagant, deceitful and untruthful." She has brought the suit because she wants her husband back, and now five months after the wedding, she is living alone in the Plymouth Hotel, across the continent from her wealthy parents, determined to carry on her struggle in the courts and out to bring her husband back to her.

The defendants are A. M. Pierce, one of the richest and most widely known of Santa Barbara's business men, prominent in social and club life there; his wife, Sallie Belle Pierce, and their daughter, Miss Edith Pierce. The immediate business of Mr. Pierce, Sr., is the proprietorship of a large furniture store, but he has valuable interests in other enterprises.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.

The wedding of the only son of the Pierce family and the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Buist of Moorestown, N. J., was a society event of most fashionable details. Horace Pierce, the groom, had but recently graduated with high honors and several medals from a dental college in Chicago, and had gone to Staunton, Va., to attend a house party. There he met the daughter of Jacob Buist, rich manufacturer and treasurer of the Fuller Tire Company of Philadelphia.

When Horace Pierce returned to Santa Barbara he corresponded regularly with Miss Christine Buist, and a few months later Miss Buist came to the Coast as the guest of the groom's sister, Miss Edith Pierce. When she returned to her New Jersey home the engagement was announced and last November the wedding occurred. It was a particularly brilliant affair. The Buist home was the scene of the wedding. Some of the most prominent New Jersey society girls were maids of honor at the wedding and the nuptials attracted wide attention.

The bride and groom came to Santa Barbara for a stay at the home of the parents and a few weeks later the husband was stricken with appendicitis. He was brought to Los Angeles for treatment and lay in a local hospital ten weeks in what was thought to be a losing battle for life. At his bedside constantly were his bride and his mother, and the attention the young society girl lavished upon her stricken husband was one of the most impressive hospital romances of recent years.

Upon his recovery the couple remined here, he to begin the practice of his profession. They occupied a suite of rooms at the Cordova Hotel. Then came the trouble that has ma-

DANCE TO HELP CAUSE OF CITY.

PRAISE OF LOS ANGELES TO BE SUNG AT ATLANTA

By Greeters Who are to Give Masquerade Ball Wednesday and Use Proceeds for the Trip—Welcome Smile and Glad Hand will be on the Job.

The "welcome-to-our-city" smile, the "glad-hand" greeting and other well-known accomplishments of successful hotel men will be employed by a reception committee of forty-five persons to make everybody feel at home at the benefit masquerade ball to be given by the Greeters Club Wednesday evening at the new Coliseum.

The money derived from the ball will be used for a patriotic purpose and consequently the hotel men are receiving hearty support in their undertaking. The proceeds will be spent in sending delegates to the national convention of Greeters of America in Atlanta in June. The more important duty of the delegates will be to sing the praises of Los Angeles and the Southland.

In return for the assistance given by the hotel men in electing Miss Sybil Mather fiesta queen, the employees of the Pacific Electric are giving hearty support to the benefit ball. Other corporations and civic and social organizations are assisting the hotel men.

The Committee on Arrangements is composed of the following: Attorney J. Edward McCurdy, chairman; Thomas Jackson, secretary; Thomas MacNish, Walter Ratliff, Leonard Snow and E. M. Towne. The committee was appointed several months ago and has been working faithfully to make a financial and social success of the ball.

J. Y. Bedell, president of the club, and other officers have been giving the committee hearty support. Among the more active patronesses of the ball, who have done effective work, are Mrs. J. Edward McCurdy, wife of the legal adviser of the club, and Mrs Leigh A. Fuller, wife of "Daddy" Fuller of the Clark, one of the founders of the national organization.

A special feature of the ball will be a butterfly dance by pupils of the Scoville School of Dancing. The dancing will last to 2 a.m.

"If hard labor and the assistance of many kind friends will make a success of anything, our ball should be a winner," Mr. Bedell said yesterday at the Hayward. "The national convention met in Los Angeles last year and we have nothing to ask at the convention. Our delegates will go under instructions to make a good showing for Los Angeles. They will sing and talk the praises of the City of the Angels.

"We hope to send five delegates to the convention. This will require a fund of $1500. The men will do $15,000 worth of boosting for Los Angeles."

TOURIST STREAM VAST, BUT QUIET.

VISITORS SEEK THE OPEN AND LEAVE HOTEL LOBBIES ALMOST SILENT.

Quietness is one of the marked characteristics of the great stream of exposition tourists now passing through Los Angeles. Were it not for their names on the hotel registers, the increase in the amount of money in circulation and the added congestion on Broadway, the presence of the thousands of visitors would not be manifest.

"The hotel can be full and nobody suspect it," Manager Pedersen of the Van Nuys said yesterday. "The lobby will be deserted and everything quiet, but the situation can be easily explained by a hotel man.

"The tourists are out in the open during the hours they are awake. People can stay in doors and sit around hotel lobbies in any city, but where else, except in Los Angeles, can you find such wonders to delight the eye?

"At dinner time they come inside to eat. The old folks retire and the young go to the 'movies' or for a walk. Then it is quiet again until nearly midnight. The great stream of tourists passing through Los Angeles at the present time is as silent as a mighty river."

Terminal Rates.

general; "a working formula" was his way of expressing it. This fact will give the railroads considerable latitude in application and may lead to some strange spectacles.

In fact, Mr. Gregson asserted that it is entirely probable that the railroads will ask leave to amend the fourth section of the terminal decision in such a way as to make competative rates applicable from port to port. The intermediate rates will be arrived at by adding the back-haul rate to the port rate.

"For instance," said Mr. Gregson, "a rate of 40 cents is made on canned goods from New York to Los Angeles. Then, to get a rate on the same article from Pittsburgh to Los Angeles, you would add the rate from that city to New York on top of the competative New York-Los Angeles rate, making it, say, 60 cents."

But, as Mr. Gregson pointed out, this will lead to some difficulties of application. For instance, the Santa Fe or the Union Pacific-Salt Lake are not expected to take kindly to a rate system that will permit the shipment of competitive commodities from the Far East to Los Angeles at a lower rate than from Chicago to Los Angeles.

"It is to be expected," said Mr. Gregson, "that the Chicago wholesalers will demand that they be given cut rates to the Coast. The result will be a general slash of rates and perhaps a survival-of-the-fittest battle between cities and between the railroads and the steamship companies."

An alternative proposition proposed at the Washington conference by representatives of northern traffic associations is one calculated to take some of the "slack" out of the commission's original decision. It is to make Salt Lake City a basing center and thus obviate the strange spectacle of Salt Lake City and adjacent territory having higher rates from the East than have the territory to the west.

"Things are pretty badly muddled," said Mr. Gregson, "while the commission decisions overlap each other in so many cases that they may have to have a clearinghouse to interpret when one applies and the other doesn't."

MILLION AND HALF INVOLVED IN SUIT.

MINORITY STOCKHOLDERS OF MINING COMPANY APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT.

Transcripts in the appeal of twelve plaintiffs against A. Otis Birch, president of the Board of Directors of the Menges Oil Company, and M. M. Good, superintendent, from the judgment of Judge W. H. Thomas of the Orange County Superior Court, were filed in the Supreme Court yesterday. The amount involved is $1,638,362.

The plaintiffs are: J. C. Travis, who brought an action to recover $240,000; Mary P. Matthews, $97,200; J. W. Blee, $48,000; Della F. Bishop, $240,000; W. A. Huff, $60,000; J. D. Thomas, $35,200; N. T. Edwards, $60,000; F. L. Ainsworth, $84,000; W. B. Tedford, $72,000; J. R. Porter, $465,562; H. C. Dawes, $68,400, and F. A. Dawes, $165,000.

The action was brought by the plaintiffs, minority stockholders in the Menges Oil Company, to recover the above amounts, on the allegation that false and untrue statements had been made to them for the purpose of causing them and others to sell their stock at a figure it is claimed did not represent the value of their holdings, by representing that the property of the company was not a paying one, that heavy assessments would have to be met by the stockholders, having the effect of inducing the plaintiffs to sell out when they should have held on.

In the lower court Judge Thomas sustained the demurrer to the second amended complaint, without leave to amend, and the appeal is to be taken direct to the California Supreme Court instead of waiting to hear from the District Court of Appeal.

represented by twelve pieces of apparatus, will be the feature of class J. Three banners of different colors will be awarded.

In the classes devoted to saddle horses and saddle ponies more entries particularly are solicited. For these classes, as for all others, no entry fee is required.

Among the marching clubs entered are the four companies of the Y.M.I. battalion, under command of Maj. J. L. Irwin; the White Star Patrol of the Glendale lodge of Elks, and the White Squadron of the Los Angeles Elks.

The full membership of the Knights of the Rose Tournament, Pasadena, will take part in the pageant. In red and white hunting costume and riding beautiful horses, they will be commanded by Liege Lord Frank G. Hogan.

THIRTEEN BANDS.

Thirteen bands will furnish music for the pageant. These musical organizations will be headed by the 1915 City and County Band.

Hundreds of horses will be seen in the fifth, or equestrian division. A majority of these will be ridden by the Westerners, the typical Southwestern organization of both men and women; and by the cowboys from all the range States of the West, here to participate in the 1915 General Committee rodeo.

Another division of the pageant will be composed of six daylight floats prepared by Fawcett Robinson, America's foremost artistic electrical designer. These floats, which collectively will be designated as "The Queen and Her Court," will be unique in that their like never before has been produced anywhere.

The title of these floats will be: "Ben Hur," "Fairy Queen," "Naiad Queen," "American Beauty Rose," "Sleeping Beauty," "Animated Flowers."

Still another division of the pageant will be made up of a silken Chinese dragon of great length, which will make its way through the streets attended by an orientally-garbed retinue.

Preparations are complete at the 1915 Stadium for producing the 1915 General Committee's rodeo, in which will appear the most daring horsemen and horsewomen west of the Mississippi.

There will be 500 riders and more than a thousand horses at this old Southwest range festival and a thrill a minute every afternoon for nine days, beginning Saturday, is the programme promise.

Riders now in Los Angeles awaiting the call to ride the most famous bucking horses in America represent California, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Montana, Wyoming and other States.

Great Armada.

color is a fine blue, sometimes tinted with purple and green. Each individual is a cake of jelly, hung below with short streamers. The flat disk is thin and somewhat cartilaginous, on which is placed perpendicularly a triangular disk which extends diagonally across the floor of the little raft. When sailing by the aid of this vertical plate, which is acted upon by the wind, the velella is usually enabled to tack into the fiercest gale, but on this occasion of the destruction of such an immense school, the winds, aided by a strong current off the Santa Monica coast, swept them shoreward to destruction.

The fleet had been drifting along and where it struck the beach everyone in the distance of about fifteen miles was stranded. With no organ of locomotion the velella has to trust to the mercy of the winds, waves and currents.

THROUGH MILES OF THEM.

"Stormy" Robbins, captain of the thirty-three-foot launch, owned by Joe Rivers, in returning to Santa Monica from Santa Cruz Island one day last week, stated that he sailed through miles of ocean thickly covered with the velella—that they were in such myriads the foam at the prow of the boat was colored blue instead of white.

Thomas H. Huxley, L.L.D., F.R.S., the noted scientist, in referring to the anatomy of invertebrate animals, thus elucidates some of the characteristics of the velella: "The siphonophora: In this group the hydrosoma is always free and flexible, the ectoderm developing no hard chitinous exoskeleton, save in the case of the pneumataphores of some species. In most, the hydranth are of equal size, but in velella the hydranth situated in the center of the discoidal body is very much larger than the rest, which occupy a circumference zone around it; and the principal function of which is to develop the gonophores from their pedicles. The tentacula are separable from the hydranths and form the outermost circle of appendages."

From all of which it may be assumed and proved that the genus velella is a hydroid of the lower marine invertebrate, class siphonophora, order of discoideae. It is also called a zooid and other names.

EXPOSITION CONCERT.

After an absence of one Sunday the Los Angeles City and County Band will resume its concerts at Exposition Park this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Director Tandler has arranged a programme, varying from the lightest of popular numbers to Wagnerian opera selections, as follows:

"America;" "La Reine De Saba" (March Et Cortege) (Gounod;) "Visions of a Beautiful Woman" (valse) (Fahrbach;) "Parting" (Raff;) "Last Hope" (Gottschalk;) "Sari-Selection" (Kalman;) "Out the Lights" (March Militaire) (Chauncey Haines;) "Hungarian Fantasia" (Moses;) "Tennessee, I Hear You Calling Me" (popular) (Goodfrey;) "Die Walkure" (Wagner.)

Rose Garden Prizes.

nificently beautiful roses in Southern California are practically unlimited. Roses will be beautiful without much care or thoughtful attention. They are infinitely more beautiful when properly pruned, sprayed and fertilized.

It was to encourage a greater love for roses and a desire to obtain perfection of bloom as well as quantity that The Times last year gave away 80,000 choice 2-year-old rose bushes. These were the finest that could be procured and cost several times as much as cheaper varieties that might have been selected.

Thousands of these bushes have been seen by the Inspecting Committees during the past few weeks and in most cases the results in less than twelve months have been exceedingly good. In one yard two bushes (not climbers) were found that had attained a height of eight feet and correspondingly heavy growth. In other gardens almost as strong growth was noticed.

In further pursuance of its desire to encourage the planting of more roses and better roses and thereby beautify Southern California, The Times last spring offered prizes to amateur rose gardeners. Commercial growers and persons connected in any way with The Times were barred, but all others were invited to enter, it being promised that the awards would be made on merit and that the size of gardens would not be a principal consideration.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED.

The first prize is $200 in gold, second prize, $75 in gold; third prize, $50 in gold; fourth prize, $25 in gold; fifth prize, $25 worth of choice rose bushes; sixth prize, $20 worth of choice rose bushes; seventh and eighth prizes, $15 worth of choice rose bushes; ninth and tenth prizes, $10 worth of choice rose bushes

Nearly 250 gardens, of which about 150 are in Los Angeles and the remainder in outlying towns, were entered. Nearly all of them have been inspected and they reveal a wealth of rose beauty and excellence. Among the entries are fine collections of old-fashioned varieties. Other collections consist entirely of the recent introductions.

No more competent committee of judges could be selected in the West than Messrs. Howard, Lewin and Ruess. A large number of the contestants have expressed their gratification at the opportunity of getting expert advice and suggestion. Some have been told how to overcome objectionable soil conditions, others how to disbud, others how to avoid mildew and other diseases. People who have long sought in vain to learn the name of a favorite rose have been given the information. A great many of the entrants now know how to avoid their mistakes of the past and their gardens next year will undoubtedly show marked improvement.

The judging is being done on a point system. Every garden inspected has been awarded the number of points to which it is entitled. When all have been seen the prizes will be awarded to those gardens scoring the highest number of points.

In making its tours of inspection the committee has in many places found nobody at home, but the gardens have been viewed and given proper consideration. If any entrant has been overlooked or fears that his garden has not been inspected a written or telephone message to the Rose Garden editor of The Times will receive prompt attention.

SHATTERED DREAM.

Dilapidated Sleeper in Five-thousand-dollar Car Draws a Crowd and a Chauffeur's Wrath.

A handsome touring car of the $5000 type is an ordinary sight on Spring street. But one of these palatial cars standing in front of the Alexandria Hotel with a dilapidated specimen of the male species sound asleep in the tonneau caused a crowd to gather last night.

The contrast was marvelous. It was like putting up a million-dollar front with 10 cents in the bank. Much speculation surged over the gathered spectators.

"It must be Andy Carnegie in disguise."

"No, the poor man had had an accident. Where is his chauffeur?"

"Aw, it's a bet."

At this point interest suddenly ceased. An irate chauffeur, coming from the lobby of the hotel, sprang into the tonneau. The sweet dream of peace became a nightmare for the occupant, who didn't have even 10 cents.

"Next time you want a bed ask me. I'll find a cop and you can sleep in his wagon," shouted the chauffeur as he drove off.

ENTER TROUBLE.

The bride charges that her husband's parents became hostile to her, tried in every way possible to turn his affections for her and, as she alleges in the complaint, "by arts, innuendoes, insinuations, persuasion and artifices endeavored to alienate and destroy his affections" for her. She further charges they enticed her husband from her and abducted him, taking him to the Santa Barbara home. She further charges that the fourth month of their honeymoon found her abandoned in this city, alone and without funds, compelled to call upon her parents for support.

This, she says, was the greatest humiliation, for her father was prominent in New Jersey, chief ordnance officer of militia in the Department of State and a member of the Governor's staff with the title of major.

But she is still convinced her husband's love for her is real and true, and that it is only the influence of his family that prompts him to desert her, and therefore she is going to take the matter into the courts, to try to impress upon him the wrong his parents are alleged to have done him, and to realize her love and devotion. She is but 23 years old and the groom 25.

Secretary Daniels, Disciplinarian.

[Baltimore American:] Secretary Daniels as first aid to Dan Cupid is going thundering down the ages as the friend of young loving hearts. In helping a young officer to get back in the navy who had been turned down for marrying, he declared if he were a young middy in love with a pretty girl he would marry her if it broke up the whole navy. That is the kind of talk whose human interest catches the entire nation, which joins the rest of the world in loving a lover.

Wig-Wags a Success.

enforcement of a regulation that no patrolman can be a member of it who is not six feet tall and well built in proportion. He wants to make the squad the pride of the police department and a distinct credit to the city. "That men under six feet sometimes make admirable traffic 'cops' is true, but I believe the six-footers will make a better showing and I hope to make the change in a short time," the lieutenant said.

"This is a big improvement over the whistle," said Officer Wilson, at Fifth and Broadway, yesterday afternoon. "I used to blow the old whistle so much it made my head ache and I know its shrill tone was an annoyance to the public. Now traffic moves more rapidly and with less confusion. I believe that by eliminating the whistle we can be of more benefit to the pedestrians, too. In the past we were compelled to interrupt interrogators with a shrill whistle blast, but now we can talk away even though it is necessary to change our position."

Lieut. Butler says he feels the "human semaphore" is better than the mechanical, principally because the latter is apt to be knocked down by a rush of vehicles or some one who has jumped on a street car from the wrong side. With an officer of the law it is different. There is none so reckless as to run him down and if a street car passenger does accidentally strike him, there is little doubt as to the speedy recovery of his equilibrium.

The University of Toronto lacrosse team will make a spring tour of eastern colleges. On May 26 the Canadian experts will play against Hobart College at Geneva, N. Y.; May 27 they will clash with the Carlisle Indians at Carlisle, Pa.; May 28 a visit will be paid to Swarthmore College, a short distance outside of Philadelphia. May 29 and May 31 the Crescent A. C. will be played at Brooklyn.

FINE PAINTINGS SHOWN.

Taken from Private Lankershim Gallery to Adorn Hotel Tearoom Just Opened.

Paintings, some original and some copies, valued at thousands of dollars, and choice selections from the great collection of Col. J. B. Lankershim, have been taken from their private gallery to adorn the new Lankershim Hotel tearoom, formally opened by Manager Flood yesterday.

The "Mask Ball," an original by Guyllame, is one of the few serious works of that famous French caricaturist and has been exhibited in the Paris Salon. One of the finest of the oils is "The Riverside," portraying a maid ready for her morning dip in the stream at her feet. It is by a rising American artist, John Rachmiel. Another picture by the same artist is "An Afternoon in the Studio."

Among the copies is one of "Flora," a splendid reproduction of the celebrated Titian now in the Florence gallery. Henner, the painter of red-haired women, his wife having had wonderful auburn locks and having served as his principal model, is represented in "The Reader," the original of which belongs to the million-dollar Chauchard collection in the Louvre. Other Louvre pictures reproduced are "The Milkmaid," by Greuze and "The Gleaners" of Millet.

In addition to the paintings, some exquisite statuary is included in the charming tea salon.

Indian Troops' Peculiarities.

[Youth's Companion:] Some of the native Indian troops who are quartered in England awaiting their turn at the front are a constant source of wonder to the provincial, untraveled Englishman. The Sikhs never touch tobacco in any form; the Kangra people drink infusions of it. Some sects will throw away a kettleful of food if a curious English eye has looked too closely at it, and so contaminated it. Taking care of Indian troops away from home is a heart-breaking job for the sutler.

A GLORY DAY.

There may be days more perfect than this past Saturday, but we suspect that one would have to take chances on enduring William Jennings Bryan in heaven to see one.

GIVE AND TAKE.

We are glad to see that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has planned an excursion to Fresno on Raisin Day. Fresno is a grand neighbor, although some distance removed. Los Angeles has nothing to lose and much to gain by this sort of reciprocity.

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

Mr. Bryan has unburdened himself of a thought: He says "a brilliant mind has no place in heaven." This should be a source of consolation to Mr. Bryan. Whatever happens to him here below, it assures him a [illegible] world to come. But [illegible] the irreverent [illegible] heaven [illegible] that [illegible] spiritually [illegible]

ONE IMP[illegible]

A small change of heart in one respect has taken place among the belligerent nations of Europe. They have ceased to importune the Almighty to grant victory to their arms. Perhaps some dormant sense of ghastly humor or at least of impropriety has been awakened by the casualty lists on every side. We hope no more prayers for victory will ever be prayed. They are too much like the prayer of a westerner pursued by a grizzly: "O Lord, deliver me from this bear;" and then after he missed the last shot: "At any rate, Lord, don't help the bear."

GEOGRAPHICAL GROWTH.

Rear-Admiral Peary is mistaken. A nation is not doomed to extinction that does not grow geographically. Territorial expansion has never perpetuated a people. Switzerland is older than and as permanent as Russia. The Helvetians were a nation before Rome grew geographically. A hundred years hence the United States will not be obliterated as a nation unless it owns the whole western hemisphere.

To honor all work of the head or of the hands, to be fair and to give each his right due, to hold the balance justly between liberty and license, to make citizenship under the flag a precious heritage, to set the light of freedom on the loftiest mountain peak—these are the things that make for national growth, and compared to them geographical growth is a minor matter. If it comes because of these things, well and good. But the greater growth must come first.

WITHOUT PROHIBITION.

Great Britain's experiment to promote temperance without resorting to total prohibition will be watched with interest and advantage by all sincerely striving to drive out the drink evil. This is the first case on record where force of example has been tried on a whole nation before making reform a thing of drastic laws and penalties. If England can be led to sober up instead of being driven to it—as Russia was—the value of that sobriety will be so much the greater.

Since the war started it is evident that drinking has increased in the United Kingdom. Can the example of the King and many of the best citizens bring about the temperance necessary, according to Kitchener and Lloyd George, for the success of the empire? If so, England will have won a greater victory over herself than she can ever win over Germany, even though she succeeded in driving the Teutonic army of invasion out of Belgium and back across the Rhine.

THE EARS OF A SHIP.

Inventions that pertain to the defensive or offensive in warfare are naturally just now at a premium. Prof. Fessenden has invented an electric oscillator which he appropriately calls the ears of a ship. These fixed beneath the water on either side of the keel will transmit the vibrations of a submarine's propeller to the threatened vessel while the destroyer is still four miles away. The intensity of the note caused by the vibrator increases with the proximity of the submarine and by recording this intensity the distance can be measured.

Since our government is already adopting Prof. Fessenden's invention we may consider its practical application as having been proven. Let it be as good as it promises and this invention may revolutionize our latest theories as to the best in naval offense and defense. We can no longer pin our faith on submarines if the new "water wireless" renders their invisibility—the one source of their power—a cancelled factor. The submarine terror will have been robbed of its chief weapon. The next thing in order is a silent propeller or a vibration muffler to checkmate the electric oscillator. War, whatever loss it causes, is a stimulus to inventive genius.

SOIL DOCTORS.

Under close and intelligent cultivation soils actually improve with cropping. The land is not worn out or exhausted by being over-farmed, only by being wrongfully farmed. Lack of fertility does not necessarily mean poverty of soil; it may spring from an overabundance of one element, not in itself deleterious, but simply overbalancing the effects of other necessary elements. There should be no such thing as an abandoned farm.

This is the verdict arrived at by the United States Bureau of Soils after long and careful experiments. The idea that the land has been hopelessly used up by over-cropping in some of our older States is erroneous. Samples of soil from some of our worst farm lands have been proven to be not dead but only in an unhealthy condition and this condition can be remedied as ills in the human body are remedied.

The farmer of the future will be more than a sower of seeds and reaper of harvests. He will be a soil doctor. Every year farming becomes more of a science and less of a mechanical process. A proper rotation of crops will always be the A.B.C. of preserving soil values. A just proportion of work, play, exercise and rest is the first principle of preserving human health. But science has to go beyond this when complications occur.

So as aches and pains are alleviated by duly qualified physicians, soils must be corrected for sickness or disease by properly instructed scientists. Some day a new profession will spring up—that of soil doctors—who will diagnose farms and treat crop shortage and failure by proven remedies.

Once bleeding was the sole operation resorted to by the professors of healing, the leech and the lancet were the apothecaries' stock in trade. In our knowledge of medicine and surgery we have advanced tremendously in the last two centuries. The same advance has started in our treatment of soils. The up-to-date farmer does not now slap on the fertilizer by guesswork or drive in the plow on a hit-or-miss programme. He does not apply the same method haphazard to all sorts and conditions of farms. The chemist has taken a hand and the chemistry of farming is growing in importance and results.

Our government scientists are making new agricultural discoveries as vital to the welfare of the people as the more spectacular discoveries of experimenters in other directions. In the last year the United States Bureau has isolated thirty-seven organic compounds not previously known to exist in the soil. Every device for rendering the cultivation of new lands more profitable or the restoration of exhausted farms more feasible is a practical addition to the general prosperity that cannot be overestimated.

The soil doctor will first grow our crops for us in a chemical laboratory. Then the farmer will duplicate his work on thousands of acres many of which but for the laboratory experiments would hardly have paid for the expense of plowing and harrowing. Some soils will no longer be overfed and others starved. Toxins and stimulants and correctives will be applied as intelligently as in treating human ailments.

The soil beneath our feet is not so much dead matter. It answers to the right treatment, some even say it feels the effect of human sympathy; the man who loves to make things grow always makes the most successful farmer. The earth seems to respond to his enthusiasm.

The soil is not a tank to be exhausted after so much of its contents have been drawn upon. It is constantly being refilled by everlasting springs of fertility. To regulate the drain on these various springs according to the volume of the supply, not to take too much from one source and leave a surplus from another, to preserve the balance of supply and demand, this is the task of the soil doctor; this is the science of the modern farmer.

SUPPRESSING NEWSPAPERS IN GERMANY.

If a German newspaper publishes a criticism of the government it may not only be suppressed, but copies of the offending publication may be snatched out of the hands of its readers at the cafes.

The Danzig Volkszeitung was suppressed for saying there was no danger of a famine in Germany, but that the price of many necessaries of life was too high for the working classes and imposed considerable hardship upon them.

The Koenigsberg daily newspaper was suppressed for saying that the victories won by the German army were due to the fact that universal manhood suffrage exists in Germany, and to the right possessed by German workmen to combine in trade unions or in political associations.

At Kattowitz the Freie Presse was suppressed because the military censor had an important dinner engagement to keep, and had no time to read the proofs of that evening's issue.

The Vorwaerts received a series of temporary suppressions that elsewhere might have been very discouraging to an enterprising journalist. It was first suppressed because it protested against wildly-sensational reports of English atrocities on German prisoners on the grounds that such reports stimulated public enthusiasm for the war and hence to discredit them meant diminished enthusiasm for the war.

After it resumed publication it was again suppressed because it protested against the publication of a false report in another journal that the German army had captured Belfort and seven French army corps, amounting to 350,000 men, at one stroke. The government censor declared that in discrediting an encouraging lie the Vorwaerts was doing a public disservice.

The third suppression was because the Vorwaerts published a caustic reply to the editor of the Neueste Nachrichten for calling the Vorwaerts editor a liar and a horse thief, lower in the scale of humanity than an Andalusian jackass or an American Progressive politician, or words to that effect.

The fourth suppression of our afflicted German contemporary occurred when it declared that the hostility existing in other countries against Germany was due to the fact that the German method of government is based on autocracy and militarism, which together had produced many undesirable features.

The fifth suppression was because the Vorwaerts said that the destruction of the despotism of the Czar would be a blessing to the Russian people—this was interpreted as an indirect hit at Kaiser Wilhelm.

The sixth suppression was because the offending paper published a speech in the Berlin Town Council made by Herr Wurum in which the authorities were urged to prevent the prices of necessary commodities of every-day life from being raised above a certain level.

The seventh suppression was in consequence of the Vorwaerts publishing a speech made in the British Parliament by Mr. Ramsay Macdonald in which that gentleman spoke against the war. Why?

The Vorwaerts has been warned to publish nothing that might offend the feelings of the descendants of Judas Iscariot, to refrain from any attack on Mahomet or Nero, and not under any circumstances to speak disrespectfully of the equator.

Suppressed journalism has its disadvantages, but also its alleviations. On each resumption of publication the Vorwaerts has largely increased its circulation and its advertising patronage and its proprietors claim that if it can continue to be suppressed about once a week until the end of the war the Rothschilds will be paupers compared with them.

EXCLUDED FROM THE CANAL.

Atty.-Gen. Gregory has advised Secretary Garrison that a ship cannot be excluded from the Panama Canal merely because of the accusation that she is the property of a trust. The vessel cannot be excluded from the canal until it is proved that the corporation owning her is a trust. When the trust is busted, and not before, the ship may sail the ocean blue with her nose pointed toward Colon or Balboa.

Suppose a decision shall be rendered that a vessel is trust-owned while she is half-way to the isthmus on a voyage from New York to Yokohama. The tidings are communicated to her by wireless. Will she return with freight and passengers to New York? or will she tie up at Colon and unload them into another steamer for Yokohama that is not subject to the imputation of being trust-owned.

Suppose it is a British trust that owns a vessel bound to Hongkong from Liverpool. Would we not get into well-deserved trouble with His Majesty's government by refusing to allow the vessel passage through the canal?

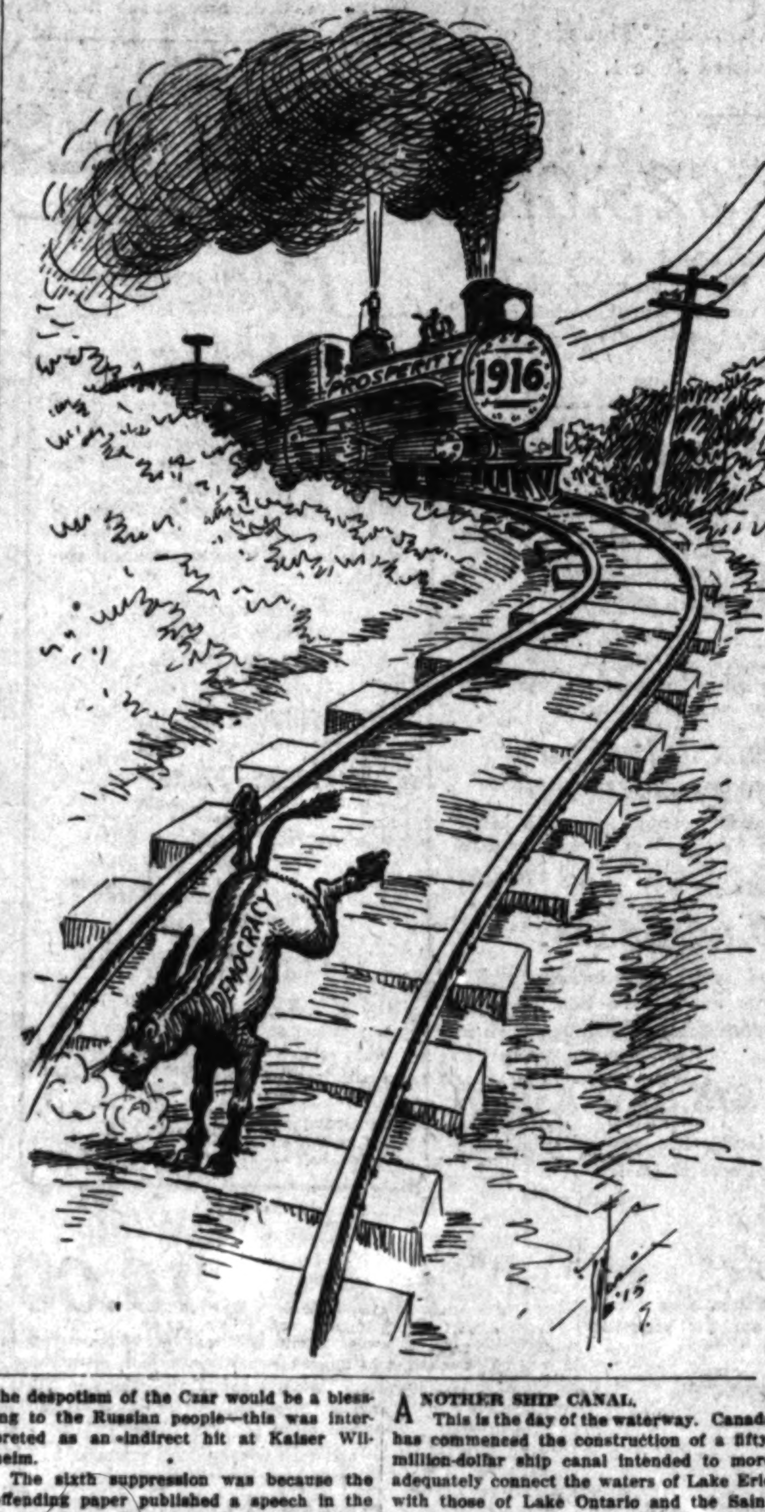
The Wilson administration would hardly attempt to make the ownership of European ships the test of their right to pass through the canal. It will confine its pernicious activities in this respect to American ships. It may go as far as it did with Huerta and make the right of an American ship to pass through the canal depend upon the moral conduct of her owner.

If the Sixth-fourth Congress shall prove as pliant to the commands of President Wilson as was its predecessor it may indulge in experimental maritime legislation until the "sky-born glories" of the American flag shall no longer be seen floating from the masthead of a single American merchantman and the few American sailors that are left will be compelled to damn their tarry toplights from foreign decks.

DO YOU KNOW IT?

A judge who was hearing citizenship applications "flunked" a whole American civics class when examining its members on the Declaration of Independence. Yes, and he could do the same thing by challenging almost any native-born American voter on the contents of the Constitution of these United States

An Awful Bump Coming.



ANOTHER SHIP CANAL.

This is the day of the waterway. Canada has commenced the construction of a fifty-million-dollar ship canal intended to more adequately connect the waters of Lake Erie with those of Lake Ontario and the Saint Lawrence River, and so afford deep-sea ships an opportunity to sail from the Great Lakes into the Atlantic Ocean.

This office has been performed for many years by the Welland Canal, but increasing traffic and an enlargement of the size of vessels has rendered the Welland Canal inadequate to meet the demands of commerce, for it can only accommodate boats 360 feet in length, drawing not more than fourteen feet of water, although it cost to construct its twenty-six and three-fourths miles over $26,000,000. Small ocean steamers of light draft have used it occasionally but its restrictions have not made such voyages profitable.

The canal now building will accommodate large-size ships. Its locks will be 800 feet in length and 80 feet wide. Its depth will at first be 25 feet, to be later increased to 30 feet. Its length will be 25 miles. The difference in level between Lakes Erie and Ontario at low water is 325½ feet. This will be overcome by seven locks of 46½ feet lift each. The present canal is twenty-six locks.

When this canal shall be completed large-sized ocean steamers can ply between Chicago and Liverpool and the old town of Welland will become a new Panama.

THE CASE OF CHILDS.

We are not surprised to read that Stephen Simmons, a laborer, has gone before the investigating committee of the Legislature to swear that he lied when he testified in the impeachment proceedings against Judge John L. Childs of Del Norte county. They may get the judge at that, but the origin of the prosecution does not look good to us. The attack upon Childs was started by members of a family sent to the penitentiary upon conviction of having abused a little girl. We know nothing further about the case than what has been published in the newspapers, but, as we have stated before, on his visits to this city Judge Childs has always made an excellent impression.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE THING TO DO.

Now go and spend some money tainted for pure white lead and linseed oil, and see your residence is painted, according to the rules of Hoyle. Your wife may have a new spring bonnet, imported and supremely smart, with beads and bugs and doodads on it, a triumph of the hatsmith's art; and you yourself may have new raiment, glad rags that might adorn a king, suggesting you've received the payment for those gold bricks you sold this spring; your sons and daughters may be wearing a lot of togs that can't be beat, and you'll imagine folks declaring that you abide in Easy street. But they will say to one another: "He puts his money on his back; he ought to hire a man and brother to paint his old disgraceful shack. With bogus pride his chest is swelling, he flaunts his gaudy rags all day, but the condition of his dwelling gives him and all his tribe away." Go, get a brush that's good and dauby, a can of paint—I'll lend you mine—and paint your house and make it nobby, and help to make the village shine. Go, demonstrate that you're a dandy at boosting up the painter's trade, and men will say you are a dandy, and pat you on the shoulder blade.

THE MODERN INQUISITION.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY ELBERT H. GARY,
Chairman Executive Committee, United States Steel Corporation.

THE ordinary reader of the daily press seldom overlooks or neglects to read unfavorable criticisms. And so there is a class of men who, for selfish reasons, take advantage of this peculiar trait in human nature, to discover in one way or another something that may be prejudicial to a cause, a community or a nation, in order to have it published or in some way spread broadcast for the delectation of those who may be entertained by reading it.

These efforts sometimes take the form of individual work, investigations by committees or commissions created by the Legislatures or Congresses, or, in exceptional cases, even by judicial branches of government, such as grand juries, with their inquisitorial power.

No one is exempt from such criticisms. They extend from the lowest individual even to the nation. If one is supposed to be wealthy, these questions are asked: What is the amount of his riches? How did he get them? What is he doing with them, and what are his objects in life? If one is supposed to be poor: Is he really poor? Is it necessary? Is he making the most of what he receives? Is the employer of labor treating his employees fairly and decently, or does his financial success depend largely upon inconsiderate treatment of his men? Is the employee faithful and honest, and working for the interest of his employer, or is he disloyal, arbitrary and lawless?

The relief organizations and foundations: Where did they get their money? What percentage are they distributing to the needy and to the officials, respectively? What is their real purpose? Is it to benefit mankind or is it intended to use the power of money to corrupt the courts or legislatures or improperly to influence the general public by a vicious and unjustifiable propaganda?

What are the motives which control governmental administrations? Do those in power seek to protect and promote the rights of all the citizens, or do they often act with personal and political advancement as the chief end in view? Are the members of the legislative departments, in the introduction or passage of laws, honestly endeavoring to promote the public weal, or are they frequently influenced by a desire to promote a political party? Even in impeachments have not worthy individuals been crucified and the guilty permitted to escape as the result of a partisan vote?

This is without question an epoch of indiscriminate criticism. Much is justified; probably more is without warrant. In the last decade, there has been more abuse, more slander, more personal attack and more demagogy and, as a consequence, more injury to the general public than ever before. The whole country, from an economic and a moral standpoint, has been greatly injured by agitation, investigation and attack, which were inspired by improper, if not dishonest motives.

No complaint of criticism, agitation or investigation can reasonably be made, provided the facts call for it. On the contrary, the circle of those who may be included should be and will be enlarged. But circumstances seem to show that we are approaching the time when the investigator will be investigated; when the criticiser will be criticised; when committees and commissions will be brought before other similar bodies for judgment.

It would be interesting to the public, if it could be informed of the real motives which have prompted some of the official inquiries, and if it could learn of the unfair methods which have been sometimes pursued; and if it should know the amount of governmental funds which have been appropriated for the use of committees, and how they have been disbursed; in fact, if some of those participating could be subject to the same scrutiny which they have exercised.

Connected with the subject of criticism there is an agreeable truth which is worthy of particular emphasis. There are at present many able, honest and fearless editorial writers who are in the habit of discussing the important questions of the day; who have the ability to write forcibly and logically, and therefore, convincingly; who are conscientious in their questions, strictly on their merit; and who pass judgment with no thought of fear or favor.

They discriminate between the good and the bad, the reasonable and the unreasonable. These writers are having a marked influence. They are more popular than ever before, for the public is quite disposed to be fair and impartial; and the number is increasing. The attitude of the great newspapers of today is fair and just. They influence and are influenced by public opinion. They reflect the general sentiment. This is most important in considering the future welfare of this country.

If the picture which I have imperfectly drawn is a true one, then the course before us, which leads to prosperity, success and happiness, is plain and we will pursue it. We must conduct affairs in our charge with the expectation that we will be criticised. We must square our conduct with principles we believe to be right, and just to all concerned.

High position or low; power or weakness; wealth or poverty shall be no ground for immunity. From the greatest nation to the lowest subject, all are to be treated alike, and judgment rendered accordingly. We must accord proper treatment to all and we will commend the same for ourselves.

The Strenuous Life.

[London Opinion:] "Why are you moping there, Dick?"

"I've no one to play with."

"Well, go and fetch Freddie next door."

"Oh, I played with him yesterday, and I don't suppose he's well enough to come out yet."

A Pertinent Query.

[Judge:] "Mama, when people are in mourning do they wear black night gowns?"

"Why, no; of course not."

"Well, don't they feel just as bad at night as they do in the daytime?"

Not a Fan.

[Newark Star:] "Yes, I tried the experiment of an office girl instead of an office boy. She didn't whistle or smoke, but she failed to please the office force."

"Why was that?"

"She could never learn to go out and get the correct score."

Helps an Industry.

[Puck:] Caller: Your daughter is quite popular, isn't she?

Magazine Editor: My boy, she's so popular that she has to use printed rejection slips in declining her offers of marriage.

A GLORY DAY.

There may be days more perfect than this past Saturday, but we suspect that one would have to take chances on enduring William Jennings Bryan in heaven to see one.

GIVE AND TAKE.

We are glad to see that the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has planned an excursion to Fresno on Raisin Day. Fresno is a grand neighbor, although some distance removed. Los Angeles has nothing to lose and much to gain by this sort of reciprocity.

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

Mr. Bryan has unburdened himself of a thought: He says "a brilliant mind has no place in heaven." This should be a source of consolation to Mr. Bryan. Whatever happens to him here below, it assures him a snug berth in the world to come. But isn't he unwittingly indorsing the irreverent Yankee who said: "Give me heaven for climate, but hell for society."

STUNG!!

Mrs. Grinnell, lover of birds and butterflies, has a new and simple recipe for the happy life. It is to play with bees and let them sting you at their pleasure. Bee stings, she says, are exhilarating and beneficial in their after effects. Yet when a man gets stung in a business deal no exhilaration or benefit follows. Can it be that the busy bee is better developed spiritually than the busy man?

ONE IMPROVEMENT.

A small change of heart in one respect has taken place among the belligerent nations of Europe. They have ceased to importune the Almighty to grant victory to their arms. Perhaps some dormant sense of ghastly humor or at least of impropriety has been awakened by the casualty lists on every side. We hope no more prayers for victory will ever be prayed. They are too much like the prayer of a westerner pursued by a grizzly: "O Lord, deliver me from this bear;" and then after he missed the last shot: "At any rate, Lord, don't help the bear."

GEOGRAPHICAL GROWTH.

Rear-Admiral Peary is mistaken. A nation is not doomed to extinction that does not grow geographically. Territorial expansion has never perpetuated a people. Switzerland is older than and as permanent as Russia. The Helvetians were a nation before Rome grew geographically. A hundred years hence the United States will not be obliterated as a nation unless it owns the whole western hemisphere.

To honor all work of the head or of the hands, to be fair and to give each his right due, to hold the balance justly between liberty and license, to make citizenship under the flag a precious heritage, to set the light of freedom on the loftiest mountain peak—these are the things that make for national growth, and compared to them geographical growth is a minor matter. If it comes because of these things, well and good. But the greater growth must come first.

WITHOUT PROHIBITION.

Great Britain's experiment to promote temperance without resorting to total prohibition will be watched with interest and advantage by all sincerely striving to drive out the drink evil. This is the first case on record where force of example has been tried on a whole nation before making reform a thing of drastic laws and penalties. If England can be led to sober up instead of being driven to it—as Russia was—the value of that sobriety will be so much the greater.

Since the war started it is evident that drinking has increased in the United Kingdom. Can the example of the King and many of the best citizens bring about the temperance necessary, according to Kitchener and Lloyd George, for the success of the empire? If so, England will have won a greater victory over herself than she can ever win over Germany, even though she succeeded in driving the Teutonic army of invasion out of Belgium and back across the Rhine.

THE EARS OF A SHIP.

Inventions that pertain to the defensive or offensive in warfare are naturally just now at a premium. Prof. Fessenden has invented an electric oscillator which he appropriately calls the ears of a ship. These fixed beneath the water on either side of the keel will transmit the vibrations of a submarine's propeller to the threatened vessel while the destroyer is still four miles away. The intensity of the note caused by the vibrator increases with the proximity of the submarine and by recording this intensity the distance can be measured.

Since our government is already adopting Prof. Fessenden's invention we may consider its practical application as having been proven. Let it be as good as it promises and this invention may revolutionize our latest theories as to the best in naval offense and defense. We can no longer pin our faith on submarines if the new "water wireless" renders their invisibility—the one source of their power—a cancelled factor. The submarine terror will have been robbed of its chief weapon. The next thing in order is a silent propeller or a vibration muffler to checkmate the electric oscillator. War, whatever loss it causes, is a stimulus to inventive genius.

SOIL DOCTORS.

Under close and intelligent cultivation soils actually improve with cropping. The land is not worn out or exhausted by being over-farmed, only by being wrongfully farmed. Lack of fertility does not necessarily mean poverty of soil; it may spring from an overabundance of one element, not in itself deleterious, but simply overbalancing the effects of other necessary elements. There should be no such thing as an abandoned farm.

This is the verdict arrived at by the United States Bureau of Soils after long and careful experiments. The idea that the land has been hopelessly used up by over-cropping in some of our older States is erroneous. Samples of soil from some of our worst farm lands have been proven to be not dead but only in an unhealthy condition and this condition can be remedied as ills in the human body are remedied.

The farmer of the future will be more than a sower of seeds and reaper of harvests. He will be a soil doctor. Every year farming becomes more of a science and less of a mechanical process. The soil beneath our feet is not so much dead matter. It answers to the right treatment, some even say it feels the effect of human sympathy; the man who loves to make things grow always makes the most successful farmer. The earth seems to respond to his enthusiasm.

The soil is not a tank to be exhausted after so much of its contents have been drawn upon. It is constantly being refilled by everlasting springs of fertility. To regulate the drain on these various springs according to the volume of the supply, not to take too much from one source and leave a surplus from another, to preserve the balance of supply and demand, this is the task of the soil doctor; this is the science of the modern farmer.

SUPPRESSING NEWSPAPERS IN GERMANY.

If a German newspaper publishes a criticism of the government it may not only be suppressed, but copies of the offending publication may be snatched out of the hands of its readers at the cafes.

The Danzig Volkszeitung was suppressed for saying there was no danger of a famine in Germany, but that the price of many necessaries of life was too high for the working classes and imposed considerable hardship upon them.

The government censor declared that in discrediting an encouraging lie the Vorwaerts was doing a public disservice.

The third suppression was because the Vorwaerts published a caustic reply to the editor of the Neueste Nachrichten for calling the Vorwaerts editor a liar and a horse thief, lower in the scale of humanity than an Andalusian jackass or an American Progressive politician, or words to that effect.

The fourth suppression of our afflicted German contemporary occurred when it declared that the hostility existing in other countries against Germany was due to the fact that the German method of government is based on autocracy and militarism, which together had produced many undesirable features.

The fifth suppression was because the Vorwaerts said that the destruction of the despotism of the Czar would be a blessing to the Russian people—this was interpreted as an indirect hit at Kaiser Wilhelm.

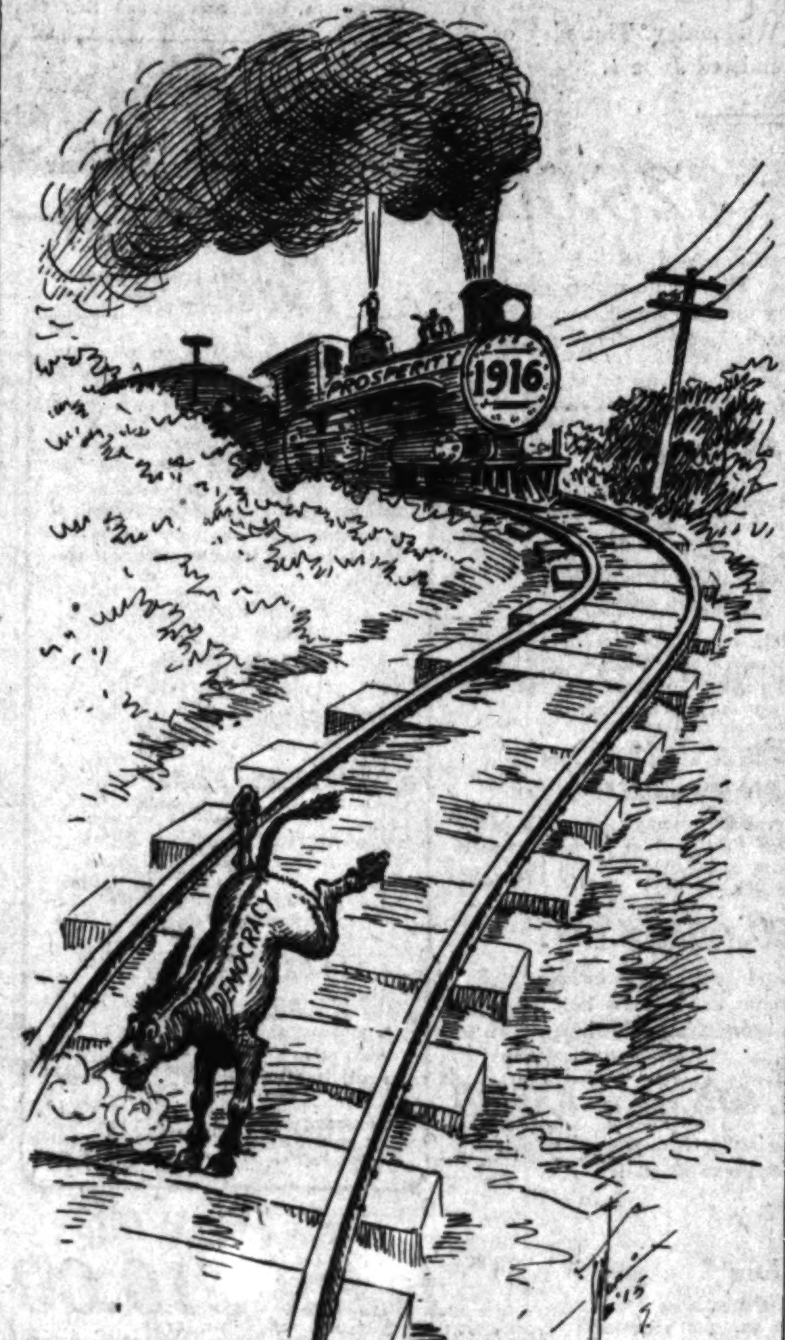
The sixth suppression was because the offending paper published a speech in the Berlin Town Council made by Herr Wurum in which the authorities were urged to prevent the prices of necessary commodities of every-day life from being raised above a certain level.

The seventh suppression was in consequence of the Vorwaerts publishing a speech made in the British Parliament by Mr. Ramsay Macdonald in which that gentleman spoke against the war. Why?

The Vorwaerts has been warned to publish nothing that might offend the feelings of the descendants of Judas Iscariot, to refrain from any attack on Mahomet or Nero, and not under any circumstances to speak disrespectfully of the equator.

Suppressed journalism has its disadvantages, but also its alleviations. On each resumption of publication the Vorwaerts has largely increased its circulation and its advertising patronage and its proprietors claim that if it can continue to be suppressed about once a week until the end of the war the Rothschilds will be paupers compared with them.

An Awful Bump Coming.



EXCLUDED FROM THE CANAL.

Atty.-Gen. Gregory has advised Secretary Garrison that a ship cannot be excluded from the Panama Canal merely because of the accusation that she is the property of a trust. The vessel cannot be excluded from the canal until it is proved that the corporation owning her is a trust. When the trust is busted, and not before, the ship may sail the ocean blue with her nose pointed toward Colon or Balboa.

Suppose a decision shall be rendered that a vessel is trust-owned while she is half-way to the isthmus on a voyage from New York to Yokohama. The tidings are communicated to her by wireless. Will she return with freight and passengers to New York? or will she tie up at Colon and unload them into another steamer for Yokohama that is not subject to the imputation of being trust-owned.

Suppose it is a British trust that owns a vessel bound to Hongkong from Liverpool. Would we not get into well-deserved trouble with His Majesty's government by refusing to allow the vessel passage through the canal?

The Wilson administration would hardly attempt to make the ownership of European ships the test of their right to pass through the canal. It will confine its pernicious activities in this respect to American ships. It may go as far as it did with Huerta and make the right of an American ship to pass through the canal depend upon the moral conduct of her owner.

If the Sixth-fourth Congress shall prove as pliant to the commands of President Wilson as was its predecessor it may indulge in experimental maritime legislation until the "sky-born glories" of the American flag shall no longer be seen floating from the masthead of a single American merchantman and the few American sailors that are left will be compelled to damn their tarry toplights from foreign decks.

DO YOU KNOW IT?

A judge who was hearing citizenship applications "flunked" a whole American civics class when examining its members on the Declaration of Independence. Yes, and he could do the same thing by challenging almost any native-born American voter on the contents of the Constitution of these United States

ANOTHER SHIP CANAL.

This is the day of the waterway. Canada has commenced the construction of a fifty-million-dollar ship canal intended to more adequately connect the waters of Lake Erie with those of Lake Ontario and the Saint Lawrence River, and so afford deep-sea ships an opportunity to sail from the Great Lakes into the Atlantic Ocean.

This office has been performed for many years by the Welland Canal, but increasing traffic and an enlargement of the size of vessels has rendered the Welland Canal inadequate to meet the demands of commerce, for it can only accommodate boats 360 feet in length, drawing not more than fourteen feet of water, although it cost to construct its twenty-six and three-fourths miles over $26,000,000. Small ocean steamers of light draft have used it occasionally but its restrictions have not made such voyages profitable.

The canal now building will accommodate large-size ships. Its locks will be 800 feet in length and 80 feet wide. Its depth will at first be 25 feet, to be later increased to 30 feet. Its length will be 25 miles. The difference in level between Lakes Erie and Ontario at low water is 325½ feet. This will be overcome by seven locks of 46½ feet lift each. The present canal is twenty-six locks.

When this canal shall be completed large-sized ocean steamers can ply between Chicago and Liverpool and the old town of Welland will become a new Panama.

THE CASE OF CHILDS.

We are not surprised to read that Stephen Simmons, a laborer, has gone before the investigating committee of the Legislature to swear that he lied when he testified in the impeachment proceedings against Judge John L. Childs of Del Norte county. They may get the judge at that, but the origin of the prosecution does not look good to us. The attack upon Childs was started by members of a family sent to the penitentiary upon conviction of having abused a little girl. We know nothing further about the case than what has been published in the newspapers, but, as we have stated before, on his visits to this city Judge Childs has always made an excellent impression.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

THE THING TO DO.

Now go and spend some money tainted for pure white lead and linseed oil, and see your residence is painted, according to the rules of Hoyle. Your wife may have a new spring bonnet, imported and supremely smart, with beads and bugs and doodads on it, a triumph of the hatsmith's art; and you yourself may have new raiment, glad rags that might adorn a king, suggesting you've received the payment for those gold bricks you sold this spring; your sons and daughters may be wearing a lot of togs that can't be beat, and you'll imagine folks declaring that you abide in Easy street. But they will say to one another: "He puts his money on his back; he ought to hire a man and brother to paint his old disgraceful shack. With bogus pride his chest is swelling, he flaunts his gaudy rags all day, but the condition of his dwelling gives him and all his tribe away." Go, get a brush that's good and dauby, a can of paint—I'll lend you mine—and paint your house and make it nobby, and help to make the village shine. Go, demonstrate that you're a dandy at boosting up the painter's trade, and men will say you are a dandy, and pat you on the shoulder blade.

THE MODERN INQUISITION.

[CONTRIBUTED TO THE TIMES]

BY ELBERT H. GARY,

Chairman Executive Committee, United States Steel Corporation.

THE ordinary reader of the daily press seldom overlooks or neglects to read unfavorable criticisms. And so there is a class of men who, for selfish reasons, take advantage of this peculiar trait in human nature, to discover in one way or another something that may be prejudicial to a cause, a community or a nation, in order to have it published or in some way spread broadcast for the delectation of those who may be entertained by reading it.

These efforts sometimes take the form of individual work, investigations by committees or commissions created by the Legislatures or Congresses, or, in exceptional cases, even by judicial branches of government, such as grand juries, with their inquisitorial power.

No one is exempt from such criticisms. They extend from the lowest individual even to the nation. If one is supposed to be wealthy, these questions are asked: What is the amount of his riches? How did he get them? What is he doing with them, and what are his objects in life? If one is supposed to be poor: Is he really poor? Is it necessary? Is he making the most of what he receives? Is the employer of labor treating his employees fairly and decently, or does his financial success depend largely upon inconsiderate treatment of his men? Is the employee faithful and honest, and working for the interest of his employer, or is he disloyal, arbitrary and lawless?

The relief organizations and foundations: Where did they get their money? What percentage are they distributing to the needy and to the officials, respectively? What is their real purpose? Is it to benefit mankind or is it intended to use the power of money to corrupt the courts or legislatures or improperly to influence the general public by a vicious and unjustifiable propaganda?

What are the motives which control governmental administrations? Do those in power seek to protect and promote the rights of all the citizens, or do they often act with personal and political advancement as the chief end in view? Are the members of the legislative departments, in the introduction or passage of laws, honestly endeavoring to promote the public weal, or are they frequently influenced by a desire to promote a political party? Even in impeachments have not worthy individuals been crucified and the guilty permitted to escape as the result of a partisan vote?

This is without question an epoch of indiscriminate criticism. Much is justified; probably more is without warrant. In the last decade, there has been more abuse, more slander, more personal attack and more demagogy and, as a consequence, more injury to the general public than ever before. The whole country, from an economic and a moral standpoint, has been greatly injured by agitation, investigation and attack, which were inspired by improper, if not dishonest motives.

No complaint of criticism, agitation or investigation can reasonably be made, provided the facts call for it. On the contrary, the circle of those who may be included should be and will be enlarged. But circumstances seem to show that we are approaching the time when the investigator will be investigated; when the criticiser will be criticised; when committees and commissions will be brought before other similar bodies for judgment.

It would be interesting to the public, if it could be informed of the real motives which have prompted some of the official inquiries, and if it could learn of the unfair methods which have been sometimes pursued; and if it should know the amount of governmental funds which have been appropriated for the use of committees, and how they have been disbursed; in fact, if some of those participating could be subject to the same scrutiny which they have exercised.

Connected with the subject of criticism there is an agreeable truth which is worthy of particular emphasis. There are at present many able, honest and fearless editorial writers who are in the habit of discussing the important questions of the day; who have the ability to write forcibly and logically, and therefore, convincingly; who are conscientious in their questions, strictly on their merit; and who pass judgment with no thought of fear or favor.

They discriminate between the good and the bad, the reasonable and the unreasonable. These writers are having a marked influence. They are more popular than ever before, for the public is quite disposed to be fair and impartial; and the number is increasing. The attitude of the great newspapers of today is fair and just. They influence and are influenced by public opinion. They reflect the general sentiment. This is most important in considering the future welfare of this country.

If the picture which I have imperfectly drawn is a true one, then the course before us, which leads to prosperity, success and happiness, is plain and we will pursue it. We must conduct affairs in our charge with the expectation that we will be criticised. We must square our conduct with principles we believe to be right, and just to all concerned.

High position or low; power or weakness; wealth or poverty shall be no ground for immunity. From the greatest nation to the lowest subject, all are to be treated alike, and judgment rendered accordingly. We must accord proper treatment to all and we will commend the same for ourselves.

The Strenuous Life.

[London Opinion:] "Why are you moping there, Dick?"

"I've no one to play with."

"Well, go and fetch Freddie next door."

"Oh, I played with him yesterday, and I don't suppose he's well enough to come out yet."

A Pertinent Query.

[Judge:] "Mama, when people are in mourning do they wear black night gowns?"

"Why, no; of course not."

"Well, don't they feel just as bad at night as they do in the daytime?"

Not a Fan.

[Newark Star:] "Yes, I tried the experiment of an office girl instead of an office boy. She didn't whistle or smoke, but she failed to please the office force."

"Why was that?"

"She could never learn to go out and get the correct score."

Helps an Industry.

[Puck:] Caller: Your daughter is quite popular, isn't she?

Magazine Editor: My boy, she's so popular that she has to use printed rejection slips in declining her offers of marriage.

Wait Until You See This Extraordinary Purchase

2650 Yds. Embroidered and Printed Crepe de Chines 32c

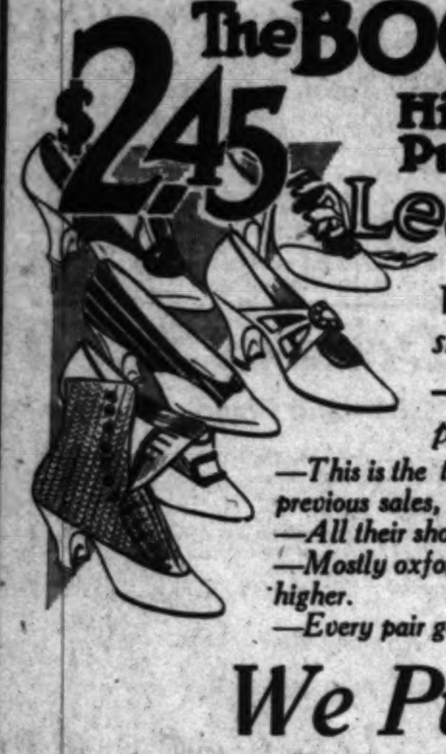
Save a Third, A Half to Three And Five Times as Much

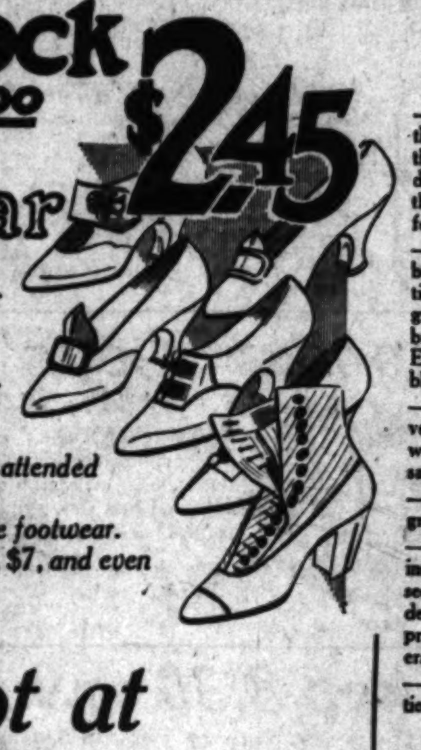
—We are almost afraid to quote the actual comparison of values in this wonderful purchase of Embroidered and Printed Crepe de Chines that have come for a great sale feature in the Wash Goods Section.
—Just look at the beautiful Rosebud patterns, the floral and conventional designs and light and dark grounds and those beautifully embroidered patterns on white grounds. Embroidery work in pink, light blue and white.
—In this lot there are two pieces of very fine printed Silk Crepe that would sell at five or six times the sale price.
—Every single piece in the lot is a great value.
—We wish there were 10,000 instead of 2650 yards, for when you see the beautiful patterns, the wonderful quality and realize that we've priced them but 32c you'll want several dresses.
—On sale in the Wash Goods section, Aisle 8. Section C.

The BOOTERY's Surplus Stock

High Grade New York-made $3.50 to $7.00 Pumps, Slippers and Oxfords

Less than 50¢ on the Dollar





We have again been fortunate in securing the surplus shoe stock of The Bootery.

—Some 1400 pair of their high-grade New York-made pumps, slippers and oxfords.

—This is the third season that this surplus stock has come to us and those who have attended previous sales, know what an important event it is.
—All their short lines and discontinued numbers as well as their surplus stock of high grade footwear.
—Mostly oxfords, slippers, pumps and shoes, that have been in their stock at $3.50, $5, $6, $7, and even higher.
—Every pair goes into the sale at $2.45.

We Purchased the Entire Lot at Less Than 50c on the Dollar

—You know the reputation of The Bootery, for carrying only the finest and highest grade footwear, therefore you can realize that this is one of the Bargain opportunities of the season.

—95% of them are in pumps, slippers and street Colonials, Tango lace effects in various leathers, including bronze as well as velvet, suedes and satins.

SPECIAL NOTE—This should be of particular interest to those who wear extremely narrow widths. You will note from the list included that there are many AAA and AA widths.

—The table of sizes and widths is listed below so you may know exactly what to expect. Of course, you will not find every size in every style. In many lines, however, there is a full size range.

Widths	1	1½	2	2½	3	3½	4	4½	5	5½	6	6½	7	7½	8
AAA						2	15	35	36	30	23	15	21	16	5

D		5	21	12	22	20	15	14	19	21	21	23	23	13	3
E			3	1				2		1	1	2	1

Important Note

This does not mean that the Bootery has closed out its entire stock to us—it means that we secured 1400 pairs of their surplus stock and discontinued lots at less than 50c on the dollar. We offer them to you without reserve at $2.45 pair.

GUMSHOE HAWK AGAIN ON JOB.

AUDITOR'S INSPECTOR ONCE MORE ON THE PAY ROLL.

Myers Wins Controversy with Civil Service Commission When City Attorney Rules Discharged Man Cannot be Forced Back—City Property Now Comparatively Safe.

Hist!

The stealthy tread of the gumshoe is once more hammering the flags and floors in City Hall.

James K. Hawk, the eagle-eyed inspector who keeps tab on all city property, is once more on the job. He is again working under the sole direction of City Auditor Myers.

If an auto wrench strays from the municipal garage he will trail it to its lair, overpower and hog-tie it and return it to the toolbox. If a volume of California reports wanders from the library in the City Auditor's office, there will be no rest for the wanderer until it once more reposes among the musty tomes.

For the relentless Mr. Hawk, who has an inventory of every scratch pad, every chair, every piece of machinery in the city's property, and who carried this inventory both under his hat and in black and white in a ponderous book—the unrelenting Mr. Hawk is once more on the pay roll to keep the city property intact.

It came about in a strange, weird way, this reinstatement of Mr. Hawk. He had been employed by City Auditor Myers, but the Civil Service Commission found his name on the pay roll and made a classification for him. He was to be called an inspector, and he must stand an examination. Hawk took the examination but he was third on the list. The commission certified the names of two, and the City Auditor picked Otis Campbell. He wasn't satisfied with Campbell's work, for he was not fitted for the secret work that has made Mr. Hawk not only distinguished in the city service but feared by city employees.

Auditor Myers fired him, but the Civil Service Commission made him replace him. Then the Auditor appealed to the City Attorney and he ruled against the commission. The only thing then to do was to certify the name of the one who passed first and the name of Mr. Hawk, who passed third. Mr. Hawk was selected and is again at work.

The soft, solemn, ominous footfalls of Inspector Hawk are once more felt in every department, and it is rumored that many valuable bits of city property that were borrowed for a day or two are finding their way back to their proper places.

How to Collect Garbage.

Radical changes in methods of collecting and disposing of the city's garbage will be urged in a report to be submitted by the City Planning Association within the next few days. The exact nature of these proposed changes has not been disclosed but a preliminary report of the association, issued yesterday, states that in its work, information from more than forty of the largest cities of the United States and Europe has been collected and the best of these systems will be adopted in the report of the association that is now being prepared. In addition to the formal recommendations to be made by the report to the City Council, the association will issue an illustrated booklet for presentation to the public through the schools and other channels.

Municipal Drips.

The City Clerk yesterday was instructed to withhold presentation of final ordinance for improving Andrews boulevard, from First to about Sixth street, until January 2, 1916.

The protest of Boyle Heights residents against the granting of a spur track along the Southern Pacific at Fourth street will be held by the Council on May 19.

The Council yesterday approved the contract for printing primary ballots and furnishing election supplies.

The Council yesterday adopted ordinances calling election for nominating members of the Board of Freeholders on May 4, and for submitting the question of annexation of the San Fernando district at the same time.

TERM OPENS TOMORROW.

The April term of the District Court of Appeal will convene tomorrow. There are about fifty cases on the calendar, but none of any especial importance. It is understood there will be a large class of applicants to practice before the court at the opening day of the session.

FOR JERSEY FOLK.

At a New Jersey Association meeting Thursday evening in Federation Hall dramatic readings will be given by Miss Beryl Robson, solos by Miss Mabel Rhea and fancy dancing by Miss Ada Davis. After the programme there will be dancing.

PLAYS COWARD; WIFE SUFFERS.

HUSBAND BETRAYS HER; SEEKS HELP IN A LIE.

She Keeps Secret Two Years Which Would Probably Have Sent Him to Penitentiary—Now Reveals Untimely Death of His Consort to Get Divorce.

Turning to the wife he had betrayed to acquiesce in the lie he had lived with another woman, Arthur W. Stormes beseeched Mrs. Mabel L. Stormes to keep her lips sealed.

"If they don't find out that we were not married, it is a difference of about ten or twelve years," he wrote her under date of October 27, 1913.

Stormes was convicted of a felony and sentenced to eight months at Helena, Mont. Mrs. Stormes suffered until yesterday when her husband's letter was offered in evidence in her divorce suit. It won her the decree.

The letter tells the story of a misplaced affection. Back in Edmonton, Can., Miss Dorothy M. Hart was a wholesome girl. She met Stormes in 1913. He was then the husband of Mabel L. Stormes. He induced Miss Hart to go with him to Helena. She died under distressing circumstances October 26, 1913. Stormes's letter to his wife makes the story plain. He wrote:

"I have had a lot of tough luck, but now am in some serious trouble. You see I have been with a girl for the past two months—not a sport, but a good girl. She died yesterday morning. I am without funds. Of course she was supposed to be my wife and everybody up to the present date still thinks so.

"Today the Coroner made an examination and I had to admit that she was treated by a doctor. They are holding the doctor on a charge of murder and me as his accomplice, but still thinking we are married. If this thing goes through as it is, it will be a lot easier for me. So, all I want you to do is to stay where you are and say nothing. I hate to ask a favor of you after the way I have acted, but if they don't find out that we were not married, it is a difference of about ten or twelve years."

There was never a word of pity for the girl who had sacrificed her life, or sorrow for her untimely death. The Barbers' Union, he wrote, interested itself in him and was going to pay the funeral expenses.

SHE LEARNS MUCH. IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick. It was with a heavy heart that Mrs. Margaret Brown, young and attractive, left Judge Monroe's court yesterday, for she had waited as long as she thought she could to get free from J. Brooks Brown. But the court dropped a ray of hope. He told her the suit was premature. If she waits until the time is up, suit may be brought on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Brown was a wage-earner. She told the court that every time she mentioned money Mr. Brown got angry.

"So I went to work," and her earnings went into the little home.

"Why did you do that?" inquired the court.

"He was my husband," was the plaintive reply. Mr. Brown is a bookkeeper in Honolulu. Mrs. Brown is a stenographer. She learned yesterday that when a wife receives wages the money she earns is community property.

ASSAULT IS ALLEGED. BIG SUM IS SOUGHT.

An aftermath of an altercation between Edward P. Robinson and James M. Patrick, real estate brokers, with offices in the Story Building, was a suit filed yesterday by Mr. Patrick asking $25,000 damages for Mr. Robinson's alleged unwarranted assault. The fracas occurred in the offices of Mr. Patrick, who is an elderly man.

According to Attorney Dudley Robinson, who filed the complaint, Mr. Robinson and his father entered the private office of Mr. Patrick February 26, last. He is alleged to have asked Mr. Patrick if he had signed a letter to the Labor Commissioner confirming the claim of Miss Emma L. de Generis, who was a stenographer in Mr. Robinson's offices, also in the Story Building, for $90 salary.

Mr. Patrick informed Mr. Robinson that he had done so; that Miss De Generis's statement was true and he had confirmed it by letter to the Labor Commission.

Mr. Robinson, it is alleged, in the complaint, not only struck Mr. Patrick with his fists on the head and face, but beat him with a telephone transmitter. Emerging into the public office, Miss De Generis is said to have been a witness to a further assault on Mr. Patrick.

Mr. Patrick is a brother of L. L. Patrick, former president of the First National Bank of Goldfield and one of the original Goldfield mining men. He alleges he was laid up for several weeks as a result of his injuries. Mr. Robinson will give his version at the trial.

SEEK DAMAGES. ALLEGE NEAR-TRUST.

Suits aggregating $120,000 damages and asking for an accounting of profits were filed yesterday by H. S. McKee, trustee in bankruptcy of the estate of W. G. Hutchinson, bankrupt, for alleged breach of contract. The suits are against the Mission Fixture Company, $25,000; Charles E. Packman, $25,000; Forve-Pettebone Company, $35,000, and Philip Forve, $35,000.

It is alleged that the defendants entered into an agreement with Mr. Hutchinson in which they agreed not to engage in the manufacture of lighting fixtures and that by reason of the alleged breach of contract profits were lost to the Phoenix Lighting Fixture Company, in which Mr. Hutchinson had bought stock. These profits are set out in the amount of damages asked for. The court is besought to fix this alleged loss of profits by an accounting.

HE DIED. SO ATTORNEYS LOSE.

A suit by former Senator W. H. Savage and Fred J. Fleming to recover from the estate of John C. McGowan for professional service rendered was decided against them yesterday by Judge Works. The attorneys, it appears, entered into a contract with Mr. McGowan, who was injured in an accident, to prosecute a suit against the Southern Pacific on the basis of 40 per cent. of the recovery. The suit was for services rendered, Mr. McGowan dying before the action was started.

The court held it was not part of the demand; that a demand now would require the administrator, F. W. McGowan, to pay something whereas, Mr. McGowan, if he had lived to prosecute the suit, might have lost it, instead of recovering damages.

COURT PARAGRAPHS. PROCEEDINGS IN BRIEF.

GETS DAMAGES. Mrs. Marie Camp was awarded $2000 damages by a jury in Judge McCormick's court yesterday for injuries sustained when she was struck by one of the wagons of the Western Wholesale Drug Company at Fifth and Main streets. She claimed that she was knocked back into the arms of a pedestrian; that at the time of the accident she was in a delicate condition, a child being born eight months later. The shock of the accident displaced a kidney. The company claimed that Mrs. Camp contributed to her negligence and further that she was not struck by one of their wagons. A newsboy testified he read the concern's name on the wagon.

REFORMS DEED. Mrs. Hattie G. Purrier, who brought suit against the administrator of her husband's estate to reform a deed, was given judgment in an opinion handed down by Judge Finlayson yesterday. Before his death Mr. Purrier gave his wife a deed. The property was Block 83 and was purchased for $2400. A notary drew up the deed and it appears in the deed as Block 86. Judge Finlayson found that there had been a meritorious consideration.

SHIFT IN JUDGES. There will be a shift in judges this week. Judge Rives will take a rest on account of his health; Judge Wilbur will conduct the Probate Court; Judge Works will take Judge Wilbur's calendar and an outside judge will sit in Judge Works's department.

INCORPORATIONS. Olivita Mutual Water Company, incorporators, J. T. Painter, Orville Laho, Frank A. Gregg, Edgar A. Jones, and C. E. Paulin, capital stock, $10,000, subscribed, $25; J. L. Giroux Company, incorporators, Joseph L. Giroux, Phebe Giroux, and Sophie Hellmuth, capital stock, $500,000, subscribed, $150; Automatic Gang Drill Machine Company, incorporators, Hugh F. Stewart, Victor H. Rossetti, Isidore Silver and George S. Ufman, capital stock, $20,000, subscribed, $40; The Model Realty Company, incorporators, G. E. Jones, F. J. Jones, and G. N. Tilden, capital stock, $10,000, subscribed, $3.

FOR SENTENCE TOMORROW.

Shepard and Brown, Convicted of Smuggling, Scheduled to Soon Know Their Fate.

In Judge Bledsoe's court tomorrow the high point of interest will be the case against Frederic M. Shepard and A. C. Brown, convicted of conspiracy to smuggle smoking opium into the United States, who will be up for sentence. It is doubtful whether any motion for a new trial will be argued, although it may be presented, as a matter of form.

The verdict of the jury was a surprise in that mercy was recommended to Shepard, but recommendations to that effect are not always powerful where the court has heard the evidence. It is understood that if by any judicial maneuver a second trial should be heard, the government will introduce evidence tending to show that Shepard, as an attorney, gave legal advice to the Fouser gang of smugglers, to the effect that they could with safety use bogus cashier's checks in the purchase of smoking opium in Ensenada, advice that was accepted by them in getting hold of about $10,000 worth of the dope that formed a part of the contraband that Shepard has been convicted of assisting in bringing over the line. It was a perfectly safe proposition, as there is no recognized government in Mexico, and there was none at that time.

"ALLEE SAMEE BAD CHINEE."

Gambler Hints He Will Go North and Never Play Lottery Again, but Judge Says Nay.

Ah Jim's lawyer entered a plea of guilty for his client, who was charged with playing a lottery, and asked Police Judge Chesebro to suspend sentence. "Your Honor, this Chinaman is not a bad sort," quoth the attorney, "and he tells me that he will quit gambling and leave the city."

"Did you ever know of a Chinaman quitting the lottery game?" the court answered. "If he would leave town he would only start gambling again."

"I am sure he means to keep his promise. He is going to San Francisco," interrupted the lawyer.

"That settles it. I know now he does not intend to cut out the lotteries. San Francisco and lottery are synonymous to the China boy and I think the prisoner is not worthy of a suspended sentence. He must pay $10 or go to jail for ten days." The young man paid the fine and said he would postpone his trip to the Bay City a few days.

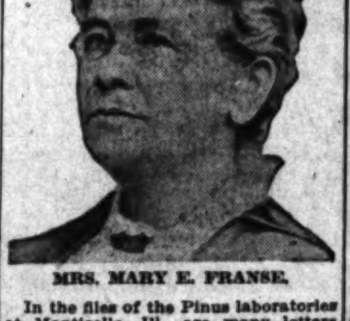
Dreaded an Operation More Than Anything

Tried Fruitola and Traxo and Has Never Since been Troubled With Gall-stones.

Mrs. Mary E. Franse, whose address is West Point, Neb., Box 411, has written to the Pinus laboratories a very strong endorsement of Fruitola and Traxo. In her letter, Mrs. Franse says: "About ten years ago I was about to undergo an operation for gall-stones when I heard of your medicine. Dreading an operation above everything I determined to try Fruitola and Traxo and have never been sorry I did so, as I have never been troubled with gall-stones since."

Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, and one dose is usually sufficient to give ample evidence of its efficacy. It softens the congested masses, disintegrates the hardened particles that occasion so much suffering, and expels the accumulated waste to the intense relief of the patient. Following a dose of Fruitola, Traxo should be taken three or four times a day in order to rebuild and restore the system that has been weakened and run down by constant suffering. It is a splendid tonic, acting on the liver and stomach most beneficially.



MRS. MARY E. FRANSE.

In the files of the Pinus laboratories at Monticello, Ill., are many letters gratefully acknowledging the satisfactory results following the use of Fruitola and Traxo. Arrangements have been made for the distribution of these excellent remedies by leading drug stores everywhere. In Los Angeles Fruitola and Traxo can be obtained at the stores of The Owl Drug Co.

"PUT AQUEDUCT WATER TO WORK AT ONCE."

Chamber of Commerce, Municipal Annexation Commission and Public Service Board Urge the Annexation of San Fernando Valley and Give Reasons and Statements of Benefits to be Derived in Formal Resolutions.

THE Municipal Annexation Commission, Board of Public Service Commissioners and Chamber of Commerce directorate have adopted resolutions urging the annexation of San Fernando Valley and the advisability of thereby putting the aqueduct water to work. The following statement was issued by the Annexation Commission yesterday:

"The aqueduct will bring down 20,000 inches of water.

"If water is sold throughout the San Fernando Valley for irrigation purposes, a large amount will not evaporate, but will sink into the soil, and through underground channels reappear in the Los Angeles River at the 'Narrows,' where the city now takes out the river water. It is estimated that the 'return flow' from aqueduct water used for irrigation in the San Fernando Valley will amount to 4000 inches.

"This return flow the city can sell a second time, for use in irrigating lands lying below the city to the south and west. Thousands of acres between the city and the ocean are now dry farmed, and would furnish a good market for the sale of this 4000 inches of return flow.

"If the city sells all its surplus water, it will necessarily sell large amounts of water in other sections than the San Fernando Valley, but from no other section can it receive any considerable return flow.

"Counting then, the 20,000 inches of water that the aqueduct brings down, and adding to that 4000 inches return flow from the water used in the San Fernando Valley, and the 4000 inches natural flow of the Los Angeles River, the city has 28,000 inches of water for which to find a market. Six thousand inches will be needed within the main section of the present city, leaving 22,000 inches to be disposed of. The San Fernando Valley may use 10,000 inches, leaving a balance of 12,000 inches still to be disposed of. It is manifest that if we can find a market in the San Fernando Valley for 10,000 inches, at no further expense to the city, we should promptly do so, and then get busy trying to find a market for the other 12,000 inches of surplus water.

"If, after the annexation of the San Fernando Valley, the city, in a search for further markets, should wish to build the 'high line' to Glendora, as urged by the opponents of annexation, or to sell water to any unannexed, or to sell water to any every legal right to do so that it has today.

"In its past history, the city has made nine annexations, all to the advantage of the city and none of which have limited in the slightest degree any legal right of the city. Annexation is simple and safe. It is only when the city sells water outside the city boundary that uncertainties and complications arise. As an example, consider the city's title to the water of the Los Angeles River.

"The title of the city to the water of the Los Angeles River is not an absolute title, but only a title to as much of the water as is 'reasonably necessary' to meet the needs of the city. Any water in the Los Angeles River, over and above what the city needs, belongs to lands adjacent to the river, above or below the city.

"If the city of Los Angeles should now adopt a permanent policy of selling water outside the city limits, thus by its own act showing that it had more water than it needs, the city would make it very difficult for it to maintain its title to the water of the Los Angeles River.

"If, however, the city, by a series of annexations, can so extend its boundaries that it can show a reasonable need not only for the water of the aqueduct, but for the water of the Los Angeles River, also, then the city can continue to maintain its title to the water of the Los Angeles River. As the 4000 inches 'return flow' from irrigation in the San Fernando Valley will reappear in the river, the city's title to the return flow is also safeguarded by the policy of annexation."

BY THE WATER BOARD.

Following are resolutions adopted day before yesterday by the Board of Public Service Commissioners:

"Be it resolved, that the Board of Public Service Commissioners of the city of Los Angeles do most earnestly recommend that the voters of the city support the proposition to be voted on at the election of May 4, 1915, to annex territory in the San Fernando Valley to this city, upon the following grounds:

"First—That the people of such territory, in compliance with the requirement of the city that none of the surplus aqueduct water be distributed to lands outside of the city until such lands are brought, by annexation or consolidation, into the city, have, in pursuance of law, voted in favor of such annexation and of assuming their share of the aqueduct, power and harbor bonded indebtedness of the city.

"Second—That such territory, if annexed, will afford an immediate market for a considerable part of such surplus aqueduct water at rates which will yield the city a handsome revenue, now badly needed for meeting municipal obligations, and, under the plans for handling such water, the works for distributing the same in such territory are to be paid for not by the city, but by the people of the territory so proposed to be annexed.

"Third—The principal of the aqueduct debt, exclusive of the city trunk line, is maturing at the rate of $173,900 per year, and the present annual interest charge on this debt is approximately $1,000,000, and yet, thousands of inches of aqueduct water, which could readily be sold and provide an immense revenue for the relief of the taxpayers, are going to waste.

"Fourth—The protection of aqueduct water rights against lapsing, through failure of the city to put the water to beneficial use, makes it absolutely imperative that the city authorities should immediately find customers to buy and use the idle surplus waters of the aqueduct for raising crops and other beneficial purposes.

"For these and other strong and convincing reasons that might be presented, this board feels that the public interests will be promoted by the authorization of such annexation at the election of May 4, next.

"I hereby certify that the above is a full, true and correct copy of a resolution adopted by the Board of Public Service Commissioners of the city of Los Angeles at its meeting of April 23, 1915.

"JAS. P. VROMAN,
"Secretary."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

These resolutions were adopted at a special meeting of the directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce:

Resolved, That, Whereas, the greater part of the water of the aqueduct is not being put to any beneficial use at the present by the city of Los Angeles; and,

Whereas, There is no matter of such vital importance to the interests of this city as the early use of the entire aqueduct flow; and,

Whereas, Plans have been formulated and carried into effect for the creation of an irrigation district in San Fernando Valley, embracing about 85,000 acres, which district has issued bonds for the construction of the necessary distributing system therein, which bonds will be a lien against the property in such district only; and,

Whereas, The inhabitants of the San Fernando Valley annexation district, included in which is said irrigation district, have voted in favor of the annexation thereof to the city of Los Angeles in order that the aqueduct water may be distributed and sold to the inhabitants thereof through the system which is proposed to be built in such district at the expense of the district, and by such annexation will become liable for a proportionate share of the aqueduct, power and harbor bonds of the city, constituting over 90 per cent. of the entire bonded indebtedness of Los Angeles; and,

Whereas, The full consummation of such plan by the annexation to the city of Los Angeles and the building of the proposed distributing system will bring into use a large amount of aqueduct water:

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce of the city of Los Angeles hereby indorses the proposed annexation of such district to the city of Los Angeles, and urges the voters of said city to vote in favor thereof on the election to be held on May 4, or June 1, 1915; and,

Resolved Further, That the chamber urges upon the citizens of this city, and upon the city authorities, the urgent necessity of bending every energy in efforts to bring about the application of all of the aqueduct water for use for irrigation and domestic purposes in Los Angeles and vicinity in the shortest practical time and in the most advantageous way to the city of Los Angeles.

Noted Government Man Will Help in Los Angeles Investment Case. Preparing for Trial.

The United States District Attorney announced yesterday that Sylvester R. Rush, special assistant to the Attorney-General, will assist him in the prosecution of what is known as the Los Angeles Investment Company action beginning May 25.

Mr. Rush has been connected with the Department of Justice for twenty years and in that time prosecuted many important cases, among others, the land fraud cases in Nebraska, Wyoming and Colorado; the Everglade Swamp land case involving the sale of land in Florida; against the officers of the Chickasaw Bank and Trust Company of Memphis, and the case against the American Union Trust Company of Kansas City, Mo., all involving illegal use of the United States mails.

Mr. Rush is busy preparing the government's case, with the assistance of the District Attorney, who will have sole charge of the litigation from the standpoint of the prosecution.

Man Arrested in Anarchist Gang on Charge of Obstructing Street Would Prove Reputation.

Joseph Stanfield, who was arrested Thursday night at Eighth street and Broadway on a charge of obstructing the street, entered a plea of not guilty yesterday morning and demanded a jury trial. His case was transferred by Police Judge Chesebro to the court of Judge Richardson.

Stanfield's attorney said his client is a law-abiding citizen and has an enviable reputation. The defendant promised to have a long list of witnesses. Patrolman Smithson, who made the arrest, will have a dozen patrolmen and others to support his charge.

Stanfield was one of the crowd that assembled on Eighth street to hear the anarchists' tirade against law and order. After the meeting broke up, Stanfield was ordered to vacate the street and in addition to refusing to obey the command is alleged to have insulted the officer.

MANY BOOSTERS IN THE MAKING.

Young Australians on Tour Due Here Wednesday.

Plan Events of Interest to Mark Week's Visit.

Much Done for Expositions by Their Leaders.

Many interesting features have been arranged for the visit to this city of thirty-five young Australians, who will arrive Wednesday for a stay of a week. They are coming here in course of a tour that is expected to take a California and American booster to practically every considerable community of the antipodean commonwealth.

After their week here, during which they will give an entertainment at Knights of Columbus Hall under the auspices of the Million Club, the youngsters will proceed to San Diego, where their champion brass band is booked for a nine-day engagement.

Three years ago another party of young Australians toured California and visited Los Angeles. According to newspapers in Australia the young tourists on their return "put California on the map in the minds of the majority of their countrymen who previous to the visit took little interest in Western America."

EXPOSITIONS ADVERTISED.

The boys of the previous party were selected from various towns and when they returned boosted through their high schools and local newspapers for the 1915 expositions. Lieut. Simons, who was in command, was the first Australian to take up with his government the matter of having Australia represented at San Francisco. He made a special trip from his own state to Melbourne, the seat of the Australian Federal government, to make personal representations regarding the big fairs to the Prime Minister and other members of the Cabinet. The then Minister for External Affairs, King O'Malley, who was an American, gave great assistance to the lieutenant and aided him in interesting his fellow ministers. Reports of the negotiations appearing in the Melbourne press gave the first wide publicity the exposition received in Australia.

It was decided to build a pretentious pavilion on the San Francisco fair grounds and to send every vessel of the Australian navy headed by the superdreadnaught flagship to take part in the big naval demonstration and $2,500,000 was the sum agreed upon to carry out this elaborate scheme.' Everything was in readiness for launching the plans when the war happened. The navy was diverted to other parts and the money hypothecated for the exposition had to be reduced to one-fifth. Nevertheless, Australia's part in the exposition is considered more than creditable under the circumstances.

LEARNING LESSONS.

Having feasted their senses on all the Panama-Pacific Exposition has to put before them, the lads of the present party are now beginning an inland tour of the Bear State, absorbing and learning all the lessons California has to offer. Before the tour is completed $40,000 will have been disbursed. Of this the parents of the boys have subscribed one-third and the remaining two-thirds is cared for by the boys themselves, who by their efforts are to earn the sum required. To this end they were trained, after being selected, to give vaudeville "stunts," representations of Australian aboriginal celebrations, band and orchestra selections and other entertaining features, presented in the form of an evening programme.

The aggregation, which is on a military footing, has been will drilled in marching and spectacular demonstration of gymnastic proficiency as aimed at by the students of the high schools of commonwealth.

One of the "stunts" carried out by the visiting students is their lecture scheme, which they follow on entering each city. The larger students of the party give entertaining talks on the geography, natural history, resources and possibilities of the country they represent. The scheme has been backed in eloquent terms by the Hon. Alfred Deakin, High Commissioner for the Commonwealth and three times Federal Prime Minister for his country.

First Good Photograph of Edith Serkin.

In the Sebastian-Pratt trial, as she appeared yesterday at Monte Vista, where she is guarded by county detectives.

Tempus Fugit.

TRIAL MAY STRETCH OVER THE PRIMARY.

IF MORE rapid progress is not made the trial of Chief Sebastian and Mrs. Lillian Pratt on a charge of contributing to the dependency of Edith Serkin will not be concluded by May 4, primary election day, according to counsel for both sides. A motion will be made tomorrow for night sessions of court. Both the prosecution and the defense are anxious to hurry matters along. When the case was opened last Monday, it was believed one week would be sufficient. It took two days to get the jury and Miss Serkin has been on the stand three days and the defense has not completed its cross-examination. As the prosecution has subpoenaed fifteen important witnesses and the defense nearly fifty, it is almost certain that arguments will not begin for at least another week.

These will take at least two more days. As the Chief is a candidate for the Mayoralty nomination he and his supporters are anxious to have the matter settled before primary day.

The jurors will be taken on a picnic today in county machines. After lunch they will be driven over the highways for several hours and then taken back to their quarters at the Trenton Hotel. Several members of the jury were taken to their homes yesterday afternoon. Each was accompanied by a deputy sheriff who had positive instructions to see that his charge did not discuss the case even with members of his family. Several jurors asked to be allowed to go to church today, but Judge Wood denied their requests, stating that he was afraid the ministers might refer to the case.

The cross-examination of Miss Serkin will be taken up anew by Attorney Rogers tomorrow morning. Attorneys for the defense were elated over the results of her cross-examination on Friday. Dist.-Atty. Woolwine declard yesterday that he is more than satisfied with her conduct under examination.

It was rumored yesterday that Mr. Woolwine was preparing to spring several startling surprises, but he refused to discuss the matter. "We will keep them busy," he said.

Attorneys for both sides will be busy today preparing for the resumption of the trial. Counsel for the defense will hold a conference this afternoon. The District-Attorney and his assistants will meet also and go over the evidence.

Sensation Fount.

NEW TRIAL GRANTED IN ARMFIELD-HOWARD CASE.

MISS MAUD ARMFIELD, who married Bryant Howard, San Diego yachtsman and bon vivant, when she was a chit of a girl, agreed to an annulment of the marriage at his plea that he was not legally free from his first wife, and when the courts had separated her from him, accompanied him from place to place, believing, as she said, that he would rewed her, will not collect the $40,000 verdict of the jury which tried and decided her $500,000 breach of promise suit. The verdict was set aside by Judge Wilbur yesterday on the motion of Mr. Howard's attorneys, former Judge Britt and former Judge Vermilyea, and a new trial granted.

The court said he believed that the jury had been influenced by a sympathetic feeling for the girl and did not consider that her life had not been what it should have been. He reviewed the testimony which showed that she had been on too friendly relations with other men, introduced to mitigate damages. Miss Armfield's father was also censured for condoning the act of his daughter in consorting with Mr. Howard after their marriage had been annulled and which resulted in the birth of a daughter. This daughter was an interesting feature of the sensational trial.

Attorneys Britt and Vermilyea, in their motion for a new trial, stated that they had new evidence. A retrial of the suit prom—— to have even greater interest than the one which Miss Armfield won. A chit of a girl when she became enamored of Mr. Howard, she is little more than that now. She was a member of the Armstrong company, of which her father is the head. As a juvenile actress she played in San Diego. The marriage surprised San Diego society. Mr. Howard's mother was present at the ceremony. At that time Mr. Howard had been divorced from Number One, but later it was set aside, and there was urgent reason for his marriage to the little actress being annulled.

Miss Armfield testified that he promised to remarry her. Mrs. Howard, the mother, wealthy and moving in the best social circles, sent Miss Armfield remittances, but one day Mr. Howard said good-by and shortly thereafter the remittances ceased. How the girl, despised, sought Mr. Howard in San Diego and her experiences there, formed a spicy part of the testimony during the trial. Mr. Howard married his third wife after the conclusion of the trial. Suits are pending in San Diego growing out of the result of the trial here.

HOPED FOR YEARS; NOW AN AMERICAN.

IRISHMAN NATURALIZED AFTER HALF CENTURY; OTHERS MADE CITIZENS.

The story of a man, who for nearly a half century had cherished the desire to become a naturalized American was told in the U. S. District Court yesterday, when Denis Collins, an Irishman, owing allegiance to King George, was admitted to citizenship by Judge Trippet.

Mr. Collins arrived in New York from the Emerald Isle in July, 1867, and being enamored of the land of the free, filed his declaration to become a citizen as soon as he set foot on American soil. But before he could perfect his status, or receive his final papers, he went to Canada, where he became manager for a firm of contractors having thousands of dollars' worth of work in the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

Mr. Collins married in Canada, but his loyalty to America was evidenced by the fact that his first son was named for George Washington. He remained in the Dominion many years, finally drifting to California, where he has made his home for some time.

The question arose on his citizenship, whether his declaration of intention, filed in 1867, had been abrogated by his removal to Canada.

Judge Trippet held that Mr. Collins did not lose his standing and that he was entitled to become an American citizen if he fulfilled the law in other particulars, and Mr. Collins did, answering the questions with rare intelligence. He is now about 65 years of age, but he was the proudest man in the Federal courtroom yesterday when he took the oath to support our laws and relieve himself of the sovereignty of any king or potentate, "and especially of King George."

Oreste Carlo Fracchia, connected with a North Spring street foreign steamship agency, and who has brought to the Federal Building many Italians, who would become American citizens, was himself naturalized yesterday. Mr. Fracchia came to Los Angeles from Genoa, Italy, in 1909, and is 37 years of age.

Certificates were also issued to Peter Van der Vleit, Jr., a Hollander, and to George Vincent Dawson and Isidor Hellner.

B'NAI B'RITH DAY.

Visitors From East Entertained on Way to San Diego Exposition, Coming Here Shortly.

Today will be B'nai B'rith day at the Panama-California Exposition in honor of the 100 eastern delegates to the grand lodge convention of the order of this city this week, who arrived in the Southland yesterday and were entertained at San Bernardino, Riverside and Redlands, preparatory to going on to San Diego.

A luncheon was tendered the visitors on arrival at San Bernardino. Afterwards, the 100 visitors were given an automobile ride about Redlands and entertained at dinner at the Glenwood Mission Inn. Late last night they left for San Diego, where they will be entertained today and tomorrow by Laker Lodge of that city.

A reception committee of Los Angeles Lodge, No. 487 will meet the visitors on arrival here Tuesday morning. Afterwards they will be entertained with automobile trips about the city and suburbs. Trips to Universal City, the Mission Play, Mount Lowe, Catalina and other places are interspersed among the numbers of the formal programme for the week's gathering.

EVERYBODY TAKING A BATH.

At Least so It Appears, According to Soap Manufacturer—Habit is Growing, Anyway.

The bathing habit is growing in America. Pretty soon, from present indications, we will rank with the French as the greatest users of soap and perfume. This information is brought to town by N. N. Dalton, soap manufacturer of Kansas City.

"If cleanliness is next to Godliness," as our forefathers believed, then the American people are rapidly 'getting next,'" Mr. Dalton said yesterday at the Alexandria. "The demand for soap is increasing hourly. Coincident with the rise of the demand for soap is the increase in the use of perfume and talc powder.

"For many years the French ranked as the greatest bathers in the world with English as second, and the Americans as third. We have surpassed the English recently and now are rapidly gaining on the French.

"Americans have an inborn desire to be clean."

FLOUR 'WAY UP.

Eastern Brands Sell at Ten Dollars a Barrel Wholesale; Heavy Exports One Cause.

Flour at $10 a barrel! Only dreamers thought of this greatest food staple at such a price in Los Angeles. It has come to pass, however, and two of the widely-known eastern brands are now selling at that figure, and the price is wholesale, not retail.

When the war broke out, some of the millers suggested that flour might go to this figure and were laughed at. Today they are deemed wise, particularly since some of them banked on their judgment sufficiently to speculate heavily. It is not entirely speculation, according to a local miller, however, that has sent the market so high.

In ordinary years the export of wheat to Europe averages 2,000,000 bushels a week. During the past three months, this average has been increased to 5,000,000 bushels during the same period. This drain is beginning to tell very seriously and flour of local manufacture may not be long in reaching the high values placed on the eastern product. Local millers have not advanced their prices within two weeks, but advancing wheat in the East will force higher quotations on local flour.

LOOK YEARS YOUNGER! GRAY HAIR DARKENED BEAUTIFULLY WITH SAGE

Says Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggy and thin. Mixing the sage tea and sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's."

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally; so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this tonight and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, after another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and it surely helps folks appear years younger.

MARRIAGE SCENE IN EARLY DAYS.

Designed in exact replica of a famous European cathedral, a diminutive church interior was placed on exhibition last night in the window of S. Nordlinger & Son's jewelry store in South Broadway. A purple light, streaming in through the stained glass windows, reflects indirectly upon a Lilliputian marriage ceremony being consecrated at the altar.

Every detail is worked out. The designer, Wilhelm Auener, of Saxony, studied his art in the Berlin Academy. He has reproduced a small chancel, choir and altar. Stained-glass windows, painted with holy portraits, are built into the sides and walls of the interior. On each side of the entrance is a chapel.

The wedding ceremony represents that time directly following the benediction. The priest stands in the altar, his hands raised to heaven. The bride and groom have started down the aisle. Four bridesmaids and ushers walk behind them, while in front a small flower girl strews roses along their path.

HOLD INDOOR PICNIC.

Novel Entertainment Given by Students and Faculty of Business College.

An indoor picnic was the novel entertainment arranged by students and faculty of the Isaacs-Woodbury Business College night before last. The roof garden and the main auditorium of the school were used. Palms, many cut flowers and greenery were used to give the indoor rooms an outdoor tang. Refreshments were served in picnic style.

A portion of the programme was musical and was rendered by the students. A quartette made up of Messrs. Kennard, Bunnell, Baker and Frampton, a chorus by the entire student body, piano solo by Miss Barker and Mr. Chester and vocal solos by Miss Glascock and Mr. Bunnell were some of the features.

An Honest Horse.

[Chicago News:] An Irishman once sold a nag to a gentleman, warranting the animal as an honest horse. Some time afterward he met the gentleman, who asked him what he meant by an honest horse.

"Well, sir," replied Pat, "whenever I rode him he always threatened to throw me, and he certainly never deceived me."

The current events speaker was Harley W. Brundige, who gave a talk on the doings of the Legislature at Sacramento.

The musical portion of the programme included a piano solo by Miss Margaret Tilley, a little miss, whose execution was wonderful and deserved an encore. Dr. Frank Holman sang and was enthusiastically applauded.

The hostess at luncheon was Mrs. E. R. Winnett. Next Wednesday the club will be entertained by a musical vaudeville arranged by Mrs. F. Elton Davis.

Amateur Players.

Mrs. Eugene T. Pettigrew will read "The Episode of Youth," from George Hobart's morality play, "Experience," also "The Goal," by Sir Henry Arthur Jones, at the fortnightly afternoon of the Amateur Players next Tuesday. These informal afternoons, always held in the Capt. Banning home, are among the leading features in the literati life of the city.

Daughters of 1812.

The United States Daughters of 1812 met for their regular monthly meeting with Mrs. H. T. Wright of No. 1771 North Cahuenga boulevard in Hollywood last Friday afternoon. Tea was served after the business meeting. The annual meeting will be held in May at a place to be announced later.

Y.W.C.A. Convention.

A pleasant feature in connection with the coming Y.W.C.A. convention to be held in May will be the luncheon to be given at the California Club for the visiting women. The local Board of Managers and Y.W.C.A. Field Committee are in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Willits J. Hole is personally directing the affairs.

Council of Jewish Women.

The Board of Managers of the National Council of Jewish Women, who came across the continent to attend the annual meeting which will be held at San Francisco May 3, 4 and 5, will be the guests of Los Angeles section at their annual luncheon next Friday at Hotel Maryland, Pasadena. The eastern sisters are expected to divulge much interesting information.

Whittier Woman's Club.

Mrs. C. C. Barr was chosen president of the Whittier Woman's Club at the annual election held at the clubhouse last Wednesday afternoon. The election passed off quietly, the report of the nominating committee being approved in full. To assist Mrs. Barr in the conduct of the club for next year the entire corps of officers and directors was chosen as follows: First vice-president, Mrs. O. C. Albertson; second vice-president, Mrs. R. B. Kennedy; recording secretary, Mrs. John Coffin; corresponding secretary, Miss Alberta Strong; treasurer, Mrs. B. A. Edgington; directors, Mrs. W. J. Symons, Mrs. Oscar Mendenhall, Mrs. Kittie Swain, Mrs. W. S. Myers, Mrs. F. M. Bergen.

The club programme for the day was of the flavor of the Southland, a California programme, under the direction of the Landmark Committee. Among the pleasing features was a reading by Mrs. M. O. Graves, "Just California;" a reading by Mrs. Oval Redmon, excerpts from "Ramona," and music by the Girls' Carol Club.

Alhambra Club.

An enthusiastic gathering of nature lovers greeted Mrs. Anstruther Davidson, Alfred Cookman and H. B. Richards at the Alhambra Woman's Club House last Wednesday afternoon when the subjects discussed were wild flowers that are now at the height of their beauty, birds and the home garden.

The clubhouse was unusually beautiful in its lovely decoration of wild flowers, which were supplemented with many not common to this section, brought from Hollywood and Catalina by Mrs. Davidson. Mrs. Davidson was followed by Mr. Richards, who told of many improvements for the home garden, and of many plants which might replace the commonly-used gernaiums and marguerites to excellent advantage. He made a plea for the peonies, phloxes and iris.

The birds of California, and particularly the wild birds, were discussed by Mr. Cookman, who told of 500 different specimens of wild birds to be found in California, and of 300 that live and thrive in the balmy atmosphere of the south. He made a strong plea for the lives of the owls, hawks and meadow larks.

The closing programme of the month will be an interpretation from "Peer Gynt" by Mrs. J. R. Fleming.

Tropico.

The Nominating Committee of the Tropico Thursday Afternoon Club, appointed by Mrs. Charles A. Barker, president, and which consists of Mrs Edward M. Lynch, Mrs. H. C. Woolsey, Mrs. John A. Logan, Mrs. W. C. Anderson and Mrs. Clarence M. Good, has presented the following ticket: Mrs. Charles A. Barker, vice-president; Mrs. H. C. Woolsey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Henry T. Goodwin, recording secretary; Miss Ida M. Meyers, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph H. Webster, member-at-large. The committee has been unable to secure anyone to accept the nomination for president.

The election of officers will be held Thursday, May 6 next, and the club meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. H. Gaarder, who will be assisted by Mrs. Mary Ayres, Mrs. Frank E. Peters, Mrs. J. A. Stone and Dr. Jessie A. Russell. The Hospitality Committee, of which Mrs. J. Herbert Smith is chairman, entertained with a card party at K. P. hall on San Fernando boulevard last Thursday evening, when the husbands of the club members were the guests of the evening.

Tropico Kensington Club.

The Kensington Club, of which Mrs. Margaret Jenkins is president, will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Jessie Hudson, No. 1224 Milford street. Mrs. Hudson will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, Mrs. William Tiffany, Mrs. Elizabeth Spafford and Mrs. Jack Hammond.

This meeting, which will be held next Wednesday afternoon, will be the last meeting to be held this month and a large attendance is expected.

Florence Crittenton Home.

The Auxiliary of the Florence Crittenton Home, of which Mrs. H. M. Wheeler is president, held the regular monthly meeting at the home on Griffin and Avenue 23 Wednesday. These monthly meetings are all-day affairs, the ladies taking their lunches and devoting the day to sewing, mending and darning for the home. At last Wednesday's meeting the officers and members of N. P. Banks W.R.C. of Tropico were the special guests. These corps ladies donated as an Easter offering to the home six boxes of home-made jams, jellies and preserves.

Beach, the latter the distinguished Boston composer, who will be the guest of honor at the reception-musicale to be given by Cabrillo Chapter, D.A.R., Tuesday afternoon at the Woman's Clubhouse. Mrs. Harmon is recording secretary of the Los Angeles District, C.F.W.C., and an exceedingly busy person at present.

Owensmouth Woman's Club.

The Owensmouth Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Jarboe last Friday, at which time a most interesting literary programme was rendered. Three new members were received into the club. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. L. C. Kimball, Jr.; vice-president, Mrs. John Haas; recording secretary, Mrs. T. A. Hull; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Fred Balster; treasurer, Mrs. J. L. Waring; auditor, Mrs. G. W. Burch.

School Play.

Six little girls from the sub-preparatory department of Cumnock school took part in a charming little fairy play given at the school last Friday morning. "The Enchanted Garden" was the title, the author being Constance Mackaye. The play tells the story of the taming of the first wild rose. It was directed by Mrs. A. J. Sutherland. Little Barbara Brown was the Wild Rose, who creeps into the enchanted garden and is scorned by the cultivated flowers. Mignonette was played by Fara Gould, and Lily by Dorothy Brown. Rosalie Radge was Prince Butterfly, and Dona Meserve played the double part of Will-of-the-Wisp and the Queen of Hearts.

The costumes for the play were entirely the product of the children's own designing. The performance was given in Cumnock Hall.

Hollywood Woman's Club.

Through the withdrawal of her name Mrs. H. T. Wright, who was nominated for the presidency by petition, a single ticket of officers is before the Woman's Club of Hollywood to be voted upon May 5 next. In the report of the Nominating Committee submitted last Wednesday the following ticket is offered: President, Mrs. Edward Winterer; first vice-president, Mrs. E. W. Cason; second vice-president, Mrs. Seward Cole; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. L. Hemming; recording secretary, Mrs. J. F. Kent; treasurer, Mrs. John W. Stoddart. The two members of the present board to serve on the next Board of Directors are Mrs. Lee Campbell and Mrs. C. H. Lippincott. Names presented from which the remaining three members of the Board of Directors are to be chosen are: Mrs. J. A. Matthews, Mrs. J. F. Redhead, Mrs. G. W. Melville, Mrs. G. K. Patterson, Mrs. Clyde J. Eastman, Mrs. W. C. Drew, Mrs. F. A. Brown, Mrs. J. P. Gardner, Mrs. W. C. Anderson and Mrs. E. G. Echternach.

The programme last Wednesday afternoon was a delightful musical recital by the Coutolenc quartette, with Mrs. A. R. Gates as chairman of the day.

About fifty members attended the Social Science and Civics luncheon, which was followed by a discussion of peace topics, led by Mrs. Anstruther Davidson. Mr. Parker Foster gave a talk on "Mobilization in Switzerland at the Beginning of the War." Mr. Foster was in Switzerland at that time and spoke from personal observation. At the civics meeting next Wednesday at 1:30 o'clock is scheduled an address on "Water Rates, Taxes and Annexation," and a paper by Mrs. E. G. Echternach on "American Problems."

Next Wednesday afternoon Miss Jane Farley will read. Hostesses of the day will be Mmes. L. A. McCray, C. J. Reinhard, J. Pierce Baldwin, C. J. Moore, Mary P. Williams and E. G. Sherman.

State Day at Philotos.

The Philotos Club met with Mrs. John L. Barnes last Tuesday. After a short business session the programme was presented. "State Day" being the subject. Each member gave some interesting bit of information about her native State.

Woman's City Club.

The "Death Penalty" will be the topic at the Woman's City Club tomorrow morning. Dr. Charles Edward Locke, Benjamin Fay Mills and Dr. Whitcomb Broukher will speak. A luncheon is to be served at noon, with the programme following.

Highland Park Ebell Club.

Last Tuesday morning another excellent programme held the attention of the members of the Highland Park Ebell Club. Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsay made an earnest plea for unfortunate women, urging the necessity of increasing the number of policewomen in order to accomplish preventive work, and also the election of a woman as City Prosecutor.

Mrs. Foster Elliot, State chairman of Forestry of the Federation of Women's Clubs, gave a talk on the preservation of trees, emphasizing her remarks by using many pictures showing the beauty and also the devastation of forests of the United States. Mrs. Harriet Williams Myers, chairman of the civic section of the club, showed some charming pictures of California birds.

South Side Ebell Club.

The South Side Ebell Club enjoyed a talk from Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsay, at its meeting last Thursday. The members of the club read Golsworthy's "The Pigeon." Next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, at the Vernon branch library, Vernon and Central avenues, Secretary Williams of the Auto Bus Association will present his side of the jitney problem.

Woman's Million Club.

Prof. C. C. Kelso of the Civic Center Movement gave an interesting talk at the regular meeting of the Million Club last Wednesday. He set forth the club's origin and sought to impress the audience with its possibilities for the future betterment of the community. The speaker emphasized the fact that the meetings are nonpartisan and that it was a representative body.

M. J. Pehr, delegate of the Million Club to the Civic Center League, reported that the Million Club would have an exhibit in the Civic Center League's Panama-Pacific Exposition. Next Wednesday the club will hold a candidates' meeting.

Progressive Household Club.

Miss Mary E. Fay will speak before the members and friends of the Progressive Household Club on "What the United States Expects of Her Citizens," next Thursday.

Glendale Festival.

The Glendale Festival of Fruits and Flowers, given under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon Club of Glendale, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce and City Trustees, the Merchants' Association, the Parent-Teachers' Association, and several fraternal orders, will be held May 27, 28 and 29, next.

The official festival colors will be green and orange, and the Shasta daisy will be the official flower.

One hundred and fifty prominent citizens are busily engaged in preparing the entertainment, and promise the most elaborate event in the history of Glendale. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones is the general chairman, and Mrs. Warren Roberts is secretary and treasurer. The following committees have been appointed: commercial, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, chairman; programme, Mrs. Frederick Baker; publicity, Mrs. W. A. Weaver; reception, Mr. E. C. Toll; parade, Mrs. J. W. Uselton; auto trips, Charles Cowan; exhibits, C. O. Pulliam; housing, J. W. Tower; advertising, J. W. Flower; school department, R. H. White.

Woman's Civic Club.

The regular meeting of the Business Woman's Civic Club will be held tomorrow night at 7 o'clock, in the lecture hall of the public library. This will be recreation evening. Miss Martha Graham of the Cumnock School will read "Mary Cary."

Brownson House.

Miss Katherine Thompson, resident worker at Brownson House, was pleasantly surprised by members of the association last Wednesday with a picnic supper at the Settlement House, No. 711 Jackson street. Miss Thompson has recently completed her first year at the settlement and this party was given as an appreciation of her work.

Last Thursday night a free entertainment was given at the Settlement House for the people of the neighborhood.

Those in charge of the orthopedic clinic at Brownson House have announced that in the future the work will be carried on under the name of Brownson House Free Clinic for Crippled Children.

Gamma Phi Beta.

The April meeting of the local Alumnae Association of Gamma Phi Beta was held yesterday at the home of Miss Ruth Hutchinson, No. 516 Westmoreland avenue. Mrs. C. Silverson, traveling delegate for the sorority, was the speaker.

Mrs. Silverson is passing a few days in Southern California, after visiting Gamma Phi chapters throughout the United States.

SWISS ON THREE SIDES OF FENCE.

MAINTAINING NEUTRALITY NO JOKE TO THEM.

Have Italian President, French Minister of War and German Commander-in-chief, so They're at Peace—Native of Republic Declares Army Heavy Burden.

Our position as a neutral nation during this great European war is to be envied when compared to that of little Switzerland. This is the opinion of Robert H. Schnyder, a native Swiss and one of the prominent bankers of the little republic. Mr. Schnyder is at present enjoying the delights of an American beach resort, having taken apartments in Venice, where he intends to pass the summer months.

"You cannot realize our position from your distant land," Mr. Schnyder said yesterday. "We are a nation divided. One-third is German, another third French, and the remaining one-third Italian. At present we have an Italian as President, a Frenchman as Secretary of War, and a German general-in-chief of our army. Figure that out for yourself and then tell me which side we favor.

"We have to remain neutral. When war broke out there was a German in the President's chair. For a time it seemed we were to be drawn into the terrible vortex. Because our President and commander of the army were Germans, our politics for a time took on a decidedly Teutonic hue.

"Then the year ended. You know, over in our land, a President holds his office for a year only. The wisdom of this law was shown during this great war. Our German President had to give way to another chief executive.

"The Cabinet members take consecutive terms as President, each holding that high office in turn. The next in line was this Italian.

"Naturally, when he assumed office matters began to change. Not that he favored the allies. But he most certainly did not favor the Germans. Our commander-in-chief still held his rank.

"To offset this, a Frenchman was appointed as Minister of War. The army cannot move without the Minister's order unless a civil war be started.

"We have at present 300,000 men under arms. This army is spread about our borders, ready at an instant to fight the whole world in order to preserve the neutrality and freedom of our country. The expense of this standing army, small as it is compared with the great European fighting machines, is bearing heavily on our people. The war must end soon to preserve the financial integrity of Switzerland."

Mr. Schnyder came to the United States two months ago in company with a party of Swiss scientists. He represents the financial end of the expedition. When his companions departed to look over a great property in Lower California, Mr. Schnyder remained in Los Angeles, preferring to enjoy the known comforts of Southern California to dodging Mexican revolutionists.

He will remain in his Venice apartments until his companions return. The entire party will then start back toward Switzerland, hoping to find peace established by the time of their arrival.

DRUNK ON BUTTERMILK.

Man Who Threatens to Whip the Whole Police Force so Alleges, Later Changes His Mind.

Jim Walsh was found lying face down in an alley near First and Main streets early yesterday morning by Patrolman Olinger. When aroused Walsh became obstreperous and threatened to whip the whole police force. As a result he appeared in the police court a few hours later charged with being drunk and disorderly.

"I am not guilty, Your Honor," the prisoner said when asked by the court if the charge of drunkenness were true. "How could it be true when I did not drink anything but buttermilk?"

"Did you ever get drunk before on buttermilk?" the judge asked. "Are you sure that you did not use the milk as a chaser?"

Walsh finally admitted that the buttermilk was the last fluid he drank and said he could not remember how many other liquids he had consumed during the night. He was sent to jail for three days.

TRY A LITTLE SALTS IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER ARE TROUBLING YOU

Salts flushes Kidneys without injury; also neutralizes uric acid, ending Bladder irritation.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation; or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington street, Monticello, Ills.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Are We Soon to Become a Race of Bald-Headed Men?

PROF. JOHN H. AUSTIN

Hair Specialist of Chicago, Who Is Now at Hamburger's, Talks Most Interestingly About the Hair.

He says that baldness is increasing rapidly among men and points out some of the reasons. Prof. Austin is probably right in saying that about one man in every hundred ever thinks about his hair at all, except to comb it two or three times a day. If it falls out, he looks anxiously at the falling hair, and then promptly forgets about it until the next time he uses the comb.

A man will give the utmost attention to his teeth, because he knows that when trouble arises he will have more trouble and probably lose his teeth if he doesn't go to a dentist promptly. But his hair doesn't ache, it just gradually dies, and when it is nearly gone, and the roots are dead, he anxiously tries a dozen different remedies at once and then resigns himself to baldness.

According to Prof. Austin, there are something like sixty different conditions of the scalp and hair. Some are contagious. Others develop from neglect. Practically all of them are curable in the early stages.

Prof. Austin examines the roots of your hair with a powerful microscope. He finds out just what is the trouble with YOUR HAIR, and then he tells you what to do for that trouble.

It doesn't cost a penny for the examination, and it puts you under no obligation to follow his advice if you don't want to do so.

Prof. Austin has devoted thirty-five years to studying the hair and scalp. Surely it will be worth the few minutes it takes to let him turn the microscope on your hair.

He will make FREE MICROSCOPIC EXAMINATIONS of the hair and scalp all this week, in his private office on the second floor, Hamburger's. Hours, 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m.

Actress Tells Secret

A Well Known Actress Tells How She Darkened Her Gray Hair and Promoted Its Growth With a Simple Home Made Mixture.

Miss Blanche Rose, a well-known actress, who darkened her gray hair with a simple preparation which she mixed at home, in a recent interview at Chicago, Ill., made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe, which they can mix at home. To a half-pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the required shade. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of hair, relieves itching and scalp humors and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

GREAT GASH IN HEART OF HILL.

Steam Shovel with Busy Din Toils in the Gloom.

Men Like Pygmies Hurry About Gaping Hole.

Lowering Broadway Bore is Picturesque Job.

Set about with some of the diabolical accessories that Dante used to lend verisimilitude to his description of the lower regions, a steam shovel is ripping the entrails out of Fort Hill to prepare for the lowering of the Broadway tunnel to the grade of Temple street, and its relining with white brick.

In a Doresque gloom and to the infernal racket of the steam shovel's exhausts, the big machine and its contingent of dumpcarts and shovelmen are making a Culebra Cut from the north portal at Broadway and Buena Vista street to Broadway at Temple street.

At the peak spot, California street and Broadway, the cut will be twenty-one feet below the old floor of the tunnel, leaving the blackened bore, as one worker phrased it, "stuck up in the air like one end of a well that had been turned over."

This condition will be rectified by inserting a false arch, tapering from twenty-one feet in thickness at the south portal to nothing at the north end, and the subsequent relining of the whole tunnel with white brick. In other words, the vast and gloomy length of the Broadway tunnel is to be made over into a replica of the Hill-street smooth-bore.

The contract cost of the work is $185,000, to which will be added an estimated $65,000 for damage to adjacent property. Some property at Broadway and California street, for instance, will be left with the front steps about twenty feet in the air. It is estimated it will take from six to eight months to complete the work. Lynn S. Atkinson has the contract.

Altogether 35,000 cubic yards of dirt, 10,000 of it within the tunnel, will have to be moved in the course of the work. The shovel is now working within 100 feet of the south portal. It is expected it will emerge into the sunlight of California street within two weeks and will commence to chew it way downward to Temple street. Arriving there, the shovel will be turned and will retrace its way backwards along the cut, trimming down the sides.

Even out in the sunlight the cut would attract attention on account of its size. But in the semi-darkness of the tunnel, with the men at work looking like pygmies through the smoke and the flash of the flames from the shovel's boiler, adding to the infernal aspect of the whole, the cut looks as if it were being made straight down into the bowels of the earth and as wide as a city block.

When the work was first started some engineers expressed fear that the arch of the tunnel would weaken by disturbing the foundation. But so far not a crack has developed, a silent testimony to the workmanship and honesty of the contractor who built this tunnel.

With the completion of the work, a great and growing territory to the north will be sewed to the business district by a nearly level connecting thoroughfare. Strange as it may seem, even automobilists showed a reluctance to tackle the steep grades leading through or up to the tunnel, while its gloominess was a deterrent to the pedestrian, especially when caught out after nightfall.

STICK TO ONE TRADE.

Cafe Man All Right at Own Game but Fails in Attempt as Peacemaker in a Fight.

Al Levy is an admitted success as a cafe proprietor, but in the role of peacemaker he is a dismal failure. He confessed it yesterday morning when he appeared in the police court as a witness to a fight which took place on South Spring street last week. "I saw two men pounding each other, and, rushing across the street to them, I begged them to be gentlemen and quit fighting like a couple of bulldogs," Mr. Levy told the court. "I told them they ought to be ashamed of themselves, but they paid no attention to me and I left them in a clinch."

The two men are B. Riskin, who was charged with battery by A. Lipman of No. 822 South Broadway. The latter said Riskin and another man followed him from his office over to Spring street and landed a vicious blow on his jaw as the result of an argument over a bill. Riskin did not deny landing on the complaining witness, but said Lipman struck the first blow. Mr. Levy said he arrived on the scene too late to tell which one started the fuss and as the matter could not be cleared up the judge dismissed the case.

"I knew it would come out this way," Riskin said as he was leaving the courtroom, "and now I am going to prefer a charge of battery against Lipman. The result will be different then."

CASE DISMISSED.

Former U.S.C. Student Freed in Idaho from Embezzlement Charge. Auditor Gives Up Fees.

Deputy State Auditor Huston of Idaho, a former student of the University of Southern California, has been freed of a charge of embezzlement lodged against him in the Idaho courts. After a trial, the jury disagreed and the District Attorney dismissed the case.

Huston was accused of having come to Los Angeles from Boise in June, 1914, for the purpose of getting married. He married a Miss Moles, also a student at U.S.C. The records in the Auditor's office at Boise showed that he came here to study the city's system of accounting and the State of Idaho was said to have paid his expenses.

City Auditor Myers was called as a witness and testified that Huston never looked in at the City Auditor's office. For so testifying, the City Auditor received $6 in witness fees.

Mr. Myers turned this money into the City Treasury yesterday, thus laying the foundation for another raid by the Finance Committee by introducing a little foreign change.

Another Carpet Auction
Two Big Sales Going on Simultaneously Create Dilemma for Buyers

Buyers of rugs and carpets who visit this market next week will be confronted with most unusual conditions. They will be very much in the position of a man attending a two-ring circus with the rings in separate tents.

For the first time in the history of the trade there will be two big auctions of the goods named going on simultaneously. One of these sales, which was announced in last Saturday's ECONOMIST, will be by the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Co., who offer some 90,000 bales. The other sale will be held by Stephen Sanford & Sons, Inc. This house is more moderate in its offerings, and will put up only 45,000 bales. Together, these two sales will constitute one of the largest offerings of floorcoverings ever made at one time, and it is quite probable that the quantity beats all records.

Naturally, in each sale there will goods on which some buyers, at desire to bid. Just how th attend both auctions and bids fair to be Luckily for two sale

The above headlines constitute the text of a message received from our rug buyer who is now in New York. He went to attend the two rug auctions referred to in the article from the Dry Goods Economist, which is herewith reproduced. We are advised that he has purchased the largest lot of rugs that any retail store in Los Angeles ever contracted for. His instructions are to unload our present stock and make room for his auction purchases, which are now on the way. This we will do by sacrificing our rug stock at the lowest prices ever quoted for high-class rugs. Every rug in our stock is perfect, the patterns are new, colors are most desirable. The sale begins Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

MELODRAMA FOR BURBANK.

Good Bunch of Big New Acts for Orpheum.

Dickens Impersonator Tops Empress Bill.

Variety of Attractions for Pantages Theater.

"Big Jim Garrity," by Owen Davis, will be presented for the first time in stock this afternoon at the Burbank.

The play is a thrilling melodrama, based upon the life of Big Jim Garrity, a miner, with a checkered career, who battles with fate and grasps success and happiness in the last act. The scenes are laid in California.

The cast is headed by Louis Bennison and James Corrigan, and by Alice Fleming, whose work in "Wild Olive" has won her success with Los Angeles audiences. Grace Travers and James K. Applebee return to the cast in excellent roles. Edmund Lowe, Walter Catlett and Winifred Bryson will also have congenial parts. Others in the cast will be William Colvin, George Rand and Charles Buck.

Mason.

Mlle. Anna Pavlowa and the Imperial Russian Ballet and Symphony Orchestra are announced as the attraction at the Mason Operahouse for the week beginning Monday, May 10. The company includes nearly a hundred artists and musicians.

Mlle. Pavlowa will present an entirely new programme of ballets, or dance dramas, and folk and solo dances. She will also appear at some of her performances in modern and society dances. The artist has in her repertoire this season twelve new ballets and sixty new divertisements, among them being "The Fairy Doll," "Raymonda," "Walpurgis Night," "Les Orientales," "Seven Daughters of the Ghost King," and others. M. Alexandre Volinine, premier danseur classique of the Imperial Opera, Petrograd, is Pavlowa's principal dancing partner.

Orpheum.

Four big acts headline the Orpheum bill for this week, commencing tomorrow afternoon.

John Hyams and Leila McIntyre, late musical comedy stars, will present "The Quakeress."

Mme. Yorska and company, direct from the Theater Sarah Bernhardt (where this protege is the only woman besides herself whom the divine Sarah permits to be featured) brings a strong and vivid drama, "Days of War."

Cressy and Dayne will offer a new playlet, "Grasping an Opportunity," and Bonita and Lew Hearn, the only other holdovers, will appear in a new sketch.

Others on the bill will be Brabazon Lowther, Celtic baritone; the Kerville family of trick billiardists; Parillo and Frabito, Italian street singers, and Murial Ridley with Asta Fleming, in a dancing pantomime, "Love or Fame?"

Morosco.

Sig. Giuseppe Creatore and his band will appear at the Morosco Theater during the week beginning May 9.

Operatic selections from Wagner, Gounod, and other famous composers, as well as many popular numbers, will make up the programmes to be presented by this noted leader and his big organization.

Hippodrome.

The Orloff Troupe of Russian dancers and musicians is to be retained for another week at the Hippodrome. They will appear in an entirely new repertoire, however, with fresh costumes and music. The new dancing numbers promise to be even more spectacular than last week's offering.

The La Nova Sisters, christened "the aerial butterflies," in a novel aerial turn; Allen's Cheyenne Minstrels, a bunch of cowboys and cowgirls, in lariat and musical stunts; "The Kidders," in patter and song; Lillian La Verde in a lightning-change specialty; Dill and Van Tassell, in "Just Plain Mary," and Lew Davis, styling himself "the ace of spades," are others on the bill.

Pantages.

Carl McCullough, a favorite Pantages artist, returns to head the new Pantages bill, opening tomorrow afternoon. He brings a pianist with him, and promises a top-notch act.

Others will be Ronald Bradbury and company, in a tabloid, "Girl of the Golden West" playlet; the Morton Jewel Troupe; Renello and Sister, in a bicycle turn, including a thrilling "loop-the-loop" stunt; Gibson and Dyso, in song and patter; "The Irish Lord and the Two-headed Cop," and Henning, Lewish and company, in dancing and musical numbers.

Loew's Empress.

Owen McGiveney, protean actor, heads the new Empress bill opening tomorrow afternoon. Mr. McGiveney brings with him a repertoire of characters from Dickens, and enacts an entire play himself, making the character changes with lightning rapidity.

Others will be Countess Szechy, Gypsy cymbalist; Ben and Hazel Mann, in fun and patter; Bob Tipp and company, a pretty girl, a clown and a dog; George Rockwell and Al Wood in foolishness, and Ethel Whiteside in songs and dances.

Republic.

Eleanor Denishawn, a protege of Ruth St. Denis, the noted dancer, will be the headliner at the Republic, com-

A Big Man in Pictures.

PICTURE BOULDERS HURLED BY WILLIAM C. DE MILLE.

Film Plays Must be Correct in Essential Values Because They Have no Words to Make an Audience Believe that One Thing is Something Else—Correct Motivation Counts.

BY HENRY CHRISTEEN WARNACK.

THAT moving picture which gets any hold whatever upon the public is witnessed by from twenty to forty million people within two years from the manufacture of the film.

It has been ten years since William C. de Mille wrote and produced "Strongheat," a play phenomenally successful, yet not more than five million people have witnessed its performances in that decade of unusual continuity.

For this reason, I will venture the prophecy that this clever playwright, who is at present the head of the scenario department of the Jesse Lasky Feature Play Company, will remain in pictures for at least seven years.

Up to date he has been in the business exactly seven months, and the field is so big and his enthusiasm so great that I think it will hold him for one cycle of his life. Besides, he is not yet 37 and he can very well spare such a period to this magnificent apprenticeship.

De Mille is the sort of man who will never stop growing so long as he lives. He has had much success and has done some good work, but his best work is ahead of him and he is a man who is big enough to know this.

The house of this man's mind is in order. For a feloiw of temperament his soundness is a marvel. He is logic personified and his power of analysis is exceptional in its penetration. He has a habit of looking at all sides of a question at once and of treating with each phase of a subject in the right terms. You may take snap judgment on him from nearly any angle and you will find that he has a ready answer, such as could only proceed from a mental workshop of the finest equipment.

Some men do big things and appear to be nothing in themselves when you meet them. The average big man, I should say, is a personal disappoinment. De Mille is just the other way around. No matter what he has done, when you talk with him five minutes, you wonder that he has not accomplished vastly more. He is very much better than his best work and larger than his greatest idea.

When I see men of de Mille's caliber willing to spend from one to three months on a single scenario, I tell myself that I do not know what the future of the motion-picture business is to be, but I know that it will have a future. There is nothing temporary about an enterprise or an art that challenges the attention and the best efforts of a De Mille.

William C. de Mille is a brother of Cecil B. de Mille, who is some three or four years his junior and who is the director of the local

NOTED COMPOSER TO VISIT CITY.

MRS. BEACH TO BE ENTERTAINED THIS WEEK.

Has Carved Niche for Herself in Musical Hall of Fame in this Country—Noted Organist Visits Coast. Popular Concert of Symphony Orchestra this Week.

BY EDWIN F. SCHALLERT.

A composer who has won for herself an unusual degree of fame in the world of musical art of America is to be entertained in Los Angeles this week. Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, who has been spending several months resting at Riverside, will pay her first visit to this city, arriving here next Tuesday. She will be a guest of honor on that day of the D.A.R. and Thursday evening of the Dominant Club. At the latter affair Marcella Craft, who is noted for her sympathetic renditions of the composer's songs, will also be a guest.

If Mrs. Beach had written nothing but her vivid setting of Browning's "The Year's at the Spring" her name would be known in the world of music, but she has achieved much besides this in the song-writing field, as well as with larger forms—orchestral works, chamber music, cantatas, etc. She reflects in her music something of the traditional spirit of New England, where she was born, and where she has spent the greater part of her life.

The popularity of some of her songs, like the settings of Browning's poems, "Ah, Love but a Day" and "The Year's at the Spring," as well as the sweet, sad "Ecstacy," is very widespread. In her chamber music and other larger compositions she reveals a fine command of thematic material, and marked ability in the working out of the themes. She has composed a number of striking chorus numbers, and included among her works is a concerto for piano and orchestra.

Organist Visits Here.

A recent visitor to this city of no little prominence in the musical world was John J. McClellan, organist at the Mormon tabernacle in Salt Lake City. He passed through Los Angeles on his way to San Francisco, where he is to play a week's engagement as soloist at Festival Hall, at the exposition. He gave a few recitals on the organ at the Glenwood Mission Inn at Riverside, and stopped over in Los Angeles to visit Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Phillips of No. 1332 South Hoover street, before leaving for the north.

Mr. McClellan has given over 2000 public recitals in the great Mormon tabernacle, and scores of others in various parts of the United States. He has been organist of the tabernacle since 1900, conductor of the Salt Lake Opera Company since 1902, and director of the Salt Lake Symphony Orchestra since 1908.

Prof. John J. McClellan,

Organist of Mormon Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, who is visiting the Coast. He is giving a series of recitals at the exposition.

He also founded the Utah Conservatory of Music at Salt Lake City in 1911, and is dean and head of the pianoforte department of the institution at the present time. He is now at work upon an original course for the study of the piano.

He is the composer of the "National Ode to Irrigation," and in addition to this has written several songs, anthems and instrumental compositions. The ode was sung at the national irrigation congress of Portland, Sacramento and Boise, Idaho, by the Ogden (Utah) tabernacle choir of 200 voices, each rendition costing $12,000.

Chamber Music Concert.

A well-selected and charming programme was presented Wednesday at the Woman's Club of Hollywood by the Coutolenc quartette, composed of Heloise Desiree Coutolenc, first violin; Katherine Fiske, second violin; August Kolster, viola, and Clarence Stevens, 'cello. The numbers were as follows:

(a) "In Elizabethan Days"........Walter Kramer
(b) "At Dawning"........Cadman
(Arranged by Clarence Stevens.)
(a) "Andante Cantabile"........Tschaikowsky
(b) "Menuet"........Glinka
(c) Des pays Lointains (From Foreign Lands)
Christiaan Kriens
Quartette No. 3........Haydn
Allegro Moderato, Adagio Cantabile, Menuetto, Finale.
(a) "Humoresque"........Dvorak
(b) "Menett"........Boccherini

A much-appreciated musical event was the presentation of a programme of Count Axel Raoul Wachtmeister's compositions, by the composer himself, assisted by Mrs. Willis Tiffany and the Misses Fuhrer, Wednesday, at Mount Washington Hotel. The musicale was given on the invitation of Mrs. Lucious Doolittle for the benefit of the St. Elizabeth school.

Wachtmeister's "Sonata for Violin and Piano" and two smaller pieces were rendered by Bessie Fuhrer, with the composer at the piano, and the "Redowa for Violoncello and Piano," by Lucy Fuhrer. Mrs. Tiffany sang two groups of songs, which were featured at the recent concert given by Wachtmeister at the Gamut Club.

California songbird.

Marcella Craft, who has been selected to create the part of Rosamund in the coming production of "Fairyland." She will also be a guest of honor at a banquet of the Dominant Club Thursday evening.

Present "Athalie."

The second presentation of Mendelssohn's "Athalie," under the direction of Frederick Brueschweiler, was given last Sunday afternoon at Trinity. Soloists of the occasion were Molly Byerly Wilson, contralto; Louise Sexton, soprano; Mrs. Clara Castleman Wolf, mezzo-soprano. The singers were also assisted by Miss Lorna Gregg at the piano, Arthur Blakeley at the organ, and by L. M. Idleman, reader.

Second Popular Concert.

The second popular concert to be given by the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra will occur next Friday evening at Trinity. The programme announced is of a very pleasing character, and promises to be rendered in the orchestra's usual delightful fashion.

Soloists will be Ernest Douglas, organist, and Jay Plowe, flutist. Both are well known in the local musical world. Mr. Douglas is organist at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral. He has just completed a suite for organ and orchestra and will offer it as his selection for the evening. Mr. Plowe will play a concerto by Cecile Chaminade for the flute, for which Adolf Tandler has arranged the orchestral score.

The orchestral numbers will include the "Light Horse Cavalry," overture by Von Suppe; Boccherini's "Minuet" and Schubert's "Moment Musicale" for strings alone, and Liszt's brilliant and ever popular Second Hungarian Rhapsodie.

Rehearsals for the "Ninth Symphony" are being held every few days. This titanic work will be given May 17 and 18, the orchestra being assisted by the Ellis and Lyric clubs.

Woman's Orchestra.

The next popular concert of the Woman's Orchestra has been postponed from today until May 2. The programme and soloists will be announced later. The concert will be given at Clune's Auditorium.

Matinee Musical Club.

The second concert of the Creative Section of the Matinee Musical Club promises to be equally as interesting as the first. It will take place next Wednesday evening at Cumnock Hall.

This section was only recently organized and affords excellent opportunities for local composers to get their work before the public. In addition to the musical programme there will be short addresses by members of the club.

The work undertaken is a very commendable one.

Following is the programme:

1. Sonata for piano........Mrs. J. R. [illegible]
2. Songs........Pearl Lindsay Conklin
(a) "Afternoon in February;" (b) "The Mountain and the Squirrel." To be sung by the composer, with Mrs. Fred Bacon Reynard at the piano.
3. Songs with words and music by Mary Hester Bacon
(a) "Home o' My Heart;" (b) "Old-fashioned Roses;" (c) "California." To be sung by Mr. Tallman, with Mrs. Hernando Lee at the piano.

Grunn to Present Pupil.

Homer Grunn will present his pupil Harold Gleason, pianist, in a recital, Tuesday evening, at Blanchard Hall. The programme containing a number of very interesting selections is as follows: Andante in F (Beethoven;) "Sonata Tragica" (MacDowell;) Nocturne, Opus 27, No. 2 (Chopin;) "Zephyr" (Moszkowski;) "Reverie" (Strauss;) "Legend, Bird Sermon" (Liszt;) "Hungarian Fantasie," with orchestral part played by Mr. Grunn (Liszt.)

Von Stein Recital.

The 385th students' concert of the Von Stein Academy of Music will take place Wednesday evening. The following pupils will take part: Misses Loretta Payson, Reta Mitchell, Hazel Hammerton, Louise Carroll, Laura Tallman and Dorsey Whittington (class of Heinrich von Stein;) Misses Kathryn Steiger, Frances Sprague and Helen Swain (class of Mr. Webster.) The latter will respectively be assisted at the piano by Misses Fay Savage, Laura Tallman and Felice Anchell. Piano and violin numbers make up the programme.

De Chauvenet Recital.

The De Chauvenet Conservatory of Music will present a number of pupils in recital on Friday afternoon, April 30, at the Conservatory Auditorium, No. 845 South Figueroa street. There will be numbers by pupils of various grades in piano, voice, violin, and cornet. Several members of the faculty will give selections at the close of the pupils' performances. The "California Poppy Song" will be played and sung, respectively, by the composer of the music and writer of the words.

Jay Plowe,

Flutist, who will be a soloist with the Symphony Orchestra at its popular concert Friday evening at Trinity.

MUSIC NOTES.

Molly Byerly Wilson, dramatic contralto, who has appeared a number of times here recently, leaves this afternoon for an eastern concert tour of twelve engagements. The first programme will be presented at Prescott, and Kansas and Missouri will furnish several dates. After filling the contracts already booked, the tour may be extended north to include Winnipeg and other Canadian towns, where Miss Wilson has open dates.

The College of Music of the University of Southern California announces a song recital by Miss Blanche Helen Fowler of the senior class to be given in the college chapel next Tuesday evening. Miss Fowler is a pupil of Mrs. Norma Rockhold Robbins. She will be assisted by Miss Lucy B. Seator, pianiste.

The next regular Huntley Musicale given by Miss Frieda Peycke will occur next Wednesday evening. Miss Peycke will be assisted by Tracy Buddington, baritone.

A novel artistic experiment was tried Thursday morning at Cumnock Hall on South Figueroa street with results said to be entirely satisfactory. While Miss Bertha Willcox, a graduate of the Cumnock School, read "Prunella," the fantastic little play by Granville Barker and Laurence Housman, Mrs. Gertrude Ross played on the piano her own composition, arranged to accompany the reading, interpreting and emphasizing the spiritual significance of the play. A good-sized audience enthusiastically applauded the innovation.

Los Angeles county has furnished $25,000 toward entertaining the National Federation of Musical Clubs at its coming session in this city. Part of the fund is also to be used in putting on the production of the $10,000 prize grand opera, "Fairyland," by Horatio Parker and Brian Hooker.

The ushers during the production of the prize grand opera will be High School students drilled under the direction of Hugo Kirchofer.

Twenty-five musical organizations are represented on the local biennial board which has in charge all arrangements for the entertainment of the music convention.

Miss Virginia Goodsell, soprano, assisted by Miss Hattie Williams, accompanist, gave a song recital last Thursday evening at the Regent apartments. Miss Lucy Stoddard also read "The Girl of the Golden West." Among Miss Goodsell's numbers were "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson et Dalila," "The Star" (Rogers;) "Indian Lullaby" (Lieurance,) and "Twilight" (Nevin.)

A programme featuring modern compositions was given at the meeting of the musical history class of Mrs. May MacDonald-Hope Thursday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. H. F. Botsford. Numbers for two pianos, given by Mrs. Hope and Mrs. Botsford, including "Variations" (Sinding;) Concerto in E minor (Liszt;) several Debussy selections, and "Suite" (Arensky,) made up the programme. Mrs. Mona Wheeler sang several of Mrs. Botsford's own compositions.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

Arthur A. Shurtleff, a Boston landscape artist, has invented an instrument designed to indicate exactly the location of the sunbeams at any hour of the day, at any day of the year, and at any place in the world. The instrument is said to be of great aid in laying our gardens and in locating houses where the position of the sun is to be taken into consideration. It eliminates lengthy consultations of charts which are in general use, showing speedily and with precision the position of the sun's rays.

Capt. William H. Thurston of Sunbury, Md., one of the few of Ricketts's Battery, of Gettysburg fame, surviving, has celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday anniversary. When the color-bearer was shot down and things loked bad for the Yankees, Thurston, then in the ranks, rushed forward, seized the colors, and his action rallied the forces of Ricketts. Several wonderful charges were made and the day was saved. Mr. Thurstons' act did not go unnoticed. He was brevetted to captain on the field.

Maj. Skinner, after waiting forty-two years before receiving a medal for gallantry in action, has at last received the coveted prize. On January 17, 1873, Maj. Skinner, braving a heavy fire, rescued a wounded soldier from the field after two unsuccessful attempts by his comrades. The medal was authorized by Congress and approved on March 4 last. Maj., or Dr., Skinner, as he is better known in Washington, is superintendent of the Columbia Hospital in Washington.

Maj. George T. Langhorne, who has been recalled from his post as military attache at Berlin, was sent to Germany nearly eighteen months ago, and became well established in Berlin prior to the breaking out of the war. During his stay he received unusual consideration from the German authorities and was enabled to observe the military operations closer than any other foreign attache. It is believed he has in his possession such information regarding the military operations of the German forces which made it advisable that he return to this country and personally submit his report. He may be assigned to the War College. His recall in the midst of the war was not, it is believed, pleasing to the German authorities. Usually military attaches acting in the capacity of observers of foreign war operations, are expected to remain with the forces to which they are assigned for the duration of the war.

RECOLLECTIONS OF AN EARLY MURDER TRIAL

The People vs. Wong Chu Shut Shows How Chinamen Stick by One Another and the Unreliability of Their Testimony.

BY JACKSON A. GRAVES.

On September 14, 1877, the grand jury of Los Angeles county returned an indictment against Wong Chu Shut, charging him with having killed a fellow-countryman, one Yo Hing.

On September 19 of the same year he entered a plea of not guilty and the trial of the case was set for September 27, 1877. At the conclusion of the trial the jury returned a verdict against him of guilty of murder in the first degree, and thereupon he was sentenced by Judge Y. Sepulveda to be confined in the State's prison for life.

Gen. Volney E. Howard, a lawyer of probity and ability, was his attorney. After the sentence he very plainly informed his client that he could do nothing for him, that no error had been committed during the trial upon which a reversal of the judgment could be obtained in the Supreme Court.

I was at that time a member of the firm of Brunson, Eastman & Graves. There were then quite a number of Chinamen, probably several thousand, in Southern California. They were extremely clannish, and divided into companies or tongs. Whenever a man in one of the companies got into difficulty his comrades assisted him. Our firm was visited by a delegation of the friends of Wong Chu Shut, who were not satisfied with the advice of Gen. Howard, and wanted us to make a motion for a new trial, and if that motion was not granted, then to take an appeal to the Supreme Court. As I remember it, they paid us $2500 for services on motion for the new trial, and if a new trial was granted they were to pay us $2500 more. We then moved for a new trial. The motion was argued and denied. We got from the court a stay of execution until a bill of exceptions could be settled.

In those days the only shorthand reporter in Los Angeles county was Henry Harmon. He did not know much about reporting. Sometimes I used to think that he didn't know anything about it; that he would sit there all day and make cat tracks and then go out and write up what he remembered of the testimony. We called upon him for a transcript of the testimony in the case and it was finally furnished us. I got hold of it one afternoon and went through it.

NO ONE KILLED.

Next morning, when Judge Brunson came to the office, I said to him: "Judge, this transcript of the testimony in the Wong Chu Shut case does not show that anybody was killed." "Well," he replied, "don't shout it from the house tops." He took the transcript and looked it over, and said, "In making up your bill of exceptions you had better set out Harmon's transcript of the testimony in full." I accordingly got up a bill of exceptions, beginning with the usual recitation of "Be it remembered," etc., etc., and when it came to reciting the testimony, instead of saying that so-and-so was sworn and testified as follows, I said that the following proceedings were had, and then in-theater. Their father was Henry C. de Mille who was writing successful plays for Belasco in 1880. The elder De Mille wrote "The Wife," "Men and Women," "Charity Ball" and "Lord Chumley," all of which experience revivals today. The boys were born in North Carolina and are of French Hugunot stock by way of Holland and dating some hundreds of years back.

William, as I said before, has done many good things. One of the best was marrying the daughter of Henry George, author of "Progress and Poverty," and the man who evolved the single tax idea. Among William's plays, his most successful are "Strongheart," "Classmates," "The Warrens of Virginia" and "The Woman." None of these are great, unless it be "The Woman," but all of them were thought good enough for Belasco's production. To "The Woman" de Mille devoted two of the best years of his life in order to put in the second act a message of one sentence, which is that the fault of American politics lies not with the bosses, but with the people.

Now, it is precisely the impossibility of putting such a message in a picture which makes the only disappointment that film production holds for William de Mille. Nevertheless, "The Woman" has a clear story which makes an excellent film play. As such it has just been created by the Lasky people, and many of them believe that it is the greatest picture that they have ever made. No matter what its success may be on the screen, it will remain a disappointment to its author because the pictures have lost the soul of his idea.

At the outset I stated that De Mille is now giving a full month to every scenario. When he began he was able to turn one out in three days. As his comprehension of the work expanded he saw that a piece of work with which he would be satisfied would require at least a month. Now he has decided that perfect workmanship ought to be entitled to three months of his best endeavor, and he means to produce the best. To this end he has associated with him a trained woman playwright, and has sent to New York for a man who is at the top of the business in play-building.

With De Mille at the head these three people will undertake to turn out first-class film plays, and at the Lasky studios no director is allowed to change a single scene in any particular without consulting with the head of the scenario department. This department is supposed to turn out films that are practical in screen and nobody can go back of the author. The only other extreme that will parallel this attitude is where the director has no scenario at all, but creates his play by rehearsal.

According to the William de Mille idea, a moving picture tells a story to the eye. It reduces dramatic situations to their visible elements, and therefore can never grow wrong on actual values to the eye. The motion picture business is a new art, but it is dramatic only as music or poetry is dramatic, and that is that through its medium it may have a dramatic effect. The motion picture play must be developed as an art by itself, and must be modified in its technical expression to fulfill the requirements of the camera.

The successful motion picture play must be right in essential values. The picture audience cannot be fooled about ethical values. You cannot show them something nasty and, by talk persuade them that they are seeing something that is of sociological significance or psychological importance. You cannot show them something nasty and talk them into believing that it is something good. You cannot show them anything and persuade them that it is something else. You have no words with which to fool them. The elemental values of the play will stand for themselves.

A comedy on the stage may be a comedy only because of its side lights, while the story is perfectly serious. Many a play which sounds like a comedy from the stage is visually serious because its elementary story is serious, and the picture shows up elemental values. For a play to be a comedy on the screens it must be humorous in its elementals.

Shylock was written as a low comedy character. Shakespeare's writing is unchanged, but the eyes with which the world looks have changed and in consequence the "Merchant of Venice" has become high tragedy.

When William de Mille writes a scenario, or accepts a story for one, the first thing he remembers is that he will have no words with which to mislead the thought of his audience.

What he is now most anxious to do is to be able to portray the finer shadings of character in pictures so that he can express the philosophy of a play and the psychology of its people. In other words, De Mille has a permanent motive, the right motivation of a story, and knows that the soul of a motion picture play must always depend upon bringing an audience under an instant conviction of the play's motive.

Herein lies the great difficulty of adapting a motion picture play from some stage performance or some novel. Any book from which a picture play is taken must often be violated, because the minute it is turned into a scenario it is changed into something that is entirely different from the original. It is only the child of the book and parents cannot be held for the crimes of their children, nor be crowned for their successes. A child has hereditary tendencies, but its soul is its own.

Nevertheless, Mr. De Mille has found himself in a position where he has had to do considerable adapting for the simple reason that exhibitors, no matter how small or great their houses may be, would rather have a bad picture with a good name than a good picture with an unknown name. The moral is that it pays to advertise.

The exhibitor knows the advertising value of an established name and is afraid to take chances with unknown authors of great ability. Let the unknown author be not discouraged, but take comfort. Mr. De Mille says that the well known books and plays fit for motion-picture films are pretty well exhausted, and that the haughty exhibitor will soon be compelled to accept good things in spite of the crime of being new.

To go back once more to the beginning of this article, the reason that so many people have a chance to see every successful picture is that language does not count, because action is the same to all eyes. I might go further and say that motive is the same to all hearts, and that it is not what a man does but why he does it that really makes the dramatic element of any play, whether on the stage or the screen. De Mille says that the greatest trouble in getting actors to properly present a picture lies in the difficulty in bringing them to an appreciation of the fact that the old maxim of "As a man thinketh" applies more to the actor than anybody else in the world.

Naturally, I asked De Mille what he thought about a play that would have two or three acts on the screen and one act of spoken drama. He replied by asking me, what I would think of a man who invited me to see an art exhibit and wound up by asking me to listen to a symphony. He said it was the old mistake of swapping horses amid stream, and that while two arts might be made complementary, they never could become supplementary.

One of the points touched by De Mille which impressed me profoundly was, that true art is never satisfied by an appeal to mere animal instincts or feelings. You can show a man a thing on the stage that will turn his stomach, but a man's imagination, to which the stage is supposed to appeal, is not located in his stomach. You may see something very bad on the stage, but this is not artistic realism any more than a Roquefort cheese gone wrong. He said that even Dickens had been known to kill off a Opportunity.

Life is an art, the learning lasts lifelong,
Listen, dear heart, there's music in each song,
Though it may throb in minor notes that stay
When life's tomorrows follow its today.

Cast thou the dice, not everything pertains
To this one throw, the rest of life remains,
New chances wait for failure to atone,
Man never yet has lived by bread alone.

We missed the floodtide? other tides succeed,
Life is so patient, with her children's need,
Have courage, then, to face, life manfully,
For life itself is opportunity.

Very Much Like Him.

[Chicago News:] An elderly gentleman went into a photographic studio and asked to see the proofs of a picture recently taken of a young man whose name he gave. They were handed to him as a matter of course and he examined them critically. He seemed pleased and finally said:

"These are of my son. This one is a remarkably good photo of him—it is very like him indeed. Has he paid for it yet?"

"No, sir," said the photographer, "not yet."

"Ah," said the elderly gentleman, "very like him indeed."

BY BETTY BELLAIRS.

"Anybody doing anything interesting just now?" yawned Edith, producing the little gold cigarette case she won at bridge last week.

"Well, you've taken to smoking at all events," snapped Adele, "and I don't approve of it. Doesn't suit your style at all. Only a certain type of woman can afford to smoke."

"And that is—?"

"Those with a certain patrician sang froid, not too brazenly feminine, tactfully brainy, sans peur et sans reproche."

"A living portrait of my interesting self," gleamed Edith.

"And there are two kinds that cannot afford to be seen near cigarettes," continued Adele, musingly. "The socially unsure and the adorable ultra-feminine. Damns 'em right away."

"I object to being in either of those classes," remarked Edith, thoughtfully. "And I'm not. But I simply had to cultivate a vice of some kind. I was so painfully correct and virtuous that I was in danger of becoming a prig."

"Oh, did'ums, then?" grinned Betty. "Then it must have been some naughty namesake's of the decorous one that took a certain canoe ride on a certain moonlight night on a certain inland bay——"

Edith aims tea-cosies with deadly precision. It skimmed the tea cups beautifully and spoiled Betty's coiffure in the nick of time. Betty cultivates a lock that hides a forehead half an inch too high for beauty. Nothing disturbs her equanimity more than to have it displaced.

"All right, I won't say another word, but——" she glared.

"Did you hear about the Vaughan sale of Lucille and Bradley gowns," murmured Helen. "Fearfully exciting. Heard about the sad demise of certain relatives in the war and was suddenly conscience stricken that she was out here parading numerous gorgeous confections of spangles and lace, when nothing but demure black would have been seemly. Announced the sale in a fit of hysterics and was dismayed to find a bevy of moving picture actresses on hand for bargains. Several society friends went too, and it was the most exciting event of the week, bar none."

"No, where, when, how——?" we all gasped.

"Down at Santa Monica. Sartorial poems at two dollars, my dear. Bidding started at 25 cents. Two hundred-dollar gowns worn twice at the most, fetched $5 as a top price. The whole sale realized enough to buy a nice neat, unpretentious silk sweater or a few pairs of silk hose."

"And to think, I wasn't there!" moaned several voices at once. "Did she need the money?"

"It's to be hoped not, poor dear. But probably not. No obvious signs to that effect."

"Lays all her sorrows at the door of a certain sumptuous opal, they say. Wanted to sell it for a dime, but was restrained by earnest friends."

"Nice crowd down there. Rather a unique little circle. Know how. Belong to the country clubs and come up to town occasionally a la the English county family idea, but do most of their entertaining in their own homes. Manage a nice combination of Bohemianism and domesticity that is quite fascinating."

"Who's in it?"

"Oh, the Flowers, Winstons, Ogdens, Morphys, McCalls, and that crowd. They are persona grata with all the polo set, the Burkes, Beadlestones, and the English crowd when they come over. Now they are agitating for a Santa Monica golf course somewhere out at Brentwood Park. You see, it will materialize soon."

"I am in dire need of a new housekeeper," remarked Mrs. Madeline Foster, the English widow with suffragette tendencies. "I propose to try a male one this time."

"A male what!"

"Housekeeper," she repeated casually. "Men can be so handy at cooking and house management, and it would do the boy good to have a man about the house. I should be careful to secure a gentleman."

"Madeline!"

"And pray why not? Widowers invariably prefer a female housekeeper under similar circumstances."

"That is quite different!"

"Don't see it myself. And there are quite a number of gentlemanly males out of work just now. Might have a little difficulty getting them to do the mending, of course, but it could be done. Don't all look so shocked, you absurd things. Men have always declared they knew more about home management than women and they probably do. I know a great many of us make better business men. I do for one. No one can accuse me of messing up my affairs since their whole management devolved upon me. I have to be the man of our house, but all the same we occasionally feel the need of the real article. I feel that Bobby needs a man about the place."

"But the impropriety. Think how people will talk. If you must have a man, why not marry one."

"To expensive, my dear. Can't afford to pay the price. And as for people talking, that's alright. Keeps one interesting. I mean to try it, anyway."

"I foresee another mesalliance in the smart set," moaned Edith. "Wealthy widow marries her housekeeper," she quoted, with visionary foresight. "Ugh!"

"Much more novel than eloping with the chauffeur, of course," we agreed, "but of course, you are not serious."

"That I am," gleamed Madeline, maliciously. "I shall merely be the pioneer of a very popular movement."

"The sort of person from whom glaring indiscretions might be expected," said Adele. "Madeline has acquired the art of being more brilliantly indiscreet than anyone I know."

"Quite an exodus to New York just now, isn't there? The exposition does not seem to be impairing the Atlantic season at all. Quite a bevy of San Francisco people about to trek. Phylis de Young, for one, Margaret Goodrich, Nina Sogeney, Madeline Cochran, Helen Hamilton and the Charlie Ethados, the latter going on to England afterwards, submarines notwithstanding."

"Yes, and Marjory Tufts is going to New York for three months, I understand, to stay with those Trowbridge people who have been at the Huntington all the winter."

"What do you think of Dorothy Lindley's broken engagement?" asked Eleanor.

"Since when?"

"Oh, about a week ago. Claire Woolwine, you know! The quid nuncs are shaking their knowing old heads, pretending they foresaw it. Sweet girl, Dorothy! You can wager it was for the best. Six weeks of engagement is quite enough to discover if there has been any mistake. Merciful things, engagements."

Buffalo Bill has relinquished the title of colonel, and from now on will be known as Gen. William F. Cody. He has been appointed Judge Advocate General of the military forces of Wyoming by Gov. Kendrick. Gen. Cody takes his new honors modestly. When George M. Sliney arrived with Gov. Kendrick's commission, he said: "I appreciate this honor conferred on me by my friend, Gov. Kendrick, just as I appreciate each and all of the honors conferred upon me."

THE WEEK.

PARTIES, RECEPTIONS, DINNERS, WEDDINGS AND THE LIKE.

IT'S A tremendous task this Polymuriel Prize Fund Committee has undertaken—to select a "universal gown" for we women folk, which is to embody the strongest combination of beauty, simplicity, durability and comfort. Only think of it!

Mrs. A. M. Palmer, president of the Rainy Day Club of Chicago, has given her consent to be chairman, and Miss Rose O'Neill (who originated the kewpies,) is to assist.

"If women are to be of the greatest use to themselves and to the world, grown females shouldn't be hampered by their garb," Miss O'Neill is reported to have said. (She evidently carried out her theory in regard to aforementioned kewpies.) She thinks she knows what is the matter with milady—that she wastes too much energy wearing her clothes. Never a word, mind you, concerning the selecting, the purchasing or planning of this all-important dress problem. Miss O'Neill doesn't deny that she is an expert on costumes, even though we grant that the kewpies wear rather simple ones.

In mapping out the work necessary to decide on the exact form of a garment, Mrs. Palmer suggests that it be built on simple lines; of one piece preferably; that its silhouette should not suggest too strongly a knitting needle, an hour glass, a pyramid (inverted or otherwise,) or other of the geometrical forms into which women from time to time have tortured their bodies, not to mention tortured eyes or artistic sense inflicted; neither too scant nor so voluminous that it will be out of harmony with the fashion of the moment; a design adaptable to both short and tall, and either the slender figure or one of ample proportions, to old or young.

Their duties are significantly potent in this "sartor resartus" committee. Who could help but await the result of their quest with interest?

Not that we ever shall adopt it.

The bal masque given by Mrs. Hugh Livingston Macneil on Monday night was by far the stellar event in society for the week. All manner of costumes were cleverly employed by the bidden guests, who bobbed together merrily through the mazes of the dance—the quaint Chinese women of the court or potentates dressed in their mandarins of gorgeous gold brocade and embroidery, hobnobbing with Indian maid or veiled Egyptian beauty; men adroitly masquerading as the gentler sex, who, in turn solicited dances from their best pals; dashing cavaliers and Beau Brummels, gallant and of engaging mien, who captivated several of society's prominent belles, only later to disclose the fact that they, too, were our fairest devotees (for I hear that the ladies conducted their impersonations with all the sang-froid of the genuine escort;) Mephistopheles in his deepest-dyed garb made quite a hit, and was really the pet of the assemblage; six idols wore Pierrot costumes, the exact counterpart of each other, and were chased by a huge Teddy bear, who frolicked around growling his pleasure at being present. Every conceivable character to the number of fifty was especially well impersonated. One particularly dear model, hauled from a trunk and supposed to be antiquated, adorned one fair maid, who looked as though she had stepped from a miniature, with her frilled frock of the 1860 period—altogether too fashionable with the present furore towards these picturesque styles. Bowknots decked her wrists and her coiffure was banded across the brow with a narrow snood. The mystery with which the affair was planned only whetted keen anticipation, for from the moment that the news leaked out that Mrs. Macneil was inviting guests and pledging them to secrecy, not the tiniest bit of information could be extracted in regard to the event. The guests were greeted by a lady whom they thought to be their hostess, only to discover later in the evening that their respects had been paid to quite another person. And thus it went throughout the evening, until the signal came for unmasking, when surprises a-plenty were enjoyed. The lower floor of the Macneil home was used for dancing, and was adorned in a wealth of spring blossoms. The garage was converted into a pretty bower, and here a buffet supper was served. Twinkling incandescents were strung through the trees overhead, and the lawn offered a delightful rendesvous, with rugs, seats and swings. Here Hawaiian singers paraded, singing or playing on ukuleles. A fife, drum and piano marked music for the lovers of Terpsichore. Mrs. Macneil always displays great originality in her functions, having established an enviable reputation as a gracious hostess, a record augmented considerably by her last recent successful affair.

An Around-the-World Luncheon.

Mrs. Jotham Bixby, Jr., of Long Beach contributed a delightful event to the social calendar recently, entertaining on Friday at an "around-the-world" luncheon, to which were bidden Mrs. W. K. Jewett of Pasadena, Mrs. Alexander B. Barret, Mrs. Reuben Shettler, Mrs. Charles H. Lippincott, Mrs. John F. H. Peck, Mrs. Harmon D. Ryus, Mrs. Jean F. Drake, Mrs. L. M. Turner, Mrs. Herbert Coombs, Mrs. Louis E. Dreyfus, Mrs. A. L. Kelsey, Mrs. Dwight Satterlee, Mrs. William H. Kennedy, Mrs. Fred O. Johnson, Miss Mabel Falsey of El Paso and Mrs. John Paul Satterlee, sister of the hostess and guest of honor. Mrs. Bixby displayed remarkable originality in the perfect details of her luncheon, borrowing from certain foreign countries favorite dishes for the elaborate menu. American fruits au jus, Panama crab cocktail, German creme of spinach served with Swedish biscuits, Mexican sand dabs served en capier, Hawaiian luau'ed chicken, with cremed Irish potatoes, French peas (served in cups hewed out of carrots,) Southern biscuits, Italian olives, Spanish almonds, English artichokes and Parisian creme a la mousse, cafe noir and bon bons—all contributed towards the excellence of the international ing. The favors were anese rose bushes in full the places were marked cards monogrammed in hand-decorated in rose design center of the exquisite a fountain splashing its ors over a miniature fish, banked in a dell of ferns and pink roses.

Kingsley Drive complimented Mrs. Eugene W. Britt with a pretty auction bridge luncheon on Wednesday, when covers were placed for eighteen guests at a board of exquisite decorations. A cloth of cobwebby fineness held in its center a mound of Cecile Brunner roses, the pink tones accentuated by employing fetching bows of soft pink tulle, and place cards with rose buds. In the drawing-room, where cards were enjoyed later, masses of yellow roses were arranged in low bowls. Invited to meet Mrs. Britt were Mrs. Erasmus Wilson, Mrs. W. D. Woolwine, Mrs. Alexander B. Barrett, Mrs. R. P. McJohnston, Mrs. William Brill, Mrs. William Hunsaker, Mrs. A. J. Chandler, Mrs. Paul English, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. David Barmore, Mrs. John Garner, Mrs. Eugene Smith, Miss Carrie Waddilove, Mrs. C. Q. Stanton, Mrs. Eugene Hawkins, Mrs. William T. Johnston and Mrs. W. F. Staunton.

Mrs. Hoyt's Luncheon.

Standing before the great fireplace in the lobby of Beverly Hills Hotel, banked with gorgeous spring blossoms, Mrs. A. Sherman Hoyt received forty-two friends on Tuesday, at one of the smartest bridge luncheons of the season. The gracious matron, whose hospitality is so favorably known throughout the State, chose a glorious riot of spring flowers to beautify the luncheon board, and had the daylight excluded, using the indirect illumination and numerous candelabra, shedding a subdued glow over the handsomely gowned ladies. After coffee, which was served in the tea houses, a lively game of auction bridge was enjoyed. The personnel numbered Mesdames Welch, Higgins, Mallory, Van Slyck, Stub, Fuller, Jardine, Valkmar, Brackenridge, Hunker, Wilcox, Bixby, Gifford, Goodhur, Porter, McCall, Johnston, Stimson, Torrance, Drake, Huntington, Burns, Halstead, Miller, Kellogg, Dean-Mason, Gamble, Rudolph, Johnson, Fowler, Swan, Merrifield, Rumsly, Coombes, Guyer, Armour, Mason, Crasby, Clapp, Seff and Andrews.

Mrs. Stimson's Luncheon.

A charmingly informal bridge luncheon was given at Annandale Country Club on Wednesday, with Mrs. Willard Stimson hostess. Twelve ladies were entertained. Spring flowers adorned the table.

Mrs. Clark's Trio of Honorees.

Mrs. Joseph K. Clark complimented three visitors at a luncheon over which she presided on Wednesday—Mrs. Walter Burrell of Portland, who has been her house guest, Mrs. Charles T. Whitney of Portland and Mrs. M. F. LeRoy of Iowa. The delightful function was given at the hostess's home, on No. 903 Lake, and covers were laid for ten guests. Old-fashioned flowers in a quaint holder were used decoratively. At table were Mrs. Burrell, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs. LeRoy, Mrs. William Ennis, Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mrs. Charles Prager, Mrs. S. C. Hubbell, Mrs. Rufus Heron, Mrs. John W. Kemp and the hostess.

For Mrs. Cummins.

One of the elaborate functions of the week was contributed by Mrs. B. L. Harding and Mrs. J. A. Woolwine on Tuesday, who were hostesses at Beverly, with Mrs. Albert Baird Cummins special honoree. Tulips adorned the pretty table where were seated Mrs. Cummins, Mrs. Fred Field, Mrs. C. C. Nourse, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. E. C. Finkbine, Miss Thompson, Miss Hewett, Mrs. Swords, Mrs. J. H. Patton, Mrs. Louis Cass, Miss Fullerton, Mrs. Robert Fullerton, Mrs. Charles Hewitt, Mrs. George Curtis of Des Moines, Mrs. Hoyt Sherman of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Edgar Anderson and Miss Anderson of Tacoma.

Farewell Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black Dimon entertained at the Bryson recently with a farewell dinner party. Tulle in artistic profusion was arranged about a fragrant centerpiece of Enchantress carnations which was further adorned with bows of pink ribbon attached to streamers which held name cards for the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. George Remer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goltner, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherwood Wise, Mrs. David Unruh, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brush and Mrs. Constance Balfour.

The following evening Mrs. Dimon left for Elsinore Springs, where she will spend three weeks, before leaving for an extended stay in San Francisco.

An Interesting Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Richardson announce the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Mae, to Clarence S. Beesemyer, which took place on Friday. The ceremony was performed by Dr. E. P. Ryland, only immediate relatives being present. The young couple left at once for a trip through the northern part of the State, and will be at home after June, at No. 1933 Pinehurst Road.

For Visitors.

Mrs. G. Hildreth Jones of the Seminole, entertained the past week, honoring several out-of-town visitors. Pink and white roses banked the rooms where were scattered small tables. Mrs. Wayne Franklin of Minneapolis, Mrs. Edward Delohide and Mrs. Edward Bilharz of Iowa, and Mrs. Allen, a returned missionary from Japan, were honor guests.

Mrs. Kendis to Give Series of Affairs.

Mrs. A. P. Kendis is to entertain on Thursday afternoon, the 29th, with a bridge tea, to which 200 ladies are to attend. During service, music is to be a delightful feature.

Mrs. Kendis will also be hostess the evening of May 1 to a May dance, and twelve girls from Cumnock school are to give a May-pole dance, to be followed by general dancing later.

For Mrs. Carroll.

Mrs. Holcombe Carroll, a recent acquisition to Los Angeles social circles, who has come from Virginia to reside, was honoree to two large dancing parties given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fenton of No. 4845 Elmwood avenue, the past fortnight. Artistic floral decorations were used at both affairs, in white and green, with a wealth of blossoms intermingled with ferns and palms. Buffet supper was served.

Mrs. Carroll is to furnish the inspiration for many additional compliments during the coming week.

For a Little Miss.

Little Miss June Lovell Hollman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hollman, No. 947 Valencia street, was hostess during the past week to a company of little friends who helped to celebrate her fourth birthday.

A Dinner of the Week.

Mrs. F. H. Hopkins was hostess at a charming dinner given at Beverly Hills Wednesday. Fifteen guests were included.

Wedded Yesterday.

A wedding of the week was that of Miss Olive Frances Walrath to Carroll Herbert Lockhart which was quietly solemnized yesterday morning in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, in the presence of relatives and friends, Rev. Dean MacCormack, officiating. Mrs. Lockhart is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer D. Walrath of South Dakota. Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart will be at home after June 1, at Oliver place, Watertown, S. D.

Sorority Affair.

Etta Chapter of Sigma Tau Psi Sorority entertained yesterday in honor of Miss Ruth Patrick and her sister, Mrs. Frank Wright, who are members visiting here from Chicago. Present were Miss Ruth Patrick, Mrs. Frank Wright, Miss Hortense Wiebers, Miss Beatrice Salichi, Miss Helene Weyse, Miss Edna Hauerwaas, Mrs. Roy Meads, Miss Margaret Couch, Miss Ruth Thomas, Miss Aleen Beach, Miss Ruth Irwin, Miss Alice Roberts, Mrs. Roy Bean, Mrs. Donald Benton, Miss Gladys Moore, Mrs. Clinton Seccombe, Miss Marie Montaign, Miss Ada Weyse, Miss Ruth Blake, Miss Marie Bittleston, Miss Grace Parker, Mrs. La Fayette Rounsavelle, Miss Alice Weyse, Miss Fachael Baldwin, Mrs. Leo Slaughter, Miss Gertrude Blake, Mrs. Justus Beach, Mrs. Jack Harris and Miss Mabel Blake.

Personals.

Mrs. C. Modini-Wood and her mother, Mrs. William H. Perry have returned from LaJolla, where they went to visit Miss Mona Wood, who is an attendant at Bishop's school for girls.

A merry party composed of Mr. and Mrs. James Gysin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sherwood Wise and Miss Katherine Wise have just concluded an enjoyable outing at Pine Crest and Bear Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Chapin, with their young daughter, Miss Dorothy, and her house guest, Miss Hilda Gregory, have returned to the Bryson after a pleasant sojourn at Coronado and Pasadena.

Miss Charlotte Bowditch, Miss Sophia Baylor and Miss Margaret Baylor have returned to the Beverly Hills Hotel after a short visit to San Diego.

Out-of-Town Society.

Pasadena.

WITH the advent of the balmy spring days and their perfumed flowers, society functions in the Crown City promise to savor of brides, engagement announcements or al fresco affairs.

The other day at a rose luncheon given by Mrs. Louisa Breen on South Euclid avenue announcement was made of the engagement of two brides-to-be, Miss Irene Mersereau to Robert W. Poindexter, and Miss Helen Horton to Joel Cox of Honolulu. In the midst of congratulations the two lovely honorees were presented with gorgeous bouquets of big pink roses. The flowers were presented by dainty little Miss Von Grueningen. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Balfour of Winnipeg and her daughter, Miss Iris Piddington of Quebec.

Miss Alfreda Crowell, a bride-elect, was the honor guest at a prettily-appointed shower given recently by Mrs. Homer Sharpe of Lyndon street and Fremont avenue. The guests included members of the Delta Sorority and former students of Occidental, where Miss Crowell was graduated. Those present included Misses Martha Baird, Helen Dickey, Willa McKee, Anita Brown, Leah Phillips, Chloe Phillips, Elsie Stonehouse, Celia Tucker, Edith Wilde, Harriet Snyder, Ethel Barkelew, Adele Lowell, Maude White, Marie Lockwood, Mmes. Harry Rainey, Walter Monday, Arch Reeves, William Edwards, White and George Brearly.

At the wedding of Miss Pauline Bradley of Boston and Allen Pearson of Hull, Eng., Tuesday evening, the wedding cake served at the marriage supper was made in England by a sister of the groom and sent for the wedding. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Sefton. Miss Leah Bruce of Boston served as bridesmaid and the groom was attended by James Addams of Chicago. The rooms at No. 95 Dayton avenue, where the ceremony took place, were transformed into a garden, with a world of Cecile Brunner roses.

Mrs. Howard Huntington was hostess at a luncheon of charming appointments recently, at which Mrs. George Patton, Jr., was honor guest. Spring blossoms were used to center the table and to otherwise decorate the beautiful mansion. Covers were laid for Mmes. Fred Bixby, John McWilliams, Jr., Irvin Armstrong, N. M. Murray, Lawrence Burke, Reginald Johnson, Ernest Bryant, William Joyce, Herbert Stewart, Sydney Walles and Misses Anita Patton, Souther, Theodore Robbins, Inez Clark, Lucy Clark, the hostess and honoree.

In compliment to Mrs. Louie Seeman and Misses McHenry of Denison, Iowa, Mmes. Fred C. Nash and Allan G. Murphy entertained with a brilliant reception at the home of Mrs. Nash at No. 180 South Madison avenue. The reception suite was a thing of beauty in its rich dress of roses, which were used with lavish profusion. Assisting the hostesses were Mmes. Hammond H. Goodrich, Carrie Goodrich, Arthur T. Newcomb, Una Nixon-Hopkins, A. Stephen Vavra, Willfried Reynolds, Delos Rose, Raymond Mixsell, Misses Mattie Stratton, Jessie Earley, Louise Hawkins, Mabel Seibert, Dorothy Hinds and Helen Rowland.

As a compliment to her house guests, Mmes. Frederick Ingersoll of St. Paul and S. Johnstone of New York City, Mrs. Hanford Lockwood of Palmetto drive was hostess at a smart luncheon given at the Valley Hunt Club recently. Covers were laid for fourteen.

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Sutliff of North Orange Grove avenue entertained a company of Michigan folk at a prettily-arranged function in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Lewis of Ithica, Mich. Included among the guests were Messrs and Mmes. Parrish of Grand Rapids, George Brown, Ira Brown, Frank Merrill, John Stafford, Aaron Squires, Mmes. Mollie Vroman, Anna B. Hayte, Mildred Clark and Lillian Bangham.

Since her coming to Pasadena Mrs. Albert Baird Cummins, wife of United States Senator Cummins, has been the recipient of numerous delightful social courtesies. She was the guest the other day of Mrs. B. L. Harding and Mrs. L. A. Woolwine at a luncheon given at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Covers were laid for twenty.

Mrs. Le Roy Armstrong entertained a coterie of her friends at a beautifully-appointed tea in the garden of her home in Altadena last Wednesday. Miss Margaret Bickel, her house guest, was the inspiration for the affair, which was attended by twenty-five guests.

Mrs. George Cary of No. 265 South Holliston avenue gave a tea of charming appointments in the Japanese gardens of her home recently. The pergola was a mass of pink, white and lavender wistaria blossoms, which added a most irresistible charm. Covers were laid for Mmes. J. W. Woods Glasscock, Huntington, Barker, Harvey, F. C. Kendrick, Stanley, Nelson, Vores, Stephen Vavra, Misses Harvey, Lillian Weyland and Harriett Kuehmsted. Later the husbands and young men friends joined the ladies at tea.

Mrs. S. Hazard Halstead of No. 90 North Grand avenue entertained with a large musicale and tea at the Valley Hunt Club recently. Throughout the rooms wild flowers were used in sweet profusion. The programme was furnished by Mrs. Marie Carter McGee, soprano, and Count Axel Simonsen, 'cellist.

In celebration of the eighteenth natal day of their daughter, Miss Alice Wood, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wood of No. 429 North Mentor street gave a charming surprise party and three-course luncheon. Just eight years ago the same friends gathered to celebrate her tenth birthday. Those present included Misses Marjorie McDonald, Gertrude Miller, Lena Shafer, Ruth Shafer, Esther Mills, Grace Pike, Ruth O'Neil, Esther Probasco, Marion White, Erma Huff, Mary Price, Dorothea Patton, Maureen Booker, Lucy Graves, Nyra Smith, Stella Hoge, Martha Switzer, Edith Bacon, Alta Gilbert, Stella Bridge, Helen Springer, Frances and Margaret Hayes and Opal Brown.

Using a motif of Cecile Brunner roses, arranged in a mound to center the tea table, Mrs. E. J. Blacker of No. 676 South Madison avenue gave a tea as a farewell to her aunts, Misses Mary and Annie Blacker, who have gone to their summer home in Brantford, Ont. The guests included besides the honorees, Mmes. Marston, Anderson, Isham, Wyman, Prince, Judson, Gnewuck and Dr. Engleman.

Mrs. J. S. Torrance was the guest of honor at an elaborately-planned luncheon given recently at the Beverly Hills Hotel by Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt. This function, which was attended by a large number of society folk, was the first of a series to be given by the hostess in the near future.

Mrs. Clayton Taylor of No. 334 Grant street was hostess to the University of Michigan Alumnae Association recently. After a few racy games of Five Hundred the guests were refreshed with delicious ices and titbits. Those present were Mmes. Ralph W. Bailey, Butler Clark, John D. Mersereau, Parker and Misses Lydia Day Holmes, Lydia Day Graves, Cass Henion, Carhart and Brown.

South Pasadena.

CHARMING indeed was the informal affair arranged by Mr. and Mrs. William Blakewell of Dos Robles avenue last Tuesday evening in honor of their fellow-members of the Neighborhood Card Club. At the conclusion of the games Mrs. C. W. Jones and Mr. William Blakewell were awarded prizes. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Woods, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Carlin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bingham, Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Bingham and the host and hostess.

At 2 o'clock last Saturday afternoon Mrs. Laura Davis was united in marriage to Julius O. Nybye of San Francisco at the bride's home at No. 1101 Glendon way. The Rev. Charles Fisher of the Calvary Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony. The bride and groom left for San Diego following the wedding. Their future home will be in San Francisco. Nybye is senior partner of a large preserve and relish establishment in the northern city. Mrs. Nybye's young daughters, the Misses Laura and Ola Davis, will remain in South Pasadena until the conclusion of their present high school terms—joining their mother in San Francisco during the month of August.

One of the most charmingly dainty dinner parties of the week was that given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Z. L. Parmalee of No. 919 Fair Oaks avenue, honoring the girl's Philathea class of the Methodist Church, of which she is the teacher. Cecile Brunner roses and pink-shaded candelabra were used in decoration of the festive board. Those present included the Misses Mary Hood, Marion Bragonier, Myrtle Coots, Marjorie Gillies, Ella Turner, Ila Whiting, Ruth Thompson, Alice Vier, Edith Richenbach, Stella Cox, Priscilla Dewarm, Violet Lacy, Lillian Whiting, Jane Thompson, Elizabeth Wilson, Lois Thorner, Cornelia Gates and the hostess, Mrs. Z. L. Parmalee.

Sunday evening was the occasion of an exceedingly well-planned and appointed dinner party given by Miss Mildred Trittipo of No. 1837 Monterey road, in honor of a coterie of intimate friends. Sweetpeas, trailing ferns and roses were used in decoration. Following dinner the evening was passed with music, both vocal and instrumental. Hand-painted cards marked places for Miss Marjorie Huntzinger of Los Angeles, Miss Madora Hood, Miss Faye Thorne, Miss Grace Hunt, Miss Belle Upham, Miss Mary Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cooper of Baldwin Park and the hostess; Messrs. Edwin Cooper and Carl Cooper of South Pasadena and Mr. Dudley Dickinson of Riverside.

Yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Wellesley College Alumni Association of Southern California entertained at the Los Terrados Hotel with an afternoon of auction bridge and Five Hundred. The affair was in the nature of a benefit, the proceeds to be applied to the pledge of $500 made by the association to the college following the recent destruction by fire of the entire Wellesley plant. Over 100 of the more prominent clubwomen of the south were in attendance. Besides a large majority of former Wellesley people ex-students from practically every woman's college or university were present. Miss Louise Gatch of the hotel was in charge of the arrangements for the affair.

Alhambra.

ALHAMBRA has been moving along with happy exhilaration during the glorious spring days of the past week, and many homes were the scene of pleasantly informal gatherings as a result of the many delegates who were in the city attending the Los Angeles Sunday-school convention. The next week promises to be a busier, brighter, and happier one than the brilliant social activities of early spring have yet given us, and the cause is the meeting of the P.E.O.'s. No one but the initiated really know what they are, but we all love them and the city will outdo the hospitality of every previous occasion during the convention of the organization next week.

Among the brilliant affairs that have interested society and club women the "Studio Tea" given by Miss Leta Horlocher in the Agnes Hill-Runkel School of Music and Fine Arts was a scintillating success. The studio was arranged in exquisite taste for the event on Friday afternoon and from three until five throngs of admiring friends wandered through the rooms and admired the beautiful pieces and drank tea. Among those whose work attracted no end of attention and delighted comment was Warren E. Rollins of San Gabriel, Mr. Didier Peelee whose wonderful brass work attracted many, and Guy Rose, who with his wife has but recently returned from New York and is at present domiciled in this city.

Miss Geraldine B. Hunter of San Francisco is domiciled at the Hotel Breckenridge where she is the guest of friends. Miss Hunter has been the recipient of much informal social attention while here and is delighted with the south.

Mr. William Chase of Dayton, who has been wintering in Southern California left recently for his eastern home after a delightful visit in this vicinity.

Most attractive in all of the appointments was the party given by Mrs. M. B. Holtmann on Friday evening at her home on San Bernardino and Fair Oaks avenue. The rooms were exquisitely decorated with a profusion of flowers, a charming combination of pink and white with a touch of green making an effective color combination. Japanese lanterns added a soft light to the setting of the scene which was one of rare beauty and luxuriance. Music was furnished for dancing which was the principle diversion of the evening and was enjoyed by a happy coterie of young folks, among whom was: Miss Edith Alderman, Miss Herzel Feutz, Miss Kate Mulock, Miss Leona Pritchard, Miss Edith Lytle, Miss Josephine Dunbar, Miss Irene Kelley, Miss Emily Townsend, Miss Clara White, Miss Hazel Hitchcock, Miss Lucile Saxby, Miss Margaret Wiggar, Miss Vivian Hackett, Miss Beryl Holmes, Mrs. Royal Adams, Miss Ross, Miss Anderson and Messrs. Tom Donahue, W. Harding, Will Boyd, Harry Cullen, William Olsen, J. Hederly, John Feutz, B. Boyd, Frank Graffen, Roy Ashbrooke, Richard Hazelhurst, Kenneth Knesel, James Townsend, Bandini Dear, Royal Adams, Andrew Marshall, Roy Clemmons, Karl Kaufmann, Jack Haig, Boyden MacFie, Wallace Dunbar, Gordon Hoggett, John Lansford, Edward Stranskey, James Williams, Mr. Alexander and Mrs. Ebau. Mrs. Holtmann divided the delightful duties of hostess with her house guests, Mrs. and Miss Manners of Riverside, Mrs. Ross Callen, Mrs. Spencer Ashlin of London, Mrs. Love and Mrs. Boyd. The affair was one of the most charming of the spring functions.

A pleasantly arranged informal party was given last Friday night by the members of the R.N.A. at Strifler's Hall. The hall was prettily arranged for the affair which took the form of a card party and dance. The evening was happily spent by a host of merry-makers and at the conclusion of the evening's fun delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clarence Van Graham has returned from a delightful visit spent in San Francisco, where she was the guest of her son, William Graham, who is attending college at Berkeley. Mrs. Graham was entertained extensively, but informally and is enthusiastic over the beauties of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Miss Geraldine B. Hunter, who is the guest of friends in Alhambra was pleasantly entertained at dinner on Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hess on South Fifth street. On Friday evening Miss Hunter was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Miles at their beautiful suburban home in Sunny Slope.

San Gabriel.

MANY delightful affairs have pleased society buds and belles during the past week in spite of April's temperamental display of the elements. One of the most elaborate and brilliant functions of the season was given at the home of Mrs. J. U. Gridley on Wednesday afternoon at her beautiful home, which was profusely decorated for the event. Great masses of American Beauty roses shed their redolent perfume in the rooms and an elaborate five-course luncheon was enjoyed by the guests, some of whom are easterners reveling in the glorious spring-time beauty of California. At the conclusion of the delicious menu the afternoon was informally spent by the guests, among whom were: Mrs. Frank Kramer of Sierra Park, who was one of the charming brides of the early new year; Mrs. Frank Root, Mrs. E. J. Le Ville and her daughter, Miss Ruth Le Ville of Cleveland, O.; Mrs. S. Seewold, Mrs. Fred Fenner, Miss Helen Fenner, Miss Beatrice Fenner of Los Angeles; Mrs. James E. Kelby of Long Beach and Miss Hugo Eckhardt.

Society is looking forward with pleased anticipation to the entertainment to be given on the evening of April 27, at Johnson's Hall by the Dramatic Club of South Santa Anita for the benefit of the San Gabriel Band. The affairs which have previously been arranged for the orchestra have been among the most delightful functions of the spring and the rendition of the laughable comedy, "Facing the Music," is awaited with impatience.

The popular and hospitable home of the Hugo Eckhardt's was the scene of a merry and informal gathering on Sunday afternoon when tennis was enjoyed by a number of enthusiastic devotees of the game. Later the enthusiasts gathered in the tennis-room, where they were joined by a number of other friends and a delightful and informal occasion, which included a delicious supper, was enjoyed by the guests. The hospitality of the Eckhardt home is proverbial among the many friends who gather frequently at the beautiful home.

Mrs. Jeanette Taylor left early in the week for San Diego, where she will remain for several weeks, planning to return the latter part of May.

One of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings of the season assembled at Johnson's Hall on Thursday afternoon to listen to Mrs. Edward Winterer give a brilliant address on "The Beauties of the Bible." Mrs. Winterer is well known among club and society women in this section and a notable gathering listened with interest to her instructive and profitable address.

South Santa Anita.

APRIL showers gladdened the earth and freshened the spring blossoms that adorned the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Andrews on Camine Read on Wednesday evening. In anticipation of the birthday of her husband, Mrs. Andrews had planned the gathering of friends which proved to be a delightful surprise. The house was resplendent in the beautiful roses and greens which were profusely used and the occasion was thoroughly enjoyed with Five Hundred, three tables being occupied by the enthusiastic players. Following the games a delicious light collation was enjoyed by the guests, among whom were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. George Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Nichols, Gilbert Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hosford, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Marshall. Prizes for clever playing were appropriated by Mrs. Charles Hamilton and George Robbins.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hammond, who with a small party went to San Diego recently to visit the exposition in the southern city, have returned from their trip, which was taken in their automobile, and are enthusiastic over the delightful phases of the intervening jaunt.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Methodist Church are planning for a social time which will be given in the near future, and which bids fair to eclipse the [illegible] of the many charming affairs that have been given under the supervision of this active organization.

Azusa.

THERE has been no cessation of activities among the social set for the week, and there are indications that the month will be filled to overflowing with delightful affairs that will occupy the socially-inclined right royally. Among the pleasant events of the week was the entertainment given all of the [illegible] Esther Circles of the Pasadena district, at the First Methodist Church in Pomona Friday night. Among the 250 guests who were present, Azusa was represented by Miss Gertrude Williams, Miss Gladys Savage, Miss Gertrude Heth, Miss Clara [illegible], Miss Bessie Matney, Miss Leiah [illegible]mel, Miss Marion Brunner, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Heth, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] F. Gates and Mr. and Mrs. W. [illegible] Evans. The Azusa delegation was awarded a beautiful banner for having the largest attendance from the valley cities, that were represented at the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Robinson entertained pleasantly at dinner on Sunday afternoon, the affair being a gracious compliment to Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Dingman.

Delighted guests of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hanes on Monday were Prof. [illegible] La Monaca, Mrs. La Monaca, and Mrs. C. Dow of Venice, who enjoyed a pleasant sojourn at the hospitable Hanes home.

Mrs. Frank L. Hostettler of San Gabriel avenue was hostess to the ladies of the W.C.T.U., on Tuesday afternoon, when a large and interested audience enjoyed a splendidly prepared programme given by Mrs. Fannie E. Turner, Mrs. L. Cain, and Mrs. F. L. Dingman. At the conclusion of the entertainment informal discussion followed and the hostess served a dainty light collation that was enjoyed by her guests.

Mrs. Margaret Johns of Portland who is enjoying Southern California and its delightful environs is at present a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith at their home on West Bonita avenue, where she will remain a week.

A recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Leslie Smith was Miss Bulah M. Crane of Long Beach, who was also the complimented guest at an attractively arranged 6 o'clock dinner on Saturday evening.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Baker on Center street was the scene of a delightful gathering of friends on Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Baker was hostess to the members of the Embroidery Club. The attractive home had been prettily embellished with spring flowers and greens in anticipation of the event, and an elaborate repast was discussed by the guests at 1 o'clock. At the conclusion of the collation the guests repaired to the living-rooms where the remainder of the afternoon was spent in informal pleasures and in embroideries, and fine needle work [illegible] which the society has received its name. Adjournment came at a late hour and all of the members [illegible] present at the delightful affair.

One of the most important [illegible] of the week, socially, was the [illegible] Easter Tea," given on Friday afternoon by the members of the Woman's Club. A gathering of seventy-five guests were in attendance and enjoyed a delightful programme which was arranged under the direction of Mrs. C. Arthur [illegible]. Among those contributing to the pleasure of the afternoon were Mrs. Arthur M. Brown, Mrs. [illegible] and Mrs. Alice Pettyjohn. [illegible]roy Calvert added to the pleasure of the day by lending a number of exquisite victrola records. At the close of the brilliant programme the hostesses of the occasion served a delicious collation while the guests enjoyed an informal discussion of the numbers to which they had listened. Mrs. Kate Dorsey, Mrs. O. S. [illegible], Mrs. Fannie E. Turner, Mrs. [illegible] Mace, Miss Ruth Barnes and Mrs. Charles Mace were the gracious hostesses of the event, which was one of the most brilliant in the history of the club.

Monrovia.

A PLEASANT evening was spent when Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crandall entertained the members of the Gree Lantern Club at their home on East Greystone avenue on Wednesday evening. The party was most informal and the evening was spent in Auction Five Hundred. [illegible] roses were the decorations used in the living-rooms and dainty refreshments were served late in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wooldridge, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Eager, Dr. and Mrs. [illegible] D. Hacker were the guests invited to meet the club.

A merry party including the members of the basketball team of the High School were entertained by Mr. V. L. Sturgis with a camp fire dinner given at Emerson Flat on Wednesday evening. It was a joyous affair and a delicious dinner prepared over the camp fire. Those who enjoyed Mr. Sturgis's hospitality were [illegible] Ruby Roberts, Gertrude [illegible], Opal Follis, Maud Kirk[illegible], [illegible] Dora Newton, Kiss Valentine, [illegible] Shepherd, Principal A. R. Clifton [illegible] G. L. Righter. Following the dinner Mr. G. L. Righter, athletic coach [illegible] the Monrovia High entertained at the Myrtle-avenue Theater, Miss [illegible] and the members of the camp [illegible] party.

Miss Evelyn Flowers entertained with a charming garden party at her home on West White Oak avenue Friday evening. The grounds were illuminated with electric lights and a screen placed for stereopticon views. Miss Flowers related interesting stories regarding each picture as it was placed on the screen during the evening. The guest list included [illegible] Alpaugh, Mary Pattis, Pauline [illegible], Vera Downe, Harold Scott, [illegible] Colburn, Merle Casey, Meredith [illegible]terman and Norman Moore.

The Executive Committee of the Woman's Club entertained with a [illegible] party on Friday evening at the club house on South Myrtle avenue. The game of the evening was Five Hundred and the affair was a [illegible] success, socially as well as [illegible]. The main room, where the tables were placed was [illegible] decorated with masses of [illegible]. Miss Grace Wickham and Miss [illegible] Moore presided at the [illegible] and served light refreshments. The hostesses for the evening were [illegible] George Monroe, C. F. Moore, [illegible] Slosson and Miss Mary W[illegible].

Miss Opal Rives entertained at a very charming dinner party [illegible] day in compliment to Miss [illegible] Grossman and her brother, [illegible] Grossman, of Indiana. [illegible] who enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Rives were Miss Grace W[illegible]

What we do to have your gloves absolutely perfect

One girl, the first Kayser inspector, is paid ½ cent should she find a blemish in our silk fabric when it is cut ready to seam.

The second is paid 1 cent a pair should she find a flaw after the glove is seamed.

The next inspector gets 1½ cents a pair if she detects an imperfection.

The fourth and final — the supervisor — receives 2 cents a pair if she discovers the slightest defect.

This is the care we take to have your silk gloves absolutely perfect. This is why we can guarantee every one of the millions of Kayser Silk Gloves which American women wear each season.

SOCIETY.

evening and after most delicious refreshments had been done ample justice, a special messenger arrived, bring a suit case for the bride-to-be, which upon opening was found to contain all sorts of articles too numerous and beautiful to describe, but all dear to the feminine heart. The guests who contributed to the enjoyable occasion were, with a few exceptions, all "Saint Margaret Girls," of which guild Miss Lange is an active member.

Miss Frances Cline of North Maryland avenue, entertained on Tuesday evening, a party of about twenty Los Angeles young people, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Allan C. Ady, of Hotel Lovejoy, Los Angeles. The house was made more attractive than ever by the use of quantities of cut flowers. Music, dancing and cards were the entertainment enjoyed by the guests, till a late hour, when dainty refreshments were served.

Glendale.

ONE of the most elaborate affairs of the social season was the surprise miscellaneous shower given Tuesday evening by Miss Harriet Wells at her home, No. 1504 West Broadway, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Lange, whose engagement to Mr. G. E. Heiman, formerly of Glendale, was formally announced at a pretty affair two weeks ago, given by Miss Wells and Miss Lange, in honor of Miss Eva Black, who is to be a June bride. The decorations of hearts, Cupids and roses all in pink, were very elaborate and beautiful, baskets of pink roses, Cecile Brunner roses predominating, surmounted by saucy tulle bows. Miss Wells was assisted during the evening by her mother, Mrs. Richard H. Wells, Miss Lange's sister, Mrs. Joseph L. Stagner, with Mrs. James L. Flint, Mrs. Arline Hallihan, Miss Cecilia Wilson and Miss Olga Purt of St. Margaret's Guild. Five Hundred was enjoyed during the evening, prizes being awarded Miss Lange, who received a special guest prize; Miss Maisie McCann, the prize for the highest score, and Miss Olga Purt, consolation. The tally cards were very dainty and pretty conceits, especially made for the occasion, of wedding bells and hearts. Following the serving of the dainty refreshments a special messenger arrived, bringing many very beautiful gifts for Miss Lange. Others of the guests were Miss Ethel Land, Miss Pauline Sholz, Miss Dorothy Smith, Miss Mattie Belle Provolt, Miss Athena Purt, Miss Bessie Provolt, Miss Lillian Mills, Miss Maisie McCann, Miss Irene Read, Miss Eva Black, Miss Edith Foss, Miss Clara Provolt, Miss Tina Landmann, Miss Grace Crampton, Miss Agnes Frostick, Miss Bess Phillips, Miss Gertrude Champlain, Miss Catherine Lewis, Miss Ethel Read, members of St. Margaret's Guild; Mrs. Edgar F. Smith of Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. Edgar L. Green of Los Angeles, Mrs. R. Wheadon, Miss Charlotte Read, Miss Clara Read, Miss Roberta Coles, Miss Lynn Coles and Miss Zella Keim.

The Tropico Bridge Luncheon Club was entertained Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Coleman of Pasadena. Mr. Coleman conveyed the ladies of Glendale and Tropico to Pasadena in his large touring car. The rooms of Mrs. Coleman's beautiful home were profusely decorated with fragrant Reve d'Or roses and the tables were especially attractive with the dainty blossoms. Luncheon was at 1 o'clock and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in playing bridge. Mrs. R. W. Groom of Covina was special guest. The prize was won by Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, a framed mahogany tray. Among the club members were Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., Mrs. Stuart M. Street, Mrs. William Mabry, Mrs. Leigh Bancroft, Mrs. Arthur Lewis, Mrs. Charles A. Barker.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis of No. 541 South Kenwood street entertained Tuesday night the following friends: Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hunchberger, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans.

Miss Hazel Anderson of No. 320 Cedar street was hostess Wednesday afternoon to a number of friends, complimenting with a surprise miscellaneous shower Miss Ruby Wright of No. 1649 Ruth street, who is to be an April bride, her marriage to Mr. George Ransom Alston having been set for the latter part of the month. Bouquets of pink and white roses were used for decoration and the large fireplace lined with pink crepe paper and covered with ivy and pepper boughs studded with rosebuds suggested wedding decorations.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts on Penn street was the scene of a merry gathering Thursday evening when their daughter, Miss Laura Roberts, entertained in honor of her sister, Miss Florence Roberts, who is soon to become the bride of Mr. Roy McMillan. Ten young ladies were entertained at dinner at 6 o'clock, the gentlemen joining them later in the evening. When the gentlemen appeared music and games were enjoyed. Hand-painted cards were used in the guessing contest and as favors. The guests included Mr. M. R. Baxter of San Francisco, Mrs. M. H. Gould of New York City, Mrs. Blaine McLean of Lompoc, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. C. Crew of Tropico, Mr. and Mrs. F. Broughton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. D. Brundage, Miss Sullivan, Miss Jennings, Miss McMillan, Mr. Harrold, Mr. Donald McMillan, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. Lewis Roberts.

Laurel Canyon.

ONE of the very jolliest affairs of the season was the Hardimes party given on Friday evening of last week at Bungalow Inn by the Mountaineers Club. About fifty members responded to the call of the committee and attended in costumes in all stages of decay and uniqueness. The grand march was led by Verne Elliot and Miss Loravale Small, who were cleverly attired as a militant suffragette and her poor little husband. Though they wore no masks their disguise was almost perfect. Mr. Elliot making a typical suffragette. Others in line who were conspicuous for their originality were the wedding party with Mrs. E. C. Comer as bride and C. F. Norton the groom and little Harriet Matthews, the tiny ring bearer, who carried the ring in a basket of vegetables. Mmes. C. F. Norton, F. J. Eplin and R. D. Venler were truly economical, wearing evening gowns of gunnysacks. Mrs. H. V. Platt explained to every one that her clothes had just arrived in a "box" from Aunt Mary—and they looked the part—Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Tully were "poor, but proud," so it was necessary for them to keep their backs towards the wall. Mr. Tully received the gentleman's prize for the best interpretation of his part. The last in the grand march was a poor Irish washwoman with seven children from a baby in arms to two young ladies, who were intent in being movie queens—and to her was awarded the ladies' prize for best interpretation. The part was taken by Mrs. J. A. Matthews, assisted by Baby Betty Norton, Jack Wagaard, Marion Small, Josephine Matthews, Geraldine Tully, Katherine Pomeroy and Dorothy Platt. Every costume in the march showed much original thought and were worthy special mention. Mrs. R. D. Vereler and F. J. Ephlin received a cake for the best cakewalk and Mrs. Mitton Uhl and Mr. Ralph Crane were fortunate in holding highest scores at cards. The hard-times supper of pork and beans, brown bread and pickles, with delicious doughnuts and coffee that was served the seventy-five people was a fit closing for a delightful evening. The clever hostesses who planned the affair were Mrs. D. M. Small and Mmes. C. C. Tom and Charles McCall of Hollywood.

The Misses Keller of South Bend, Ind., were week-end guests of the Charles F. Nortons.

Mrs. H. V. Platt gave a charming luncheon at Bungalow Inn on Thursday before the meeting of the Woman's Club. Covers were laid for eight.

Mr. S. Bersbach and daughter, Mrs. David Anderson, who have been the house guests of the Don Porters, left Monday for their home in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Moore of Whittier visited their daughter, Mrs. F. M. Rublee, several days during the week.

Santa Ana.

DAN CUPID was a guest at a pretty party recently given at the D. A. Dale home with Miss Jennie Dale and Miss Lurline Dickey as hostesses. The affair ostensibly was a celebration of their joint birthdays, but later developed into an announcement party. The event was in the nature of a dinner party and the presence of the saucy God of Love was unsuspected by most of the guests until the last course when in semi-darkness two pretty girls, Miss Holly Dale and Miss Grace Dickey, serving at the table, passed small pink silk bags, ribbon tied and with a sly pussy head peeking demurely from each silken sack. When electric lights were flashed on, Miss Dale suggested that the cat "be let out of the bag." Out came each pussy cat with a box containing a ring and the query "Does this ring fit you?" Strange to say, not one of the guests found the ring to fit with the exception of Miss Lurline Dickey, the beautiful solitaire ring in her box fitting to perfection. The circlet was the sign of the engagement of Miss Dickey to Walter Eaton, formerly of Santa Ana, who is winning success as a mining engineer in British Columbia. Congratulations were showered on Miss Dickey by those at the table who were Miss Dale, Mary Whipple, Joy Baker, Minnie Gardner, Vinnie Gee, Marquerite Wallace, Gertrude Potts, Grace White, Zelma Sturgeon, Mmes. Jack Palmer and Rudolph Divver.

In honor of the birthdays of her sister, Miss Alice Burge and Mr. Ray Swartz, which fall on the same date, Miss Edna Burge was hostess at a recent charming outing at the seaside followed by a dinner party at the handsome Burge home. Most of the guests were from Los Angeles and Hollywood, and after their arrival at Santa Ana were taken by automobile to Newport Beach, where the afternoon was spent in spirited games of tennis. The return to the Burge home later in the afternoon was made in time for 6 o'clock dinner, served elaborately in eight courses, the color motif in decorations and menu being pink. A cut glass basket with an enormous bow of pink tulle adorning the handles, was piled high with pink Killarney rose buds, centeirng the table, and dainty rose baskets, tulle trimmed, were place favors. A beautiful birthday cake was provided for each of the honorees, and these were cut in the midst of a riot of good wishes and merriment. The house was gay with a color adornment of pink and green, lovely flowers and masses of greenery being used. After a joyous evening the gentlemen guests returned to Los Angeles, the charming girls of the party being over-night guests of the Misses Burge. Those in the party were Miss Ollie Marsh, Miss Margarite Norton, Juanita Amestoy, the Misses Edna and Alice Burge; Messrs. Ray Swartz, Will Keen, John Menges, Drs. Oliver Davies and R. W. Hayward.

As the guests of Miss Pauline Davis at her Los Angeles home, a number of society women of Santa Ana, Orange and Tustin were delightfully entertained on Saturday with a charming luncheon and auction bridge. Most of the ladies have played whist together in clubs for several seasons, hence congeniality was one of the salient points of enjoyment of the pleasant event, this being particularly evident in the journey to and from the city, made by trolley in order that the ladies might travel together. Miss Davis welcomed her guests in rooms exquisitely decked with masses of Nasturtiums and white roses, combined with green, were effectively used in the living-room. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Evans and daughter Adine of San Diego were the complimented guests.

A jolly party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. D. Sprague of Huntington Park, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kayneer and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Brown and family, Mrs. J. H. McKee and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McKee and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ralls and Phil Dehatre motored to Griffith Park Sunday, where they enjoyed a picnic dinner spread upon one of the many tables to be found in the picnic section of the park and prepared on one of the improvised stoves where chicken may be fried, potatoes roasted and coffee brewed to a turn.

A pleasant feature of the past week was the large reception Thursday afternoon at the League Clubhouse for Mrs. Lawrence Hollman, given by the ladies of the Embroidery Club. The rooms were transformed into a garden scene by the use of many white carnations, syringas and roses, with asparagus ferns—the happy combination of white and green that is so striking in effect. The archway above the doors was twined with the fern and hundreds of the syringa bloom arranged as if growing. From the center was a basket filled with the ferns and carnations. Calla lilies were used with charming effect in tall vases on the floor. A delightful programme of musical numbers by Mrs. Charles Harrington and the Misses Flora Thompson and Lillian Burke, with readings by Vtha Neel, who gave "I Would be, Wouldn't You?" and "Baby Skies" in her usual charming manner, aided materially in the success of the evening. The punch bowl was presided over by Mrs. F. O. Funk and Mrs. Ned Dill, assisted by Mrs. Ed Proctor, Mrs. Mable Taylor and Mrs. J. H. Hollman. Delicious cakes and fruit salad were included in the refreshments. The guests present were the honoree, hostesses, Mrs. A. J. Houck, Mrs. O. Burke, Mrs. L. L. Morrison, Mrs. J. W. Mrs. A. M. Rayburn of Montezuma, Iowa, arrived this week for an extended visit at the home of her cousin, E. E. Rayburn of North Friends avenue.

A family dinner at their home on Ocean View Lane was the method by which Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Kepple celebrated their wedding anniversary Sunday. A three-course dinner for sixteen was served, the guests including Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Horner, Mrs. Elsena Cox, Miss Gertrude Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Cox, Mrs. Edith L. Cox, and Master Kenneth Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Auld of North Comstock avenue had as a guest this week, Mrs. J. Stegman of Denver. They entertained Sunday with a dinner, complimentary to their guests, others present being Mr. and Mrs. Roy McMechan, and Mr. Clarence Trueblood.

A group of well-known Whittier society buds enjoyed a week-end at Hermosa Beach Saturday and Sunday. The party included the Misses Agnes Barnhart, Emma Nuffer, Elsie Bacon, Lida McCold, Ruth Crandall, Lucile Hull, Frances Crandall, and Lois Belt.

Mrs. E. R. Shepherd of West Hadley street, entertained Chapter V., P.E.O., Monday evening. A large attendance is reported, in honor of the chapter's newest member, Miss Edith McGee, whose initiation was the occasion for the meeting.

A quiet wedding at St. Mary's Church Monday morning united Miss Elsie Alvarado and Dr. Charles Barnard. Only the immediate relatives and close friends of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. Until recently both parties were connected with the Whittier State School, Miss Alvarado resigning to become Mrs. Barnard.

MRS. WARREN WILSON and daughters, the Misses Clara and Florence Wilson, and Mrs. Sherwood Kinney will next week be on their way for a week's visit to the exposition in San Francisco.

Mrs. Charlotte Mayar entertained the Breakers Club members at her auction bridge party in the clubrooms Monday afternoon. She gathered all the poppies from the fields in Venice and used them artistically in decorating the bright rooms of the pretty club. There were fifty guests at the affair, which was one of the largest of the season. Mrs. John B. Dales was the lucky winner of a cut glass bowl, while Mrs. Samuel Bryant received a handsome silver sugar boat. Mrs. S. A. Gerard who was given a mahogany tray as the consolation prize, made the record low score of the day. Golden baskets were presented Miss Lillian Williamson and Mrs. B. C. Carlson, who assisted the hostess. As the guests entered they were greeted by the Venetian troubadours, three pretty musical maids in Spanish costume, who played during the reception and while the game was in progress.

Monday afternoon the rooms of the Venice Woman's Club were the scene of a lively and interesting meeting at which Mrs. Tolman East, newspaper woman and publicity secretary for Denver, who is resting here for a few weeks, spoke on "Principals of Municipal Government." The president, Mrs. W. H. Anderson, presided over the large meeting. Nominations were made, which mean the probable election of the following: President, Mrs. W. H. Anderson, who has very successfully piloted the club for the first year; first vice-president, Mrs. George Schofield, capable programme chairman; Mrs. Janet McGregor Wilson, second vice-president; Mrs. Joseph Walter, secretary and Miss A. U. Armstrong, the unfailing press chairman, treasurer. A nomination for corresponding secretary was not made. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Schofield, who expect to be in San Francisco in May, were elected delegates to the State federation meeting, with Mrs. Gorge Dryden as alternate. Plans were discussed for the evening mass meeting Thursday at the school, at which both sides of the charter issue will be discussed by good speakers.

Dr. and Mrs. Floyd Nutting of No. 9 Thornton avenue will entertain with another of the series of Sunday evening suppers and musicales with which they are entertaining different groups of friends this season tonight. Covers will be laid for twenty, music to follow.

MRS. BLANCHE SARGEANT entertained at the Merritt Jones Tuesday Mrs. Bush Anderson and Miss Blythe Wallace of Phoenix, Miss Ella Moore and Mr. Johnson of Los Angeles, at luncheon in the palm-room. Cards were enjoyed later in the afternoon in the green room.

Last night was "kiddies" night at the Breakers Club, and every member was out in his best costume for the occasion. Every representative of the kids of today was there and everybody from a bell hop to a nigger pickaninny was dancing and cavorting around. The kid affair was attended by many out-of-town people, as well as local society folk. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fraser entertained a number of Los Angeles people.

Miss Lucile Critchlowe has departed for her home in Salt Lake City, where she will be with her grandmother, expecting to return later to this beach to her home and studies in the local High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Claudius Raymond entertained a number of friends last evening at their beautiful new Montana-avenue home, the affair being a sort of housewarming event. There were about half a hundred of the bay's society folk at the smart affair.

Mrs. A. E. Kirk of Sunset avenue is entertaining her nephew, J. H. Fletcher, who has recently returned from a two-months' trip to Honolulu. He is dividing his time—a month in all—between this beach and San Pedro.

Tuesday evening the Breakers Club was a merry place, the weekly informal dancing class enjoying a session while the board of control met and completed plans for the oriental ball to be held in the club ballroom.

Santa Monica.

WHEN the third annual flower show closed with the big dance it was not known just how successful it was financially, but now even if all the bills are not all in and all the money is not collected, the encouraging report is that over $500 was raised. Mrs. Jessica Clark, treasurer of the big club made the report. Mrs. D. G. Stephens, president of the organization, and her many stout followers are to be congratulated upon their success in giving the bay one of the biggest and best flower shows ever held here.

Miss Laura Kip, the charming guest of Mrs. B. A. Nebeker, who is spending a few merry weeks in the West, and who has been much feted by her hostess, has gone south to visit friends from the East who are seeing the fair. When she returns to this city she will be the honored one at many affairs which are now being planned by Mrs. Nebeker. Miss Helen McCall entertained delightfully Monday afternoon at a tennis match on the courts of the Los Angeles Country Club. Those who enjoyed the compliment to Miss Kip were Miss Kip, Miss Henrietta Hunt, Mrs. Harriet Staley and Miss Joan McCall. Mrs. Nebeker joined the party later in the afternoon when tea was daintily served.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hoffman of Ninth street have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anna, to Roy L. Bugbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Bugbee, of Pasadena, the wedding to be June 22. The announcement was made at a delightful card party given by Mrs. Hoffmann at which were invited to first hear the interesting news Mmes. Clarence Bugbee, mother of the groom to be and his sister Miss Ruth Bugbee of Pasadena, Mmes. J. J. Davis, M. H. Volkmann, J. C. Hines, William Whelan, C. A. Simons, Misses Katherine Whelan, Katherine Hyland, Florence Raymond, Conception and Frances Millen, Gertrude Baxter, Mearl Hemingway, Veda May, Imogene Crane, Everette Calvert, Katherine Balsley, Dorothy Smale, Irene Stayhart, Gertrude Campbell, Wilma Flatley, Mrs. Ferdinand Hoffmann of Redondo, Mrs. Allen Campbell, Mrs. Paul Greening and Miss Ruth Elliott of Los Angeles; Mrs. Marshall Wilkinson and Miss Florence Dyne of Hollywood, and from Claremont, college chums of the honoree, who there attended Pomona College, Misses Jessie Ballard, Bernice Franklin, Dorothy Shade, Hazel Converse, Helen and Irene de Camp. Mrs. Hofffman and Miss Hoffman were assisted in receiving by Misses Loretta and Henrietta Hoffmann.

IN ACCORDANCE with an annual custom, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Lerch entertained a number of friends and relatives, who each year are guests at the Lerch home at No. 308 North Gertruda avenue. The party was entertained at dinner Sunday, and in the afternoon music and a social time was the order of the day. The affair was a sort of annual reunion. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Lerch were Samuel Swartz, a cousin of Mr. Lerch, formerly of Newton, Kan., now residing at Long Beach; Mrs. Swartz, and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Swartz; Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Yerrington and daughter, Miss Alice Yerrington; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Yerrington, and daughter, Kathleen, and son, Albert, of Los Angeles, and Miss Julie Olsnewski, of Hermosa Beach. Assisting in the entertaining was Albert Lerch, son of the host and hostess.

Five birthday anniversaries, occurring in the same week, were the occasion of a recent social function at the home of Mrs. John Ray at the Raymond apartments. The day of the party was the birthday of Mrs. Ray, while the honorees of her party were Mrs. E. H. Miller, Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Scott—acting as proxy for her mother, Miss Van Norman—and Miss E. S. Sawyer of Los Angeles. Miss Sawyer is the guest of Mrs. Ray for a fortnight. Many floral remembrances were received from friends of the hostess.

Mrs. Ray will leave shortly for a two months' trip, and the party was also in the nature of a farewell to the hostess, who will be the guest of her sister in San Francisco. After the party, Mrs. E. H. Eberhart of Eagle Rock, who has been a guest of Mrs. Ray, returned to her home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbard were the host and hostess recently to fifty young guests, those present being members of the Fidelity Club, a class of sixteen girls taught by Mrs. Hibbard, the Baraca boys, in charge of Miss Thekla Grieve, and the B.O.P. class, the instructor of which is Miss May Mohn. Parlor games, with prizes for the winners, were played. Winners of these contests were Kenneth Tower, Ethel Wright, Ralph Grieve, Murrell Cribbs and Clinton Dorrington.

Mrs. Jack Funk delightfully entertained Thursday afternoon as hostess to members of the Five Hundred Club. The living-room of the Funk home was turned into a bower of flowers, being decorated with roses and poppies. The score cards were also decorated artistically with roses and poppies. A two-course luncheon was served promptly at 1 o'clock. The first prize, a pretty cut-glass bowl, was won by Mrs. Mueller, and Mrs. Louis Cholvin won second place, receiving a silver serving fork. Mrs. Jack Funk took third prize, a cut-glass nappie. Consolation prize was awarded Mrs. W. T. Fitzpatrick, who received a cut-glass flower basket. Those present were Mrs. Charles McGehee, Mrs. Louis Cholvin, Mrs. Charles Mosier, Mrs. Frank Durlin, Mrs. Harry Brolaski, Mrs. Walter Neff, Mrs. Franklin Tower, Mrs. Richard Wolfsberg, Mrs. Mueller, Mrs. W. T. Fitzpatrick and the hostess, and Mrs. Wilson, substituted for Mrs. Craig.

MISS GERTRUDE KENDIG was hostess for the week-end when a delightful house party was housed at her cosy bungalow on Seventh street. The party enjoyed a marshmallow toast on the beach Saturday night, gathering round the huge bonfire, which not only added to the comfort, but gave the final touch to a picturesque scene. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kendig of Santa Ana chaperoned Misses Winifred Roberts, Dorothea Clem, Mildred Severance, Gertrude Kendig, Winifred Kendig, Mabel Leaderich, LaRue Fipps, Paul Martin, Clarence Nisson, all of Santa Ana; Misses Violet Davis of Long Beach, Dorothy Rose of Fullerton, Walter Stortz, Seal Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Russell returned this week from San Francisco and vicinity, taking with them their daughter, Eleanor Jean. During their absence their pretty bungalow on Eighth street was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stamps of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. McFadden and children from Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Magie have had as their house guests last week, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stickler, old-time friends from the old home in Girard, Kan. Other old-time friends recently entertained at the Magie home are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Perry, who, with their daughter, Evelyn, are passing some time in Long Beach. In their honor, Mr. and Mrs. Magie entertained recently with a shellfish dinner, the menu consisting exclusively of shellfish captured in Seal Beach.

The school trustees of Seal Beach district, with their wives and husbands were entertained at a luncheon at the Huntington Beach High School on Wednesday. Those going from here were Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Russell and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Magie.

JUDGE LUCIEN SHAW of the State Supreme Court arrived from San Francisco recently and now is at his home on the Strand with Mrs. Shaw. During the southern session of the Supreme Court, presided over by the new Chief Justice, F. M. Angellotti, Judge Shaw is visiting his home. Judge and Mrs. Shaw entertained over the week-end Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fields of Santa Ana. Recent visitors at the Shaw home were the Hartly Shaws, who came over from Tropico for a brief visit at the parental home.

William W. Duane, Jr., was recently host to a number of his young friends, who were entertained at the Duane home on Pier avenue. The day's programme included games, contests and music and then light refreshments. The guest list included Marguerite Le Fevre, Ethel Hall, Beatrice Le Fevre, Bertha Westcott, Frances Kniskern, Velma Kniskern, Walter McLain, George Gertsch, Melfred Bertsch, John Rice, Elmer Brainard, Ralph Lucas, Glenn Wise, Simon Kanouse. Miss Blanche Duane assisted the host.

Miss Grace Corbin, daughter of the late Lieut.-Gen. Corbin, recently made a trip to Pasadena, where she was the guest of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, wife of the recent Ambassador to England, and her sister, Lady Evelyn Ward. After visiting the Southland for some time, they returned to the Reid country home near San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Edward Meyers, recently arrived here from Indiana, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Haneman on the Strand. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers are touring the Pacific Coast, expecting to visit both expositions and then make the return trip home by way of Canada.

After two months spent in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Roy King are again at home in their Strand cottage.

Mrs. H. M. Bigelow and her daughter were hostesses recently to a number of friends, who were entertained at the Bigelow home on Summit avenue.

Mrs. Henry Ballentine and her son Ralph, who have been the guests of Mrs. William Ballentine, are now in Berkeley and expect to take in the exposition at San Francisco before returning.

Sure Way to Regain Robust Bloom of Youth

A smooth, velvety-soft skin, with a delicate peach-like bloom, is one of the Creator's most exquisite works. When the first blush of youth is over, this beautiful tint and satiny lustre are rarely seen. How to preserve them—that the question. Famous beauty experts abroad long have known that ordinary mercolized wax works wonders in this direction. It actually gives a new surface to the skin, restoring that marvelous girlish color and softness in a remarkable manner. An ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug store, will convert a faded, freckled, worn-out or discolored complexion into one of captivating loveliness in less than two weeks. No special skill is necessary in applying the wax, it being smeared on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To remove wrinkles, or delay their formation, a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel will be found wonderfully efficacious. This tones up relaxed skin, causing it to remain firm and smooth.

Duarte.

THE past fortnight has been marked by many springtime social events, and the beauties of the countryside have added much to the picturesque settings provided for the varied forms of hospitality. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Richard Poor gave a charming April party in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Harnes of Santa Barbara, who is her house guest. Those invited were the members of the Fortnightly Auction Bridge Club and Mrs. Charles Anderson, Miss Dorothy Denamore, Miss Julia Holmes, Miss Louise Fielding and Miss Marjorie Morgan. Lovely Maman Cochet roses adorned the card tables, and after the game a collation was served, during which an air of genial sociability prevailed.

Another delightful social event was the jolly card party given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Freeland H. Hunter at her ranch home on Central avenue. The affair was given in compliment to the following list of Duarte maids: Miss Ethel Moore, Miss Florence Blain, Miss Alice McPhail, Miss Retta Blain, Miss Julia Holmes, Miss Dorothy Denamore and Miss Dora Blain. The diversions of the evening were Five Hundred, music and an 11 o'clock supper.

On both Thursday and Friday evenings Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Northup and Mrs. Morris A. Conable entertained handsomely at cards at Inglenook, the home of the Northups, on Buena Vista avenue. The large living-room was artistically decorated with lilac and iris, while in the dining-room the fragrant Ragged Robin roses were used with pleasing effect. The guests, who were from Monrovia and Duarte, were graciously received, and were entertained at auction bridge.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Ludie Gerhart Cross opened her home to the members of the Reading Circle. There was a large attendance and the informal reception which preceded the readings was held in rooms beautified with pink carnations and ferns. Mrs. Frank Ferguson and Mrs. E. F. Dickey contributed readings, while the members and their friends were busy with needlework, and at 4 c'clock a prettily-appointed tea was served by Mrs. Cross.

A wedding of unusual interest was solemnized Saturday, April 17, when Miss Nona Rood became the bride of Stanley Moore of Buena Vista avenue. Both are popular members of the younger set, and Miss Rood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Rood. The wedding was a quiet affair, and after a short bridal journey Mr. and Mrs. Moore will make their home in this locality, where their many friends showered them with congratulations and genuine good wishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene D. Northup gave a pleasant dinner party Monday evening in honor of the members of the Silver Gray Card Club, at their country home. Beautiful roses graced the center of the dining table, where covers were laid for fourteen guests. After dinner cards were the diversion. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry K. Willard of Pasadena, Mrs. Morris R. Conable, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Slosson, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Blake, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Moore, Miss Gertrude Gibbs, Aileen Northup and M. E. Conable.

Santa Barbara.

SOCIETY went to great lengths Wednesday to give a benefit fete at the Potter Hotel for St. Francis Hospital. A luncheon was served from 12 to 1:30 by Miss Josefa De la Guerra, Mrs. Frederick W. Leadbetter and Mrs. Von Behrens. Mrs. William Miller Graham had charge of the flower booth, being assisted by Mrs. William H. Bartlett, Jr., Mrs. Christian de Guigne, Mrs. Delworth Beggs, Miss Mary Gallaher. At the tea and coffee table, in charge of Mrs. F. F. Peabody, Miss Esther Cleveland, daughter of the late President Grover Cleveland, and known as the "White House Baby," assisted, others at the table being Mrs. Franklin Price Knott, Mrs. Frederick Randall, Mrs. Rexwald Brown, Mrs. Duncan Draper, the Misses Josephine and Ruth Peabody.

Five Hundred was enjoyed at a house party, given Wednesday at the home of Mrs. L. S. Freeze, No. 110 West Islay street. The tables weree beautifully decorated with yellow Lady Banksia roses and maidenhair ferns, hand-colored place cards and programmes with dainty images of quaint Colonial girls were provided. The guests included Mrs. James Williams of Goleta, Mrs. Thomas Lowe, Mrs. John Parma, Mrs. Frances Cornwall, Mrs. Walter McIntosh, Mrs. Thomas Gullifer, Mrs. Ray Leslie, Miss Lydia Whitney.

Mrs. F. H. Whittaker of 1814 Olive avenue was hostess at a pretty farewell, given Thursday in honor of her mother, Mrs. Waldo Sweet of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin. Among the guests invited to meet Mrs. Sweet were Mrs. H. J. Finger, Mrs. F. W. Robinson, Mrs. H. D. Miller, Mrs. H. W. T. Ross, Mrs. Nathan Bentz, Mrs. W. B. Metcalf, Mrs. William Wyles, Mrs. J. G. Kelley, Mrs. N. R. Hancock, Mrs. George Eames Potter.

Mrs. W. C. Brea of Chicago gave a prettily-appointed dinner at El-Mirasol Tuesday evening, her guests including Commodore and Mrs. James H. Bull, Mr. and Mrs. William Normal Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Aldis of Loire, France; Mr. and Mrs. T. Stewart White, Dr. Belle Reynolds, Miss Enders and Gerald Barry.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Salisbury Field, nee Isobel Strong, daughter of the late Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, are now in San Francisco. They are expected here during the early part of the week for two-weeks' stay before sailing for the South Seas for an extended residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dabney had as their dinner guests at their home on Ontare Road, Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody, of Boston, and their two daughters, the Misses Martha and Sylvia. Mr. and Mrs. Peabody were guests Tuesday at Shepherd's Inn of Governor and Mrs. Daniel B. Fearing of Rhode Island.

Miss Georgia Leadbetter, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Leadbetter, is a guest in Kent, Eng., of Mrs. Andrae, mother of her fiance, Lieut. Frank Andrae of the English aviation corps.

Pomona.

MISS LILLIE TANGEMAN, No. 435 Kenoak drive, gave a Five Hundred party on Thursday afternoon complimentary to Miss Hattie Teague of San Dimas, who is to become the bride of John Brubaker on May 20. Double white daisies and purple lupins were combined in a decoration scheme which made the house very attractive. The members of the Enewah Club and a few special guests were in attendance. The party was made up of Mmes. Frank McLean, Ralph Thompson, Cyril Pratt, R. W. Teague, Jere Bowden, H. H. Jones, Elmer Teague, Ed Bixby, J. J. Maechtlen, David Gore, James Wilsoncroft, and the Misses Helen Harsch, who is here from Janesville, O.; Eva West, Marie George, Martha and Elizabeth Gore, Agnes Ferry, Elizabeth McDonald, Alma George, Hattie Teague, Avis Olmstead, Lillie Graves, Margaret Kepner, Helen Kepner, Grace Johnstone, Lelie Caldwell, Rose Caldwell and Lucile Findlay.

The engagement of Miss Rachael Doud, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will M. Doud, who reside at No. 825 William street, to William Hubert Bentley of Pasadena, has just been announced here. The wedding is to occur some time during the early summer. The romance which is to have its conclusion here began in Pasadena when the young people were attending High School. The young woman graduated there in 1913 and entered Pomona College while Mr. Bently was attending the college. During her short residence in this community Miss Doud has made a wide circle of friends, and the young man of her choice is very favorably known. He is interested in a tropical nursery at La Canada, near Pasadena, and they will reside there after the honeymoon.

A farewell reception was held in the parlors of the Calvary Baptist Church on Tuesday evening, complimentary to Rev. and Mrs. Jonathan Lee, who are about to depart from this city. Rev. Lee has been the supply pastor at the church for several months, but is now succeeded by Rev. J. A. Pieters, who becomes the permanent pastor. The programme consisted of short talks by Rev. Pieters, Rev. Lee and Rev. Wolfe of the Brethren Church, who is an old Iowa friend of the Lees. Rev. and Mrs. Lee have gone to Long Beach for a visit with friends.

Miss Martha Oathout had a unique way of announcing her forthcoming marriage to the Rev. James A. Ayres of Lead, S. D. She is possessed of a splendid art education, and she made good use of it Saturday evening when her mother, Mrs. Mary Oathout, and her sister, Miss Anna Oathout, who is a teacher in the city schools, gave a charming dinner in her honor. Cecile Brunner and Gold of Ophir roses were used to good effect in decorating the dining-room. The centerpiece of the table was a large basket filled with roses, and at each guest place was a tiny May basket filled with half-opened Gold of Ophir roses. After a very delightful dinner Miss Martha Oathout drew a cartoon of each guest, depicting some of the most amusing events in their lives. She closed her programme of rapid-fire sketch work by drawing a picture of herself and her fiance as bride and groom. She named May 17 as the happy date. As a concluding feature Miss Oathout gave each of her seven guests a slip of paper, asking them to write thereupon, in verse, some sort of instructions to her. When they were finished there was one for every day in the week. Those who attended the delightful affair were the Misses Florence and Martina Case, Ruth Bishop, Flora Taylor, Eva St. Clair, Anna Oathout and her mother.

Upland.

MISS FANNIE NOE, the principal of the Upland grammar school, was tendered a birthday dinner Monday night at Churchill's, the tables being beautifully decorated with roses. The teachers acted as hostesses. Other guests of the teachers besides Miss Noe were Mrs. F. H. Manker and Miss Letitia Millsaps. Place cards were hand painted by Miss McClelland and were take-offs on each. Others who were present beside the ones mentioned were Miss Ella Hallawell, Miss Elsie Lhuiller, Miss Elsie Adams, Miss Ida Caldwell, Miss Clara Williams, Miss Bertha Watson, Miss Emily Merritt, Miss Harriet Riley, Miss Ruth Riley, Miss Ruth Young, Miss Iva Dell Murphy, Miss Gladys Riley, Miss Irma Coleman, Miss Lela McClelland, Miss Elizabeth Griggs, Mrs. Carrie May, Miss Edith Hitchcock, Miss Maria Lindberg and Miss Fannie Hollins.

Miss Noe was also surprised the same evening by the pupils of the eighth grade at the grammar school building. Games were played and later refreshments were served.

Mrs. Winston, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Robert van Ness, who has been spending the winter here, was the honoree at a theater party given by the "G. T." Club at the Lyric Theater Monday evening. Mrs. Winston leaves for her home in Virginia early next week. Following the theater a supper was served at Miss Myer's on First avenue. Those who were present were Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. Wilbur Spicer, Mrs. R. R. Wisely, Mrs. N. I. Hamer, Mrs. Mert Spicer, Mrs. William Tuttle, Mrs. Earl Maurer, Mrs. J. L. Short, Mrs. H. O. Blehm, Mrs. Robert van Ness and Miss Mabel Myers.

Mrs. William Littlewood entertained the Neighborhood Club on Monday afternoon of this week at her home on the Heights. Fancy work passed the afternoon away rapidly and at a late hour the hostess served refreshments, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. William Matthews.

The Upland volunteer fire department gave another one of its famous card parties on Friday evening of this week, bridge being the game of the evening. The fire laddies, their wives and sweethearts present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mehl, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Clem, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Manker, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Atwood, Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Bunker, Miss Eva Gerry, Miss Nellie Anderson, Misses Elvie and Elsie Burkholder, Miss Portia Austin, and Messrs. L. N. Kirk, Eldon Atwood, Howard Nobaugh, Fred Froehde, Amos Colborn, Harry Plum, Wesley Plum and H. C. Moore.

San Bernardino.

INSTEAD of assembling to witness the marriage ceremony of Miss Helen Howard Ham to Mr. Cecil H. Phillips at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison H. Ham on Seventeenth street Wednesday evening the guests attended the reception, for the couple stole a march on their friends and relatives by turning the "dress rehearsal" for the ceremony on Tuesday evening to an actual service. The couple were attended by Miss Lucille Marshall and Will O. Harris, the Rev. G. W. Marshall officiating. Totally ignorant of the affair, the wedding guests assembled and were astounded when Rev. Marshall announced that congratulations were in order as the bride and groom marched in to the altar as per programme to the tune of the wedding strains from "Lohengrin." The couple plan a wedding trip to San Diego.

Miss Hilda Mabel Seccombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Seccombe of East Fourth street, became the bride of Mr. Nelson T. Bogart, a Pacific Electric engineer, at a pretty ceremony at her home Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Walter F. Prince of St. John's Episcopal Church read the double-ring ceremony under a miniature chancel and altar made of snowy callas and smilax. The room was banked in roses. After the ceremony the party of immediate relatives sat down to refreshments, and later bade the couple farewell as they sped away in an automobile for Los Angeles to board the steamer for San Francisco. They will return here to live.

A large dancing party, under the direction of the younger members of the Woman's Club, was held at the clubhouse Thursday evening, and the guest list numbered several hundred people. Miss Regina Brennanas, chairman, was assisted by Miss Irma Lane, Miss Sonah Frank, Mrs. E. H. Lyman, Mrs. Ernest Hammer, Mrs. W. S. Ingram and the Misses Estelle Rubin, Irma Katz, Hazel Cochran and Mrs. J. C. Draper.

An attractive feature was the demonstration of the newest dances by Miss Irma Katz and Stanley Scheuer and Miss Irma Lane and Will O. Harris, who impersonated the Castles and the Cranes.

Owensmouth.

A CABARET dance was given at the West Ranch on Saturday evening last, with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jeffrey as hosts. The affair was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edward Page, a bridal couple of the month. The dining-room, living-rooms and porches were transformed into a French cafe, profusely decorated with wild flowers. Pleasing features of the entertainment were Scotch songs and stories by John Anderson, vocal solos by Ward Smith and Miss Vera Morrow, a piano duet by Melbourne Sweezy and Clyde Robinson.

In addition to the guests of honor there were present Mr. and Mrs. Will Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Tweedy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Russell, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Leigh Page, Misses Elvira Bird, Estelle Smith, Kathleen Dodge, Lillie-May Gaskill, Vera Morrow, Messrs. Robert Jeffrey, George Jeffrey, Ben Herndon, Frank Fuller, Kenneth Crawford, James Gaskill, Paul Vincent Tuttle, Fred Dodge, Ray Holmes, Ward Smith, Maxwell Tuttle, Melbourne, Sweezy, Clyde Robinson.

Miss Helen Ruth Oldham of Enid, Okla., who is touring the State, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Jarboe. Miss Oldham will visit the San Diego and San Francisco expositions.

Rialto.

MANY farewell affairs are being given complimentary to Miss Iva Moffat. One of especial delight was the whist and dancing party given by Mrs. H. M. Lash at her attractive home on San Bernardino avenue, where the interior was a golden picture with a profusion of poppies and grace nasturtiums. At cards the winner, Miss Pauline Farner, was presented with a beautiful hand-painted china piece, carrying out the color note in the State flower, while Mrs. Will Martin received the consolation prize, a cute little kewpie. Following the games a charmingly-appointed luncheon was served by the gracious hostess and enjoyed with merry chat.

Guests included Misses Iva Moffat, Edna May Winslow, Pauline Farner, Ruey Seiple, Erna Robertson, Marion Richards, Pauline and Susan Wellborn, Elizabeth Johnson, Frances Farner, Grace Bemis, Leota Humphrey, Courtney Nealey, Bernice Blankenship, Mesdames Will Martin, Justin Seiple, Delbert Stewart, Irvin Johnson, and Franklin Earl Downing of Fontana.

On Tuesday evening Miss Moffat was again the complimented guest at a reception, given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Congregational Church. The C. E. Assembly Room was artistically decorated with roses and a pleasantly informal evening was enjoyed. The most interesting feature came when the president, Miss Ruey Seiple, in a few well chosen words, presented the guest of honor with a beautiful brooch in behalf of the society. The pin is of pure gold with pearl setting and the wishbone shape, happily suggestive, will long serve as a reminder of the good wishes of old Rialto friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood of Olive street, proved the happiest of entertainers at a charming affair given for the members and friends of the Congregational Church choir. A profusion of roses surrounded the guests with their appealing beauty and fragrance while most enjoyable sociability prevailed. Light refreshments, served by the hostess, brought to conclusion one of the pleasantest events of the week, guests including: Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Mathes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moffat, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rausch, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lash, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Melville, Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Kressen, Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow Workman, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bolser, Misses Louise, Margaret and Katherine Oliver, Iva Moffat, Edna May Winslow, Frances Frankenburg, Charles Lash, Russel and Everett Winslow.

Two popular young women who have furnished the motif for many delightful festivities are Miss Lillian Lloyd of Detroit, Michigan, and Miss Hazel Hover of Lima, Ohio, who are stopping at the C. G. Milligan home on Riverside avenue. On Wednesday evening Mrs. Milligan entertained for them with a charmingly appointed whist party at which a delicious course supper was served.

Colton.

WITH a pink-and-white theme carried out in the appointments of the dinner party occurring Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Canady and given by Mrs. Canady in compliment to her husband's birthday anniversary, the affair was charming from an artistic standpoint. Pink garlands of ribbon and pink and white roses were used chiefly as decorations with pink-toned candles for the immense birthday cake that graced the table's center. Those bidden to share the birthday festivity numbered Mr. and Mrs. Dale Montgomery, Mrs. O. H. Hindman, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Woods, the Misses Fern and Hilda Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Tuller and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Shue, Miss Gertrude Shue and Claude Miles of Redlands, Mrs. Hampton of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Gammile of Glendale, E. Muschewske, the Misses Pearl and Thelma Muschewske, Miss Ivalou Bailiff and the host and hostess and two children.

Miss Evelyn Harper was hostess to a large group of friends in the younger social set Tuesday evening, the spacious J. E. Harper home being thrown open for an informal dance. During a late hour intermission a light lunch was served. The young people who made merry included the Misses Mamie, Ida and Ethel Paul, Irma and Alta Rowsey, Ivalou Bailiff, Pearl Muschewske, Eleanor Wood, Edna Gorrall, Thelma Isbell, Gladys York, Blanche Tilley, Elizabeth Ebert, Celeste Walsh of Los Angeles, Evelyn and Helen Harper, Frank Rowsey, Lawrence Klinker, Lawrence Hennessy of San Bernardino, Chester Hartley, Lucien Newcomer, Ray Champion, Karl Ebert, Ralph Hatchett, Archie Hatchett, Kenneth Raynor, Lester Winthren of Los Angeles, Edward Barnett, Erwin Berndt, Bryan Barnett and Edwin Harper.

Mrs. Otto Lantz and two little sons are here from Long Beach for a visit with Mrs. Lantz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hebberd.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Bailey have returned from a three weeks' stay with relatives in Los Angeles.

Miss Jessie Barnhill arrived home Wednesday from a fortnight's visit with college friends at the University of California at Berkeley and with other friends in San Francisco.

San Fernando.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY CLAY HARDING have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Caroline, and Mr. William Thomas Burr. This interesting event will take place Wednesday evening, the fifth of May, in the patio of the Porter Hotel. The many friends of the popular young couple will not be disappointed and the affair will be large and particularly beautiful. Miss Harding and Mr. Burr are receiving numerous prenuptial honors. Friday Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Wright entertained in their honor at luncheon. Orange blossoms in their fragrance graced the table, and place cards of wild roses and wedding bells marked covers for Mrs. Anna Burr, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hubbard, Mrs. C. C. Troxel, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harding, Mrs. Fred Shaffer, Mrs. H. P. Confer, Miss Harding and Mr. Burr.

Cordelia: No, I cannot recommend egg shampoos. I always use canthrox, which is made for washing the hair only and is not a makeshift. The cost is about three cents a shampoo and is very simple to use. Just get some canthrox from the drug store and dissolve one teaspoonful in a cup of hot water; then it is ready. It will at once dissolve all dandruff and excess oil, leaving the scalp sweet and clean—the hair so bright and fluffy that you will enjoy doing it up, and its stimulating effect will soon be noticeable by the amount of new hair produced.

Miriam: Dear girl, you will always have a poor complexion as long as you use face powder, which clogs the pores. Make up this formula at home and use for a little while and your complexion troubles will be at an end: Into ½ pint witch hazel or hot water put 4 ounces spurmax and 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply sparingly and rub lightly until dry. This imparts a dainty tint and exquisite loveliness to the skin and is actually invisible when on and seems part of the skin. Neither wind nor perspiration will affect the spurmax lotion and one application in the morning will last throughout the day.

Troubled: Here is that simple formula for relief from over-fatness, and so many think it the only genuine flesh-reducer: Into 1½ pints hot water dissolve 4 ounces parnotis and take 1 tablespoonful 3 times a day. They have found this parnotis treatment is gradual and positive in its action and does not require dieting or vigorous exercising. When the weight is sufficiently reduced one's figure is well rounded and the skin smooth and clear.

May: You should not worry about easily removable with this vegetable cream-jelly, easily prepared at home as follows: Get from your druggist 1 ounce almozoin and dissolve in ½ pint cold water and add 1 teaspoonful glycerine. Cleanse and dry the skin before using. Then apply to the wrinkles. This treatment stimulates the stunted tissues and they soon resume their normal functions. When this is done the wrinkles or lines vanish.

New Wedding Stationery

Sketch of new Gothic double-fold wedding sheet—as usual, first shown by S. Nordlinger & Sons.

Our present display of wedding stationery is the most comprehensive ever exhibited by this house—including not only the very newest correct forms direct from New York, but several unique novel effects not shown elsewhere in Los Angeles—

—Wedding Invitations
—Announcements
—At Home Cards
—Church Cards
—Reception Cards

Since the inception of its Stationery Department, the House of Nordlinger has executed a large part of the wedding stationery for fashionable weddings in Los Angeles and vicinity—a tribute to Nordlinger's originality and workmanship from "those who know."

In Our South Window—

—we are displaying an accurately modeled replica in miniature of a European cathedral in pure Gothic design. This interesting study—the most elaborate and original conception ever used in connection with a display of wedding stationery—is the work of William Auener, famous European architectural sculptor.

SOCIETY.

for them, Saturday evening, at dinner. The dining-room was a bower of pink carnations and ferns. The same flowers prevailed at the table, corsage bouquets and boutonnières at each cover adding greatly to the charm. Covers were laid for ten.

Honoring the forty-ninth anniversary of their marriage, a number of old friends greeted Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Brown, Sunday, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ray Aguilar. Mr. and Mrs. Brown were married in New Orleans, La., April 11, 1866, and resided there until last October, when they moved to San Fernando to be near their daughter and her family. They have made numerous friends since their arrival, and also found many of their old Louisiana friends in this part of the country.

Mrs. Livingstone P. Ferris left yesterday for San Diego, and after a visit there will go to San Francisco. Mr. Ferris accompanied her to the Panama-California Exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Wilson greatly enjoyed a motor trip to San Luis Obispo during the week. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strader.

Mrs. John Hendrickson is the guest of friends in Pasadena, where she is receiving many social honors.

San Jacinto.

THE shakespeare Club entertained at the beautiful ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Inwall on Friday afternoon. Vocal and instrumental selections were rendered and at the close of the afternoon, most delicious refreshments were served. The principal number was given by members of the club, and consisted of selections from the "Merchant of Venice." The number was greatly appreciated by the large number of guests and it evidenced much work and careful study on the part of the ladies. About seventy-five were present.

Mrs. James Cook returned Wednesday from an extended visit with friends in Los Angeles.

Miss Lulu Malone, president of the P.E.O. Society, and Mrs. D. A. Kingsbury, are delegates to the district convention of the society to be held in Alhambra next week.

Mrs. W. H. Sanders and son, Elmore, returned to Alhambra Friday with Mr. Sanders, after spending a week visiting with San Jacinto friends.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Record are entertaining relatives from Riverside this week.

Misses Shirley and Ines Hyatt, daughters of State Superintendent Edward Hyatt, left this week for Sacramento, after a three months' visit at their old home in San Jacinto. The young ladies made the trip north by automobile, piloting the machine over the 600-mile trip by themselves.

Mrs. E. F. Kerr left this week for Fullerton, to be absent for two weeks with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Hofmann are entertaining Mr. Hofmann's father and mother, who have recently arrived from St. Louis to spend several months here.

F. A. Lowe, brother of C. D. Lowe, arrived this week from Washington to make his home with his brother's family in San Jacinto.

Santa Paula.

A MERRY party of young people, chaperoned by Mrs. H. N. Snyder, and Mrs. W. C. Wannell, spent the week-end at Sulphur Mountain Springs, enjoying the outdoor sports of the resort.

A bungalow home, nestled among an abundance of spring blossoms in Santa Paula canyon, was the scene, Wednesday, of the wedding of Mrs. Isabel Elliott McDonald and George W. Stoner. The ceremony, which took place at eight in the morning, was performed by the Rev. George A. Miller. Harley Stoner, son of the groom, acted as best man and Mrs. Earl Stoner was matron of honor. The bride wore a traveling costume of putty color with brown trimming. A wedding breakfast was served to the few invited guests, prior to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Stoner for a visit in San Francisco.

After the close of the lodge work in the week's meeting of the Petrolia Rebekah Lodge, when two new members were initiated, an old-fashioned spelling match was the cause of much merriment. A box lunch was followed by dancing, forming a delightful evening.

Miss Irene Clark of Saticoy presided at a charming affair Saturday when she entertained at Glen Tavern with a dinner dance in honor of her house guests, Miss Mildred Thompson of Buffalo, N. Y., Miss May MacCormack of Tacoma, and Miss Winifred Owen of Los Angeles. Miss Thompson and Miss MacCormack were sorority sisters of Miss Clark at Stanford. Miniature flower pots and dainty baskets of flowers were given as favors for the dinner, which was served at a beautifully decorated table.

An abundance of spring blossoms was used effectively in decorating for the dinner given at the Universalist Church Tuesday evening for the members of the choir who took part in the Easter cantata. Pink and white for the color scheme, was carried out in hand-painted place cards and Cecil Brunner roses, corsage bouquets of these adorning each place. The dinner was in charge of Mrs. L. Hall, who was assisted by Mrs. C. C. Teague and Mrs. Herbert Hall. An enjoyable musical programme completed the evening.

Mrs. Allan McKevett was hostess to the Friday Embroidery Club at its regular meeting.

The canyon home of Mrs. George Briggs was the scene of the week's meeting of the Auction Bridge Club, Monday afternoon.

Oxnard.

COMPLIMENTING Miss Bernice Snively, a popular member of the younger set, whose marriage to Earl G. Ruggles will take place next week, several pleasant social affairs have been given this week. The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shillington was the scene of a miscellaneous shower given for Miss Snively by their daughters, Mrs. Louis Penland of Somis and Mrs. Homer Barr of Hueneme. Sixteen guests enjoyed an afternoon of informal games, prizes being awarded to Miss Snively and Mrs. Carl Dwire. At the close of the afternoon a basket filled with presents for the bride-to-be was carried into the room. The house was prettily decorated in spring flowers.

The Monday Club, of which Miss Snively is a member, gave a shower in her honor Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Hummel. The house was prettily decorated in white, roses and orange blossoms being used. The afternoon was spent in playing Five Hundred. The prize was won by Mrs. George P. Austin. Dainty refreshments were served, and Miss Snively was presented with a gift from the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Borchard entertained at cards at their country home Thursday evening. An enjoyable luncheon followed the playing of Five Hundred.

The Junior Culture Class gave its fifth studio tea Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Bertha Muller, when the girls of the class acted as hostesses to their friends and relatives. Readings were given by the members of the class, and a theme from Shakespeare's "Tempest" presented.

Members of the Oxnard Monday Club were the guests, Thursday afternoon, of the Fortnightly Club of Somis at a musical recital given by Mrs. Frank Freeman, district chairman of the music department of the association of women's clubs. The members of the Simi and Santa Rosa Clubs were also guests of the Somis ladies, and a delightful afternoon was spent.

Miss Leola Garner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Garner of Somis, and J. T. Thornton of Uplands, were married at the home of the bride's parents, east of here, the ceremony being performed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. They will reside in Uplands.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Borchard entertained at cards Wednesday evening at their home east of here, two tables of Five Hundred being played. The affair was nominally in honor of the first birthday of little Albert Borchard, a one-candle cake being exhibited to the guests, who brought dainty and amusing gifts, suitable for one-year-olds.

Calico dresses and overalls, soft shirts and sunbonnets, were the garb for the Haymakers' dance Friday, which was attended by about 150 couples. The distinctive feature of the evening was a large souvenir button with the picture of a happy father, and bearing the words, "Haymakers, April 16, 1915."

Redlands.

MRS. G. G. MOSELEY acted as hostess for the Spinet Club at the luncheon given Tuesday at the Country Club in honor of Miss Marcia Craft of Riverside, grand-opera star, and Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, the well-known composer. There were about forty members of the club present to meet the two musicians. One large table and two smaller ones, decorated with La France roses, were used. After the luncheon Miss Craft delighted the company with several songs.

A musical entertainment was given by the Eastern Star at the Masonic clubhouse on Wednesday evening. Mrs. C. M. Brown was in charge of the programme given. The guests included members of the two chapters of San Bernardino. Mrs. J. L. Avey was chairman of the committee in charge of the decorations and Mrs. M. Callahan had charge of the refreshments. Several vocal and instrumental numbers were given.

Dr. Louise Harvey Clarke of Riverside entertained the members of the Contemporary Club on Monday afternoon with a discussion of the various bills and amendments now before the Legislature of interest to clubwomen. Dr. Clarke is the chairman of the committee on legislation of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and her address was a very able one.

The Spinet, the musical organization, has announced that the concert given by the Barrerre Ensemble, of wood instruments, given here on Monday night is not to be the last of the season. The Spinet guarantees three artist's concerts each year and they have been given, Ruth St. Denis and her company, Alma Gluck and the Barrerre Ensemble. The patronage this year was above the average and the Spinet is enabled to announce an extra concert to be given by Creatore's Band on May 17. The concert given by the Barrerre troupe of oboes, horns, clarinets and bassoons, was one of the most unique ever heard here.

The most successful high school play in many years was given by the senior class at the Contemporary Clubhouse on Saturday evening. It was "A Strenuous Life" and not a little credit for the success is due to Mr. and Mrs. Willis Marks of Los Angeles, who coached the members of the cast. Those in the cast were Harold W. Kincher, Herbert S. Nicks, Leland S. Holiday, Walter J. Seavey, Warren L. Ashleigh, Don O. Rice, Alonzo L. Stannard, George Mizota, Charles V. Browning, Marjorie Knowlton, Louise H. Reeves, Aileen R. Andrews, Sara L. Black and Lois Keep. William Carson was manager of the play.

Mrs. H. G. Clement and Mrs. H. C. Emm entertained the lady members of the faculty of the High School and the wives of the men teachers at the home of Mrs. Clement on Buena Vista street on Friday afternoon. There were about twenty-five present, the afternoon being spent in an informal way. Roses were used in decorating the home.

In honor of Mr. and Mrs. G. Griffith, eastern friends who have been spending several weeks here, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wilder entertained at their beautiful home on Dwight street with a garden party on Thursday afternoon. A huge canvas had been spread over the floor of the tennis court and late in the afternoon the guests enjoyed dancing under the shade of the big trees. The guests included most of the members of the social set of the city.

The seventh annual reunion of the New England Society is to be held on Friday evening, April 30, at the Congregational Church. The programme for this year is in charge of Miss Hope Potter. Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. A. C. Cameron was the hostess at the Saturday afternoon tea at the Country Club, which was followed by bridge and dancing. There were a large number of the golfers and ladies at the clubhouse for the afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Rivera entertained at her home on Grant street Friday afternoon with a dinner, to commemorate her birthday anniversary. The table was decorated with ropes of pink and white roses. The guests included friends from San Bernardino and Los Angeles.

The annual picnic of the primary department of the First Methodist Sunday-school was held at Sylvan Park on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. H. E. Gates was in general charge. F. H. Clock was head of the committee that provided the automobiles to take the children to the park.

The ladies of the Unitarian Church entertained Tuesday evening, giving "Place Aux Dames," a short farce. Mrs. Calder Bennet sang and there were other interesting features.

Ontario.

GOLD OF OPHIR and Etoile de France roses were the chosen decoration of Mrs. S. C. Henderson for two charming afternoon affairs with which she entertained on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week at No. 215 West E street. The first event was a musicale, and those assisting were Mrs. P. W. MacMullen, contralto; Miss Onnie C. Eymann, pianist, and Miss G. Hoskins, 'cellist. A tempting collation was served during the afternoon. The guests numbered Mrs. Ernest W. Thayer, Mrs. Alfred P. Harwood, Mrs. H. S. Richardson, Mrs. MacMullen, Mrs. Benton Ballou, Mrs. H. E. Hamilton, Mrs. Charles Pierce Fuller, Mrs. Jefferson Taylor, Mrs. George Briton Harding, Miss H. S. Turner, Miss Eymann, Mrs. George Arthur McCrea, Mrs. Charles Kittridge Chadwick, Mrs. C. H. Pepper, Mrs. Charles Leo Tuttle, Miss Hoskins, Mrs. W. W. Hibbard and Mrs. Nathaniel L. Mitchell.

Mrs. Henderson was hostess on Wednesday at a progressive Five Hundred tournament. The prize was captured by Mrs. William Starbuck Fenton. The games were followed by a luncheon. The guests included Mrs. Frank Monroe Taylor, Mrs. Leonard Baugh Fowler, Mrs. Elwin A. Magill, Mrs. Samuel H. Gardner, Mrs. Howard Raymond Berg, Mrs. George B. Sell, Mrs. W. John Campbell, Mrs. William Starbuck Fenton, Mrs. Charles Pierce Fuller, Mrs. H. S. Richardson, Mrs. W. P. MacMullen, Mrs. John Stewart Ingalls, Mrs. Harvey Smith Abbott, Mrs. William P. Rayner, Mrs. Ambrose Barclay Wyckoff, Mrs. Wellington Arthur Freemire and Mrs. W. J. Willetts.

In joint celebration of the anniversary of their births, Miss Eleanor Nichols and Raymond Hammel entertained a number of their friends Monday evening at the home of the latter, No. 318 West A street. Spring blossoms and greenery added to the attractiveness of the rooms, and the evening was spent at dancing. A supper was served. Those present included Miss Nichols, Miss Dorothy Shaw, Miss Marie Kemna, Miss Irma Slauter, Miss Geraldine Waltz, Miss Marcelle Richards, Miss Hilda Jessup, Miss Helen Mertz, Miss Florence Kirkpatrick, Richard Waltz, Alexander McCrea, John Collins, Samuel Collins, Veeder South, Roy Hammel, Courtland Hammel, Eugene Nisbet, Morris Harper, George Slauter, Lawrence Mertz, Clarence Milling, Lloyd Leeson and Ted Johnson.

The annual picnic of the Tuesday Thimble Club was one of the interesting events of the week. The picnickers journeyed by automobiles to Red Hill Park, where they spent the day in hiking over the hills and gathering wild flowers. A bountiful lunch was a feature of the day. Those attending included Mrs. Edward Davis, Mrs. Leonard Baugh Fowler, Mrs. Albert Jay Hall, Mrs. Charles Latimer, Mrs. Benjamin F. Webber, Miss Grace Minton Elliot, Miss Mabel Gray, Miss Muriel Hamilton, Miss Gertrude Hobby, Miss Ethel Leeke, Miss Jane Martin, Miss Mary Pollock, Miss Grace Smyth and Miss Katharine Salter.

News of the marriage Wednesday at Monrovia of Miss Fay Elizabeth Stoner and Herbert Edward Pheysey, two well-known young people of Ontario, came as a distinct surprise to their many friends. The wedding took place at the home of an aunt of the bride, Miss A. K. Collins, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Marsh.

Mrs. Charles Leo Tuttle was hostess at a charming musicale Monday at her home in West E street. Mrs. Tuttle is the possessor of a soprano voice of exceptional quality and was heard in some twenty numbers, to the delight of her guests. She was assisted by Hobart Alter with selections on the violin. Mrs. Tuttle was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. N. D. Danforth of Los Angeles, while Mrs. Henry Edson Swan, Mrs. George Briton Harding and Mrs. A. C. Elliot presided at the tea table.

Claremont.

TWO well-known Pomona College graduates, Miss Clara Kommers and Harry V. Hall, plighted their troth last Friday evening before a group of friends in the parlors of the Claremont church. About eighty close friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Dean E. C. Norton, uncle of the groom. The bride, lovely in soft, white silk, over which flowed the sheer veil caught up with orange blossoms, and carrying a bouquet of white rosebuds, was attended by her sister, Miss Julia Kommers. O. E. Atwood of Ontario acted as best man to the groom.

The couple will make their home in San Diego, where Mr. Hall is employed as government horticultural inspector. He graduated from Pomona in 1912 and after serving in the north under Dr. Cook for a year, he was given the commission at San Diego. The bride's former home was in National City and she was one of the graduates of the class of 1914.

A charmingly staged and costumed operetta entitled "Bulbul," was presented in the High School auditorium last Friday evening under the direction of Miss Helen Bacon. The story is that of a young princess destined to wed against her will a man she has never met before. But a happy solution comes when she meets the prince disguised and falls in love with him. Miss Edith Ernst played remarkably well the part of the lovely young princess, while Alan Kingman took the role of the handsome prince. The other characters were also well taken by members of the [illegible] Glee Club.

Mrs. Paul Pearsall has restored the old-time russet shoe to a first place in fashionable favor, as she takes her daily walk in the shopping district. With a smartly tailored serge suit Mrs. Pearsall wears russet colonials, trimmed in small plain gilt buckles, and a hemp hat of her favorite violet trimmed in wings to match.

Miss Elizabeth Reeside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reeside, is also one of the sponsors of the russet shoe in its new form, which is just half way between shoe and slipper. With hose to match this is quite the most comfortable fashion in footwear Washington can have in the spring season.

A particularly smart evening gown worn at one of the spring balls by Miss Juliette Janin is silver embroidered tulle on a taffeta foundation, a delicate gray with a slight ingredient of pink. This would seem a gray sedate enough for a dowager instead of one of the younger belles, except for the fact that a girdle and sash of pink keys up the silver tones in a very becoming as well as modish fashion.

Another handsome gown showing how even the younger belles are inclining to colored gowns, is an all-lace dancing frock of Miss Callie Hoke Smith, which bears every mark of a recent importation from Paris. This is ecru net over pink chiffon with an overdress of ecru and gold lace. The lace is flouncing some twelve inches deep, but instead of being put on as flouncing has its edges sewn together, making an unbroken line of the lace from belt to hem. Between the net foundation and the lace overdress, which are one length, is an embellishment of ribbon, a narrow sky-blue ribbon, first laid in close quillings, then put on the skirt just above the knees in deep, circular motifs. This same touch of pale blue, to accomplish which bolts and bolts of ribbon must have been used, is applied to the bodice. There is no girdle, but directly in front, and in the back narrow lines of quaint little French roses and blue garden flowers mark the waist line.

Mrs. George Summerline has one of the prettiest of new dancing frocks in the changeable rose color. This is made of the new faille, and old material brought back to 1915 requirements by the French manufacturers. Mrs. Summerline's skirt is full, with the perfectly straight hem. The two-inch ruffles, which are attached to the skirt by a narrow corded heading, are frayed on their lower edge, giving the appearance of silver fringe. One of these ruffles describes a scollop of ten or twelve inches in depth, about the bottom of the skirt. The second forms a shorter decoration about the hips. The top of the gown is of soft cream lace with a high girdle of the faille, plus a narrow line. Belt of changeable blue and tan silk, held by a cluster of small blue flowers.

Miss Helena Elliott, whose fame as a well dressed young person is so fully recognized that she received the first prize at the Beaux Arts benefit at the New Willard, is one of the wise young women of the present day purchasing her French gowns through a Washington importer. This particular frock worn at the smartest dance of the spring season as yet seen, is apricot satin and point d'esprit with ruffled skirt and pointed bodice, the latter showing that the waist line of our great-grandmothers has returned, for all fortunate enough to re-establish it. The skirt is covered in ruffles, one satin and one point d'esprit, alternating in two materials, which are identical in color. The sleeves are little more than puffs. The small bouquet, without which no dress is now complete, is of forget-me-nots and rests on the stiff little belt that marks the waist line.

Mrs. John W. Dwight, wife of the former Representative from New York, who is back from Europe and occupying her home in R street for the spring season, is looking smart and attractive as ever in a tailored suit of light-weight cloth striped in white. Mrs. Dwight wears a small black hat, with its trimming a white and black fantasy, and carries out the new modish color scheme in gloves and boots.

The Misses Delano, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Delano, formerly of Chicago, but now permanently located in Washington, are distinct acquisitions to the younger set who are given to individual style in dress that is both becoming and smart. Miss Delano is wearing a pink taffeta, simply draped and unadorned by any trimming. Miss Laura Delano is wearing a red satin gown, on much the same lines as her sister, except that it has an embellishment of good lace.

Two brides-to-be, who are daily refuting the old idea that a girl is never so badly dressed as when collecting her trousseau, are Miss Eleanor Reyburn and Miss Cora Barry. Miss Reyburn, whose wedding takes place early in June, is extremely smart in a two-piece tailored suit of Newport tan cloth. Her skirt, some six inches from the ground, is laid in clusters of box plaits that fall straight and loose from the belt. Her coat is several inches shorter than the half length coat much in vogue, with the flare from the waist line. With this she wears a hat of the same color straw in an English walking shape, the severity of which is modified by the deep band of purple clematis going completely around the crown. Miss Barry is wearing what she calls a "sport suit;" a mottled, loose weave in green and gray that is the last word in cut and finish. This skirt, while short enough for practical purposes, is well over the tops of the wearer's boots. The jacket is a Norfolk model with belt of the cloth, while the skirt has the new cut-in pockets, two of them, directly in front. Miss Barry's hat is a black straw in a round, conventional shape with narrow, upturned brim on which two handsome black quills form a wreath. The panache of flowers, and the wreath of quills or feathers that ordinarily point skyward, are few of the many trifling changes that make the sum of difference in the millinery of this and last season.

ACTIVE WOMEN.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of the Vice-President, was given the first reception in the Congressional Women's Club, "the women's auxiliary to Congress," as some facetiously call it. The clubhouse is the outcome of the gift of a site in the spring of 1913 by Mrs. John B. Henderson, widow of the former Senator from Missouri, who for more than a quarter of a century has been a leader of Washington society.

Marchioness Taccoli, wife of the new first secretary to the royal embassy in Washington, is already a leader in foreign diplomatic society. Her gowns and jewels are described as magnificent.

Mrs. James T. McDermott, wife of the Chicago Congressman, is an authority on household furnishings, is famous as a cook and is always immaculately arrayed in the latest models.

Miss Gratia S. Erickson, a registered voter at Evanston, Ill., has been doing suffragette campaign work in Philadelphia, but made a flying trip of 1600 miles to her home in order to cast her ballot at the recent election.

Mme. Von Stumm, whose marriage to the then secretary of the German Embassy was an international romance several seasons ago, and who as Miss Constance Hoyt was interested in many charitable and philanthropic movements, has joined the Red Cross ranks in Berlin.

Mrs. Albert Cummins, wife of the Senator from Iowa, has been for several years President-General of the Children of the American Revolution and has in that time greatly enlarged its chapters. The aim of the organization is to teach American children of Revolutionary ancestry the ideals of patriotism.

Miss Gertrude Dallas is the first American girl to be admitted to the Russian Drama School.

EDUCATORS, AUTHORS.

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, declared at a meeting of Baptist ministers recently that the present is no time to pray for peace, especially a peace at any price. A sudden termination of the European conflict would set civilization back several centuries, Dr. Eliot said.

Horatio Oliver Ladd, founder of the University of New Mexico in 1881, and which he served as president for a number of years, is still quite active, despite his seventy-six years. He also founded the Ramona Indian School at Santa Fe, as well as the United States Indian School there. After serving as a Congregational minister in Michigan he entered the Episcopal ministry, and in time became rector of Trinity Church, Fishkill, N. Y. In 1910 he became rector emeritus. As an author he is well known, having written such works as "The War with Mexico," "Ramona Days" and "The Story of New Mexico."

Clarke Butler Whittier, successor to Judge Emlin McClain as head of the law department of Leland Stanford University, graduated from that school in 1893. Since 1902 he has been professor of law at the University of Chicago. He practiced law in Los Angeles after graduating, and in 1897 became an instructor of law at Stanford, remaining five years, with two promotions. He is recognized as an authority on common-law pleading, and is a member of the American Bar Association.

Prof. Alfred Marston Tozzer, who will lecture on anthropology during the summer school session of Harvard University, is one of the foremost living authorities on the subject. He is a native of Massachusetts, a graduate of Harvard, and assistant professor of anthropology at the university. He is a member of various American and European scientific institutions, and as an author is known by such works as "A Comparative Study of the Mayas and Lacandones," "Ruins of Tikal" and "Ruins of Nakum."

Gustav Hollaender, one of the most potent musical educational factors in Germany, recently celebrated his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary. Twenty years ago he took over the Stern Conservatory of Berlin. Last year it numbered some 1400 pupils, with representatives from practically every civilized country in the world. He was born at Leobschuetz in 1855, and for many years was active as a soloist, concert master, teacher and chamber music performer. Originally he was a violinist. From 1874 to 1881 he remained in the Prussian capital, and during the last three years of this period he made a name for himself as a chamber music interpreter. In 1881 he was called to Cologne as concert master of the Gurzenich concerts and as teacher at the Cologne Conservatory. Three years later he also accepted the post of concert master at the Cologne Opera. There he remained, undertaking from time to time concert tours through Germany, Belgium and Holland, till 1895, when he became director of the Stern Conservatory.

OVER THE SEA.

French political life bears the reputation of being so full of vicissitudes that it is somewhat surprising to find that a member of the Chamber of Deputies can claim a much longer record of parliamentary service than the present father of the House of Commons. This distinction belongs to M. de Mackau, who is 82 years of age, and has sat for the Department of Arne since 1866, first in the Corps Legislative of the second empire, and subsequently in every Chamber of Deputies elected under the third republic. None of the present members of the House of Commons was elected before 1868.

Baroness Margaret Uray-Uray, who has been spending the winter in New York, and concerning whom a number of inquiries have been received, belongs both by birth and by her former marriage—now dissolved by divorce—to one of the oldest families in Hungary, which can trace its descent back to the days of Arpad, one of its members being on historic record as having been provincial Governor of Tsatmar, in the year A.D. 1306. The baronial title, however, is of very modern origin, and was first bestowed in 1864.

Dr. Yang Ming Feng, special commissioner of the Minister of Agriculture of China, has arrived in this country to study labor and commercial conditions. He will make an extensive tour of the United States, gathering ideas which will be employed in solving the present difficulties of the oriental government. He will also promote trade relations between the two countries. In an interview he said: "In our country we have unlimited resources, but our people have not been active enough. I hope to be able to larn much of your activities and business methods to disclose to my countrymen."

E. J. Tanner of McKinney, Ky., gets his name misspelled so often that he has had printed the following card: My name is not E. J. Farmer, nor C. J. Tanner, nor E. J. Hanna, nor D. J. Turner, nor E. J. McKinney, nor P. J. Darner, nor F. M. Dare, but E. J. Tanner. My address is not McKinley, nor McHenry, nor McKenzie, nor McKenna, but McKinney.

FOR COLDS, INFLUENZA, COUGHS, SORE THROAT GRIP

To get the best results, take Dr. Humphreys' "Seventy-seven" at the first chill or shiver, the first feeling of the Grip.

If you wait till your bones begin to ache, till you cough and sneeze, have sore throat and influenza, it may take longer.

Pleasant to take, handy to carry, fits the vest pocket.

DON'T WASH YOUR HAIR WITH SOAP

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quicly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Simple Home Treatment to Remove Hairy Growths

(Beauty Culture)

Two or three minutes' use of a delatone paste will banish every bit of hair from your face, neck or arms. This paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone and it will be clear and spotless. You will not be disappointed with this treatment if you are sure to obtain real delatone from your druggist.

FOR WOMEN AND MEN.

Facts, Features and Fancies.

BY OLIVE GRAY.

SOMETIMES I think that we fail to realize how great are the privileges and the achievements of women in Southern California. We rather take for granted all that we have and are. Occasionally, when strangers visit us, we are given a glimpse, through their eyes, of how we look. This happened recently to me when some friends here from the eastern coast commented upon the high estate of women in Los Angeles. Their view was partially at least a social one, but it was also business. At a tea where there were present only women engaged in the active work of preparing advertising, the visitors were amazed that so many and such bright girls, all working along one line and that so important a one, could be gathered together. "And these are only committees and their chairmen!" said the hostess. "There are in the club which these women represent, forty-five women, all actively engaged in the preparation of important advertising, some connected with the largest concerns in the city or on the Pacific Coast, and expending thousands of dollars per annum for the firms which they represent."

The next occasion of astonishment to the eastern visitors was what the hostess called "A brilliant women's tea." "No one invited," said she, "save women who have made real successes in some line of work by which they make their living." Before asking each to contribute some story or anecdote relating to her experience, the hostess sketched the career of those present. One was a writer of books which had attained to national fame. One was second in executive position in a great high school. Another was an eminent chemist. One was a successful surgeon and was in fact obliged to leave early to perform an operation in a big hospital. One dealt in building materials and had figured upon and in the construction of some of the largest skyscrapers and apartment-houses in our city. One painted pictures which really sell, as well as adorn the line at exhibitions. Another operated mines. Real estate had made the fortune of one. A firm grasp upon the law caused another to be looked upon as successful as well as influential.

"I wonder," I said to myself (happening to be present at both gatherings as an innocent by-stander,) "whether it would be possible everywhere to bring together so many women of such attainments, or whether after all we are doing greater things here than elsewhere?" The surprise of the eastern visitors led me to think that we have forged ahead of women in other localities—or at least in the conservative East.

An Annual Sale.

You know each of the big stores in Los Angeles has some special manner of conducting its great annual sale. One which will hold the center of the stage during the coming week makes it a point once a year to turn over to its buyers the selling end of the business. For this sale there is much rivalry among buyers as to who shall be able to offer the greatest bargains. To excel, it requires long months of preparation and most careful purchasing in the eastern and foreign markets. One will say: "Just wait until the Buyers' Sale, and you will see what I have done!" Occasionally the sales manager of the store will say: "You will never be able to get out on that!" This is a sort of challenge and it is up to the buyer to show that he can. As for ourselves—you and I—we are not concerned as to whether the store makes or loses on the sale, provided that we get the bargains. And we shall get them this time. It is a Buyers' Sale in more senses than one; and if I mistake not, you and I—who know bargains when we see them—will be the buyers.

"Rats" May Scare but not Ratine.

None of us will run when we hear "ratine," for, even though the first syllable of the word scares us, the last two will attract. And it will especially attract when we find that it means a much-less price for this always wearable material. It is this—much less—in that sale. Just the wanted colors, too.

For Half.

Just half-price for those famous chocolates which would certainly have cheered the Mission Fathers could they have munched them in those long ago days when they trudged along El Camino Real. This is another advantage for us during that wondrous sale.

Cut by Hand.

If you want to see stars, you need not take a tumble—but make it comparative and take a tumbler. A cut-glass tumbler, I mean—and hand-cut, too. For a car fare each, in that big sale. Wonderful acrobatic feat this buyer accomplished when he was able to offer these!

Spare Ribs With Tomato Sauce.

Cover two pounds pork spare ribs with cold water and two tablespoons salt; let boil and skim; put in two red finger peppers—remove seeds—and two bay leaves. An hour before serving drop in whole medium-sized onions, sufficient for family. Boil very slowly, so that onions will not break. About twenty minutes before serving pour in one can of condensed tomato soup. If gravy is too thin thicken with flour stirred in a little cold water. Cook potatoes about thirty minutes, or until done. To serve, place ribs in middle of platter, then a row of potatoes, then onions, gravy over all.

Macaroni and Tomato Sauce.

Get a small package of your favorite macaroni; cook this in boiling salted water until tender; drain, place in a buttered baking dish, pour over it one can of condensed tomato soup, sprinkle the top with buttered crumbs and grated cheese, brown in the oven. A wonderful, tasty dish for an evening meal.

For Your Young Garden.

Ornamental trees for the price of going and coming. These are trees which will beautify your home grounds and which are sure to grow if planted now, just after the rains. There are also roses and those queens among flowers, gladiolas—all at for-less prices in celebration of this buyers' event. Blessed be the buyers.

Sub-Tropical.

That means that you will not have to move to the equator or thereabouts in order to make those trees grow. At least that is my translation of it. But, on the other hand, you can buy them as cheaply as though you were in a tropical climate. There are guavas, with several different surnames, and cherimoyas, fruiting passion vines and sepote. If you know what kinds of fruits all these have, you are a wise horticulturist, or agriculturist, or what-ever-sort of culturist sub-tropical growers are called. Anyhow, these unusual fruit things are to be had for but a fraction of a dollar, at that big Broadway store. One could get more than the money's worth of fun, just watching to see what-ever-sort of fruits these trees put forth.

At take-'em-away prices. That is what one person remarked and it really seems almost like that. There are some wonderful offerings among them, too. Why, the frames are worth more than is asked for pictures and frames, both.

Another Hat Sale.

Those hat sales on upper Broadway have become famous. You see, everybody knows that quality and style are features in especial of the millinery department there, and when the prices named are as low as for just ordinary hats, people flock. You cannot fool women on millinery bargains.

Corduroy, raised to a high estate by the whim of Dame Fashion, is no longer a material for tramp clothes and for work-a-day wear, but has become par excellence for sports clothes and even for dress-ups. As a matter of fact, so popular is this material that the stores cannot keep it in stock. That is why a sale for about half price per yard and in the new lovely colorings of the season, will create an excitement in dress circles. Hold your breath, count seven and then buy.

Pillows, Pillows, Everywhere.

You can scarcely believe how small a number of cents will give into your possession one of those clean, well-covered pillows. In this sale you may obtain, for several different prices, pillows of several different sizes, shapes and qualities. In short, you may obtain pillows for all uses. And pillows are a craze just now. You cannot have too many.

What Says Dame Fashion?

The Quakerish dress of plain color promises to be a favorite. It must have the broad collars and cuffs to be chic.

A very simple white blouse is pleated straight from the neck, and minus a collar, but cordings of black give it oddity and interest.

Distinguished evening dresses are made of dark blue tulle, cloudy, transparent affairs with a glint of iridescence in the underdress.

Many of the dresses of sheer material have skirts trimmed with a wide band of embroidery which divides the skirt in half.

The smart little jackets, bolero in front and slightly longer in back, are no smarter than those that extend with an easy flare over the hips.

Charming little gingham frocks for children are cut to hang straight from the shoulders, with belted fullness under the arms and laced up fronts.

Make the little girl's white dress to hang from the shoulders with a slight flare. Cut the neck square and finish it with a band of embroidery. Around the bottom put a band of the same embroidery, but wider.

Some of the new chapeaux with very narrow long streamers have a distinctly Chinese air.

Tiny jackets of checked material are lined with satin, offering a very strong contrast in color.

Odd and pretty is the skirt trimmed with tube-like rolls of self material around the bottom.

Gay, pretty, cross-stitch embroideries appear on gray Russian linens used for lunch cloths, etc.

When the taffetas for evening frocks have large flowered effects the frocks are of the simplest in design.

Evening dresses are given a touch of the picturesque by placing one or two roses on the skirt.

Not all the skirts show the close effect at the hips. Many are shirred full under pretty draped basques.

names of Dell Meadows and Sherrill are new to most of us. Brooker Mayhew, of course, is known, for her interesting work been shown in Los Angeles on occasions. Very recently she some of her attractive color at the exhibition of the Print in the Trinity Building.

It has seemed that she was too much absorbed decorative pattern in landscape, that she sacrificed, too often, the desideratum of values. Her was beautiful, as a piece of fabric is beautiful, but it did suggest nature, and it made attempt at attaining quality. Paint paint—but only as paint, not as a all this has changed, much to my . It would please me if I could that Mrs. Mayhew has listened grumblings, but as I can't do artists never will hark to —I will believe something better, that the light has come . Whatever the cause of the of heart and method, it is good for now Mrs. Mayhew makes than sketches. Her color is as as ever—more delightful, in it is truer—and she has won and pictorial composition. I am glad she has mustered the courage to show these thirteen canvases, because they are all worth seeing, and many of them have much charm.

Frank W. Cuprien.

When one has such an appropriate name as Dell Meadows one should take as naturally to landscape painting as a duck to water. Mrs. Meadows does, indeed, paint landscape, but she also paints figures posed out of doors, and she gets light and atmosphere around them. You will find these desirable qualities in "At Grandpa's," the study of a little girl in white feeding chickens, and you will also find a sympathetic understanding of childhood. "Plaza Mission" shows us sunlit walls that glow like copper; "Chinatown," simple and true, gives us the red and green buildings, the patch of sunlight before a door half open, the furtive figures before the door; "The Municipal market" is like the interior of a cathedral, bright colors showing through the gray gloom, the sunlight seen through the open door at the end shining like a lighted altar. Mrs. Meadows loves to paint the near and the familiar, feeling that the true qualities of a picture may be found anywhere.

Among her most successful pictures are "Coming of Night, Rocky Point," dark rocks against tones of gray-blue and pink; "Evening at the Old Ranch," buildings seen through two towering eucalyptus trees, with a flock of sheep in the foreground; "My Impression of Chase," an amazingly clever characterization done entirely with the palette knife from Mrs. Meadows's recollection of William M. Chase, when the celebrated painter delivered his lecture before the Friday Morning Club a few months ago.

Miss Sherrill shows seven excellent portrait studies, a few of them being in water color. Her aquarelles have much charm of color, are well handled in pure wash, and are strong in character. "Myself," a self-portrait, is one of the best. Good, too, is "Little Mary Jane," blues, simply and effectively handled. "The Babe," a study of mother and child, is delightfully sympathetic. Good oil portraits are those of "Ralph" and "Charles," two good-looking young men bearing strong facial evidences of being Miss Sherrill's brothers.

Along the Western Shore.

"The Western Shore" is the title Benjamin Brown has affixed to the largest and most important of the eighteen pictures he is now exhibiting in the gallery at Exposition Park. "Along the Western Shore" might be the name of any one of them, for all were recently painted in that Southwest which has held the artist in its thrall of enchantment for twenty years, and will, no doubt, hold him for the rest of his life.

Benjamin Brown came from St. Louis, but he has never, so far as I know, expressed a desire to go back. Today no man in all Southern California is more closely identified with its landscape art. Occasionally he shows us pictures from Paris and Venice, but these are done from sketches made in those places years ago, when he was a young student of art. For two-score years his freshest and newest work has always come from Southern California, and here, I think, he has also found his best inspiration. He is an eager and indefatigable worker, and you have not hitherto seen the eighteen canvases now at Exposition Park.

Spring's elusive loveliness has made its appeal again and again to this artist, and he has given us many exquisite impressions of it. There are at least two in the present exhibition that I like very much, "Under the Oaks" and "April Blossoms." In the one, the grass is richly green in the protecting shadows of oaks, and beyond its deep emerald lie sunny spaces embossed and embroidered with the purples and blues of violets. In the other, peach trees lift their candelabra of pink and odorous flame on hillsides that seem to have turned radiantly green in their sudden light.

Autumn, too, has received its poetic interpretations from Benjamin Brown. "Golden Autumn" is toned in tawny hues of delicate harmony, made symphonic with green and gold and bronze. The picture is full of atmosphere and light. "After the Rain, Autumn," shows us low-lying meadows, dun and dully brown, under skies washed clean into serenest blue; far away are snow-capped mountains.

Simplicity and breadth characterize "The Western Sea," huge cliffs of brown and gold above the blue waves of the Pacific, and "The Blue, Blue Sea, Carmel," the usual rocks and water effectively handled. In "The Gaunt Gray Pines of Monterey" the trees are seen through a sort of silver mist, a mist that also enfolds sand dunes and sea. The pines, with their tall trunks and tufted tops, form a pattern against the sky.

William Henry Drake.

William Henry Drake, the well-known painter and illustrator of animal life, is in Los Angeles. He came from New York to San Diego to see the exposition there, and is now on his way to the exposition in San Francisco.

Two superb studies of lions by Drake are now on exhibition in the gallery in Exposition Park. They are shown in their native habitat, though the artist confesses that the original models came from the zoological gardens in Central Park and the Bronx—where, indeed, the animal painter can find almost anything he wants, from a white mouse to a black elephant.

The artist was born in Cincinnati, but went to New York at an early age. One of the interesting commissions that came his way was the illustrations for Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Books." In 1912 and 1913 he traveled round the world by water, starting from New York, and made sketches all the way from Madeira Island to Catalina Island. These pictures, 125 water colors, are now being exhibited in New York under the comprehensive title of "Around the World." The artist is making arrangements to show them on the Pacific Coast, in both the expositions, and they will probably come to Los Angeles.

NEWS AND NOTES.

An exhibition of landscapes, many of which contain figures, from the brush of Marco Zim, is now being held in the Royar gallery, where it will remain to the end of the month. Some seascapes are also shown. Zim has a broadly impressionistic manner of painting, and many of his sketches—they are seldom more than that—are strongly effective. Among the best in the present collection are "Sun and Shadow," "The Nymphs," "A Wave," "High Tide" and "Cluster of Eucalyptus Trees." The artist is now in Santa Barbara, where he has been at work for some time on decorative commissions.

Members of the Palette Club, Los Angeles School of Art and Design, had a meeting of unusual interest last week, when Clyde Forsythe, who received his training in this school, talked of his experiences in New York as illustrator and cartoonist. David Tyce Workman, painter of mural decorations, spoke of his branch of art in relation to the people. Frank Lloyd Wright, Jr., landscape architect, spoke of architecture and its bearing on the affairs of the community.

On Wednesday morning Everett Maxwell, curator of the art gallery at Exposition Park, gave a little impromptu talk before the Ruskin Art Club, his subject being the art and educational features of the exposition in San Francisco.

Pictures by Louis Kronberg will follow those of Frank W. Cuprin at the Kanst gallery. Kronberg is a Boston artist, famous for his studies of ballet dancers painted behind the scenes. He is represented in the permanent galleries of the Metropolitan Museum, New York, and the Boston Museum. Pictures by him are also found in the collections of Mrs. H. E. Huntington and Mrs. "Jack" Gardner.

On Saturday afternoon Mary E. Call held an interesting exhibition of street and market scenes at No. 1330 Beacon street. The exhibition was private. A public exhibition of the same pictures will be held later.

The exhibition of Helen Clark Chandler, held at the State Normal School, has proved so successful that it will be continued to May 7. Miss Chandler will be in the gallery on the afternoon of Saturday, May 1.

Beginning May 10, twenty-five canvases by contemporary American painters will be shown for two weeks in the gallery at Exposition Park. This is the exhibit sent out by the American Federation of Arts at Washington. Some of the best known of our painters are represented.

Carlo Romanelli, the sculptor, has leased five acres at No. 2007 North Main street, where he has erected a studio.

Landscapes by John O'Shea will be shown at the Friday Morning Club through the month of May. The exhibition will open on April 30.

A TERRIFYING INSECT.

A Foot-long Centipede with Forty-two Feet Each, with Fang-like Jaws, is Found in Venezuela.

[Pittsburgh Gazette-Times:] The giant centipede of Trinidad and Venezuela is sometimes a foot long and can do very serious harm. Its foremost pair of feet are modified into supplementary jaws, which are fang-like and may inflict a powerful bite; furthermore, each has a poison gland at its base, that sends into the wound a venom deadly to small creatures and very painful even to mankind.

Moreover, says the Youth's Companion, the sharp claws of each of the forty-two feet are poisonous likewise, so that when the animal crawls over the soft skin of the human arm it leaves a trail of red, inflamed spots. It is dangerous to knock the centipede off, for instantly the creature drives its claws more deeply into the flesh and sends a greater amount of venom into each puncture; it may also take hold with its jaws.

When the centipede seizes its prey, or is itself caught by an enemy, it coils itself around its antagonist and grips it tenaciously with all its legs. Many myriapods are brightly banded with black and yellow, contrasting tints that show conspicuously against the dark soil of the forests where they abound. The giant centipede is a shining mahogany brown, with the legs bluish and ringed with yellow.

A singular fact about centipedes (which, in spite of the name, rarely have 100 feet, and may have as few as fifteen,) is that the number of legs is invariably odd, and may vary in number, even in specimens that belong to the same species. All are carnivorous. The smaller kinds feed on worms and grubs, the larger on any living prey they can overcome. They are, therefore, of service in destroying many noxious insects.

CIGARETTES FOR SOLDIERS.

Are not Smoked for the Aroma, but They Relieve the Tension of the Men at the Front.

[Cincinnati Times-Star:] A pen picture of Sir John French describes how the British general smokes cigarettes throughout his busy day. Accounts and pictures of Tommy Atkins represent him with a cigarette between his teeth instead of the traditional pipe. A Red Cross society has shipped 10,000,000 cigarettes to allied troops as "a measure of relief." German soldiers have been depicted with the inevitable cigarette even while executing the gymnastic goose-step. Robert Dunn, war correspondent of the New York Evening Post, tells of an interesting incident within the Austrian lines when Russian prisoners were willing to trade their buttons for the coveted cigarette.

The cigarette, long symbol of the mollycoddle, is now part of the kit of the soldier, manliest of men. Instead of an accompaniment of the swagger stick it has become the comrade of the sword. There is an explanation. The cigarette is not smoked for the aroma and the dream cloud of rising incense, which are much of the charm of pipe or cigar. There is nothing meditative about it. It appeals direct to the nerves and without ado relieves the tension of the smoker. The devotee of the cigarette is as a whisky drinker who does not bother about the bouquet. He desires the effect and nothing else. And it is the neurotic effect that the fighter craves in his bloody work. The old argument as to the relative merits of pipe, cigar and cigarette will never be settled. But it is undeniable that the cigarette has the preference during these parlous times abroad. In our own country the number of cigarette smokers has greatly increased. In that particular, at least, we are in a state of preparedness for war.

Stopped His Hiccoughs.

[New York World:] Roscoe Wilson, a merchant of Netcong, N. J., began to hiccough six days ago. The hiccoughs followed an attack of jaundice.

Unable to sleep, Wilson began wasting away. Three physicians were called to treat him. They gave him medicine, told him funny stories to make him laugh and sad stories calculated to bring tears. Nothing brought relief.

Wilson, utterly worn out, managed to get to sleep Monday night, and as he slept the bed shook under him, as he was racked with hiccoughs. The bed shook so violently that Wilson was frightened and leaped out. He no longer hiccoughed. Apparently fright had acted as a cure.

child when he ran short of the proper material for exciting our emotions.

Owen Davis is to be congratulated on turning out a crime play of New York City with genuine punch to it. I refer to "Sinners," produced by William Brady, first as an entertainment at Sing Sing, and then as a bona-fide stage reality for New York. I think it will be a staple. It shows how much good there can be in sinners if somebody will only go to the trouble to get it out, and how much poison there can be in a narrow-minded Puritan who never leaves the beaten path of a bank teller's window and the Sunday-school room.

Now, all sinners are not heroes, because some of them are heroines, and for other reasons, but if I had to write an article on "Heroes I Have Met," I am afraid that I could not refrain from many references to sinners. It might be due to my lack of training that so few Sunday-school superintendents would be in the list.

Nevertheless, I think most of us know the brands described by Mr. Davis on both sides of the fence and it will not hurt our feelings any to discover that the Sunday-school man did not get the heroine. She would not have made him a good wife any way, because, when she grows older, I am satisfied she will like a box at the theater better than oyster soup without any oysters in it. I am not soured on being good, but I am willing to see a play in which the bad man has a chance to be good if he clamors for it.

"Montmartre," which ran two weeks at the Burbank and showed to big business, will not be produced by Mr. Morosco in the East. He believes, regardless of the merit or demerit of the play (and I think it all demerit,) that the piece has been too well anticipated in New York and Chicago by the "Song of Songs" and another attraction quite similar. It often happens that a really good play fails on this score. "The Dollar Mark" a few years ago ran twelve weeks in Los Angeles when produced at the Belasco and then lost out in New York because two plays very much like it had just exhausted long runs there.

The East seems to be having a deluge of fresh triangle plays. In Chicago they have "The Outcasts," which really has some excuse for being, since it is more of a square than a triangle, with one couple conventionally married and the other couple unconventionally happy until the death of the husband throws the married woman back into the life of the unmarried lover as the best woman of the two.

"The Shadow," in which New York is so much interested at present, is likely to leave a bad taste, and I don't believe it would last long in the more wholesome West. The wife is an invalid who has been chained to the chair of a paralytic for six years. The husband is an artist. The best woman friend of both of them is an interloper. One day the wife finds that she is well enough to walk and she plans to surprise her husband by going up to his studio. She finds him there with his own child by her best friend. When the curtain goes down the audience is asked to believe that the wife faces the prospect of stepping aside. I don't think much of that ending. Most wives would hesitate before indulging in quite so much self-sacrifice. It is much more picturesque than comfortable.

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker
The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.
Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.
Miss O. M. asks: "I have pimples, oily skin and suffer from constipation, headache, and never feel strong and well. Please prescribe for me."
Answer: You should overcome constipation and cleanse the system of accumulated poisons by taking three-grain sulpery tablets (not sulphur) for several weeks or more. These tablets are very beneficial, especially in hot weather, as they have a tendency to cool the blood and improve its quality.
"Poorly" writes: "Being past middle age and observing that my nervous system is in bad shape, I write for a prescription. I do not gain strength from my food, am weak, listless, forgetful, sleepless at times, tired and unable to act the part of a strong man of health, such as I was at one time."
Answer: Get from a well-stocked pharmacy a sealed tube of three-grain cadomene tablets, which are especially made for those needing a strong, harmless, rejuvenating tonic. Astonishing and pleasing results follow and life and hope are renewed.
"A Fat Woman" asks: "Would you please prescribe a safe reducing remedy far too much fat?"
Answer: At this season many fat people suffer greatly as you do, and to all I recommend that they reduce with five-grain arbolone tablets, the most successful and convenient prescription I know of. Druggists supply in sealed tubes, with full directions.
"Edna" writes: "I suffer with rheumatism all the time and I shall be very glad if you can tell me something to relieve me."
Answer: I can give you a prescription which will not only relieve, but should obliterate your rheumatism. This is my favorite remedy, and from the number of letters received from people who have used it proves its value in rheumatism. The following is made by mixing well, taking a teaspoonful at meal times and again before retiring: Comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp., 5 ozs.; iodide of potassium, 2 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; sodium salicylate, 4 drams.
Miss C. W. R. asks: "I have tried for two years to diet so as to increase my weight and improve the quality of my blood, but in vain. Please prescribe for me."
Answer: Thin, scrawny, bloodless people need assistance in absorbing nutrition from the food eaten, and for this particular purpose I always prescribe three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets, a most effective preparation if regularly and persistently used, as it seems to increase the red and white corpuscles of the blood thus affording health, strength and increased weight.
M. J. B. asks: "My hair is too oily and my scalp itches with dandruff, and of late it is combing out too much. What is a good treatment?"
Answer: Obtain plain yellow minyol from your druggist in 4-oz. jars and apply as per directions. This cleans, purifies, cools and invigorates the hair and scalp, thus stopping the death of the hair. Dandruff and itching are at once relieved. Men and women all over the country now use it regularly.
"Essex" writes: "What should I do to relieve a severe case of kidney and bladder disease? Urine is dark, foul of odor and passage is irregular, painful, etc. Have depression, fever, chills, pains like rheumatism, and soreness in region of bladder.
Answer: For such symptoms as you describe I prescribe my favorite formula under the name of balmwort tablets. This is a splendidly efficacious remedy for such abnormal conditions. Begin their use as per directions on each sealed tube.
G. R. G. writes: "I am in business and work so constantly that my strength has not kept pace. I suffer shortness of breath and heart palpitation after eating, becoming drowsy, and my breath is bad, tongue coated, eyes inflamed and my meals don't seem to give me strength and vitality."
Answer: Nervous energy consumed in your work and unwise diet cause such symptoms. You need treatment to help the functional organs catch up. For these symptoms I advise "double-four stomach and bowel medicine," sold by druggists in sealed packets with complete directions.
"Laura" says: "Some time ago I contracted a very severe cold and cough. I have tried many remedies, but they do not seem to help me at all. I wish you would advise me what to do."
Answer: What you need is a laxative cough syrup, one that will drive the cold from your system. The following prescription will check your cold and cough: Get a 1¼-oz. package of concentrated essence mentho-laxene and make according to directions on the bottle. Take a teaspoonful every hour or two until your cold is better. This will relieve you in a very few days.
"Sister" asks: "I have a younger sister who is affected with what is termed green sickness, also catarrh very bad. She is losing strength and her health is quite poor. What do you advise?"
Answer: Such cases should adopt both tonic and local treatment. For a tonic and flesh-builder have her take three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets. For local treatment get either a 2 or 5-oz. package of antiseptic vilane powder and follow carefully the directions for catarrh of the head and pelvic catarrh. Great relief and recovery should soon be manifested if this splendid treatment is followed.

BACKLOG DAYS—THE SPELLING BEE

Seen Through Funny Glasses
By Homer Croy.

Homer Croy, like Mark Twain, is from Missouri, and, also like Mark Twain, is a humorist of the kind that seems to sprout most vigorously in Missouri soil. Reminiscing about the Little Red Schoolhouse and its Friday afternoon spelling bees, the author has written a little classic of humor that will make you temporarily forget about the War.

IMMIGRATION AFTER THE WAR

Editorial—By Frederic C. Howe.
Commissioner of Immigration at the Port of New York.

Commissioner Howe refuses to be alarmed at the prospect of Europe dumping its maimed and broken millions into America as soon as peace is declared. Admitting that a great army of women and children, widowed and orphaned by the war, will turn their faces toward America, he foresees many forces that will not only keep the immigrant at home but will lure hundreds of thousands from this country back to Europe.

THE MYSTERIOUS MRS. OSGOOD

Story—By Burton Kline.

Who was Mrs. Osgood? What accounted for the extraordinary influence she had on the Pennsylvania community in which she lived? Without wealth, beauty, leisure or anything material that the world covets, her name was on every tongue, because—well, read why in the last paragraph of this unusual story.

THE PRACTICAL SUMMER HOME

Article and Drawings—By J. Manley Rose.

Mr. Rose, who has designed and described many houses from time to time in the magazine, discusses next Sunday a comfortable camp for $600; a $1000 summer cottage, and also a more pretentious seaside cottage of seven rooms and two sleeping porches. The plans and estimates are in every way dependable.

Among half a dozen other features in the next issue of THE NATIONAL SUNDAY MAGAZINE are ROYALTY AT CLOSE RANGE, by Adolf Baumann, for twenty years court photographer to the Kaiser and other sovereigns; MARGARET OF NEW ORLEANS, by L. CAN PROHIBITION BE EFFECTIVE?

The First Man to Introduce Constitutional Amendment to that Effect Discusses the Question.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WASHINGTON, April 19.—If the prohibition of the liquor business becomes nation-wide, under the phrasing of the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, will large and small co-operative distilleries, breweries and saloons be established in all parts of the United States?

The amendment before the last Congress prohibited the sale, the manufacture for sale, the importation for sale, the transportation for sale and the exportation for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes.

Sale is the big word in the amendment. Would whisky be sold, in the eye of the law, to the owners of a distillery, who received at their homes or saloons the product of the distillery, as they would receive apples from their own orchards or milk from their own dairy?

If a man owned five shares of the capital stock of a saloon, would the manager or bartender be selling beer to that man if his ownership of the shares carried with it the right to a certain quantity of beer daily? Could railroads transport liquor that was not intended for sale, but for distribution without price among the shareholders of hotels, saloons and similar places of resort and refreshment?

Such are some of the questions that suggest themselves to the critics of the language used by the writers of the prohibition amendment. Foremost among the critics is Henry W. Blair of New Hampshire, once a Senator in Congress and the author, nearly forty years ago, of the first prohibitory amendment ever written in this country.

"When our people finally come to bat," Senator Blair said to me, "they should not make themselves ridiculous."

"What must be done, then, effectually to outlaw the liquor business?" I asked.

"The consumption of liquor, it seems to me, should be prohibited, as well as its sale, manufacture, exportation, importation and transportation for beverage purposes," Senator Blair answered.

CONSUMERS CAN BE REACHED.

"Can a man be forbidden to eat or drink any particular thing?"

"I broke new ground, back in December, 1876, when I spoke in Congress and declared that alcohol was poisonous, whether it was drunk as a liquid or eaten as a food," Senator Blair replied. "There was no pure food law then in our book of statutes. I maintained that whenever the general welfare is impaired or threatened by any existing or impending evil it is the duty of society to enact laws that will destroy the evil.

Henry W. Blair,
The Prohibition leader.
[Copyright by Harris & Ewing.]

"Also I said that society had the right to restrict or prevent the use of anything which is found greatly to be injurious in its effects on those persons using it. This principle was being applied at the time, as I pointed out, to the manufacture and sale of gunpowder, nitroglycerin, dynamite and so on.

"And lastly, and now I come to your inquiry, I asserted that no person has a right to do that to himself which impairs or perverts his own powers. When he does so—by means which society can reach and remove by law—to such an extent that he becomes a burden or a source of danger to others, either by his example or by his liability to commit acts of crime, or that he becomes essentially incapacitated to discharge his duties to himself, his family and society, the law, which is society, should protect both himself and itself.

"There are laws, let me remind you, restraining the spendthrift and preventing self-murder or suicide. Alcholic liquors cause intoxication, or poisoning, to the injury of the individual and to the general welfare. That being so, the consumption of alcoholic liquors can be placed under the ban of the law.

"Would it not be wise, therefore, to include the drinking of intoxicating liquors among the acts that are to be prohibited by an amendment of the Constitution? If that were done, partnerships, companies and corporations for the co-operative production and distribution of liquor would not be organized, because in itself the drinking of liquor, no matter how obtained, would be unlawful."

THE ROMANCE OF AN IDEA.

Thirty-nine years ago this coming summer Henry W. Blair drove from Plymouth to Bristol in the State of New Hampshire. He had been elected to the National House of Representatives in March, 1875. Stopping his horse at the summit of a long, sharp hill, he looked over the beautiful valley out of which he had come and into another valley to which he was about to descend. At that moment the great prohibition idea which he and others have toiled over ever since came into his mind.

"I have always thought of that hour and that place half superstitions," he said. "The idea flashed into my head with the suddenness of an inspiration."

Senator Blair, now 80 years old and still practicing law, as he says for a living, was one of the potential men of his generation. Some persons called him a dreamer, because he introduced bills in Congress extending Federal aid to States for educational purposes, establishing a national labor department and making Sunday a lawful day of rest. He was a progressionist when Theodore Roosevelt and William J. Bryan were boys at school.

Prohibitionists, who are working today in all parts of the United States for an amendment to the American Constitution affectionately call him the father of the movement. They counsel with him and still think of him as their leader. A tall man, with the same thick, straight hair that has always given his face a singularly solemn look—though it is white and no longer brown—he sits at his desk every pleasant day from 10 o'clock in the morning until late in the afternoon. His private office, in one of the best buildings downtown, is large and light and contains many cases filled with books. Portraits of famous judges and statesmen are hung against the walls. Senator Blair's sight is good and his hearing is unimpaired.

HE FOOLED THE DOCTORS.

"Here," he said, "I am talking to you and the year is 1915. Away back in 1861 and 1862 surgeons in the army said I was too much of a physical weakling to be accepted as a recruit. They accepted me, however, when I went to them the third time, saying: 'He will die anyway and he might as well die in the South as at home.'

"I raised a company, was elected captain and went to the front as a lieutenant-colonel. I fooled the doctors, though I was wounded two or three times."

"But how do you really explain your long life and your vigorous old age?" I asked.

"Well," Senator Blair replied, "there has always been a little arrangement between the Almighty and myself. I have done the best I could for Him and He has watched over me.

"I haven't had a vacation since I was a boy and I didn't have any then," he went on to say. "Looking back now, I can see that I didn't go out enough and rub against men, yet many men came to me and in that way, perhaps, I got all the rubbing that was necessary. Nevertheless, I now think that the social nature of every man ought to be given a fair chance. The contact of one mind with another is good for both. Ideas occur and thought is refined and developed."

"You were the author," I said, "of the first resolution ever introduced in Congress for an amendment to the Federal Constitution, outlawing the liquor business?"

"Yes," Senator Blair answered, "and I will tell you how I came to write the amendment—it is a mixed story of morals and politics. I was brought up in a temperance family and signed a total abstinence pledge while a small boy. Along about 1854, when I was 20 years old, New Hampshire passed a prohibition law. I became a lawyer and as solicitor or prosecuting attorney of my county, I enforced the statute, doing it virogously, but without prejudice to anyone. Every man must do his duty if he hopes to keep out of hell.

ELECTED HAYES PRESIDENT.

"Returned from the civil war, I resumed my practice and it grew. At the beginning of 1875, the State of New Hampshire was controlled by the Democratic party. Our two Senators in Congress were Republicans, but they were fat, old men and were lacking in fire and usefulness. The three members of the House of Representatives were Democrats.

"The election of a President in 1876 was being talked about and plans were already being considered by which the Republicans in the State might be returned to power. Our elections then occurred in March. Pressed to run for Congress in the third district, I hesitated but in the end agreed to be a candidate.

"I was elected by a plurality of 209 votes. Although the other Congress districts went Democratic, my district saved the State and the Democrats were turned out of all the offices, including the judgeships of our courts. I have always thought that the Republicans of the third district in New Hampshire made Gen. Hayes, the year following, President of the United States. But for the five electoral votes of our State, Tilden and not Hayes would have been inaugurated.

"A good many young men in my district were working away from home. They lived with us but were temporarily earning their living elsewhere. I caused them to return and vote, borrowing money at a bank with which to pay their railroad fare. Such an expenditure, I then believed—and my opinion has not changed since—was honorable in all respects. One young fellow came from Iowa at an expense to me of $72—a sum that looked as large to me then as $7200 would look to me now. It was years before I could pay the debts incurred during that campaign—debts that were proper in every particular.

"Usually there were three political parties in New Hampshire. The third party was small in the number of its voters and was composed principally of ministers, all of whom were prohibitionists. Indeed the party was organized to make war on the liquor business.

PAYING A POLITICAL DEBT.

"A dozen or fifteen of the ministers lived in my district. I said nothing to these ministers and they said nothing to me, but they supported me at the polls and I really felt that I owed my success to them.

"Elected in March, 1875, I entered the House of Representatives on the 6th of December, following. Such men as James G. Blaine, James A. Garfield, Samuel J. Randall, George F. Hoar, William R. Morrison and 'Sunset' Cox were my colleagues. Joseph G. Cannon was in his second term and gave no promise of becoming a notable man.

"Feeling, as I have said, that the little group of temperance ministers in my district brought about my election to Congress, I began thinking how I could repay them. And, let me add, I did my own thinking. I didn't even tell the ministers that I meant to help them, if a way seemed open."

That particular Congress, the Forty-fourth, remained at work in Washington until August 15, 1876. It was the last of the month, or early in September, that Mr. Blair, driving from Plymouth to Bristol, stopped his team, looked over the beautiful valley out of which he had come and into another valley to which he was about to descend, and thought of the one sure method, as he believed, of destroying the liquor business—and of repaying the preachers.

"State laws," Senator Blair said to me "had not been effective. Liquor was being shipped into prohibition States. I saw, there at the top of the hill, that the only means by which the manufacture and sale of liquor could be stopped was by making their manufacture and sale unlawful in every State and Territory of the Union and I suddenly realized that could only be accomplished by an amendment to the Federal Constitution.

"Congress was to meet again on December 4. I purposed to introduce a resolution proposing that the Constitution be amended, but I never mentioned the matter to anyone. It is easy to stand up and fight your enemies, but it is difficult to deny a favor to your friends.

TOLD HIS SECRET IN NEW YORK.

"I knew if my intention became known, many men would come to me and say that I was hurting them politically and seriously endangering the Republican party in New Hampshire. Nor did I hint to the ministers that something pleasant to them was about to happen.

"I stopped in New York during my journey to Washington and laid my idea before John N. Stearns and A. M. Powell, officers of the National Temperance Society. Stearns, a New Hampshire man, was an editor and the author of several books and had organized the society. Powell was a reformer and had been a famous lecturer against slavery. Both men were surprised when they heard what I had to say, but they approved my plan.

"In the meanwhile I had written out the amendment and had searched the world for scientific information and statistics bearing on the liquor question. I can't tell off-hand just the day I introduced the resolution in the House of Representatives, but my speech in support of it—and the speech is still being published on occasion—was delivered December 27, 1876.

"I well remember that the resolution and the speech caused a sensation. The W.C.T.U. started to work at once. Celestial women are human beings like men folks and while the W.C.T.U. prayed and now and then halted to scratch one another's eyes out, the members were unanimous for the amendment and circulated petitions in almost every part of the country.

"Young and modest in those days, I got William P. Frye of Maine to offer the petitions in the House of Representatives. Frye had a big voice and I believed it would be of some help to the cause. The petitions, pasted together, loked as large as a flour barrel when they were rolled down the main aisle to the well in front of the Speaker's desk.

"My amendment had previously gone to the Judiciary Committee. It was never reported back. I introduced it again in the Forty-fifth Congress with exactly the same result. In 1879 I entered the Senate, carrying the amendment along with my other documents. At the first opportunity I rose and submitted it to the consideration of that great body.

EXPLODED IN HIS BANDANA.

"I can see Allen G. Thurman as clearly now as I saw him then. He was sitting well in front of the Democratic side of the chamber. A fine lawyer and a kind man, he was not displeased over the notoriety he had obtained in the use of snuff and the noise he made when he buried his nose in his celebrated red bandana. Nor was he a temperance advocate.

"He watched me curiously after I arose and, learning the nature of my amendment, let a smile as big as a three-quart pan spread across his countenance. A moment later there was a tremendous explosion in his handkerchief. Generally speaking, that is the way the amendment had been and was to be received in all sections of the country. There were sneers and snickers for Blair of New Hampshire and ridicule of the [illegible] the newspapers.

"I left the Senate in 1891, but returned to the House of Representatives in 1893, where I served one term, at the end of which I was retired permanently from public life. In every Congress of which I was a member the amendment was presented for debate and action, and while it rarely ever was reported back, favorably or unfavorably, it gave the temperance people of the nation solid ground on which to stand and fight.

"Women had prayed saloon-keepers out of countenance, as in Ohio, and had organized holy mobs for the destruction of saloon property, but such outbursts were only spasmodic and accomplished very little. The suggestion to amend the Constitution has grown in the minds of the people because it is an orderly and effective way of ending a grave and mighty evil.

"I do not question the motives of any man, but the prohibition movement, so the symptoms seem to indicate, is being employed here and there to advance the personal fortunes of some of its advocates. That should not be permitted.

"Action is thought doing business," Senator Blair concluded. "I have told you of the birth of the thought. I hope that I may live to see what business the thought can accomplish after it gets into action as an amendment to our Constitution."

Beautiful Hair Tinting

Absolutely and Positively Harmless "Brownatone" Instantly Changes the Hair to Any Shade of Brown (or Black if Preferred.)

Nothing so robs a woman of her good looks and attractiveness as gray, streaked or faded hair. And there is no more reason or sense in tolerating unattractive hair than there is in wearing unbecoming gowns. Nearly all of the more noted beauties long ago recognized this fact, and so wear their hair not only in the style, but also the color, most becoming.

The one hair stain that stands supreme is "Brownatone." It is simple and easy to use. Just comb or brush it into your hair. It cannot be detected, will not rub or wash off, acts instantly, and is absolutely harmless.

"Brownatone" will give any shade desired from golden brown to black.

Your druggist sells "Brownatone" or will get it for you, and it is worth your while to insist upon having this preparation and not something else. A sample and a booklet will be mailed you upon reciept of 10 cents, and your orders will be filled direct from our laboratories if you prefer.

Two sizes—25c and $1.00.

Two shades—One for Golden or Medium Brown, the other for Dark Brown or Black.

Insist upon "Brownatone" at your hairdresser's.

An Early Murder Trial.

serted the original transcript of the testimony, as furnished us by the court reporter, and made it a part of the statement. We then set out the instructions given by the court, with the exceptions thereto, and assigned the errors upon which we relied for a new trial. When this was done Judge Brunson took the bill of exceptions to Dist.-Atty. Rodney Hudson, and after a time brought it back with the certificate of Hudson that the bill of exceptions was correct and consenting that the same should be settled and allowed.

I took the bill of exceptions to Judge Sepulveda, who asked me: "Why, we were going to rob those poor Chinamen; that no error had been committed in the trial of that case, and that we could not hope for a reversal." I told him the Chinaman's friends wanted us to do the work and were willing to pay us for it, and that we were engaged in making a living.

I showed him Hudson's certificate that the bill of exceptions was correct, and thereupon he settled it. We then appealed to the Supreme Court of the State, from the judgment pronounced in the case and from the order denying our motion for a new trial.

The case came on for hearing at the January term of the court in 1878. Col. Joe Hamilton, one of the foremost lawyers and one of the most remarkable political orators that California ever produced, was at the time Attorney-General. Judge Brunson went up to Sacramento and argued our appeal. When he presented the case of the appellant he told the court, "We confidently rely upon a reversal of this case, for the reason that nowhere in this record is it shown that anybody was killed by our client." Chief Justice Wallace turned to the Attorney-General and asked him what he had to say as to that. The truth of the matter is that Hamilton had not looked at the record. He floundered around and said that there must be some mistake. Judge Wallace, with humor in his eye and in his voice, remarked that if the Attorney-General had not had time to examine the record he would continue the hearing of the case until 2 o'clock that afternoon to give him an opportunity.

On convening the court for the afternoon session, Atty.-Gen. Hamilton admitted to the court that Judge Brunson's assertion was right, and that there was not a word in the record that showed that Wong Chu Shut had killed anybody, or that anybody had been killed. And thereupon the court took the case under advisement, and a few days afterward rendered a decision, whereby it was "ordered, adjudged and decreed by the court here that the judgment and order denying a new trial, of the District Court of the county of Los Angeles in the above-entitled cause, be and the same is hereby reversed, and case remanded for new trial."

The remittitur from the Supreme Court containing this judgment was filed in open court on Monday, April 29, 1878. In passing, I will state that the Chinamen had very promptly paid our firm the balance of their agreed fee, $2500. In the meantime, on January 1, 1878, I had voluntarily withdrawn from the firm of Brunson, Eastman & Graves, but at the earnest solicitation of my two former partners I remained with the firm until June 1, 1878, on salary. There were certain matters in the cleaning up of which they wanted my assistance. Brunson and Eastman made some new arrangement as to fees with the Chinese, and Eastman told me that there wasn't any hope of finally acquitting him, but that it was a good case for me to practice on, and I had better run it.

SOMEWHAT PEEVED.

If there was a mad man in the county it was Dist.-Atty. Hudson. He did not like the reversal of this case, and he had blood in his eye for us on the next trial. Judge Sepulveda himself (who is now living here and who I am satisfied will admit the fact) was a little peeved at being reversed.

On May 6, 1878, the case was set for trial for May 30 of the same year, and on the next day, May 7, by consent of all the parties, the order setting the case for trial on May 30 was set aside, and the case was reset for trial on May 23.

On the latter date the case was duly called. Judge Brunson was in court, but I had the laboring oar.

The following points are pertinent to an understanding of the case. Wong Chu Shut was a butcher. Yo Shing had been killed by two blows with a small Chinese cleaver, such as Chinese butchers use. Both blows were implanted on the right side of the head. Both of them penetrated the brain of Yo Hing, who, strange to say, was not killed outright. In a dying statement he charged Wong Chu Shut with assaulting him. These Chinese cleavers are thicker at the point than they are at the heel, tapering from point to heel. Each of the wounds was wider at one end than at the other, and if struck with the same instrument, then one of the blows was delivered by a person behind the victim, and the other by a person in front of the victim. This point was apparently not dealt on at the first trial. At that trial there had been the usual conflict of evidence accompanying most criminal trials.

Yo Hing's crowd produced several witnesses who swore positively that they saw Wong Chu Shut strike the decedent twice with a cleaver, and that the defendant ran across the street, while Yo Hing tumbled to the sidewalk. The defense produced just as many Chinese witnesses who swore positively that when Yo Hing was killed Wong Chu Shut was standing on the other side of "Nigger Alley," a narrow street in Chinatown, this side of the Plaza. That two Chinamen, one from behind him and one in front of him, struck Yo Hing and fled. None of the witnesses recognized the assailants.

I got the Chinese witnesses who testified at the former trial that they saw two men strike Yo Hing [illegible] the jail with Wong Chu Shut, and went over every detail of the case. They stuck to their story as related at the first trial. I believed their story and the statement of our client that he did not do the killing, but witnessed it from across the street. I was young and ambitious to make a reputation. This was the first criminal case I had anything to do with. I threw all of my energy into the fight.

I employed a medical friend of mine, Dr. W. W. Ross, to assist me. The autopsy on the body of the dead man had been made by Dr. [illegible] and Dr. Charles C. [illegible] The description of the wounds found in Yo Hing's head was very clear, and the positions of the wounds accurately located. Dr. Ross took a skull and located the two cuts in accordance with this testimony. He then sawed them into the skull. The upper cut was one struck from behind. The front of it was wider than the rear end. The lower cut had been made by a person standing in front of the deceased. The sharper end of this cut was at the temple, and the blunt end toward the back.

THE JURY.

On May 23, 1878, the case came up for trial. A. J. King (still living) assisted the District Attorney. A jury was quickly impaneled, composed of Charles Dunsmoor, afterward for many years a State Bank Examiner; A. G. Mappa, at that time a [illegible] of records; H. S. Parcells, a [illegible]tor; George Cate, a farmer; [illegible]moor, a brother of Charles Dunsmoor; W. H. Toler, who owned a large tract of land in La Habra Valley; [illegible] Mitchell, whom I think kept a [illegible] at Anaheim; A. Hyger, A. [illegible]ton (who was afterward for many years a deputy County Clerk of this county;) H. Cook, a wool [illegible]; J. F. Durrell, a farmer, and [illegible] Aerick, also a farmer. I knew [illegible] one of the jury personally. I [illegible] that A. G. Mappa is still alive. I do not know as to the others.

The testimony for the prosecution was soon in, and then the defense made its case. The testimony was but little on either side from that produced at the first trial. I put Dr. Ross on the stand, introduced the skull which he had prepared, with the wounds located on it, using the testimony of the prosecution for the purpose.

I had ascertained that every Chinese witness that the prosecution called had served jail [illegible] this county for various [illegible] mitted. This fact I proved to discredit their testimony. [illegible] we argued the case, and [illegible] that was the first jury I ever [illegible] I made the most of my [illegible] two men did the killing.

After being out all [illegible] disagreed and was discharged. [illegible] the court nor the District [illegible] were in a very pleasant frame [illegible] over the result. The very [illegible] May 27, the court set the case [illegible] on May 30, three days later, and a special venire of seventy-five [illegible] was issued. On May 30 we [illegible] to bat, and another jury was impaneled. We tried the case [illegible] There was no substantial [illegible] the testimony.

FIRST DEGREE MURDER.

Then we made our arguments, the court instructed the jury, who retired, and in a short time [illegible] a verdict of murder in the first degree, and recommended that the prisoner be sentenced to the State [illegible] for life. When the verdict was announced the defendant pulled my sleeve and whispered, "What [illegible] verdict?" I told him. He [illegible] crumpled up in his chair, and [illegible] onto the floor, an inert mass. He [illegible] revived and taken back to jail. June 10, following, he was [illegible] by Judge Fawcett of [illegible] county, who was sitting [illegible] by request for Judge Sepulveda [illegible] be imprisoned in the State's [illegible] of the State of California for [illegible]

The day after [illegible] sentence I went to the jail to [illegible] he wanted us to move for a new trial or take any further proceedings in his behalf. He was suffering [illegible] consumption. I found him [illegible] much dejected. He said he [illegible] die, and his friends would not [illegible] any more money, and [illegible] was tired of the fight and had determined to serve his sentence. [illegible] thanked me for my efforts in his behalf. Shortly afterward he was [illegible] to San Quentin by a deputy [illegible] of this county. On the trip to [illegible] Prison Wong Chu Shut confessed to the deputy that he alone had [illegible] Yo Hing. He said I was right [illegible] theory as to how the blows were struck. That he had [illegible] from behind, standing [illegible] and that Hing turned around [illegible] facing him, and he struck [illegible]

BOOKS OF FICTION.

HENRY SYDNOR HARRISON.

BUSINESS. By Henry Sydnor Harri- Houghton, Mifflin Company, Boston.

"V.V.'s Eyes" went scrambling up Everybody read it and almost said it was fine—so pleasantly and sweetly sad.

Henry Sydnor Harrison, with ap- but two novels to his credit, was as "the" successful novelist. But in the world there is another— a-borning, so it seems. About time as "Queed," this novel came a nom de plume. Some months successful author condescended his neglected child. But "The Captivating—" somebody or captivate, which serves to show Harrison is mortal after all.

"Angela's Business" properly and early repute indicate that it is fairly scampering up the ladder of popularity.

"Angela's Business" has no plot worth naming, it is not wanly dolorous, but is easily recognizable as Mr. Harrison's book. All of his peculiarities of style and thought are emphasized until they amount almost to eccentricities. That he has set himself to be a unique phrase-maker (even as Charles Garrott, his latest "hero," who, as was Queed, is an embryonic author) is revealed on every page, and that he has cautiously tried his hand at cynicism is disclosed in many chapters.

Garrott, a private tutor, resembles Queed in the vanity of his knowledge, but whereas the titular hero of the first book knew all about everything, Garrott limits the scope of his egotism to the belief that he knows all about women—much more than Ellen Key, whom he calls "The Lady of Sweden." Angela's business is to get herself a husband by the old-fashioned method of angling with her beauty and demureness for desirable young men, and Carrott shows surprising acumen in correctly hypothecating Angela's business after he gets too close to her "kissable cheek."

Mary Wing, the cousin of Angela, is a woman "so emancipated" that, despite her high position in educational circles, she forms an indiscreet friendship with another woman "so emancipated" as to live unwedded with a married gentleman. The very self-conscious Mr. Carrott feels it his duty, in return for a long friendship and certain impersonal gifts, to act as Miss Wing's pugilistic champion when another member of the educational circle speaks slightingly of her.

The book is signally inactive and devoid of incident, much supercilious cynicism often expressed in distorted and colored phrases gives the impression of laborious uniqueness; and while there is an overload of character description, there is practically no character development beyond the clumsy-minded Garrott's evolving into a suitor near the close of the protracted story.

Those who enjoy words, words, words, arranged with the precision of affectation, may get many hours of enjoyment out of the book, for it is much like a vast amount of embroidery arranged into a simple and not wholly interesting design.

BISMARCK, WAR AND ROMANCE.

A MAN OF IRON. By Richard Dehan. Frederick A. Stokes Company, New York.

NO PREFATORY statement is needed to disclose that "A Man of Iron" was written before the war began. It is too big in size, too big in theme, too well written and too competent in historical detail to have been hurriedly conceived and hastily written. It stands pre-eminent among recent historical novels, forcefully and artistically threads an entertaining love story through incidents and events of the Franco-Prussian war.

Bismarck, the man of iron, dominates the book, though P. C. Breagh, an Irish free-lance correspondent, is the character about whom the situations revolve. The portraiture of Bismarck is vivid, realistic and accurate. The bigness of the man is in the book: At his gargantuan dinners, on the battlefield, combating designing persons with homely proverbs, bullying the Emperor or jesting with field marshals, we feel his over-shadowing, indominable personality. Von Moltke, though of less importance to the story, is presented with equal skill; his ascetic passion for war, scrupulous dignity and eternal study of maps gives an intimate study of the strange old warrior.

Breagh fails at everything but study and under the kindly surveillance of the Dickensian Mr. Knewbit learns a bit of journalism. Without a commission, other than a small loan from Mr. Knewbit, he strikes for Germany at the signs of war.

Chance permits Bismarck to save his life, and the plot is set in motion on that pivot. Breagh herds with camp-followers and goes to war—it is real war that he sees, too.

Then the story, working out of deep complications entailing the acts of a dishonorable mother, spies, plot and counter plot, brings Breagh in touch with a French girl he once offended. Together they are swirled and tossed about by the Prussians' advance on Paris and during the bombardment, in the house that Bismarck occupies, all things are settled with finality.

The character of every important figure in the story is distinctive and individualized, and while the author has her ("Richard Dehan" is a woman) constructive ability taxed to bring Bismarck, a French girl and her mother, as well as a free-lance correspondent, into a consistent and realistic story, the result has been admirable. So far as we are able to judge, it is the best historical novel that has appeared in many years.

A BEWILDERED HEROINE.

THE KEEPER OF THE DOOR. By Ethel M. Dell. G. P. Putnam's Sons, New York.

A VIVACIOUS quality in "The Keeper of the Door" brightens a story that is not without tragedy and one which, beneath the sparkling flirtatiousness of Violet and the amiable impudence of Noel, presents a well novelized problem of casuistry.

Max Wyndham is a physician, an inexorable keeper of the door of life, hounding back—so Olga describes him—the suffering soul that tries to escape the wretched body. The fame of Wyndham is close to rivaling that of his knighted patron, Sir Kersley Whitton, and his love for Olga rivals that of Maj. Hunt-Goring, who boasts of having kissed every girl in the locality.

There is no peevish jealousy in Wyndham's body and he asks no questions when another man might have been splintered by rage at seeing Olga apparently compromise herself with the Major.

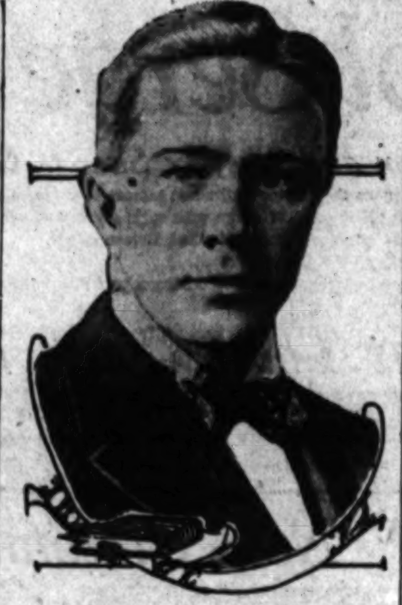
The Major's propensities for dallying with love bring him into closer relation than are good for Violet. She acquires a taste for his opium-tainted cigarettes, and in the stress of an inherited mania attempts murder, then pleads for an overdose of medicine to end her life.

The situation is thoroughly dramatic and ably handled. Not a maudlin phrase is dropped, not an unnatural word spoken.

When the ordeal is over, Olga's memory is vague, her nerves somewhat shattered and she goes with her illustrious uncle to India.

Again the threads of the story are twisted into complications which involve not only the sinister Hunt-Goring and Dr. Wyndham but Capt. Noel Wyndham, a younger brother of the doctor. One may be inclined to feel surprised that Olga endures such emotional vacillation and to think it is somewhat an unjustifiable weakness that she should become suspicious of Dr. Wyndham.

The explosion of a bomb has much to do with clarifying the scandal-filled atmosphere; and an adjustment is made which is infinitely more to Noel's credit than to Olga's—though circumstances, rather than character defects, play havoc with her peace of mind and control her fluctuations, which, however, have nothing of capriciousness in them.



"The" successful author.

Henry Sydnor Harrison is guilty of a vast and sustained popularity; guilty of writing "best sellers" that even certain of the supercilious "high brows" praise—in fact, there is not an unknown and struggling genius in the country but looks upon Mr. Harrison as having shamelessly monopolized the fame they deserve. "Angela's Business," his latest book, is reviewed on this page.

"A TRUE STORY."

THE SNARE. By George Vane. John Lane Company, New York.

IN A FOREWORD the author assures those who read that the story embodied in "The Snare" is true—we take it—in detail. The gaucheries of truth seldom justify novelization; all good novels have bigger truths than the fictional details over which plots are stretched.

All of which has little to do with this story, since by it the credulity extended to fiction is not in the least taxed. Excepting for the high-titled actors—dukes, Russian nobles and blooded ladies—it is somewhat commonplace, perhaps due to the author's refusal "to draw upon the storehouse of imagination."

When the Duke of Kingston, who is "no uxorious husband," is accosted on the streets of Paris by a good-looking English woman, he has some difficulty in believing her motives are not questionable and that she has really lost her memory. But being both charmed and persuaded that it is true, he takes her under his honorable protection and installs her with a matronly friend of the family in London.

Though Kingston is not averse to a little scandal if the pleasure seems to warrant its justification, he exercises discretion in regard to the woman he has named Lily Hope; and induces a broad-minded relative to accept her as a protege.

Kingston himself, though married to an American who shocks London society by certain improprieties, is on the verge of becoming in love with Lily when his younger brother does so.

Complications are somewhat relieved by discovering Lily's identity—uncovering the guilt of the rich and prominent man who mistreated her before her memory fled, and restoring her to the care of her disinguished family.

NAPOLEONIC NOVEL.

THE EAGLE OF THE EMPIRE. By Cyrus Townsend Brady. George H. Doran Company, New York.

THE PROLIFIC Mr. Brady does, in much the same way, for adults what the late G. A. Henty did for boys: against a historic background is projected the tumultuous adventures of the noblest of heroes and loveliest of heroines, their destiny linked in a romance of hallowed affection.

"The Eagle of the Empire" is purely narrative, swift in movement and designed to keep the attention wide-eyed. Napoleon personally takes rather a large part in the story, but it is purely the Napoleon of fiction, the plaster of paris "prop" most romancers drag out of tradition's vault.

The story itself does what it is designed to do — holds the attention of those not averse to hectic romance. When Capt. Marteau impetuously contradicts Napoleon's marshals to say the ragged and starving soldiers remain willing to sacrifice themselves for their Emperor, Napoleon is so pleased that he has the young officer appointed to his staff and sent on a perilous and important duty.

In the course of his journey he find the young Countess Laure, to whose family his people had been servants for generations, the captive of renegades. Effecting her escape after a hard and complicated fight, Marteau is rewarded by the Emperor in a way that leaves him humiliated and abashed before the aristocratic Countess.

Following Napoleon's defeat and during the exile to Elba, Marteau is taken prisoner, being released only to find the ancient royal house in power and most of his friends in Bourbon service.

Again he and the Countess meet; she is engaged to an English officer and Marteau generously surrenders all titles and estates awarded to him by Napoleon to the house from which they were taken. Complications are evoked; Marteau accepts the death penalty to keep stainless the reputation of the woman he loves. But lo! "the violets bloom again;" Napoleon escapes, rallies his soldiers, faces the allies and on the field of Waterloo, while nations are settling their quarrel, the English officer and Marteau end their rivalry.

UNCLASSIFIED.

A NOVELIST'S CONFESSION.

GETTING A WRONG START. (Anonymous.) The Macmillan Company, New York.

FASTENING a misnomer to the confession of his success, the anonymous author of "Getting a Wrong Start" proceeds to set down this remarkable expression of altruism: "There may be some men whose personal vanity makes them like to tell of their own life and adventures. In my own case there is nothing in the world, no possible amount of money, no amount of flattery, no manner of appeal, which would induce me to write what I shall write here, did it not seem likely that the story would be of use to some young man or older man who perhaps has lost heart in the long, hard struggle of getting on in the world."

Singularly uneventful is the recital that follows this exceptional strong and curiosity-exciting statement; but what benefit it may be to the young man or older man we do not presume to say. But "Getting a Wrong Start" is hardly correct for one who admits that the many failures of his life were profitably utilized in the writing of numerous novels that sold well and some of which reached the top of the "best sellers." Had he been a success as a lawyer, as a newspaper man, as a business man, the chances are that he would never have been a successful novelist. The many failures related were amalgamated into remunerative fiction after the author was well up past forty; and the cause for them is, by his own admission, a lack of persistency.

As an author, he tells of long hours of hard work, such work as he never did before, work in which he utilized all the experiences labeled "failures" to a good advantage. And in conclusion he offers for the ambitious young man and for the discouraged older man the advice: Keep in good health and work hard at the thing in which you wish to succeed. Very good advice, indeed, particularly the latter part of it.

The story is not at all unusual. A great many successful men tell much the same of their early abortive efforts—especially successful novelists.

CIVIC RECORD OF WOMEN.

WOMAN'S WORK IN MUNICIPALITIES. By Mary Ritter Beard. D. Appleton & Co., New York.

"WOMAN'S work in Municipalities" is rather an encyclopaedic volume specifying the efforts and achievements of women in various cities throughout the United States during the past few years. Mrs. Beard has not made sweeping or extravagant claims for the accomplishments of women; in fact there are few general statements and none at which even a misogynist could well take exception.

In the author's own words, the method followed has been dominated by the fourfold purpose: To give something like an adequate notion of the extent and variety of women's interests and activities; to indicate, in their own words, something of the spirit with which women have approached their problem; to show the interrelation of each particular effort with larger social problems; to reflect the general tendency of modern social work under the guidance of men and women.

Material is actually packed and crammed between the covers. Women long ago established themselves among the leaders in educational work, and something of what they have done and difficulties overcome in various cities is recited. It is pointed out that they have been foremost in the work toward preserving the public health, in taking precautionary measures against tuberculois, in abolishing the drinking cup and instituting public fountains; in gaining recognition for the district nurse (Los Angeles was the first city to municipalize the district nurse;) in preventing infant mortality and in regulating laundries, public baths, abating the smoke nuisance and other disagreeable and dangerous features of city life.

Woman's work against the social evil is given special and lengthy attention, and the efforts made to establish playgrounds, public dances and other means of wholesome recreation are fully described. The concluding chapters deal with "Correction," "Civic Improvement" and "Government and Administration" and show how women have willingly and ably worked to secure greater efficiency in public service.

THE GREATEST OF TRIBUTES.

KING ALBERT'S BOOK. Hearst's International Library Company, New York.

PERHAPS NO man ever before received during his lifetime such tributes as are presented in "King Albert's Book"—a symposium of admiration from representative men and women of many nations—but mostly British. Statesmen, members of nobility, musicians, authors, churchmen and soldiers all speak in the strongest terms of praise for the bold King of the Belgians who dared oppose the advance of the Germans with his thin-ranked army.

The book is illustrated by artists of America and England—all a part of the tribute.

The publishers' profits from the sales go to the Belgian Relief Fund.

The introduction is written by Hall Caine, who calls the book "the united voice of the world's gratitude to Belgium for her unexampled heroism and of its sympathy with her in the heavy price she has had to pay in discharging the sublime duty which Destiny laid upon her of fighting by our side for the liberties of all."

The American contributors are mostly novelists and artists, among them being Gertrude Atherton, Robert W. Chambers, Howard Chandler Christy, Winston Churchill, Margaret Deland, Charles Dana Gibson, and Jack London.

FURNITURE OF ALL PERIODS.

THE PRACTICAL BOOK OF PERIOD FURNITURE. By Harold Donaldson Eberlein and Abbot McClure. J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia.

IT IS not as usual as might well be expected for the title succinctly and comprehensively to describe the book. But this one does. It is designed to be of interest and value and treats of all the periods from the earliest English and French makers, when furniture began to be artistically distinctive, down to the present.

"Jacobean," "William and Mary," "Queen Anne and Early Georgian," "Louis Quatorze and Louis Quinze," "Chippendale," "George Hepplewhite," "Thomas Sheraton," "Painted Furniture," "Advice to Buyers and Collectors" and "Furnishing and Arrangement" are some of the seventeen chapter headings.

Two hundred and fifty illustrations are included, and one of the distinctive features is the illustrative chronological key for the identification of period furniture. This shows at a glance the dominate characteristics of each period and—in the language of the publishers who state that no other book on furniture contains such a key—"by referring to the chapter on that period, where numerous other illustrations and full details are given, any genuine piece of period furniture or a correct reproduction can be identified."

The authors lay emphasis on the difference between "reproduced" furniture and "imitations," the former being frank efforts to reproduce the furniture of other periods, and the latter being an unscrupulous attempt to make "antiques" for unsophisticated purchasers.

The text is interesting, anything but dry, and the subject matter in its entirety is easily understood.

PUBLICITY AND PROGRESS. By Herbert Heebner Smith. George H. Doran Company. (Points out how to prepare material in a readable way so that people may be interested and enlisted to support churches, schools, libraries and institutions of a beneficial character.)

"THE ANCIENT EAST."

In "The Ancient East" (Henry Holt & Co.) D. G. Hogarth, keeper of the Ashmolean Museum, Oxford, has sketched the history of those times and countries for which few people know anything. The early Egyptians, Assyrians, Babylonians and Persians are recognized to have had a remarkable civilization, but Mr. Hogarth gives their political and military history from the earliest period on which there is information down to the rise of Greece. The book is permeated with facts usually procurable only in formidable tomes, while this is a small, compact volume belonging to the "Home University Library Series."

FOR MOTHERS.

We have heard much of training for children and self-training for adults, but here is perhaps the very first book on "Self-Training for Mothers" (J. B. Lippincott Company.) It is by Maria B. Chance. In it are discussed the qualities that make for good motherhood and these points are followed by instructions on health, the care of the nursery, influencing children, the selection of books and companionship for them.

JAPAN TO AMERICA

12" 250 pages $1.25

A symposium prepared under the editorial supervision of Prof. Naoichi Masaoka, by statesmen and other leaders of thought in Japan. The volume is issued under the auspices of the Japan Society of America, and contains an introduction by Lindsay Russell, its President. The volume gives first-hand information as to present conditions in Japan, as to the ideals and policies of Japanese leaders, and also on the all-important matter of Japan's attitude toward the United States.

THE HELPING HAND.

"How far that little candle throws his beams!
So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

The gift of the late Miss Mary E. Garrett of Baltimore, of the major portion of her estate, estimated at from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000, to Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr College, is most notable in its character. The donor and Miss Thomas had been close friends for years, and it is understood that they were in unison regarding the needs of Bryn Mawr College, and that Miss Thomas will carry out the wishes of Miss Garrett in this respect. In fact, the will states that Miss Garrett's sympathy with and confidence in Miss Thomas's judgment and wisdom was one of her motives for making this gift and in no sense a condition thereof, and that she made the gift to Miss Thomas absolutely and without reservation or restriction, and without the purpose of creating any trust, to be her own property and as fully subject to her dominion, use and disposal as any other property which she owns.

The will gives to the Bryn Mawr School for Girls of Baltimore, the ground now occupied by it, together with the buildings, furniture, apparatus and equipment, but requires it to maintain a school for girls as a college preparatory school exclusively preparing girls to enter the college or colleges of the highest grade. It also releases the school from its indebtedness to Miss Garrett, which occurred previous to 1902, amounting to about $65,000.

A ten days' campaign is to be started in New York for the raising of $250,000 for a clubhouse for the Newsboy's Home Club. Miss Anna Rhoades, chairman of the Women's Teams Committee, says of the project:

"The success of this campaign will mean almost as much to New York as a city, as it does to the newsboys, for one of the chief objects of the Newsboys' Home Club is to bring out character and manliness in the boys and make of them citizens the city will be proud of.

"In the average newsboy are the most important elements of good citizenship, but too often these elements are lost through the contact with evil characters, who infest the districts where many of the boys are compelled to live. Once the ambition of the newsboy is diverted into the wrong channel, the saloon, the gambling hall and the gang headquarters contribute to his downfall. It was to combat such influences that the Newsboy's Home Club was organized.

"The money we are setting out to raise will provide the boys with a real clubhouse, with departments of manual and commercial training, where members who have no other opportunity may educate themselves for business careers."

The entire estate of Peter R. Rahm of Philadelphia, which amounts to $20,000, is to be held in trust for his widow, and upon her decease, it will be divided in equal shares to the Masonic Home of Pennsylvania and the Momumental Endowment Fund of Virginia.

Maj. John O. Skinner, a retired army surgeon, has received a medal of honor from President Wilson, in accordance with an act of Congress, for "gallantry in action." During an assault on the Modoc stronghold on January 17, 1873, in the Lava Beds, Oregon, the major rescued a wounded soldier after two other soldiers had attempted to make the rescue and both had been wounded.

More than $250,000 of the estate of Miss Mary E. Smith of New York is left to public and charitable institutions under the terms of her will.

The principal bequest is one of $200,000 to the Peabody Home for Indigent Women, located there. Other bequests include $10,000 to Barnard College and $5000 each to the Mary Hitchcock Memorial Home, Hanover, N. H., and the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital at Boston.

When Miss Kathryne Costello of New York was flung into an inhospitable part of the South Pacific Ocean from a balky outrigger canoe recently she started the envoys of life and death in her direction.

The one was a man-eating shark; the other a native Hawaiian boatman. For three desperate minutes she didn't know which would reach her first. She had been alone in the frail craft, learning to sail it in Pearl Harbor near Honolulu. She clung to the boat shouting for help. Far out from the breakers a black fin began moving in. And from the other direction a seminude boatman raced out with almost superhuman haste.

Drawing a knife, the native dived just as the black fin swept in for the kill. For a minute there was nothing but bubbles on the surface, and Miss Costello's fright-blanched face, awaiting the verdict from the depths. Then a white-bellied monster floated up, with hideous mouth agape, dead. And the boatman, with his knife and a smile of relief, reseated himself calmly in his canoe, dragged Miss Costello in after him and took her ashore.

Demanded the Difference.

[Philadelphia Telegraph:] Smith was awakened in the dead of the night and found himself glaring into the long barrel of a scary-looking revolver. Back of the revolver was a burglar wearing the usual mask.

"Who are you?" asked Smith with chattering teeth. "What do you want?"

"I am a burglar," answered the intruder, in a cold, hard voice. "Last week I went through this house and got $10 and a gold-plated watch. In giving the story to the reporters you boastfully said you lost money and jewelry to the amount of $500."

"I know I did! I know I did!" admitted the trembling Smith. "But what—"

"It's just this way," responded the burglar. "I was compelled to share with my partner on the basis of the newspaper report, and now you have got to come across."

A Teutonic Controversy.

[Washington Post:] The Berlin professors are eagerly discussing whether Germany should sing the national hymn, "Heil Dir im Siegeskranz," which goes to the same tune as "God Save the King."

Prof. Hollaender of Berlin, maintains that it would be an absolute disgrace to Germany to continue singing music composed by the arch enemy.

Against him appears another professor of national reputation urging that as the tune has been known in Germany, and served its purpose for many generations, it must not be given up. On the contrary, all Germany should sing it even louder, he says, until England is compelled to give it up, simultaneously with abolishing "Britannia rules the waves."

Basement.

Fruiting Passion Vine
(Passiflora Edulis)
—The Passion Vine thrives in California, is a vigorous grower and well suited to use on trellis or screen frames. Is quite hardy.
—The fruit is the size and shape of an egg and contains a pulp of exceedingly good flavor.

Guava
(Psidium Guayaba)
—This highly esteemed tropical fruit is well adapted to our climate. This is the common guava of the tropics.

Pineapple Guava
(Feijoa Sellowiana)
—Resembles the common guava and grows to an ultimate height of eight or ten feet. Brilliant and attractive flowers. Fruits are about the size and shape of a hen's egg.

The Cherimoya
—Classed as one of the three finest fruits in the world. Eminently adapted to this climate or wherever oranges thrive. Fruit is heart-shaped or oval, the flavor similar to the pineapple.

The White Sapote
(Casimiroa Edulis)
—Extremely drought-resistant—will stand more neglect than any other tree. It has been shown to withstand quite low temperatures.
—The fruit is very similar in appearance to the quince and about the same size. Will grow in almost any soil.

Guava (Psidium Araca)
—Similar in growth and fruit to the popular Strawberry Guava, but superior to it.
—The fruit is spherical, an inch to an inch and a half in diameter and of a good flavor.
—The plant does not grow to a large size, but is a very prolific bearer.

—For Two Hours Only—9 to 11 A.M.—
—The following items are available for the first two hours, Monday. There's a limited quantity in most cases. No phone or mail orders will be accepted.
—Shop early for these; they'll go quickly.

Men's Socks 5c
Factory Mended

PROF. C. ERVIN ALTHOUSE,
NOTED ASTROLOGER AND PALMIST OF NATIONAL FAME AND REPUTATION.
STUDIO PARLORS, 621 S. BROADWAY.
A RESIDENT OF LOS ANGELES 20 YEARS.

PROF. ALTHOUSE is an experienced practitioner in the science of modern ASTROLOGY, by which he has made many REMARKABLE PREDICTIONS. The horoscope shows the powerful influence of the planets in ALL AFFAIRS OF LIFE. It shows diseases, deaths, love and marriage, financial affairs, investments, changes, talents, environment, about children, relatives, when and where to travel, what to seek or avoid, when in danger of losses, troubles, etc., etc., also your good periods coming—GIVING DATES of these events for the FUTURE.

PROF. ALTHOUSE read E. H. Sothern, Nat Goodwin, Schumann-Heink, Gadski, Admiral Schley, David Starr Jordan, ex-Gov. Pardee, ex-Senator Clark, Senator [illegible], Baron Rothschild, Gen. Chaffee, Edison, Sousa, Modjeska, Capt. Hobson, Julia Marlowe, Anna Held, Jefferson, Sembrich, Lillian Russell, Calve, Admiral Evans, H. E. Huntington, etc.

EXPERT PALM READINGS. READINGS BY MAIL.

DR. J. A. LARSON writes: "Your reading was the most satisfactory I ever had in my life. I know a great deal about these sciences, and I consider your work the most THOROUGH and RELIABLE of any reader in the United States."

PROF. ALTHOUSE'S wonderful proficiency in the casting of HOROSCOPES and in HAND reading has brought him a LARGE and SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE. The most private confidences are reposed in him, and his advice is sought in the most difficult and critical circumstances. Personal attention given. STRICT PRIVACY. HIGHEST GRADE OF WORK that skill and many years' experience can produce. HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

HENLEY.
HENLEY.
LOS ANGELES' CELEBRATED PSYCHIC.
HIS ADVICE HELPED TO MAKE LOS ANGELES WHAT IT IS TODAY.
THE OLDEST PSYCHIC IN THE CITY.
317 W. THIRD, NEAR HILL.
REMEMBER, MR. HENLEY IS NOT A CARD READER OR PALMIST, BUT A NATURAL-BORN PSYCHIC.

Without asking you a question he gives dates, facts, figures. Are the people pleased? They are simply astounded. AMAZED. They say they never saw anything like it. Spiritualists, scientists, bankers, merchants and people of the highest class of society have had readings with him and pronounce him unequaled in his profession. Readings daily.

Formerly called "Balm of Figs."
For Female Troubles. 317 W. THIRD.

PERSONAL—
MRS. MASON,
the noted palmist, of London, England, may be consulted at 322 SOUTH SPRING STREET, by those desiring CAREFUL, CONSCIENTIOUS AND SCIENTIFIC HAND READINGS, FROM ONE OF THE FOREMOST PALMISTS OF THE DAY.

The earnest student and thinker will soon learn in his investigations along psychological lines that that which pertains to occult phenomena proper can readily be distinguished from crude and oft-exposed SLEIGHT-OF-HAND TRICKS, the most common of which is the telling of the subject's name, age, etc., AFTER HE HIMSELF HAS WRITTEN THAT information.

PALMISTRY HONESTLY PRACTICED WILL NOT tell your name, but it WILL give you information of considerably greater value in every-day life. Your vocation, your present line of work, matters of health and domestic life, financial conditions and ways and means of climbing out of a rut of ill luck into wide paths of success and prosperity, can all be told you through scientific palmistry, WITHOUT A SINGLE QUESTION, WRITTEN OR VERBAL. MRS. MASON DOES NOT APPEAL TO IGNORANT SUPERSTITION, BUT TO THE FINEST INTELLIGENCE.
HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE SOLICITED.

REAL ESTATE
OPENING.
Salesmen, take notice. We are opening our new ground floor branch office at 117 WEST FIFTH STREET.
Can use five more live salesmen and saleswomen. Call at once and see
BILYEU & RINGER,
117 West Fifth street.

WANTED—
TO THE AMBITIOUS MAN.
I have recently resigned my position as General Sales Manager of The Los Angeles Investment Company to take over two of the best sub-divisions in the city of Los Angeles and go in business for myself, and I have the following facts to present to red blooded, ambitious men, with a good appearance, good manners, the ability to stick at all times to the truth and do as they are told while they are learning.

FACTS—
I have a number of men during the past year who never sold real estate in their life before who have earned from $300 to $1000 per month. You can do the same if you will do as you are told and work as hard.

I have a number of men who started with me about eighteen months ago when I first came to Los Angeles, they would not have stuck with me unless they had made big money, would they?

Two of my men who were salesmen with me during the past year have already been promoted as general sales managers in two of the largest real estate offices in Los Angeles.

To encourage competition among my salesmen I am awarding each month in addition to cash commissions earned, the following cash prizes: $50 in gold, first prize; $25 in gold, second prize; $10 in gold, third prize. One day off a month with an outing to the beach at my expense of my sales force, and a division of 10 per cent. of my net profits among my salesmen every Christmas who have been with me over six months.

If you are dissatisfied with your present position believing you are capable of making more money than you are earning at the present time, this is an opportunity for you to get in at the beginning of a new organization and accomplish what you have always desired, the making of yourself a financial success. Many a man is just like a ship without a helm. I am the helm, and I will steer you like I have other men, safely into the channel of success. See me any morning after 9 a.m.
CLAUDE E. HAMILTON,
ROOM 300, WRIGHT & CALLENDER BLDG.
FOURTH AND HILL STS.

WANTED—SEVERAL ENERGETIC YOUNG MEN TO qualify for managerial positions with a large corporation. We are going to establish branch offices in every city over twenty-five thousand on the coast. Six branches already established within a year.

In order to qualify you must first demonstrate your ability as a salesman, an experienced salesman will teach you the business and show you how to get the name on the dotted line.

Make good as a salesman and secure advancement to assistant superintendent or manager of salesmen. Make good as an assistant superintendent and secure advancement to superintendent or manager of assistant superintendents and salesmen.

We are going to [illegible] our coast organization [illegible] exceptional opportunity to young men of ability to secure rapid advancement to positions that would ordinarily take from ten to twenty years to secure with any corporation.

DON'T READ THIS
UNLESS YOU ARE DISSATISFIED WITH YOUR PRESENT POSITION OR ARE LOOKING FOR SOMETHING WORTH WHILE.

For the man who is sober, industrious, ambitious, who wants to get into a business that will yield $300 or more per month.

I have the opening. I have men upon my sales force right now who are receiving more than double the above amount. I want a few more good men right away to handle both country and city properties. Positively no better proposition in Los Angeles than this. It is not necessary for you to be an experienced salesman, as I will guarantee to teach you the business and make you a success if you will but follow instructions. If you are an experienced salesman, the system I employ and the help that is given will increase your efficiency. A few minutes' interview with me may mean thousands of dollars to you and the beginning of a successful business career. Call in the morning between 8:30 and 10.30. Ask for

MINING—

ARE YOU LOOKING FOR A GOOD FREE MILLING gold prospect? Extensive porphyry contact good bearing ledges with shoots of ore assaying round $40 per ton, the kind of prospects that develop into great mines. Do you want to purchase outright lease and bond, or do a limited amount of development for one-half interest? You will find several such propositions along the California-Nevada State line, 1½ miles southeast from Nipton, Cal., on Salt Lake R. R. 3 per cent. grade to property. You can deal with the owners. This section will surely produce great gold mines as all geological conditions are favorable. Address R. P. HALL, Nipton, Cal.

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN A LIVE PROSPECT FOR making a big mine in the mother lode country (Tuolumne County?) Adjacent mines have produced millions and still producing. Owner being unable to prosecute work will lease and bond on favorable terms—no money paid until fully satisfied. Equipment on property ready for immediate use; 125 feet shaft on property and drifts of 90 feet at bottom show fine values for milling ore. 401 UNION OIL BLDG.

FOR SALE—

DEVELOPED COPPER MINE.

Situated in one of the best copper districts in America; surrounded by big producing mines. Big income assured, as shown by engineer's map and report. Affords the most unusual opportunity for assured profitable investment of any proposition that ever has come to our attention. New York market report states: "Copper held the market steady; price 18 1-4." W. A. VARCOE & CO., 349 Edgeware road.

WANTED—A PARTNER WITH SOME MONEY. I have got three full gold claims of fifteen hundred feet long by six hundred feet wide, in the extreme southeast end of San Bernardino county, California, which adjoin a gold mine now working and extracting five hundred and sixty dollar ore to the ton, plenty of water and fuel, good roads and eight miles from Railroad. Address BOX A, SEARCHLIGHT, NEV.

FOR SALE—ROYALTY BASIS, LARGE COPPER property, ore ready for shipment; running from 6 to 20 per cent., having additional values in gold, silver and lead; extensive workings. Will sell part or all. Location, San Bernardino county, 8 miles from Santa Fe railroad. For report, maps, ores and photographs, call C. A. DEVENS, 603 Roberts Bldg., Third and Main.

A RELIABLE PARTY WITH $2500 CASH CAN get a half interest in a mining proposition that will return from $5000 to $20,000 profit within a year. Will be sending gold to the mint in 60 days. You will be associated with an experienced, successful mining man and your money secured. Principals only. For interview address P, box 390, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

AM RETURNING TO NOME, ALASKA, ON FIRST boat. Will locate valuable placer ground adjoining my property for cost of location. Well acquainted in the Seward Peninsula, familiar with affairs in Alaska. Will take any commissions. Best of references. A. J. HARSHBERGER, 519 Title Ins. Bldg., from 12 to 2 p.m.

MINING ENGINEER WILL EXAMINE AND REport upon meritorious mining properties, accepting in payment for services his personal expenses while investigating and an interest in the mine. Maps, sketches and photographs. Address T, box 2, TIMES OFFICE.

FREE GOLD—PATENTED CLAIM ON MOTHER lode, adjoining property showing record $20,000,000—Unique but extant. Have ledge showing paying values. State work done. Takes money to handle. $10,000 first payment. Control for sale. Address R, box 300, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

WOULD YOU LIKE AN INTEREST IN A GOLD mine? Plenty of rich ore, an abundance of water, four miles from railroad. Those interested in data are familiar with the district. This is no scheme, but a real business proposition. See me at once. IRA L. MILLER, 607 I. W. Hellman [illegible]

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS—
For Sale, Exchange, Wanted.

ONE OF THE LARGEST PIANO HOUSES IN Los Angeles is going to place 100 pianos in 100 homes in Los Angeles and near-by towns, absolutely free for 30 days, and at the expiration of that time most liberal terms will be extended. All we ask is a little reference. While this has never been the plan of selling pianos by this firm, yet if the plan proves satisfactory it will be permanently adopted. Not a dollar as a down payment on the piano is going to be asked of any one answering this advertisement; nor will any one be confined to any particular piano or style of piano in their selection of an instrument—they may select any piano in our entire stock.

This is an open and above-board proposition and simply means that we are going to put these pianos out as stated above without a down payment on the instrument. Just send us your name and address and we will be glad to give you further particulars. Remember, we are one of the largest established piano houses in Los Angeles and every instrument is fully guaranteed by both the factory and ourselves.

Address ABC, box 380, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

MANY NEW FEATURES.

Foothill Subdivision at Altadena to Have Unique Arrangement of Residence Sites Around Private Park.

Aurele Vermeulen, Los Angeles landscape architect, is preparing extensive plans for the new Altadena Knoll subdivision, in Altadena. The study covers some 100 acres of foothill land and the improvement promises to be one of the most attractive residential layouts in the vicinity of Los Angeles. The property, which lies at the base of the Sierras, offers beautiful views of the entire country, covering fields, towns and cities to the Pacific Ocean on one side and the orange districts, with the San Gabriel Valley in the foreground, on the other. It is located on the Altadena drive, adjoining the toll road to Mt. Wilson and within two blocks of the Altadena Country Club.

A number of interesting features are being introduced in the study by the landscape architect. In order to obtain the best effects of beauty and utility, all the sites, exposures and elevations of buildings are being permanently established. The layout, buildings and all the features of each lot are to be dependent parts of the ensemble study. All the garages, most conveniently sunken in the hill, are to be located in the least conspicuous places, except in a few limited cases, where they are to be treated as entrances lodges. All back yards are to be eliminated, the rear of residences in each block being treated as parts of a community park.

The planting scheme, which is to play an important role in the improvement, is to be of such nature and so placed as to produce the most desirable effects, to throw in evidence the most desirable features, obstruct the least interesting and provide the needed amount of privacy for each residence. The ordinary cement sidewalks of streets will be eliminated and the streets reduced to mere width of drives, thus giving the improvement the appearance of a park.

TO BE OPEN EVENINGS.

The management of the Metropolitan exhibit of building materials on the sixth floor of the Metropolitan block at Fifth and Broadway has arranged to have the exhibit rooms open to the public on Saturday evenings as well as on all week days. The exhibit, which is open to all, is being enlarged constantly by the installation of new and interesting displays.

BAKED BEANS FOR SUPPER.

There will be real, old-fashioned baked beans and brown bread at the Massachusetts supper tomorrow evening, at the Federation Hall, No. 953 West Seventh street. Supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock and will be followed by a delightful programme. Miss Mildred Tousey will read and Miss Sanny Terrell will sing. John McLean and Miss Vere von Dachelle will contribute instrumental numbers. There will be dancing and cards and a social hours. The affair is for all Bay State people.

The New American Legion.

[Boston Transcript:] All who hold with George Washington and against Andrew Carnegie that "to be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace," will welcome the formation of the American Legion and rally to its support. A volunteer organization throughout, it is to be recruited for the most part from the men who have returned to civil life after service in the army, navy or marine corps. It is estimated that in ten years between 300,000 and 400,000 honorably discharged soldiers, bluejackets and marines have drifted back into the civil population, and few of them are today identified with the militia. The legion would form the first reserve and in the event of war could be quickly assembled and put in readiness to follow to the front the first line, consisting of the regular army and the militia. Service in the legion takes no man out of civil life in time of peace and its organization cannot be regarded as smacking in the slightest degree of militarism.

Wanted a Different Machine.

[Everybody's Magazine:] A booking agent for a Chautauqua bureau visited a small town in the Middle West. He called on a man who said that in order to introduce a Chautauqua it would be necessary to see the most prominent man in town. Together they called on the "first citizen."

"Mr. Jones," said he, "I called to see you in regard to a Chautauqua."

"It won't do a bit of good," spoke up the prominent citizen. "My wife and I have looked over all the catalogues carefully and have already decided on another machine."

Spain Observes Arbor Day.

[Youth's Companion:] Spain perhaps has fewer trees than any other large country in Europe—a fact that the government views with concern. Arbor Day has been observed in Spain since 1895, and the results have been so satisfactory that the King has just issued an order making the annual celebration of Arbor Day obligatory in every city and township. The American Consul-General at Barcelona reports that the public takes a lively interest in the matter. He believes that the royal decree will have marked influence in extending the wooded area of the country.

PULCHRITUDE POLL POWER

Manly Beauty Strong Feature of Mayoralty Contest.

Curly Heads and Hairless Faces in the Majority.

Youthful Aspirants Vie for Place at Head of Ticket.

Beauty is more than skin deep in the present mayoralty campaign. Aye, far deeper than that, it reaches to the very bone and marrow of the fight.

In fact, this is a [illegible] contest, with the odds all on the [illegible] and a fair one in every camp.

Because one of the candidates, to wit, Mr. Whiffen, has grey hair and facial trimmings to match, it has occurred to some of the other [illegible] for honor that the beauty and [illegible] of youth lend strength to their campaign arguments. Hence the [illegible] alluring photographs, and [illegible] alacrity of candidates in accepting invitations to address women's [illegible].

This is a contest, indeed, [illegible] from the youthful and pulchritudinous candidates—where the face [illegible] ure, and where even the [illegible] some ice.

Turn where you will, the [illegible] of mayoralty candidates [illegible] you, mutely appealing for [illegible] "Elect (face) Allen Mayor," [illegible] (face) Casselman," "Whiffen [illegible] for Mayor." Then there are [illegible] tian, Criswell and McCallum [illegible] with a face of his own.

There are styles of beauty [illegible] nearly every whim, [illegible] blonde is in the running [illegible] though, is the only one [illegible] beard, and McCallum the [illegible] pristor of a mustache.

The Apollo Belvedere [illegible] on, let us say, Robert [illegible] the Adonis of the Police [illegible] who has made a hit at [illegible] women's club meetings. [illegible] Apollo B.V.D. had nothing [illegible] body, even himself, [illegible] timers remember him.

In Allen we have the [illegible] side-of-forty example of [illegible] (not necessarily long) [illegible] coiffure being of the [illegible] of plaster-it-down-and-[illegible] throwing into bold relief [illegible] are not whisked by [illegible] mussed by mustache.

Passing for the nonce [illegible] of the alphabet, not [illegible] the procession, let us [illegible] not disdainfully, over [illegible] letters to "M," which [illegible] Callum, also for [illegible] The head of the so-called [illegible] League, Mr. McCallum [illegible] broom on his chin, although [illegible] a miniature mustache [illegible] manicured. With this [illegible] burst into the charmed [illegible] who wear their hair [illegible] at least boast kinky [illegible]

Departing somewhat [illegible] or Allen, class of [illegible] McCallum still belongs [illegible] beauty, class—it [illegible] here, hereafter and [illegible] the word "beauty" [illegible] not to be confused [illegible] word when applied [illegible] or pharmacy type, [illegible] within its ranks the [illegible] eyebrow pencil, the [illegible] powder rag and the [illegible]

This being understood, [illegible] along to "S," which [illegible] and smiles. Here, [illegible] classic countenance [illegible] chin clean swept of [illegible] a head of hair that [illegible] days has defied any [illegible] low, or any comb to [illegible]

Because of his [illegible] life for many years, [illegible] frequent publication [illegible] graph, the managers of [illegible] of Mr. Sebastian have [illegible] necessary to exert [illegible] procuring of prints [illegible] distribution—satisfied [illegible] tion day comes, the [illegible] he is young and good [illegible]

Doubling back on the [illegible] find ourselves at "C" [illegible] —but not necessarily [illegible] not necessarily not [illegible] queror, and standing [illegible] If handsome does as [illegible] Casselman should be [illegible] candidate, for beauty [illegible] ery line of his features [illegible] side lawns are [illegible] and surmounting the [illegible] once more the curls [illegible] come in clusters from [illegible] the scalp and not [illegible] from irons heated in [illegible] the fingercurls of [illegible]

In the "C" class [illegible] who, being on the [illegible] should have red hair, [illegible] is thatched with gray. [illegible] for Mr. Criswell that [illegible] looking, for a [illegible] combs his hair.

As for hair alone, [illegible] and curl for curl, [illegible] leads all other candidates [illegible] to his fellow-contestants [illegible] contest prevents any [illegible] his claims for [illegible] points of comparison.

Thus we have [illegible] ballot.

FACT AND COMMENT.

At last the secret is out. Our great [illegible] State highway project, [illegible] of all Californians and envy of the country, has turned out to be a [illegible] undertaking after all. The State Highway Commission, after [illegible] months of wrestling with the [illegible] apparent facts, has taken the people into its confidence. Either another $12,000,000 must be dug up from somewhere to carry on the highway work, or the whole scheme must [illegible] be abandoned in an uncompleted condition, say the commissioners. And thereby are revealed many things that have been a puzzle to the observers of the State highway programme and progress.

It is a revelation to most persons in California that the original estimate for the highways now completed or under construction and projected was $26,000,000 and that the [illegible] actually appropriated was intended only as a starter, and yet this is one of the explanations that is given for the shortage in funds. The [illegible], it is also declared at Sacramento, was never intended to cover the cost of roadbeds of any such quality as has been made a standard in State highway construction to date.

From the start, it is said, the specifications have been exceeded, both in the main trunk lines and in the laterals. This, according to the explanation given, has resulted from the beginning in a serious piling up of costs. It is difficult to get at all the facts as to the responsibility for the present state of affairs, but the one fact that the highway work has come to the point of standstill has been ascertained beyond possibility of doubt.

One thing is certain: The people of the districts through which the various portions of the highway have been completed would not be content with roadways of poorer quality than have been laid. It is equally certain that the districts through which the highway is yet to be constructed would consider it a rank imposition were the commission to attempt to economize at their expense by giving them roadways inferior to those in existence. The standard having been set, the people of the State are said to be "spoiled" in so far as highways are concerned. What would once have passed with them will not do at all now.

The story of the State highway programme as it has been revealed during the past week, is both interesting and illuminating. At the very start the commission was confronted with a demand for better roadways than had been contemplated in the far from extensive original estimates. Argument was of no avail. The districts in which the system had its beginning were close enough to Sacramento both geographically and politically apparently to get what it wanted. It was a good start toward the right kind of a highway system, but it was a bad beginning in so far as the appropriation went. That the bond issue was allowed to go through as it was is of itself evidence that no one was quite sure as to what the $18,000,000 bond issue really contemplated.

As might well be imagined, there was no curbing the exactions of the districts in which the second, third and succeeding links of the highway were started. What was good enough for the Sacramento district became the good for them. That was the spirit manifested. The demand for the best spread throughout the State. Regions mapped out for laterals began to demand roadways equal to those of the main trunk lines. Politics took a hand. New routes were demanded on every hand. If the commission had permitted itself to be swayed by all the pressure exerted, the highway system would have cost $100,000,000 before it could have been completed. As it was, the influence was strong enough in one district after another to force the carrying out of the highway programme on the expensive lines first definitely established.

Best Thing After All.

After all is said that can be said on the subject, it may be put down as reasonably certain that no one in California would be willing, knowing all the facts, to exchange the kind of highways that have been built to date for the kind that could have been constructed within the limitations of the $18,000,000 appropriation. No charges of graft, extravagance or incompetence have been preferred against the commission from start to finish and hence it may be reasonably assumed that the State has been getting its money's worth for the amount expended. To have economized at the expense of quality, the commission would have been forced to build a system of roadways not at all comparable with those that are now making California famous throughout the world.

To offset the disappointment that the taxpayers cannot help but feel at the turn the highway situation has taken, there is the satisfaction of knowing at least that there has already been built in California more than 1000 miles of roadway that is really worth while. It is pretty apt to be generally recognized that it would have been a mistake to have built any other kind of roads. If, therefore, the taxpayers feel a chagrin in learning that the money they have already voted is not going to stretch out to cover the work they have believed it would cover, they must also be grateful that they have even without knowing it avoided a grave folly. The highways now being built bid fair, with proper care, to outlive the fifty-year bond issue issued for highway purposes, whereas $18,000,000 worth of dirt and oil roads would hardly have lasted through a fifth of that time. The blow that has just fallen is, it would seem, tempered with the knowledge of many compensations.

We'll Go Ahead.

Of course California will go ahead and finish her highways. That much may be taken for granted. Already it has been shown beyond question that these smooth arteries of travel stretching up and down and across the State are one of our greatest assets. Tens of thousands of wealthy tourists who in other years have gone abroad to motor over the perfect highways of France and Germany are this year finding the greatest delight they have ever experienced in skimming over the State roads of California. The California State highways are solving the marketing problems for tens of thousands of farmers and ranchers who in the past were at the mercy of every heavy rain that mired the roads. They are the thoroughfares for an ever-growing truck service that is cutting down shipping bills for thousands of merchants. They are a source of never-ending pleasure to the automobile owners of the State. Even in their uncompleted state, they afford an opportunity for sight-seeing and travel that puts both within the reach of the poorest man who can afford to own a cheap automobile.

It would be a reflection upon the State to quit at this stage of the game. Thirty million dollars is not an unprecedented sum to spend on highways. Pennsylvania has expended $50,000,000 on her highways and is about to spend as much more. New York has spent even more than Pennsylvania and is still at it. All over the United States the good roads movement is receiving an impetus never before known. It would indeed be humiliating for California, which of all States has the most excuse for good roads, to lag behind just at the moment when the interest in highways is greatest elsewhere. California, however, will not lag.

Thanks, not Blame.

The people of California should sincerely thank the State Highway Com-

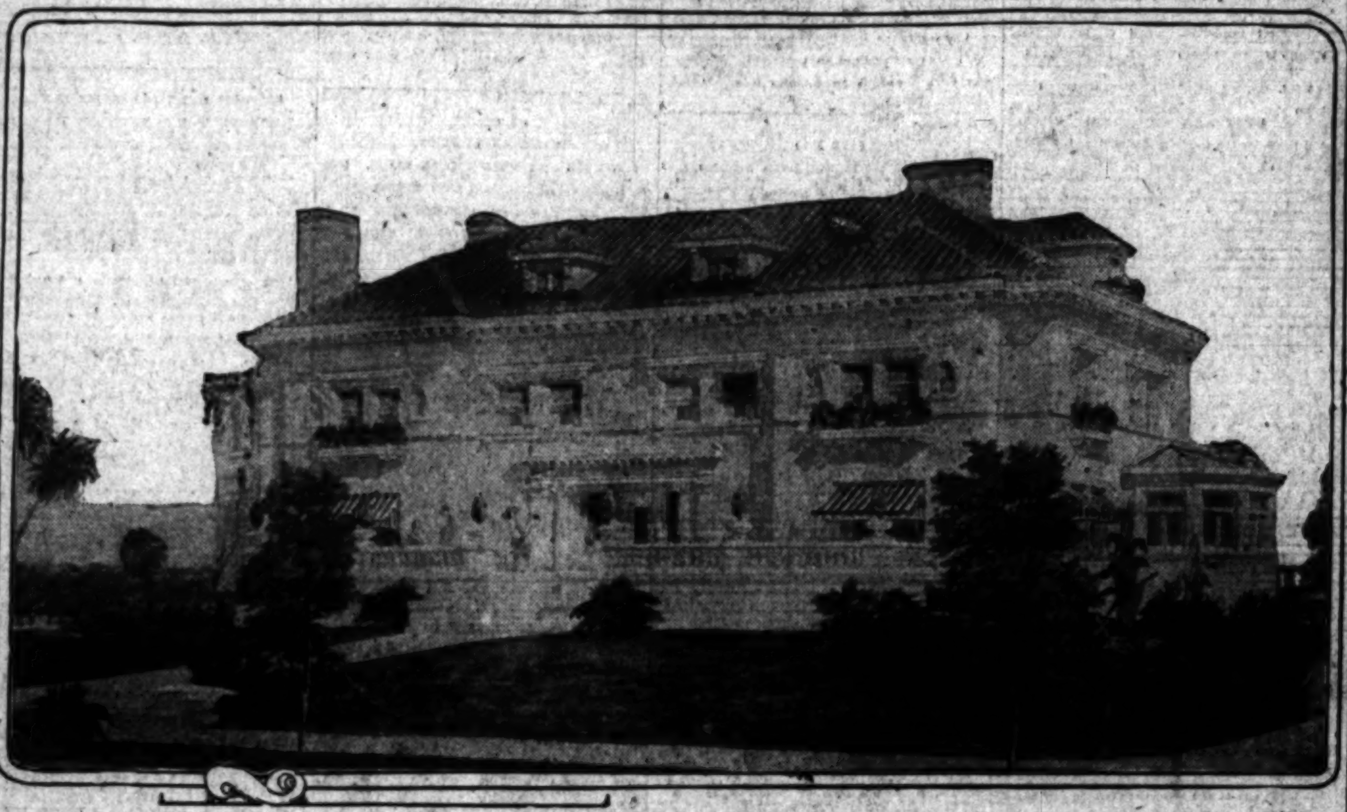
Palatial Home to be Built by Oklahoma Man in Fremont Place.



Architect John C. Austin's perspective of mansion for M. H. Mosier, wealthy oil man won by Southland's charm.

Couldn't Help It.

OIL MAN STARTS PALATIAL HOME.

WEALTHY OKLAHOMAN DECIDES TO STAY HERE.

Annual Visitor to Los Angeles to Build Forty-thousand-dollar Mansion in Fremont Place—Has Over Acre of Ground in Sightly West Side Tract.

M. H. Mosier, formerly of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and rated among the leading oil men of the Oklahoma-Texas fields, has signalized his intention of becoming a permanent resident of Los Angeles by starting a palatial home in Fremont Place. Mr. Mosier has been an annual visitor to Southern California for many years. Early in the present year he paid a large cash consideration for a plot of ground comprising more than an acre in the fashionable west side subdivision.

Architect John C. Austin has drawn plans for the $40,000 mansion that is to be built by the former Oklahoman at this location. The contract for the foundation work and part of the superstructure was awarded during the past week and yesterday workmen began the necessary excavations. The house is to be completed as rapidly as is consistent with good construction requirements, as the wealthy oil man, now that he has definitely decided upon making his home in Los Angeles, is in a hurry to "get settled."

The site of the new dwelling is just off Wilshire boulevard and is almost surrounded by one of the numerous curved drives of Fremont Place. Of irregular shape, the lot has an average width of 260 feet by an average depth of 200 feet. The landscaping and planting of the grounds will be elaborate and are to be carried out under the direction of the architect. Mr. Mosier plans to set out a large number of rare trees and shrubs in addition to the more familiar varieties.

The house will follow the style of the Italian renaissance and will have white plastered exterior walls and a green glazed tile roof. The windows will be set off by wrought iron balconies. Balusters, columns and urns in artificial stone will lend to the effectiveness of the design and treatment.

The first floor of the dwelling will contain a living-room, library, dining-room, reception hall, breakfast-room, conservatory and helps' dining-room. On the second story will be seven bed-rooms, four bath-rooms, a billiard-room and sleeping porches. The downstairs portion will be finished in mahogany. Upstairs the finish will be in white enamel, the doors being of mahogany. All the bath-rooms will have tile walls and floors.

The house will have individual gas furnaces for every three rooms, the supply of heat being regulated from the various rooms themselves, by means of a patented push button control. Other unique features are also numbered among the appointments.

The garage will have a capacity of three machines. Its second story will be given over to servants' quarters.

CLOSE-IN HOTEL LEASED.

South Olive-street Hostelry Transferred to New Management for Ten-Year Term—Upland Transaction.

E. W. Cason & Co., associated hotel brokers, report the leasing of the Beverly Hotel at No. 1330 South Olive street for C. A. Mathewson to M. E. Swift for a term of ten years at a given total rental consideration of aboout $50,000. The hotel was erected less than two years ago at a cost of $50,000 and contains seventy-five rooms, with thirty baths. The new owners have taken possession. The price paid for the furniture is said to have been $5000.

The same firm reports the sale of the furniture of the Algonquin Hotel at Upland for A. R. Heryford to J. H. Painter. At the same time a new lease has been entered into for a term of one year, calling for a given consideration of $5000. The hotel contains forty rooms.

DEVELOPMENT PLANS.

Work is to be begun at once on the remodeling of the frame hotel at Balboa Palisades, formerly Corona del Mar, the purchase of which by the F. D. Cornell Company for a large sum was recently reported exclusively in The Times. The new owners have commissioned Kysor & Biggar to prepare plans for six bungalows to be built at the same shore place. The same architects have just completed plans for the alterations and additions to the hotel.

LARGE SCHOOL FOR NORTHWEST.

BOARD OF EDUCATION DECIDES UPON STRUCTURE FOR FIRST AND VERMONT.

Announcement has been made by the Board of Education that the large plot of ground at the northeast corner of First street and Vermont avenue, purchased by the board about three years ago as a location for a proposed girls' high school, will be used instead as the site of a large intermediate school. At the same time the board has temporarily abandoned its plan to double the size of the twelve-room Virgil-avenue school.

Architects Hunt & Burns, who planned the present Virgil-avenue building and who were to have had charge of the addition to that structure, will draw the plans for the new institution at First and Vermont. Close to $130,000 is available for the splendid new northwest school, which, according to the decision of the board, will contain thirty classrooms. The school will be two stories high and of concrete and brick construction, and is to cover a ground area of 250x150 feet.

Another of the schools provided for under the $6,000,000 bond issue—that to be erected on West Cahuenga street—is about to go ahead. W. C. Pennell, the architect, started plans during the past week. The structure will be of brick and will contain eight classrooms and an auditorium.

Contracts were let during the week for three of the large number of new schools in contemplation. The Fourteenth-street school, planned by C. H. Russell, is to be built by the John Harnish Company. The structure, a perspective of which recently appeared exclusively in The Times, will be of an "L" shape, and will contain twenty-five rooms. It will cover a ground area of 380x40 feet. The cost will be about $100,000.

The William Brent Company received the contract to build the new six-room school at Manchester avenue and Hoover street, planned by Train & Williams. M. N. Yesberg was givan the contract for the construction of the Miramonte school at Seventy-first street and Compton avenue, designed by the same architects.

ASK FOR SKETCHES.

The Los Angeles Public Library Board has asked for competitive sketches for a branch library building to be erected at North Workman street and Avenue 26, under the provisions of the Carnegie library appropriation for such structures in this city. The requirements, as stated to architectural competitors, call for a building one story in height over a full basement, to contain an auditorium seating 300 persons, in addition to the regular reading and stock rooms and the librarian's quarters. It is also required that the architect plan an open-air reading-room for the main floor. About $30,000 is available for the project.

OPEN BRANCH OFFICE.

The Robert B. Armstrong Company has opened a branch office for the sale of its Farmington property at No. 604 South Spring street. The company's main offices are in the Haas building.

GROUP TO FOLLOW CLASSIC MODELS.

NEW REDONDO BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL TO COMPRISE FIVE BUILDINGS.

REDONDO BEACH, April 24.—The board of trustees of the Redondo Union High School district has formally adopted the plans and specifications for the proposed new High School group prepared by Allison & Allison of Los Angeles. The design, which will follow classic models, presents many new features in high school planning, and the grouping of the buildings is especially interesting, owing to the shape of the site, which is triangular and surrounded by five streets.

The group will include five buildings. The largest of these will be the administration building, which will have a frontage of eighty-eight feet by a depth of 130 feet, and which will contain the executive offices of the school, an auditorium, a study hall, a library, an art department and music-room, together with a room designed and furnished after the Roman fashion, in which will be conducted the study of ancient languages. The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1000.

The science and household arts building, to the left of the administration building, will be 61x102 feet in size and will contain laboratories for chemistry, physics, biology and botany, together with lecture and apparatus rooms, and a completely-equipped domestic arts department. The commercial and classics building, to the right of the administration building, will be of about the same dimensions as the science structure and will contain an elaborate and completely-equipped commercial department, as well as a number of general classrooms for academic studies.

The domestic science building of the present school will be remodeled to serve as a manual arts building in the new group. The fifth building of the group will be a gymnasium and will be placed at the rear of the main buildings.

The three principal structures are to be conected by one-story covered cloisters, the roofs of which will serve as open-air corridors. A covered pergola will connect the main building with the manual arts building and the gymnasium, so that it will be possible to reach all buildings under cover in bad weather.

The buildings are to have brick walls, with cement exterior finish. They will be roofed with burnt clay tile. The exterior trim, including the large columns and portico, will be of cast stone. The equipment will be unusually complete.

The Redondo union district has voted $150,000 for the project. The board is composed of the following members: J. P. Luxford, president; R. E. Mattson, clerk; Mrs. W. R. Albee, George H. Anderson and H. K. Bennett. Prof. C. A. Langworthy is the supervising principal.

GARDEN ACRES SALES.

The McCarthy Company reports the sale of ten plots of ground in its Garden Acres tract, as follows: To E. Erskin, four plots, $2275; to W. Willis of Flagstaff, Ariz., two plots, comprising one acre, $1700; to L. Pullman, 160x160 feet, adjoining a plot recently acquired; to Mrs. Van Kirck, parcel of three-quarters of an acre, $950, and to A. Valenteen, a corner lot at Patton and Walnut streets.

CHURCH GETS PERMITS.

The First Advent Christian Church of this city took out a building permit during the week for a frame church edifice to be built at No. 2618 North Workman street. The building will cost about $15,000 and will be two stories in height. It will contain an auditorium seating 500, together with a Sunday-school auditorium and fifteen classrooms. There will be a social hall in the basement.

OWNER FORCED TO SELL
BEAUTIFUL NEW 7-ROOM WILSHIRE HOME WITH GENUINE MAHOGANY FINISH.
PRICE REDUCED TO
$4500. $4500. $4500.

By special arrangement this week with the owner we are able to offer you this $6500 residence for ONLY $4500. This lovely home is located on a sightly lot in the exclusive Wilshire district and may be had on very reasonable terms.

Living-room, dining-room, and library or den finished in Juana Costa mahogany with artistic decorations. Dainty breakfast-room and modern kitchen in white enamel. Two big airy bedrooms, finely finished in white enamel with modern built-in dressers. Large garage, wide cement driveway, fine lawn, flowers, etc.

You can't find a house in the Wilshire district to equal this at the price asked and it must be seen to be appreciated. Will stand the most critical inspection. Call us up Monday.

HERE IS AN EXCEPTIONAL PROPOSITION IN A HIGH-CLASS WILSHIRE HOME.
OWNER NEEDS MONEY AND WILL ACCEPT ANY REASONABLE OFFER MADE THIS WEEK.
$11,500 WAS ASKING $11,500
WHAT WILL YOU OFFER?

Artistically and beautifully designed and finished, this attractive home, built on a slightly elevated lot in the highest section of the Wilshire district, is of a new and original type, with tapestried brick and concrete retaining wall.

Peruvian mahogany is used in the finish of the living-room with fine fireplace, the dining-room which has large buffet; and the library with its bookcases, cove windows and window seat, also a side door opening onto a wide cement driveway bordered with pretty lawn and flowers. A very exquisite breakfast-room in white enamel and mahogany, maid's room and bath, a modern and up-to-date kitchen and butler's pass pantry, also in white enamel. Very expensive lighting fixtures, hardwood floors, and artistic wall decorations throughout.

Fine large staircase in selected mahogany leading the way to the second floor, which contains four very large and airy bed-chambers, an immense sleeping porch, a study or sewing room, splendid big tile bathroom with full length mirror and shower, large dressing-room, linen closet and plenty of clothes closets, etc. The second floor is finely finished in ivory enamel.

In the rear is a large cement porch with pergola, lots of flowers, fine lawn with fountain, etc. A big concrete basement with extra high ceiling, furnace, heater, big plaster garage, paved driveway, and, in fact, everything that is usually found in houses twice the price of this place. This house is worth every dollar of $15,000, but the owner must raise some cash at once and therefore will refuse no reasonable offer made this week. An exceptional opportunity. Investigate it.

BIG SACRIFICE.
PRICE REDUCED FOR IMMEDIATE SALE.
THIS LOVELY NEW COLONIAL HOME, ACTUALLY WORTH $22,500, TO BE SOLD THIS WEEK AT ONLY
$16,750. $16,750. $16,750.

Everyone must have a roof over his head whether he owns that roof or not. A house is not a home unless you do own that roof. Here is an opportunity to buy a home at a bargain price not to be equaled in the entire Wilshire district.

New and never occupied, this beautiful home containing 12 large sunny rooms is finely finished in selected Peruvian mahogany, solid oak and white enamel, with very artistic silk tapestries and fine hand decorations in oil.

Has every modern convenience, including three baths; private servant's stairway; big double garage for two machines; lawn, flowers and expensive shrubbery, cement drive and, in fact, everything you could wish for to make your home comfortable, convenient and at the same time artistic and aristocratic.

It doesn't take an expert to appreciate the tremendous bargain offered, an inspection will convince you. Call us up and let us tell you more about this lovely home.

FOR SALE—
INTEGRITY IN BUILDING.

When you open a bank account, you select a good bank.
When you consult an attorney, you find an honest and capable man.
When you think of building, why not follow the same rule?
It will cost no more.
In fact it should actually cost much less.
We are building nine houses now and respectfully refer you to all of them and to their owners for information about our ability and integrity.
We should like to build your house.
We think we can save you some money.
We know that no one can build you a better house.

"It Pays to See Us."
EDWARDS & WILDEY COMPANY.
(Capital paid up $50,000.)
Main 9307. 515 Black Bldg. Home 10767.

ARE YOU GOING TO BUILD?
My specialty is building apartments and flats. I can build you a double four-room flat, complete, with the latest built-in effects, including cabinet kitchen, disappearing beds, buffet, tasty electric fixtures, water heater, white enamel kitchen and bathroom, and cement sidewalks, etc., for $1600 and up. Two-story, three-room, four-flat frame building from $3300 and up. Two-story, four-room four-flat frame building from $3600 and up. If you have a clear lot I can negotiate a loan. I charge nothing for the plans and specifications. If you desire another contractor to erect the building I will sell my plans and specifications (four sets of each,) for $10 and up. I guarantee all my plans and specifications to pass all the building requirements. Call in and see me any time. Any information you may want about building I will cheerfully give you free of charge. FOR SALE—I NEED THE $75; THAT IS THE REASON.
I have bought and sold property for years, but have never made or received a commission. This is a bad time to force property onto the market, but I must raise some money, so I am going to sell YOU a large fifty-foot building site, that you will say after inspection is worth at least $1500, for $475. You are going to hand me $75 down payment on this well-located city lot and pay the balance any time within five years. You are going to make several hundred dollars on an investment of $75. You are going to investigate at once and become convinced that I am telling the truth and you are going to select your building site without delay. Long before the balance is to be paid you will have sold at a large profit or built a home either to live in or rent. GIBSON HOWARD, 4241 Marmion way (Garvanza car.)

Acreage for Subdivision.

FOR SALE—SUBDIVISION ACREAGE.

AGENTS, ATTENTION.

160 acres, between the towns of Moneta and Torrance, which property has a frontage of one mile on one street and a quarter of a mile on the other.

It is one of the finest tracts now offered between here and Torrance.

It carries 220 shares of stock in the Moneta Water Company, sufficient to water the entire tract.

The price we are offering it at is at least 1-3 less than any other acreage we know of in that vicinity.

There is a fortune in this if subdivided in small tracts.

For a quick sale this property can be bought at a great sacrifice and on very easy terms within the next week.

FOR SALE—

My boy and my girl are going to have a roof over their own head and they are going to start to school from their own land.

I am not going to put this off any longer.

I am going to buy a half acre at Farmington—a ready-made farm—and turn my kiddies loose to grow up in the way they ought to grow up.

I have postponed buying something in California long enough.

That's the way I feel about Farmington.
How do you feel about it?

Sign this pledge and go today or Wednesday on one of the excursions to the place where rent money will start you on the way to permanent prosperity.

Telephone now for tickets. Office open evenings.

HOLLYWOOD—

FOR SALE—

Superb Hollywood hill site vista lots in beautiful Lockland Terrace, located on gently sloping ground near Highland and Cahuenga blvd. Prices $950, $1000 and $1200, terms to suit purchaser. Magnificent view; unusually attractive artistic features, including ornamental trees, plants, flowers, shrubs, fences, cement steps, terraces and private driveway, all in and paid for. If you are looking for an ideal location for a home in Hollywood, it would be well to see this property at once.

McCANN & LEECH,
57576. 6762 Hollywood blvd. Holly 2622.

FOR SALE—I HAVE THREE EXCEPTIONAL plots of residence lots in the select portion of Hollywood that I must sell, all different, including a $1000 lot for the shrewd, careful buyer who wants a high-class residence lot for less than its actual value, a very handsome residence site at $2250, and a magnificent plot of 6 large lots on 3 paved streets, occupying probably the most picturesque viewpoint in the best part of Hollywood, one block from car line, 3 blocks from business section, commanding a matchless panorama of city, mountains and ocean. A distinctly unique residence site, absolutely unequaled, that I will sell at the exceptionally low price of $20,500. If you are looking for something out of the ordinary, a paradise of flowers and rare ornamental trees, each a genuine sacrifice bargain, investigate these three offers. Phone WEST 1539.

FOR SALE— Harbor Property.

FOR SALE—
FOUR "GOOD BUYS" at LOS ANGELES HARBOR.
Snap No. 1. 31,000 square feet, with frontage of 245 feet on S. P. R.R., within 2 blocks of municipal docks—probably the largest piece of undivided industrial property at the harbor today. Wide streets bound this property on the east and north. A 10-foot alley runs into the middle of it. The Consolidated Lumber Co., worth over $500,000, adjoins on east side and their future expansion must affect it.
Snap No. 2. 2 full lots on Canal st., Wilmington, the principal thoroughfare to municipal docks. An 80-foot frontage running back to alley.
Snap No. 3. 2 full lots, with 130 feet frontage on the S. P. R.R., and near Pacific Electric R.R., between Long Beach and Wilmington. The coming center of industrial development.
Snap No. 4. 6 full lots, facing two streets, near Seventh st., midway between Wilmington and Long Beach.
This property will probably quadruple in value in a short time, as has been proven around every harbor in the world. The present war and foreign trade—especially with South America—will greatly hasten this increase. An instance of this development is the coming into our harbors within a single month of the 22,000-ton steamships "KROONLAND and FINLAND," plying between New York and the west coast, via the canal, and the entry into the west coast trade of the new Japanese line with its four magnificent steamers.

FOR SALE—

NUEVO RANCH
(Pronounced New-A-Vo)

LAND FOR REAL FARMERS—NOT SPECULATORS

MR. FARMER: If you are considering buying land, you owe it to yourself to at least investigate Nuevo Ranch. If it is the kind of land you want, you will be fortunate in not passing it by.

Fifty feet of rich, alluvial, decomposed granite soil is a pretty rare thing in California. That is what you get when you buy on the Nuevo Ranch. The complete, modern irrigating system is all one could desire.

Over three hundred acres of potatoes and White Globe onions have been planted this spring. Five hundred acres of walnuts, apricots and olives are now in. The farmers should make a good living between the rows while their trees are coming into bearing.

Read what others say about this ranch:

"Aside from being a good fruit and farming section, I believe this is the most healthful, as well as the most beautiful valley in Southern California." (Signed:) G. D. Hayes.

"I left Orange County to make my future home on the Nuevo Ranch. We consider this property the best that is being offered in Southern California for the price. For one who wants California land he should not have to look further than this valley." (Signed:) H. E. Gordon.

"I consider that, in buying ten acres of the Nuevo Ranch and setting it to apricots, I have made as good a buy as I could have made in this State. Mrs. Merrill and I are more than contented in our new home, and we consider that a large amount of our happiness is due to the very kind treatment of the owners of this beautiful ranch." (Signed:) B. F. Merrill.

This ranch is only 75 miles from Los Angeles. You can go and come back the same day. We would be pleased to take you in our autos. It is a beautiful trip through the orange groves.

Come to our office and see the actual photographs of the property of the many contented farmers who are now on the Nuevo Ranch. Also see a sample of the soil. Or, drop us a postal and we will send to you an assortment of pictures.

FOR SALE—

WHY PAY THE PRICES
ASKED FOR LAND
IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA?

A ranch that will make you independent is offered to you upon the most liberal terms and inducements. The Orosi Farms of Tulare county embody every advantage to be desired by the modern up-to-date farmer and rancher.

AN OROSI FARM

is the very last word in the far-famed fertile California Ranch Lands.

Oranges, lemons, peaches, grapes, alfalfa, figs, olives and plums are in full bearing on every side.

Cheapest water in the State in abundance, land ready to plant.

New railroad means new values, while the present town of Orosi holds every school, church, social and business facility.

A small cash payment is all we ask and will allow SIX years before the second payment with interest at 5 per cent.

Cheap rate excursions twice each week. Come in and see what we guarantee or write for free literature.

CHINO—CHINO—CHINO.
DON'T FORGET THE STORY OF THE INDIAN
AND THE FIRES.

"White man build big fire, get 'way off," said the Indian. "Injun build little fire, sit close up. Heap warm! White man big fool."

The point of this is that a small farm, right close in to a big market like Los Angeles, really pays more profits than a big farm, 'way off in the interior.

We are selling good irrigable land, within 35 miles of Los Angeles, level, fertile, deep, rich, on magnificent county boulevards, and surrounded by producing farms, dairies, beet fields, bean fields, and hog farms—for only $150 an acre. Have some land, with a superabundant supply of water ready to use, at low annual cost, for only $200 an acre.

So far as we know we have sold more of this CHINO land in the last two months than has been sold by any other concern. Sheer merit does it. Much of our land has been bought by farmers who live right in Chino. They know that it will take only a little development to make this land as valuable as the land close to it—which is actually salable for $400 to $600 an acre.

See this land this week, arrange with L. B. Joralmon, with

FOR SALE—

GOOD CITRUS LAND.
GOOD WATER RIGHTS.
IN THE CITRUS BELT.
$250 AN ACRE, EASY TERMS.
UNTIL MAY 1 ONLY.

This is land which has been under experimental development for a year. Water conditions are PROVED, water developed and ready for delivery, at moderate cost, to every tract, in concrete mains.

Several hundred acres of citrus trees planted this year. Land suitable for oranges, grapefruit, olives, peaches, apricots, berries, vegetables and general farming.

Right on a transcontinental railroad, right on the Ocean-to-Ocean highway, level, and in the center of the most rapid and consistent development in Southern California.

The price of $250 an acre is 'way below real values. It will still be a bargain after May 1—when prices are raised. Only one-fifth cash, balance in 3, 4, 5 and 6 years. Will be planted to citrus trees "to order" at low charge, if desired.

FOR SALE—

NEVER AGAIN
SUCH BARGAINS
IN SAN FERNANDO VALLEY.

Now is the time to get hold of San Fernando Valley land. This is the year of BIG THINGS in this wonderful stretch of fertile land, in the front door of Los Angeles.

We are still selling selected tracts in all parts of the valley at pre-development prices. Draw a circle around Los Angeles, and you will find that the price of land, on a radius of fifteen miles from the City Hall, is $1000 an acre and upward. In the San Fernando Valley we have good land for $450. Land on the State highway, land near Van Nuys, land near Sherman Way. Land for farming, land for alfalfa, land for fruit growing and gardening. Very easy terms—of course.

Now is the time to buy—before, not after, the great coming boom, when the Owens River water is distributed to the land.

Automobile trips over the valley four times a week, mornings or afternoons. See L. B. Joralmon, with

FOR SALE—
BECOME INDEPENDENT FOREVER ON 10 ACRES GOOD FRUIT LAND
Fruit trees never stop bearing because times are hard. Be sure you start right. Better be sure of good soil and plenty water than take chances on either or both. I would not build a $100,000 water system on poor land, nor would I buy four thousand acres of land unless water conditions were right.
When you buy Perris Protected Fruit Farms you buy direct of the owner—your water rights are included in the price, free from mortgage, there never can be any bond issue, you get all the time needed to pay, your trees prosper, your market is made, you can succeed from the start. Yet this land is only $250 an acre and going into more value every day. Eight years to pay. Ask about my one day return sight-seeing trip. Perris Farms Dept. EMIL FIRTH, 346 Broadway. 60167. Main 2543.

FOR SALE—FIVE ACRES, IN HEART OF FAMED Hemet apricot district, in the beautiful San Jacinto Valley. All in deciduous fruit, mostly full-bearing apricots and peaches of the best varieties. Come and see the big crop now on the trees. This all goes with the place if sold soon. No buildings, but all in high state of cultivation. Full water right, cement flume, mail, grocery and laundry delivery, etc. Only ½ mile from graded school and church, and 2½ miles from the live town of Hemet. Two banks, Carnegie Library, fine high school, many churches and no saloons. This is a rare chance and must be seen to be appreciated. It's ½ of our own home place. Good reason for selling, and price is low, considering location and quality. $4000, one-half down, balance very easy terms. Come or write to GEO. W. HUNT, corner Whittier and Meridian sts., Hemet, Calif.

COACHELLA VALLEY—

FOR SALE—DATES GROW MORE SUCCESSFULLY in Coachella Valley, than any other section in United States. Uniform climate, unusually pure water supply and character of soil are producing dates of superior quality to the old world. United States government experimental stations have demonstrated this beyond question. Five or ten acres of dates will make you independent financially. Chickens, turkeys, sweet potatoes, alfalfa, onions, squash, etc., will produce comfortable living on same land in meantime. We can supply 1, 5, 10 acres and up with water on very easy terms. Free illustrated booklet on request. W. B. BYRN & CO., 928 Van Nuys Bldg. F3290—Phones—Bdwy. 7735.

A REAL SACRIFICE BARGAIN
FOR REAL MONEY

If you have the cash to pick up a snap, see this. The owner of a 20-acre, 4-year-old navel orange grove, very finely located, absolutely must have money. We know the owner well. He is a truthful man. He refused $30,000 or $1500 per acre for this place over two years ago, positively. Since then he has had business reverses, and is obliged to cut right and left to save himself.

We can deliver this grove for $650 per acre. The place is trimmed, cultivated and fertilized and is in first-class shape.

The water supply is first-class and ample.

The price is less than half the real value.

See Mr. Blades.

EASTERN MEN WHILE IN CALIFORNIA TEMPORARILY acquired exclusive franchise for operation of popular amusement device for game for four southern counties of Southern California. Have concession at San Diego Exposition and operating at a profit in attractive building on the Isthmus. Also established in Anaheim. Places should be opened immediately in dozen other good cities in the territory. Owners want operating manager to take entire management of business off their hands. Might even sell franchise and present equipment to right party on terms. No application considered without some evidence of financial responsibility. A splendid opportunity for a young man with a little money to get into a business which, when the territory is organized, will prove very profitable without much work. Address FN, box 305, TIMES BRANCH OFFICE.

MR. INVESTOR OR MAN WITHOUT EMPLOYMENT—The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture recommends Sudan grass as a forage crop, especially for dairy purposes. I have made and put in the bank, within the last 27 days, $[illegible] selling Sudan grass seed. There is a limited supply of seed on the market. Pure, reliable seed is worth $1.00 a pound. I have pure officially inspected seed to put out on shares or will trade seed for your chicken ranch, house and lot, vacant lot, automobile, horse, cow, chickens, rabbits, or incubators and brooders. Sudan has long passed the experimenting stage, it is now the dependable forage crop. This is no fake, but a golden opportunity worth investigating. I have a car, would be glad to call, prove all I say, show photographs and government bulletin if you mean business. BOX 201, Venice, Calif.

Coin of the Realm.

FOURTEEN EXTRA AWARDS FOR CONTEST WINNERS.

Plan of Distribution of Gold, in Addition to Scholarships in Great Educational Campaign, Announced Today—New Candidates Entering Daily, and this Offer is a Special Magnet for Workers.

A FULL half-page advertisement in Part III of today's Times gives the details of the plan for distribution of gold coin among the winners of scholarships in the great Educational Contest now in progress. This announcement is of the deepest interest to every candidate and to their many friends.

On top of the possibility of being the leader in the contest when the final votes are counted, each contestant has the chance to win the highest gold coin reward of $250.

Fourteen extra rewards of gold coin will be given to the fourteen contestants with the highest scores. This is absolutely in addition to the awards of scholarships. It is indeed a "Golden" opportunity, with a very literal meaning. It means provision for expense money for the student, as well as provision for tuition.

Besides the highest reward of $250 in gold, there is a second one of $150; a third of $100; five rewards of $50 each, and six rewards of $25 each. Fourteen of them—count 'em, fourteen.

WELL WORTH WINNING.

Worth striving for, eh? Just think what the $250 would do for you in the way of providing everything you could want for outfitting yourself and giving you every possible extra you might desire at the school whose scholarship you may select. Imagine what splendid advantage you could make of the $150 extra reward, and how far the $100 would reach in supplying all your wants as a student. Even the smallest rewards of $25 each will be of very practical help in providing a good-sized fund for incidentals. These are all in addition to the commissions that you will earn as the campaign proceeds, and entirely extra and above the scholarships that await your winning.

Merritt Guthrie,

Contestant from Fifty-second-street school, who wants to win a scholarship in the Page Military Academy.

This news means money in your pocket. It is surely a spur to enthusiasm that cannot be denied. The field is open, and ambitious boys and girls are entering daily. If you haven't yet enlisted in the campaign, don't lose another day. Fill out the entrance blank in the big advertisement today and bring it in or send it at once. You are invited to make a personal visit to the Scholarship Contest Headquarters on the second floor of the Times Building, First and Broadway. The manager will be glad to see you and give you full information about this great opportunity to win your choice of scholarships in the very best schools and the additional reward of gold coin.

You can start in right now and take advantage of the special offer of 20,000 extra votes for five yearly contracts, which offer is good until May 29. This is on top of the regular credits that are allowed. Then there is the voting coupon. Today this is good for twenty votes—four times the regular amount allowed on week days. These opportunities mean that you can create a fine score of votes for yourself within a very short time.

Russell H. Fletcher,

Student at Manual Arts High School, who is striving for the first choice of scholarships and the $250 in gold coin.

PLAN IS EASY.

And the method of subscription-getting for this contest is the easiest ever devised. You do not have to collect a cent of money from the subscriber. All that is necessary is to get them to sign subscription contracts, and the collections are made through the regular monthly or quarterly collection system. This makes it easy to get subscriptions from all your friends, and makes it easy for them as well. They get the best newspaper published, paying for it in the regular way, and at the same time give you the practical help of their subscription the same as though they paid the full amount of the cash directly when the subscription contract is signed.

Sam Glassman,

Here's a "live wire" contestant from the Los Angeles High School. He is a member of the High School orchestra.

Boys and girls who come to the Educational Contest Headquarters daily report that this is one of the finest features of the campaign. They find that people are very glad to help them win scholarships and that it is easy to get results every day.

Study the attractive list of scholarships that are offered by The Times: see the array of opportunities here set forth, and imagine how proud you would be to have the choice of this list and also to carry away the highest reward of $250 in gold in addition to your chosen scholarship. Don't let another day pass without enrolling yourself in this great campaign.

MORE HUSTLERS.

The Times is proud of the accessions to the list of hustlers in this big campaign. Among the new ones to enter the field is Merritt Guthrie of No. 934 West Fifty-eight street. Merritt is in the eighth grade at the Fifty-second-street school, and is 14 years old. He gets up at 4:30 in the mornings to hustle out and sell papers, and then he enters his school work with spirit. He is in the gardeners' contest, and now has started into the great Education Contest with the same vim that he goes in for his other work. He is now running up a good score of votes.

Jack Benton Hosford of Santa Anita is forging along, and brought in encouraging reports yesterday. He is right after the new subscriptions and has his friends saving coupons for him, in order to increase his showing of votes.

David Welts is a new entrant from Fullerton, where he is a student in the Union High School. He is 17 years of age and will graduate this spring. He wants to secure a scholarship for a law course. David is the son of a minister of the Church of the Nazerene at Escondido. He is a member of the champion debating club of Orange county, the members of which were contenders in the State University League. David is a good all-'round athlete and is especially strong on pole-vaulting. He will be sure to have the help of many friends in this campaign, and proposes to let himself be heard from.

Lucian Edwards, Jr., is the son of the postmaster at Fullerton. Lucian is ambitious to win one of The Times scholarships. His health makes indoor work impossible, so he will have the advantage of outside exercise in this campaign, and has many friends who will be glad to help him realize his ambitions.

MAKING RECORDS.

Shelby Blong is a new contestant from Hawthorne, who marks his first day's work with two new subscriptions and one renewal contract. He will be heard from often in this campaign.

Laura Belle Orman of Van Nuys brings in a report that shows she is thoroughly in earnest in her efforts to reach the top of the column.

Bessie M. Jones of Gardena is another girl who is out with a determination to win. Her first reports are very encouraging. She will make an active campaign.

John Eisenhour of No. 450 South Ditman street, aged 13 years, is a contestant you want to keep your eyes on during this campaign. Johnnie has not many years, but he has practical experience. He sells the daily papers, and has a regular route for the Saturday Evening Post. Johnnie has bought a lot with money he has made from selling newspapers, and he has it nearly paid for. That shows the kind of stuff there is in him. Now he sees the advantage of winning one of these fine scholarships and has put his mind and his efforts to it, the same as he has done on his other work. Johnnie is a real boy, with a boy's enthusiasms and ambitions. People who know him like his pluck, and people who don't know him will be sure to hear from him. With the eye of a real financier, Johnnie has decided that he might as well walk away with the scholarship he wants and the highest gold coin award of $250, as to be lower in the list of winners.

GLENDALE WORKER.

Alpha Prindle of No. 1326 West Seventh street, Glendale, starts in the campaign with an ambition to win a scholarship in the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music. She has been studying music for five and a half years and gives much promise of becoming a highly-accomplished musician. She is a student at the Glendale High School, and has charge of the music for the annual May pole dance. She is popular in Glendale, and her friends will be glad to assist her in this campaign. Her father is a charter member of Elks Lodge No. 1289.

Sam Glassmann of No. 1234 Ionia street is another "live wire" contestant. He is a Los Angeles High School student, a member of the High School orchestra and plays first violin. His father is a groceryman at Temple and Broadway. Sam is well known in the Temple-street district, as well as elsewhere and will make his acquaintanceship count in this campaign.

John Eisenhour,

Lad who is paying for a lot through his earnings in selling papers and who has decided he might as well win the first choice of Times scholarships and the biggest award of gold coin.

Russel H. Fletcher of No. 1217 West Thirty-seventh drive is another new boy in the contest. He started but yesterday morning, and in just the one day made a good record. He will try to win the choice of scholarships and the highest extra reward of gold coin. He is full of energy and proposes to use all his spare time in working in this contest.

The first boy to enter the campaign from Imperial Valley is Karl B. Jauman. He is the son of one of the pioneers of the Imperial Valley, and his home is in El Centro. Karl has a rich field in which to work. Karl is 14 years of age and is full of dynamic force. He is certain to make his mark in this big contest.

Fact and Comment.

missioners for taking them into their confidence in time. It is a matter for regret, in fact, that the truth was not known sooner. Much of the highway system, especially that most recently contracted for, has too narrow a shoulder for perfect serviceability, and it has just leaked out that the commission unwillingly authorized this kind of roadway as a sort of last resort in keeping down expenses before stating the facts to the people. Too much of this narrower roadway, it might be added, is in Southern California, but that is something we can't quarrel about now. In the carefully prepared estimate covering the cost of carrying out the system as it ought to be carried out is included the expense of widening the narrow portions of the system.

Out of the $18,000,000 bond issue, $12,000,000 has already been expended. In all 1027 miles of trunk line and laterals have been completed. Why the laterals have not been left until the main lines have been attended to is a question for the commissioners to answer. There are yet 1059 miles of main trunk line to finish and it is estimated that this work will require about $11,000,000, whereas there is only about $6,000,000 of the original fund left, with much of this already called for in contracts for work that is about to be started. Approximately 1160 miles of laterals are yet to be completed and the cost of these is estimated at $6,250,000. The only way on earth to make the money on hand serve would be to confine the operations from now on to dirt roads and to eliminate part of the system. One can picture the enthusiasm with which any such proposition would be received in the districts directly affected.

We must have no gaps in our great highway system, even in the laterals. Such gaps exist at this moment in the main trunk lines, and their continued existence will be a confession of failure and a disgrace to California. Nor must the provision for the completion of the highway system be unnecessarily delayed. Unless the needed extra appropriation is given consideration in the present Legislature, the whole progress of the highway work will come to a stop in twenty months and all the costly road equipment become so much scrap. This is not a propitious time for any $12,000,000 bond issues, but there is no way out of it short of abandoning the entire highway project for years to come. The Fact and Comment man for one is convinced that the people of California will stand the "gaff" and finish the great work that means so much to the State.

All of the buildings, therefore, are not the mission type, the majority being the old Spanish style as described.

Following the edge of the canyon we come up the crest of the hill and return to the Prado by way of a stone balcony, which gives another magnificent view of the distant sea.

SOME OF THE PICTURES.

The Fine Arts Building is on the Prado opposite the California Building, and is of the Mission type with a fine entrance hall leading into the balcony of the little Franciscan chapel, which is an imitation of the chapels established by the Franciscan friars in the early days of California, with tile floors and rough beams on the ceiling.

In the gallery of forty-nine paintings which occupy the hall on the main floor are examples of eleven well-known artists, each one of which seems to have a school of his own, in these days of innumerable schools of painting. The first six numbers are by George Luks, whose pictures of the East Side in New York have created much comment and enthusiasm both here and abroad. His "Woman and Macaws" is an excellent example of the rich, smooth paint which characterizes his work. "The Theologian" and "The Wrestlers" are figures, the latter representing two male figures in a violent match which seems to strain every well brought out muscle. Following these is "Fantasy," a group of fat babies dancing around a large oak in an ecstacy of joy and abandon. The last of the Luks is the "Cuban Dancers," a virile pair doing a Spanish dance in what one astonishingly senses to be, from the small stretch of wall at the back, the foreign section of town.

After the Luks comes Joseph Henry Sharp's work, which is by far the most popular on the line. Probably because it is more familiar in its articulation. All of the Sharps are Indians, a striking one of which is the figure bowed in grief. Another that attracts much admiration is "The Stoic," a figure of an Indian, every line of which denotes extreme fatigue as he appears to labor over-burdened, up a hill which lends a suspicion of inconsistancy to the picture because it is the loveliest hill imaginable, all bright with the most tempting wild flowers; the sort of hill one dreams of walking over in the springtime, bringing home great bunches of white lilac and wild heliotrope and pink hollyhocks. However, I shall not envy the Stoic his hill, becaust he may have wandered far to find it. After the Sharps come two Prendergast landscapes in the pale mosaic style of which one sees so much in the pictures in the San Francisco exposition.

There are five William Klackens, all of them notable for their dissimilarity to their titles. They are, of course, excellently handled and striking in color. The clouds in Summer, Long Island, are like great gobs of gravy on an olive green sky, and Cape Cod Shore is the same, except that the clouds are heavier and the sky is lilac.

A picture by Carl Sprinchorn which attracts great attention is called "The Gods at Play," and seems to be two figures clad in green and cerise bathing suits hanging on rings in a tank, with a very smokey background.

There are four Childe Hassams, none of them so good as the work he is showing at San Francisco. His Women's thighs are too heavy, their shoulders are too narrow and sloping—they look like kangaroos.

Ernest Lawson has three lovely landscapes, one of them, "Boat House in Winter," a vision of snow with thin wisps of brown stalks against it, lending the most wintery atmosphere imaginable.

There are four of George Bellows all of them interesting and temperamental. The "Approach to the Bridge at Night" is a glorious piece of slashing color against the black night.

Robert Henri has six delightful examples, the most charming of them being "Pat," a delicious roguish boy with Irish blue eyes. He is full of energy and mischief and his brilliant color shows well against a deep rose ground.

Six of John Sloan and six of Guy Du Bois finish the gallery, and a very satisfactory collection of representative pictures.

In the Botanical Building, which is made of steel and concrete there is a marvelous display of flowers in proportion to the remarkable plant life which shows in all its perfection out in the open. There are rare plants from the tropics in thick profusion, the insect-eating pitcher plant, and the tree fern; palms, hundreds and hundreds of them, and the lovely aralia from Central America. There are all sorts of trees and plants from Australia and Japan and South America, while thousands of Easter lilies fill the building with their penetrating perfume.

All of the buildings, with the exception of the concessions on the Isthmus, are to remain after the exposition closes in January. They will hold the many permanent gifts which have been made to the exposition.

An effort to describe the beauties of the exposition grounds and its rare situation with mere words is futile. One needs color and the power to visualize for others what one has seen oneself; I can only recommend to you to go and enjoy it for yourself and if you are to see both expositions, go to San Diego first.

THE CARGO OF THE JASON.

MOST ROMANTIC TREASURE SHIP EVER IN OUR WATERS.

Art Wonders from Foreign Lands for the Exposition at San Francisco—Works Representing Every European Nation—Paintings, Porcelains and Wax Dolls.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—The work of lightering the cargo of the United States collier Jason and placing the argosy's contents in the great exhibit palaces of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is continuing with all speed.

As the great treasure ship disgorges her cargo, and the wonders and marvels thereof are unfolded, the result is surprising even to the most sanguine; and now it is realized that this vessel, with her queer lines and her practical, unpoetic cranes and derricks, is one of the most romantic vessels that ever plowed the main. No ship ever carried such a cargo of assorted fine art, liberal art and commercial products; and no ship ever brought them from such a war-torn continent to one of such peace and plenty.

The crates and bales and boxes are lowered over the side to lighters and borne to the Marina, where trucks whisk them into their destined palaces; and day by day the appearance of those wonderful buildings undergoes a marked change. It is in a way fortunate that the Jason did not arrive before the exhibit opened; for there was already so much to see that with the exhibit spaces filled to their ultimate extent the casual visitor would have fled from the task of reviewing them in dismay. It is said that eighty years are now needed to see all of the exposition. With the arrival of the Jason it would take twice eighty.

However, the exposition's ideal is to be selective, rather than extensive; and by an intelligent limiting of his ramblings, a visitor may enjoy the wonders in satisfactory shape.

At present the Jason is the most interesting object at the exposition.

The 3500 tons measurement cargo which was brought by the Jason contains almost invaluable works of art from every section of Europe. Spain's contribution alone amounts to 150 packages of the choicest works of art and manufactures.

England's contribution, although not officially represented as a nation, contains 404 cases, which includes ninety-three cases from England's possessions in India, such as machinery, various kinds of liquors, models of some of the biggest trans-Atlantic liners, earthenware, linoleum, velvets, china, laces, woodenware, pictures, futurists, sculpture, etc.

Greece has contributed as her part 101 cases of the nation's great statues which were consigned by the government of Greece. These cases contain many of the famous works of art which for years have reposed in Athens, Piraeus, etc.

The exhibits from France are in two sections; one including those of the government and the other displays sent to the exposition by French manufacturers. The main portion of the government exhibit is for the French pavilion, the Fine Arts Palace and the Palace of Education. There are fifty-four cases consigned by the government the total value of which approximates £5,000,000. While the invoices remain to be translated, a general idea of the value of the cargo can be obtained from the lists, which include wonderful bronzes, paintings, a great display of wax dolls, pastels, tapestry, portraits, works of the sculpture art, hundreds of volumes of valuable books taken from the greatest French libraries, water paintings, wonderful veils, shawls, carpets and hundreds of other products of French industries.

The portion of the government exhibits which go to the Fine Arts Palace are valued close to a half-million dollars. One group of wax dolls, triumphs of French art along this line, is alone valued at £2,000,000. It is planned to erect a miniature theater in which these dolls will represent the great French actors and actresses; among the accessories of this theater which will be on exhibit shortly is a duplicate of the crown of Charlemagne and the crown of Salome. The wax dolls of France are known all over the world for their great beauty and artistic finish, and the exhibit sent by the French government is undoubtedly the greatest of its kind ever seen at any exposition.

One of the more valuable exhibits which will go into the French Pavilion, is a portfolio of autographs belonging to the French Commissioner-General. These autographs are considered priceless as they are connected with the past and future of the nations now involved in the great European war. This portfolio contains autographs of such great history-makers as Napoleon and others famous in the annals of France.

The French manufacturers' contribution goes principally to the manufacturers palace and the French Pavilion. Among the most interesting of the exhibits sent by this organization is one of the new 7.5 centimeter field guns which the French are using in the present war. Other contributions include a wonderful set of photographs, showing the result of treatments by radium.

The French portion of the Jason's cargo includes some of the most valuable and wonderful exhibits sent by any foreign nation.

In the same hold with the French exhibits on board the Jason came an equally wonderful representation of old Spain. Spain's contribution will be divided among the Palace of Food Products, the Palace of Varied Industries and the Palace of Fine Arts. In the main, however, it is a commercial display, and the Varied Industries Palace will get a majority of the exhibits.

A great display of beautiful crockery and Spanish mosaic work, however, is among the 150 mammoth packages which make up the Spanish shipment. Into the Varied Industries Palace will also go samples of wonderful Spanish woolen, silk and cotton goods, musical instruments, gorgeous embroidery and toys. The Food Products Palace will get an extensive display of wines, honeys and peppers.

Perhaps the most wonderful individual exhibit in the Spanish collection is a beautiful painting valued at $200,000. This great work of art is the property of an old Madrid collector, and is on a canvas 40x26 feet in size. It is a painting in the perspective of the interior of the church at San Lorenzo, and has never before been exhibited at either an exposition or in art galleries. The officials of the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition offered its owner a bonus of $50,000 if he would exhibit this treasure at that exposition, which he refused to do. He has, however, voluntarily sent it to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition with but one proviso—that it have a special exhibit building by itself in order that its great and beautiful features might be given a proper setting.

Among the other shipments on the Jason are 101 monster packages of Greek statuary.

The British shipment includes ninety-three cases of exhibits from India as well as several famous Brangwin paintings.

The French Pavilion at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition has impressed everyone with its size as well as by its beauty, so it was a decided surprise to hear that there was not enough room there to take care of all the treasures which have come on the Jason. Large floor space was obtained at the last minute in several of the palaces and the overflow will be shown there.

"France is not sending her exhibits to San Francisco in any spirit of commerce," said Director M. Lambert. "When it came time for the exhibits to be collected offers were made by persons of every condition. This was due to the fact that the whole nation wished to express to the United States the great feeling which they have as individuals."

The whole exhibit can be divided into two classes: that part which has been made by the government, and that which is shown by private individuals or companies.

The French government owns a very great amount of valuable possessions which have accrued to it for generations. Factories, railroads, estates, pictures, furniture and many other industries and relics have come into the possession of the government, and they are never sold.

So when it came to the question of the government exhibit it was a question of elimination and not collection.

Some of the most perfect specimens of Gobelin tapestries that now exist are in the shipment, and will soon be seen on the walls of the pavilion.

Sevonnerie carpets of the most wonderful workmanship are shown. These carpets are made in a government-owned factory and one individual weaver can make less than two square yards a year.

Sevres china is extensively represented. In this ware there are a number of large statues featured as well as complete collections of delicate porcelain.

A very large collection of old furniture, which has come into the government possession during a great many years, and including much furniture used by royalty and by Napoleon is shown. The wonderful workmanship on these pieces as well as the extent and variety of the exhibit makes this one of the really notable furniture collections in the world.

Two exhibits of furniture of especial interest to Americans on account of the historic interest as well as for their unusual merit, are the Lafayette and the Rochambeau exhibits. These are owned by the families of the two brave Frenchmen who did so much by their presence and their active sympathy to hearten the little army under Gen. George Washington 130 years ago. There are a great many pieces in each of these collections which have come from the ancestral castles still owned and occupied by the descendants of the two patriots.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Los Angeles Men to Build Three Structures of New High School in Puente District.

PUENTE, April 24.—The contract for the erection of the three buildings of the new Puente High School group was awarded during the week to J. A. Weddle and John Herrington of Los Angeles. The cost of the project is estimated at about $50,000, including the plumbing, heating and ventilation. Carroll H. Brown of Los Angeles is the architect.

The High School will consist of a two-story administration building covering a ground area of 135x100 feet; a science building 55x70 feet in size and one-story high, and a commercial building of the same proportions. The three structures will have concrete foundations and brick walls, being faced with cement plaster and roofed with tile.

Work is to be begun on the group at once, as it is hoped to have the buildings completed and ready for use by the opening of the fall term this year.

For the Kiddies.

CHILDREN GIVEN LOVING ATTENTION AT THE FAIR.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, April 24.—If you take one of the paths that leads from the rear of the California Building at the Panama-California Exposition and winds about under the eucalyptus trees to the wild flower field you will suddenly come upon children at play among the flowers. At one end of the field is a tiny house, the creche or day nursery of the exposition. The creche was formally opened Monday, under the management of the woman's official board of the exposition and now the tiniest babes can attend the exposition in their own way with comfort, while their mothers see the exhibits.

The creche is the only institution of its kind on the Coast, and, judging from the enthusiasm with which it has been received by the mothers, promises to be one of the most important institutions of the fair. The opening of the creche is the last step that completes the warm-hearted hospitality of San Diego's exposition.

Now not only the men and women have beautiful headquarters and reception rooms for rest and entertainment, but the children have their headquarters, with cribs for sleepy babes, toys for the wide-awake ones and capable nurses and kindergarten teachers to see that all goes well.

The creche is located on one of the most sightly knolls of the exposition grounds and overlooks the lovely wild flower field on one side and a beautiful canyon on the other side. A low stone wall skirts the canyon for the youngsters' protection. The nursery proper is an attractive portable house which has a large living-room, two smaller rooms in which are daintily-dressed cribs, with pink and blue coverings, a playroom and a workroom. In the playroom, of course, are the toys, rocking horses, dolls and other things that keep the babies' visit to the exposition from growing irksome. In the workroom the babies' food is prepared by a nurse and after a child has finished playing with a toy, this same nurse remorselessly drops the toy, whether cherished doll or swiftly-moving automobile, into a tub of boiling water, to sterilize it for the next child.

In the gardens surrounding the house, swings and other playground appliances are to be installed at once. Here the children over 5 years of age under the supervision of Miss Emma Gautereau, a kindergarten teacher, play kindergarten games and are shown the exhibits of the exposition that please juvenile visitors. Later little pens with rugs will be placed in the gardens for the tiny tots to spend the hours out of doors. When the child is checked a metal check is pinned with a safety clasp to the clothes of the youngster and a duplicate tag is given the mother.

GREAT WARSHIP FLEET COMING.

SECRETARY OF NAVY TO FLY FLAG AT MASTHEAD OF OREGON.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, April 24.—Announcement from the Navy Department at Washington says there will be seventy-nine warships and auxiliaries in the great fleet which is to sail from Hampton Roads through the Panama Canal and on to the San Diego exposition in July. The fleet will include three divisions of battleships.

Probably a score of fighting craft now in Pacific waters and working out of San Diego as the southern base will join the armada down the coast, although it is possible some of these will be detached for other duty in the East during the absence of the main fleet from the eastern seaboard.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels has stated positively he will be with the fleet, flying his flag from the battleship Oregon, on which he will remain until he reaches San Diego. Whether he will go on to San Francisco with the fleet or by rail is not stated. Other navy dignitaries will join him.

President Wilson had hoped that he could board the Oregon with the Secretary, but just as national problems prevented his coming to the Coast with Vice-President Marshall last month, so it is feared he will be prevented from making the July trip. Aboard the battleships Ohio, Illinois and Missouri will be the 500 midshipmen from the Naval Academy. The plan was to start them from Annapolis in June, but these ships may be held back to join the main fleet.

PLANS SECOND HOUSE.

George Gray Anderson, formerly a resident of Denver, Col., and who recently completed a handsome residence on Canon drive, in Brentwood Park, has just purchased through J. Albert Campbell, of the Braly-Janss Company, an additional lot in the same subdivision, on which he will erect an eight-room Swiss chalet. This will be built for an investment. This second house is said to be one of six that Mr. Anderson plans to put up during the year. W. S. Freeman & Sons, of Santa Monica, have the contract for the chalet, work on which will be started immediately.

WEEK'S DOINGS AT SAN DIEGO.

PROMINENT EXPOSITION VISITORS KEEP THINGS MOVING AT EXPOSITION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN DIEGO, April 24.—This was the gayest of week-ends at the exposition as motorists of the Southern California Automobile Club, the members of the American Association of Passenger Traffic Officials, members of the Iowa and Illinois State societies of Southern California, and members of the B'nai B'rith Order, on their way to the Grand Lodge at San Francisco, are all seeing this exposition at this time.

The motor ball on the Isthmus this evening given especially for the autoists who made the trek to this city from Los Angeles, but attended by all of the visitors to the fair, was the gayest of all the events of the stay of the various visitors. Thousands of persons, ragged, one-stepped, hesitated and fox-trotted on the smooth spaces arranged for the ball on the street.

The opening of Creatore's engagement here with two concerts, one this afternoon and one this evening, on the Plaza de Panama, was another special feature of more than unusual interest, and the "monkey" drills of the First Cavalry squad on the tractor field of the exposition this morning, was another part of the programme that was unusual and pleasing to the visitors.

Dinners and luncheons at the Crystobal Cafe and motor rides about the city as well as special programme features at the exposition, marked the past three days at the exposition as arranged by the exposition officials for the thousands of guests.

DECIDES TO STAY.

L. J. Lyon, a farmer from Middle Illinois, who has been a visitor in Los Angeles since early in the year, and who has decided to make Southern California his permanent home, has purchased two large lots in Norton's Lynwood Acres, through J. B. Stearns. The lots are near Long Beach boulevard, just south of Huntington Park, and will, it is said, be improved with a residence and laid out in gardens.

Overlooking City.

PLANNED TO SUIT THE TOPOGRAPHY.

CROWN HILL APARTMENTS TO HAVE ODD FORM.

Fireproof Building on Close-in Elevation will be Five Stories High at One Front and Two at Other. Contract Awarded—Flat Projects Shaping.

Work is to be begun within the next few days upon one of the largest and finest apartment-houses projected in Los Angeles within recent months. The structure, which will occupy a sightly plot of ground in the Crown Hill district, will be built by O. T. Johnson and will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. Arthur B. Benton is the architect and John Mulder has been awarded the general contract.

The building will be of reinforced concrete construction and will front on Colso street near Crown Hill avenue, extending back to Covina avenue. It will be composed of two sections, each 50x100 feet in dimensions, joined together by a one-story central unit containing the lobby. On account of the slope of the site the wings will be five stories high on one end and two stories on the other. Provision is made in the plans for fifty apartments, some of three and some of two rooms each.

The Hetzel-Winget Company is about to start a two-story frame apartment-house of forty rooms at No. 1907 North Broadway. Plans for the building have been completed and a permit applied for. The company is erecting the improvement as an investment and will make an outlay of about $8000.

The Cooper-Pyle-Clopine Company took out a permit during the week for a frame flat building which it has planned and will build for Mrs. Harriett Dunning at No. 640 South Serrano street. The building will have a plastered exterior and will cost about $7500.

Work will be started this week on a two-story frame apartment-house projected by Thomas Jackson at No. 1318 South Wall street. The building will contain twenty-four rooms in three-room suites and will cost about $5000.

A building permit was issued during the week for a twenty-room flat to be erected by George H. Rector at No. 738 South New Hampshire street. The cost will be about $6500. D. D. Ryus has had plans drawn for a two-story brick flat he will build at No. 827½ San Julian street.

BANKER'S HOME CHANGES HANDS.

REDLANDS SHOW PLACE AND LANDMARK PURCHASED BY A MUSICIAN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, April 24.—The handsome rose-covered Curtis Wells home on West Highland avenue, one of the landmarks of the city, has been sold by K. C. Wells to Carl Miner, a musician of this city. The house was built by the late Curtis Wells, who was for many years president of the Redlands National Bank. The lot has a frontage of 185 feet on Highland avenue and is 200 feet deep on Center street.

Several deals in business property have recently been closed here. B. A. Small has purchased the Hout toggery from C. A. Hout. Arthur Watson has bought the Redlands Bakery at No. 521 Orange street. The Hendricksons, owners of the Majestic Theater, have taken a lease on a lot at Orange street and the Santa Fe tracks and plan to have an open-air theater there this summer. R. E. Martensen, the jeweler, has leased part of the block recently vacated by the Redlands and Yucaipa Land Company. G. S. Biggin, a real estate man, has taken a lease on the remainder of the block.

Andrew and John Armstrong have purchased from Charles Nuert five acres of full-bearing lemons on the Diagonal road, west of here. There are an eight-room house and outbuildings on the property. W. E. Gribsby has sold to Verne Hendrickson three lots in West Redlands. Robert Cochrane has sold to Harry Browne three lots in the Redlands Heights district.

BOOMING PROSPERITY.

By WALTER J. BALLARD.

The New York Sun has joined the prosperity boom brigade. Its issue of Sunday, April 11, teemed with sanguine expression from numerous cities, all testifying to the outlook for better business and a return to prosperous conditions.

But among the persons so quoted there is a very small percentage of industrial producers and wage payers.

Also it is to be observed that in practically all of the optimistic statements no mention is made of the one single factor that alone can insure the return of prosperous conditions—that is, the employment of the two or three millions of American workers who have lost their jobs as the result of the Democratic low-tariff (free-trade) legislation.

This is the crux of the whole situation, says the American Economist.

When will these two or three millions of the unemployed (over half a million in New York City, alone) get back their jobs?

When will the pay envelopes be full and plenty again?

When will the lost purchasing power of the country be restored?

When will the missing $10,000,000 a day of wage-earning and wage-spending flow again into the channels of production, consumption, merchandising, trade and transportation?

Is there any evidence—positive evidence—of revival along these lines, outside of the very few which are profiting by the abnormal and ephermeral market for their products which is the result of the demand for European war supplies?

These are questions which American business should be asking. It is an excellent thing to proclaim belief in returning prosperity and thus bring about a feeling of greater confidence and hope. It would be still better if such expressions could give back lost employment, lost wage-earning and wage-spending.

Booming prosperity is all right in its way, but it doesn't weigh much, unless there is a solid foundation first laid for the return of prosperity.

That solid foundation will be laid when adequate protection to American labor and industry shall be restored, and not until then.

This is a fact which business optimists should not lose sight of now, and still less should they lose sight of it in the Presidential and Congressional campaigns of 1916. Voting then for Republicanism and protection will be voting for business prosperity—booming prosperity in fact and in deed.

New Tourist Stopping Place.

Casa Blanca Hotel, Ontario.

Purchased for Home.

Residence at No. 426 South St. Andrews.

Handsome west side place sold through Weber & Bell, with W. I. Hollingsworth & Co.

MANY NEW HOMES ALL OVER CITY.

PROJECTS NOW SHAPING RANGE FROM SMALL BUNGALOWS TO LARGE MANSIONS.

To the number of fine residences already completed or under construction in the Windsor Square tract will soon be added another attractive place projected by Rufus L. Horton, a local attorney. Mr. Horton has commissioned the Milwaukee Building Company to plan a house of fourteen rooms to occupy a large site he recently acquired in the west side subdivision. The details of construction have not as yet been determined upon.

Architects Needham & Cline have started plans for a ten-room house to be built by Mrs. John O'Brien on Kenmore avenue between Third and Fourth streets. Borden Bros. have planned and will build for Everett Shepardson a ten-room residence at No. 937 South Heliotrope drive. Work will be started within a few days upon a nine-room residence planned by Charles M. Moffett for Inez C. Decker and to be built at Hopper avenue and Hyperion street.

A permit was issued during the week for an eight-room house to be built by H. C. Pickett at No. 1618 South Crenshaw boulevard. J. C. Bowers has secured a permit for a seven-room house at No. 533 North Avenue 54. George Ware has had plans drawn for an eight-room double house he expects to build at No. 444 West Forty-ninth street.

Plans are being drawn for a large number of bungalows for all parts of the city. Among these projects may be mentioned the following: Seven-room bungalow for W. D. Smart at No. 5723 Harold way; seven-room bungalow for John Miller, at No. 2129 Holly drive; six-room bungalow for M. S. Cartwright, at No. 1555 Gardner street; six-room bungalow for C. S. Catudal, at No. 3750 Arlington street; five-room bungalow for A. A. Wolf, at No. 5526 La Mirada avenue; five-room bungalow for Mary B. Townsend, at No. 1835 Yucca street, and two four-room bungalows for T. M. Wristovich, on Sixty-ninth street.

BUILDING MODEL DAIRY.

Millionaire New York Publisher Establishing Large Plant at Bryn Mawr—Is Importing All His Stock.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

BRYN MAWR, April 24.—One of the most up-to-date and best-equipped certified dairies in the South is being built by George W. Wilder, millionaire publisher of New York, just west of this place. Mr. Wilder purchased fifty acres of alfalfa land there several months ago and installed at once a pump house and system of irrigation, later putting up a model dairy building. The stock came direct from the Guernsey Islands.

Mr. Wilder has just filed a builder's contract for the erection of new dairy buildings, courts and roadways on the Hollowhill farm, as it is known. The cost is given at about $13,000. Mr. Wilder says that the dairy is not a rich man's hobby, but that it will be made a paying proposition.

TO STAY THIS TIME.

Iowa Physician, on Fifth Visit to Los Angeles, Buys Harvard-boulevard House for Permanent Home.

Dr. H. B. Criley, formerly of Dallas Center, Iowa, purchased during the past week, through the Janss Investment Company, a nine-room residence, recently built by Cooper, Pyle and Clapine, at No. 708 South Harvard boulevard. The consideration is reported at $9000 cash.

Dr. Criley has been an annual visitor to Los Angeles for the past five years. He has shipped all his furniture from the Middle Western State and plans to move immediately into his new home.

Rev. John Flinn of Portland, Or., has recently celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday. He has been in the ministry for seventy-five years and went to Oregon sixty-eight years ago. Dr. Flinn's wife is also living at the age of 89 years.

House and Lot Men Report Sales of Valuable Residence Properties and Acreage Near Los Angeles.

Sales of improved and unimproved residence properties in and near Los Angeles are reported by Weber & Bell, managers of the house and lot department of W. I. Hollingsworth & Co., as follows:

For J. B. Althouse to Boaz Duncan, twelve-room house at No. 426 South St. Andrews place, lot 60x150 feet, cash consideration, $18,500; to I. A. Sepulveda, large residence at No. 603 South Normandie avenue, $26,500; for J. A. Rogers to R. G. Balcom of Fullerton, large residence on lot 70x150 feet in size at No. 702 South Kingsley drive; lot on Westminster place, 60x125 feet, for Country Club Park Company to local investor, $2000; to E. G. Carter, income property, southeast corner Fedora and San Marino streets, $12,500.

The same company reports the sale of a block of lots in the town of Elsinore, overlooking Lake Elsinore, to A. W. Swanfeldt, for $2500. To H. G. Payne the company reports having sold a block of ten lots, each 50x150 feet in size, on Nevada avenue near Westgate, for a consideration of $10,000.

The Hollingsworth company also announces the sale to J. C. Rives of a quarter interest in eighty acres near Harbor Industrial City for $25,000 cash.

BUYS SITE AT EL SEGUNDO.

EASTERN MANUFACTURING CONCERN PLANS ESTABLISHMENT OF BRANCH.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL SEGUNDO, April 24.—The Reznor Manufacturing Company of Mercer, Pa., has completed arrangements with the El Segundo Land and Impovement Company for a site at El Segundo, upon which, it is said, will be erected a factory building. The Reznor company is engaged in the manufacture of gas heating stoves and has been established for twenty-three years. Its Mercer plant is declared to have a capacity of 3000 heaters a week.

The plant to be erected at El Segundo will, it is stated by representatives of the El Segundo Land and Improvement Company, be employing about seventy-five men at the start. In connection with the establishment of the plant at El Segungo, it is stated that J. T. Reznor, president of the manufacturing company, will probably make his future home in or near Los Angeles.

THE RAMONA DISTRICT.

The construction of the new $45,000 grammar school building at Ramona Acres is progressing rapidly and it is planned to have the building ready for occupancy by the beginning of the fall term. Ten new houses are now being built at New Ramona Acres, the little farm subdivision adjoining Ramona Acres. Recent sales in New Ramona Acres are reported by the Janss Investment Company to the following: J. Woods, $1300; Arthur Kelly, two small plots improved with five-room residence, $5200; Miss Paxson, $850; Harry H. Hanna, $1350; C. V. Fries, $1000; Mrs. R. J. McCauley, $1325; H. McMillen, $1100; L. D. Tucker, $1600; J. Hoyle, $2500; John Strong, $3500; W. Minihan, $800; Robert Schenkel, $1000; G. T. Arnfield, $1600; M. S. Gibson, $1650, and C. Drake, $1400.

BUILDING CONTRACTS.

The Edward E. Sweet Designing and Building Company reports having received contracts to plan and build improvements for the following: W. P. Bogler, six-room bungalow at No. 1832 South West boulevard, $3200; Mrs. Rosella Bowen, No. 649 North Ardmore, seven rooms, $3200; A. Chance, six rooms, No. 1526 Avenue 22, $1500; B. Russell, six rooms, No. 5647 Fountain avenue, $1500; D. D. Ryus, No. 827½ San Julian street, apartment-house, $7500; E. E. Sweet, five-room bungalow, No. 5642 Fernwood, $3500; A. P. Hall, six rooms, No. 1836 Norton avenue, $2400, and P. Christian, No. 836 San Julian street, apartment-house, $7500.

NEW HOSTELRY IS UP-TO-DATE.

CASA BLANCA HOTEL AT ONTARIO OPENED TO PUBLIC DURING THE WEEK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, April 24.—With the opening this week of the new Casa Blanca Hotel, Ontario is placed officially on the tourist hotel map of California. Chiefly of white brick construction, the structure is of the Italian Renaissance type, and is surrounded by wide lawns and shaded by huge semi-tropical trees.

The Casa Blanca is not a large hotel, but it is attractive in all its appointments. The bedrooms, fifty in number, all have private bath connection, and are furnished in mahogany, ivory enamel and Circassian walnut. The lobby is finished in mahogany with tapestried walls, and the furniture is upholstered in tapestry and leather.

The dining-room, which is detached from the main hotel building, is connected with it by an arcade. It is finished in royal blue and gold, with white and gray background. The sun parlors, roof gardens and tennis courts are among the attractions of the house. The hotel maintains its own garage.

The Casa Blanca was built by E. A. Parkford and C. B. Ford, who are the owners. Mrs. A. D. Stricker, a hotel woman of wide experience, is the manager.

SITE IS CLEARED.

Preparations Made for Construction of Large Bungalow Court on West Thirty-second.

A site at No. 1029 West Thirty-second street was cleared of several old buildings during the week as a preliminary to beginning work upon ten bungalows projected by M. M. Fernandez & Co. at that location. The bungalows, which are to be of four rooms and bath each, will be arranged around a court. The total cost of the enterprise is estimated at $10,000.

Work is to be begun at once on a bungalow court of eight three-room buildings projected by M. F. Du Bose at Nos. 5419-21 Carlton way. J. E. Holland has the contract. The improvement will cost about $8000.

THE INTENSIVE FARMER.

A Local Humorist's Bucolic.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

I used to think that intensive farming was something like raising onions in a folding bed. I thought it a system of gardening in which the farmer and his farm were both very much occupied. It was as different as could be from the expansive style of agriculture.

The idea of inteneness was gathered from the rapt look on the face of the man absorbed in the glittering pages of the seed catalogue and pondering the problem of putting $1150 worth of plants and seeds in a half-acre lot.

In the broad prairies of the Middle West where nothing is cheaper than dirt, they don't bother a whole lot about intensive farming; but in sunny California where land is so scarce they have to stack it up in mountains in order to hold the State's quota this intensive proposition catches hold and hangs on.

In Oklahoma a live afternoon zephyr is liable to blow away as much of a man's farm as a hustling Los Angeles real estate man would sell for $1600. But in a land where they are building bungalows, with toy kitchens and a cubby hole in the wall for nurse to sleep in, the country folk are becoming a race of small ranchers. We have fairy farms for pale people and abbreviated acres for artless Angelenos, but whether it be one of the broad and majestic Spanish grants, or a measly patch of dwarf kale, it is still a ranch.

You can't scarce a modern realty dealer with mutterings about ranch or grove lands at $2000 an acre, but if you were to hint such prices to a Mississippi Valley farmer he would promptly curl up and perish from heart disease.

But when an acre of suburban soil costs as much as a Grand piano, it behooves the owner to get as much in and out of it as he can. If he would play even he may find it necessary to stud the place so thickly with radishes that he would have to pull them with a corkscrew.

Col. Hermann, the wizard, used to show us how to raise ducks and rabbits in a plug hat. The magician would be a valuable man on a congested stock and poultry ranch where space is so valuable that the animals and birds are herded in tiers like flat dwellers.

Nowadays we plant our corn and beans in the same hill. The cornstalk furnishes the needed support for the climbing bean and at the proper time we take a stout pair of shears and swipe a mess of succotash at one swoop.

We have Rhode Island Red eggplant and by crossing the bulbs with our celebrated electric currents we are able to have fried chicken and scrambled eggs day or night.

On one of these compressed farms when we set out a smear of prune trees we put a collection of berries and vegetables between the rows and a line of grapes around the edges. We will have beets under the surface and peppers above—and all in the same patch. When everything gets to going good we turn the chickens loose and let them swarm over the place. What the birds and the gophers don't get we give to the neighbors.

There is quite a thriving and profitable industry in selling these midget ranches to amateur agriculturalists. It is a three-cornered game in which everybody is tickled to death. The original owner gets a fancy price for his acres; the broker gets a plump and pleasing premium or commission and the purchaser attains a healthful and alluring occupation. There is nothing more fascinating than watching things grow—even if it is only the interest on the mortgage. For a year or two, or maybe four or five the new rancher is as happy as a Broadway star. He has had his happy sessions with the seed merchant, the nurseryman, the chicken king and all other providers of ranch equipment. He has learned that irrigation in California is not done with a fountain pen and that there is a good deal of grafting outside of the State administration. He has seen his young trees bud and blossom and his spinach thrive into fullness. He has sat up with frail and feverish young broilers and has combed the fringe of his hedge fence. He has had something going on all the time, even if he was beyond the immediate range of the lights of the great city.

PALMDALE Pear Orchards

Planted to selected Bartlett Pear Trees
$300 an acre—20% down—5 years to pay balance

This includes perpetual water rights in the only really comprehensive gravity irrigation system in this section—and make no mistake—an abundant and assured supply of water is absolutely essential to successful pear orcharding.

Palmdale pear orchards are directly on the main valley line Southern Pacific. 37 miles north of Los Angeles and less than a mile from the town of Palmdale.

Orchardists in this district are growing rich from pear profits. One old-timer states that 850 to 900 lbs. of pears per tree is not uncommon. Figure this out at 106 trees to the acre—and $80 per ton for the crop—and then cut your result in two and see where you arrive. Try to buy a producing pear orchard in this district and see what you would have to pay.

The proposition we offer is sound and good in our judgment, or we wouldn't endorse it. Let us tell you more facts at our office or go with you to see the property.

The Iron Cap also is resuming operations and has stored a large quantity of high-grade ore from which shipments are being made to the smelter.

JUMBO ANNOUNCES TENTATIVE AGREEMENT.

One Legal Case Looks as if it Would Soon be Settled Amicably. Other is Still Hanging Fire.—Happenings at Various Mines in Goldfield Camp.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GOLDFIELD, April 23.—The local atmosphere has been greatly clarified by the formal announcement this week of the Jumbo Extension Company that a tentative agreement to put an end to certain pending litigation with the reorganized Booth Mining Company, had been reached. A special meeting of the stockholders has been called for May 20 to pass upon the agreement, which provides for increasing the capital of the Jumbo to $1,750,000, of which $200,000 will go to the Jumbo Extension for a sideline agreement.

The tentative agreement is the result of a thorough examination of the mine's workings, the legal aspect of the case, and also of much dickering back and forth between representatives of both sides, according to the report. The settlement arrived at will be about 19 per cent. of the issued stock, it states.

It further says: "While the actual present necessities of the case would require an increase of capitalization to only 1,550,000 shares, it was deemed wise and prudent to your directors to further increase the capital stock to 1,750,000 shares, which would leave 200,000 shares in the treasury for any future emergency. This 200,000 shares, of course, would be a treasury surplus and asset, while the dividend-participating stock would be only the issued stock of 1,550,000 shares; with the 200,000 shares of stock and approximately $250,000 cash on hand, your company would resume business with a very handsome treasury surplus.

"It was also agreed that immediately upon the ratification of this agreement by the directors of both companies, the apex suit would be dismissed, whereupon the dividend which was declared payable March 1 to stockholders of record February 1, would be disbursed."

A strike at the Jumbo mine, which indicates that ore will be found in large quantities at greater depths than have yet been attained, was recorded this week. It was made on the 1017-foot level, the deepest in the mine. High-grade smelting ore was uncovered in the great quartz fissure that extends into the shale, and at a point 250 feet below the latite contact and the point of fissuring in the shale's surface.

Atlanta Mines.

With the completion of the air connection, affording good ventilation to all the deep workings, the Atlanta will be in shape for operations on a far broader scale than those heretofore attempted. The vertical raise from the 1750-foot level has been driven to connect with a winze from the 1400-foot level of the Grizzly Bear mine of the Goldfield Consolidated, adjoining on the north.

The Atlanta has secured a lease on the south half of the Grizzly Bear claim, below the 1400-foot level, and will now proceed to extend its development work into this territory.

Reorganized Booth.

Assays running as high as $121 have been obtained on the 350 and 500-foot levels of the Booth, where development is progressing in two drifts and three raises in the big vein, near the Columbia Mountain fault. Work in the incline shaft, which was sunk to a depth of 130 feet near the southern end of the property for the purpose of further proving up the apex conditions here, has been discontinued, as has all the other work in connection with the apex contention. It is reliably reported that a settlement of this controversy is assured.

Goldfield Merger.

The hearing of the application to perpetuate the receivership of the Merger company was begun in the Federal Court at Seattle on Wednesday. The outcome of the litigation is awaited with the keenest interest by the public, as it is expected to have a strong influence upon the stock market. Those who are interested in the Merger are most anxious that the company resume work, as late developments in the adjoining ground of the Jumbo Extension indicate that there are good chances for the Merger to find the extension of the Jumbo ore body.

Other Properties.

Goldfield Oro maintains its promising appearance on the 700 and 800-foot levels, where the workings have exposed large masses of quartz of the character found in the near-by producing mines. Florence Goldfield continues to send ore to the sampler and is driving a new raise to reach the ore body in the new vein, nearer the hanging wall. Combination fraction lessees, on the southern part of the property, have exposed four feet of $50 ore in the north extension of the new Florence vein and the present outlook is promising for a substantial production of shipping ore.

Blue Bull is conducting development work on the 700-foot level and has exposed vast quantities of good-looking quartz, carrying some gold.

Black Butte, Conquerer, Commonwealth, Daisy, Simmerone, Empire, Lone Star, Great Bend, Blue Bell, Grandma, Speerhead, Yellow Tiger, Justice, Columbia Mountain, Crackerjack, New Jersey Mines, Talmage and other properties are either at present undergoing active development or are planning work of importance, either on their own account or through the hands of lessees.

RARE MINERALS, METALLURGY AND CHEMISTRY

INQUIRIES FROM AND ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

You are politely requested to submit samples carefully wrapped and tagged, with letter accompanying stating what tests are desired. Make samples of small size. There is no necessity for big chunks. Correspondents offering matter for analyses with card, or scrap of paper, intended to show that the stuff is from Jim Jones, for instance, with no marks of identification on samples, will, hereafter, receive no attention whatever.

Ores of Manganese.

EL CENTRO, April 7.—Q.: I have some deposits of manganese ore in the Fish Creek district, and am now seeking some definite information on manganese ores. There are publications that I have read showing the great value of such deposits, but when it "comes down to brass tacks" there appears to be some confusion even among buyers. I read in your department of The Times that "Manganese dioxide of 85 per cent. character met with a ready sale," or in similar words. The outcrop on my properties is such that I cannot tell much about it. I believe that I have good indications of a deep mine, if the ledge is exploited. From what I can see of it there is probably fifteen feet of ledge at the surface; on the hanging wall about 200 feet of trap rock, and about 5 or 6 feet on the foot wall; on contact with limestone (white marble variety.) Slates and granties on the property. As yet I have done no great amount of work on the ledges. Is there a company that will handle manganese dioxide that I can interest to handle the property? Will a fifteen-foot ledge pay running expenses that will show 20 to 40 per cent. manganese dioxide? I am a prospector 24 years of age, and work my own grub stakes. Your aid through The Times has been a great help to me. H.

A.: Glad to hear from you. We know of no company that could be recommended to you for the help you are seeking. There are many "buyers" who write us many letters weekly on the subject of manganese.

Probably the best authority that can be given you is "Mineral Resources of the United States, 1913," now published under guidance of that peerless director of the United States Geological Survey, Dr. George Otis Smith. We copy from the publication given as follows:

The value of ores containing manganese depends on their mineralogical nature as well as their purity. The prices paid for ores of medium grade, for which the demand is greatest, are relatively stable, but the value of high-grade ores, which are consumed in smaller quantites, fluctuates greatly.

The value of the ores used in the metallurgical industries varies with their content of metallic manganese and is governed largely by the specifications announced from time to time by the Carnegie Steel Company, Pittsburgh, Pa. The specifications now in use are given below, and from the circular issued by the Carnegie Steel Company, February 14, 1914.

In the following schedule of prices we have abbreviated the published matter above referred to and give prices paid by the Carnegie company on long tons (2240 pounds.) Ores to be delivered at Pittsburgh or Bessemer, Pa., and South Chicago, Ill. The prices are based on ores containing not more than 8 per cent. silica or 0.20 per cent. phosphorus, and are subject to deductions as follows: For each 1 per cent. in excess of 8 per cent. silica there shall be deduction of 15 cents per ton; fractions in proportion. For each 0.02 per cent., or fraction thereof, in excess of 0.20 per cent. phosphorus there shall be a deduction of 2 cents per unit of mangenese per ton. Ores containing less than 40 per cent. manganese or more than 12 per cent. silica or 0.225 per cent. phorphorus are subject to acceptance or refusal at the buyer's option. Settlements are based on analysis of sample dried at 212 deg. F., the percentage of moisture in the sample as taken being deducted from the weight.

Before giving prices as shown in the circular it is well to explain the term "unit." Briefly, a unit of a long ton is 22.40 pounds, and a unit of a short ton is 20 pounds. The prices paid now are as follows: Over 49 per cent. of metallic manganese in the ore, 24 cents per unit; 46 to 49 per cent., 23 cents per unit; 43 to 46 per cent., 22 cents per unit, and 40 to 43 per cent., 21 cents per unit.

According to these specifications, the prices paid for the ores range from $7 to $12 a ton.

Manganese ore used as an oxidizer "shall contain 80 per cent. manganese dioxide and not more than 1 per cent. iron." There is no established schedule for this high-grade ore; brokers supply the demand for such grade at from $20 to $35 per ton. "Small lots which are exceptionally adapted to special uses have been disposed of at $50 per ton."

We have given much space in stating the facts regarding the ores of manganese, and it is intended that this answer shall be taken, by the great number of correspondents asking for information relating to manganese dioxide, as a reply to each and all of them.

We conclude this subject by joining in the opinion and words of the survey publication set forth: "Viewed over a long period manganese ore mining in the United States can hardly be said to have been a very profitable industry."

Sulphides.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 7.—Q.: Inclosed find samples from property adjoining the Vulture mine. Will you kindly let me know what they contain? B.

A.: Four of the samples are quartz carrying low percentages of pyrite, chalcopyrite, arsenopyrite, "peacock-iron," manganese, copper, lead and zinc. One high-grade specimen, from a narrow seam, shows lead (sulphide and oxide;) iron oxides, vanadium a trace, copper trace. No sample tested for gold, silver or platinum.

Tin and Cadmium Absent.

LOS ANGELES, April 8. — Q.: Kindly test for metals of the tin group—arsenic, etc. Is cadmium present. Sample taken from a large deposit in the Santa Monica Mountains. The mineral seems to prevent the growth of vegetation, as the spot from which it was taken presents a black, barren appearance. P.

A.: The samples are iron-manganese silicates; quartz, aluminum silicate, arsenic, trace of sulphur and trace of chrome.

Trachyte.

BALLARAT, April 9.—Q.: I will thank you very much if you will give me the name of sample inclosed. Several of the mining boys thought it was pumice, but I believe it is most too solid for pumice. If it was not for The Times we prospectors would have a time of it getting information on rocks. T.

Probably Both.

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—Q.: I would like to know if inclosed article is dirt or ground rock. S.

A.: The sample is composed chiefly of lime carbonate in a mixture of aluminum silicate and limonitic iron oxides.

Free Gold Absent.

LOS ANGELES, April 9.—Q.: Inclosed specimens of ore. Would like to know if they contain gold or platinum. "T-1423."

A.: Sample is conglomerate of porphyritic gneiss; quartz in the mass. Platinum absent.

Rather Odd Soil.

LOS ANGELES, April 10. — Q.: Kindly give me a soil analysis of the inclosed. It will not produce anything without a fertilizer; so what does it lack? It comes from the Davie farm, Everglades, Florida. M.

A.: Glad to hear from you. The sample lacks "soil." It is a brownish-black mixture of wood-fiber, with rootlets of some kind in the mass resembling fiddle strings.

Bog-iron ore, and bog manganese (wad) both present in low percentages.

Tetrahedrite.

NOGLAES (Ariz.) April 10.—Q.: I am sending with this a sample of tin-white matter that I can find no one able to tell me what it is. Does it carry platinum or uranium? Thanking you for past favors, and for this in advance. S.

A.: The sample is not that variety of tetrahedrite so diligently sought for by the mining boys in the hills, which variety is known to them as "gray copper," and runs very high in silver.

On the contrary, the sample submitted by you is a really "bum" Fahlerz (tetrahedrite.) It is chiefly of value to "look at."

The color of the sample is not tin-white. It is that of between steel-gray and black. Tetrahedron crystals present, and in part massive. Of imperfect cleavage, opaque, metallic in luster, streak light brown, brittle, imperfectly conchoidal in fracture, and in hardness 3.70; sp. gr. 4.6.

Zinc and arsenic present in fairly good percentages. Before the blowpipe arsenical fumes are given off with antimonial vapors. The powdered mineral yields a green solution in contact with nitric acid. Platinum and uranium absent.

Brucite.

SAN DIEGO, April 13.—Q.: You will please find herein a sample of mineral that is of a puzzling nature, apparently. I have shown it to several mining men; some say it is gypsum, and others call it talc. Please test it and tell me what it is composed of. L.

A.: The sample is not only foliated in hexagonal plates, but shows up in thin laminae, and the thin laminae is "easily separated;" translucent. Magnesia present approximately 70 per cent. Water 30 per cent. The sample is soluble in acids. Color gray-white; hardness 2.5 Sp. gh. 2.35.

Platinum Absent.

SANTA MONICA, April 12.—Q.: I am sending you a package of heavy, black sand a six-inch strata of which was gone through at the depth of twenty feet while digging a water well near here. Does it contain platinum? D.

Corundum and Peridotyte.

BOZEMAN (Mont.) April 12.—Q.: You will please find enclosed two samples. No. 1 was taken from a two-foot lead down the Madison River at a point about twenty-six miles from Bozeman, and its extreme hardness forces me to conclude that it is corundum, is it? No. 2 I have no guess, and it was taken from the west side of Cherry Creek on a trip to Alder Gulch. M. D.

A.: Glad to hear from you. No. 1 is massive corundum of good grade. No. 2 is chrysolitic, and it is a typical specimen of the rock peridotyte.

Sulphides.

OWENS (Ariz.) April 12.—Q.: You will please find in canvas sack a few samples from this mining locality. No. 1 comes from a gouge; I call it talc and believe it carries gold. Will you please horn it and tell me if the yellow is gold? The sulphurets in this camp are dark as gold, and it mixes you when examined by candle light in the stopes. Does No. 2 carry nickel, and if no nickel, what does the sulphuret carry? N.

A.: The white impure talc horns free gold of somewhat remarkable high gold value. No. 2 is a base ore carrying sulphur, zinc, antimony, arsenic, iron oxides, and lead with ilmenite.

The pyritiferous matter scattered throughout the rock (No. 2) very much resembles the so-called "bell-metal ore," but the sample does not carry a trace of nickel. Copper present in the sulphide.

MINING REVIVAL HELPS DISTRICT.

"REED-ROAD" SECTION FEELS THE GENERAL IMPROVING TENDENCIES.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

OATMAN (Ariz.) April 23.—Mining operations are being prosecuted on an increasing scale throughout the Tom Reed-Gold Road district. This quickening of the local mining industry is due in part to the renewal of interest in mining in the investment centers.

Hall & Colwell of Los Angeles, deputy United States Mineral Surveyors, are surveying and plotting Old Trails townsite and expect to have the work completed in time for dedicatory ceremonies on May 15. Old Trails is the hub of the Tom Reed-Gold Road district. The camp derives its name from the Padre Garces trail, dating back to the latter part of the eighteenth century, and to the emigrant trail, leading westward from Santa Fe, N. M., both of which pass over its site.

D. P. Wright, president of the Black Range Mining Company, is in Los Angeles the current week for the purpose of purchasing supplies and other mine equipment. The Black Range group consists of eight claims, two of which are patented. Mr. Wright has just purchased for $12,000 the interest of two Los Angeles men in the latter.

Passing through the property is the huge dike that constitutes the southern boundary of the Tom Reed-Gold Road district, as at present defined. Development of this dike is being prosecuted through the medium of a shaft which is being sunk on the Golden Era claim of the group. It has a depth of 115 feet and from the bottom a cross-cut 120 feet in length has tapped the vein.

COME OUT TODAY

Come out today and see our beautiful tracts. Let our salesmen show you through some of our homes and quote you prices. Among the many you will see, you will find one that will meet your requirements in size, design, built-in convenences and at a price and on such terms that will please you.

We Need $800,000 to meet our Gold Note obligations. We have scores of new and modern houses that our directors instruct us to turn into cash, that we may be able to take up these gold notes aggregating over $800,000. This urgent demand for money necessitates.

A Sacrifice Sale of our pretty homes, and if you are desirous of owning a home or wish to invest some money in income property which should bring you 10% or more, come out and see our property.

Beautiful Rodgers Park

Rodgers Park, situated from 68th to 78th Sts., on Vermont Avenue (now being paved), is considered, with its beautiful streets, wide parkings and uniform setting of palms in front lawns, to be one of the prettiest subdivisions in all Los Angeles. In Rodgers Park homes as low as $2000, some nice five and six-room modern bungalows at $2250, $2500 and $3000. Terms can be made to suit you.

New College Tract

New College Tract, beginning at 48th Street and First Avenue, needs no description to the people of Los Angeles. The character of its homes and its high-grade improvements are well and favorably known. In College Tract we have homes from $3000 up that contain hardwood floors, built-in features, and in fact, every modern convenience.

Guaranteed Title

Beautiful Rodgers Park and New College Tract are unencumbered in any way whatsoever, and we issue a clear title guaranteed by Title Company, Upon the purchase of a home the deed and guarantee title are given on the first payment of 10 per cent.

COME TO THE PROPERTY TODAY

Come to the property and our tract agents will show you through our pretty homes. If not convenient to come out today, come into the main office during the week, if you prefer telephone or write and our representative will call for you in his automobile and take you to the property.

To reach Rodgers Park take the Vermont-Manchester car, the Vermont Heights car, from Broadway, or the Vermont and Georgia line from Hill street.

To reach New College Tract take Grand Ave. or 48th Street Cars.

Finest Quality Imported Toilets $16.50

COMPLETE WITH VITREOUS CHINA BOWL AND TANK.

—Imported toilets at a price like this are typical of the values we are always offering in our plumbing department.

—These toilets are perfect in every respect and fully guaranteed. Made by the famous "Johnson Bros., Hanley, Limited," England. Both Bowl and Tank are of vitreous china and wood seat is fitted with finest post hinges; other dealers would charge you at least $20 for toilets like these.

Special steel enameled bath tub $8. —Other sizes $8.50, $9 and $10.

Finest quality porcelain enameled lavatories, $3.75. —Different sizes and styles at $7.50, $10 and $25.

KITCHEN SINKS $1.50—These are really worth at least $3.50.

50c WASH BOARDS 25c—All metal wash boards with wooden feet, either brass or zinc faced.

$2.50 VARNISH REMOVER $1.75 —Hi-Lo Varnish Remover is well and favorably known wherever used. Removes all varnish, paint, etc., and positively will not harm the wood in any way.

SALE BANKRUPT STOCK

$2.25 HOUSE & FLOOR PAINT $1.25 —Stocks of paints secured by us from bankrupt firms, manufacturers, etc. Regularly they would be sold at $2.25 per gallon but we can offer them at $1.25. A good assortment of colors. Many well-known brands are included.

7½c WHITE LEAD 6c POUND —This price on first quality pure white lead in 100-lb. kegs and it figures a saving of just $1.50 per keg.

$2.25 WALL PAINTS $1.25 —Prepared especially for use in kitchens, bathrooms, etc. Heat, steam and water do not affect. Walls covered with this paint may be washed easily.

VARNISHES 25 PER CENT OFF—STANDARD MAKES

—Standard varnishes that are known the world over, priced as follows, savings of one-fourth. (These prices per gallon.) $1.75 value at $1.30; $2 value at $1.50; $2.25 value at $1.70; $2.75 value at $2.05; $3 value at $2.25. Outside varnishes, $3.50 value at $2.65; $4 value at $3, and $4.50 value at $3.35.

15c pkg. COLD WATER PUTTY 10c —A dry prepared putty that is mixed with cold water and makes a perfect putty, preferred by those who have used it to the oil mixed kind.

SHINGLE STAIN 50c GALLON —Our famous Standard brand, made for us by one of the largest paint factories in the country. It really should be selling for 65c to 75c per gallon. Our price 50c gal. in 5-gal. lots.

BRUSHES —All sorts and sizes of brushes either for regular painters or for use by amateurs. Brushes for paper hangers, sign painters and decorators, all priced most remarkably low.

Lumber, Hardware, Sash and Doors at Savings of 15% to 40%

Progress.

TRULY A LAND OF MILK IS VAST INLAND VALLEY.

San Joaquin's Herds are Growing Bigger and Better and Butter Fat Product Approaches Fifteen Thousand Tons—More Water for Irrigation and New Subdivisions Indicate Further Increase Soon.

THE dairy industry of the San Joaquin Valley is not only growing bigger, but it is growing better. Figures recently compiled in most of the nine counties of the valley show both an increase in the herds and greater productivity per animal. Authentic statistics for this year from a few representative districts show the annual gross earnings per cow to be not less than $100, and some herds show an even larger return.

With the tremendous growth of the industry and greater experience of the dairymen more efficient methods have been introduced. The "boarder" in the dairy herds of San Joaquin Valley is fast disappearing. In her place is the higher-priced blooded animal, which costs no more to keep, but which returns two to four times as much butter fat, and is consequently far more profitable.

The butter product of the valley this year is estimated at 26,000,000 to 30,000,000 pounds. The industry there is hardly out of its infancy, for it was not until about fifteen years ago that herds of any size were maintained. Before that time the absence of refrigeration and high temperatures made butter making practically an impossibility.

The industry's growth in the past ten years is principally due to the favorable climatic conditions and the ability of the soil to produce enormous crops of alfalfa. It is not cold enough in winter to interfere with the health of the cows, not to make it necessary to protect them with expensive cold-proof buildings.

SIGNS OF MORE GROWTH.

In almost every county in the great valley there are indubitable signs that the dairy business will continue to grow. Subdivisions of great ranches are tending toward more intensive farming and an increased yield of alfalfa. Probably the one factor of greatest importance in the increase of the future is the development of more water. The proposed conservation of the waters of Kings River will add 300,000 acres to the cultivated sections of Fresno county alone and a considerable area in Kings and Tulare counties.

In the western portion of the valley is one of the finest bodies of land to be found anywhere. It is remarkably level, most of it being ready for water with no more work than is required to throw up borders. This land has been practically nonproductive for the reason that the rainfall in the western districts is so small that dry farming is uncertain. With an abundance of Kings River water, it will all become productive in a high degree.

ALFALFA YIELD HIGH.

When this great body of land is brought under cultivation some of it will be put into deciduous fruits and grapes, but by far the greater portion will undoubtedly be given over to the dairy industry. There, as in most other portions of the valley, an annual average yield of seven and a half to eight tons to the acre can be depended upon. A yield of ten tons or more is not unusual in similar districts, but the average is not quite so high.

With so high a yield of alfalfa, San Joaquin Valley lands are able to support two cows to the acre. There are few farms, however, where this situation exists. Most of the dairymen prefer to hold their herds down to one cow to the acre, giving them an opportunity to cut a considerable quantity of hay, or to keep hogs, which, as a companion industry to the dairy, are consistently profitable throughout the valley.

In raising the standard of their animals the dairymen of San Joaquin sought the best. In Fresno county there are many magnificent herds of thoroughbred Holsteins, which are proving far more profitable than some of the inferior animals. In Kings county, especially around Lemoore and Hanford, some of the dairymen have successfully introduced fine strains of Herefords and Guernseys.

ELIMINATING "BOARDERS."

One factor that is tending to improve the business by increasing the yield and the profits is the checking-up process adopted by most dairymen. Either individually or through associations they are having their cows tested for butter fat productivity. These tests enable them to tell the profitable from the unprofitable cows with certainty. The "boarders" have been detected and eliminated to make room for more profitable cows.

Some of the big subdivisions recently put on the market in the valley are being given over largely to dairying, and that factor alone will account for a considerable increase in the business the next year or two. The Dos Palos ranch, which is being cut up into farms in Fresno county by W. I. Hollingsworth and others of Los Angeles, already has several well-defined dairy projects under way, with a creamery in sight soon.

Valley Garden Farms, the new subdivision in Western Fresno county, is to be made a dairy center, and has important natural advantages to make it a big butter-producing section.

More than 1000 acres are already in alfalfa, and the subdividers are preparing to build a creamery. Dairymen now on the land have 500 cows, and this number will be doubled within the next few months. O. C. Stine of Stine & Kendrick, the Los Angeles firm handling the land, said yesterday that the quality and sturdiness of the alfalfa in that district is such that a long winter pasturing season is assured.

As San Joaquin Valley is fairly representative of dairy conditions in the State 1915 figures issued by the Bureau of Crop Estimates of the Department of Agriculture are significant as corroborating figures gleaned from various districts in the valley. The bureau credits the State with having 541,000 head of milk cows, an increase of 74,000 over the number reported by the 1910 census. More important still is the statement that the value per cow has been increased in five years from $38.40 per cow to $72.

Dos Palos Rancho

San Joaquin Valley

In the center of San Joaquin Valley's most fertile section, where long established farmers have made big profits from the most productive soil in the West, lies DOS PALOS RANCHO.

In all the West there is no better opportunity for investment than DOS PALOS RANCHO. There is no farming land better than in San Joaquin Valley at two, three or four times the price—in a proven settled section reached by the main line of the Southern Pacific and within easy access to ready high-priced markets. Everything that you demand in the best farming project in the West, DOS PALOS RANCHO has to offer.

Come and investigate your opportunities here. The land will never be cheaper than it is today and our illustrated folder tells in word and picture the story of big crops and big profits.

$65 Per Acre Worth $150 to $200 Per Acre

All of this land can be put under dependable irrigation system at nominal cost. Land with water in this section at $110 per acre.

How dairy cattle thrive in San Joaquin Valley.

Improved methods, heavy yield of alfalfa and ideal conditions have brought the annual gross yield per cow in most districts of the valley up to $100. With additional water to be procured by conservation and many thousands of acres of good land being planted to alfalfa the dairy industry in most of the nine counties of the valley is increasing rapidly, the output now being almost half of that of the entire State.

SCIENCE PROGRESS.

Course of Wireless Waves.

In one of the Smithsonian report papers, Prof. Elihu Thomson outlines the general nature of wireless transmission and indicates its relationship to transmission by wire. At the same time he shows why the wireless energy sent out follows the curvature of the earth, and explains other features, presenting a mental picture of the work such as anyone reasonably well-informed in electricity can comprehend.

He describes an early experiment bearing upon the transmission of energy without wires, performed by Prof. B. J. Houston and himself while they were teaching at the Central High School of Philadelphia during the latter part of 1875.

While these early investigators realized at the time that they had perhaps discovered the germ of a system of signaling through space, their early experiment was forgotten until recalled later by Hertz, in about 1887, when he demonstrated by suitable electrical apparatus that waves of the general nature of heat and light could be generated and transmitted with the velocity of light, 186,000 miles per second, and that by suitable resonators and detectors these waves could be made to declare themselves by tiny sparks. The general result of the Hertzian experiments was to connect electrical waves, proving the difference of the two kinds of radiations to be simply that of length or pitch.

The professor gives a description of an ordinary wire transmission with direct current, showing how the wire itself is a sort of guiding center or core about which the ether disturbance carrying the energy exists, making the wire system really a case of wireless transmission with the wire as a guiding core. He then takes up alternate circuits. His discourse covers the principal features of wireless construction and operation, explaining the ease with which messages are transmitted over water, and the difficulty sometimes encountered in doing so over land, also the fact that daylight, especially sunlight, is detrimental to transmission as compared to darkness. He states that the amount of energy which it is possible to radiate seems to be unlimited, as is the distance around the earth to which the signals may be sent, but that future transmissions of energy at high efficiency will still demand the wire core for guiding that energy to its destination.

Mentioning the use of the wireless telephone, Mr. Thomson says in conclusion that such telephony may yet become practical between Europe and America.

Wireless Variations.

[Youth's Companion:] In a recent lecture before a section of the Institution of Electrical Engineers at Liverpool, Prof. Edgar W. Marchant summarized the results of his studies of the conditions that affect the variations in strength of wireless signals. Prof. Marchant described the elaborate apparatus that he used to measure exactly the strength of the signals received at Liverpool from distant stations, such as those at Paris and Norddeich, and he showed by diagrams how atmospheric conditions influence that strength. Between two stations lying nearly northwest and southeast of each other, the strength of signals during the daytime varied within comparatively narrow limits. The ratio between the night and day strengths varies with the time of the year, and also from day to day in any given month. On the evening of a fine, clear day the improved strength known as the "sunset effect" really occurs about three-quarters of an hour after sunset, and it varies with the weather conditions. When rainy conditions prevail, the strength of the signals after sunset is much less marked. The variations during the night are relatively great, and occur within a space of a few minutes. It is possible that these are caused by some sudden change in atmospheric conditions, such as that which would be produced when a mass of compact air or a heavy cloud intervened between the stations.

A New Kind of Brick.

[Washington Star:] A new building material has lately been discovered in the dust known as "tailings," which pile almost mountain-high around the entrance of every coal mine. Like sawdust, this material has long been regarded as a nuisance. A few years ago lumber merchants were spending thousands of dollars on systems for consuming their sawdust to prevent its accumulation from hindering the work of the plant. Now they are realizing hundreds of thousands from that sawdust in the form of wood alcohol. The coal operators are going to make their waste yield them additional revenue, too.

A. Malivozky, a Polish ceramic chemist who recently visited this country, discovered that this coal refuse could be turned into brick, and a large corporation, capitalized at $2,000,000, has been organized to enter upon the manufacture of the new product.

The bricks are a deep cream shade, closely flecked with irregular red blotches due to the percentage of iron contained in the coal. This gives a most artistic color to the brick. It has also the advantage of being very hard and close-grained, so that it will take a higher polish than granite, which it closely resembles in texture.

Another advantage of this new building material, which it is believed will soon be in great popular favor, is that it can be made in any desired size and shape. While bricks in standard sizes will be staple, the material can be formed into pillars, ornamental columns, steps and other forms.

Fuel Value of Wood.

[Dallas News:] The fuel value of wood is roughly estimated by the United States Forest Service at half of that of the same weight of coal, and the bulk of a cord of dry, hard wood is about that of a ton of coal. The softer and lighter woods, of course, have a greater relative bulk. That is, a ton of good coal is about equaled by a cord of such woods as hickory, oak, beech, birch, hard maple, ash, elm, locust, long-leaf pine and cherry, or by a cord and a half of short-leaf pine, sycamore, red gum and Douglas fir, or by two cords of cedar, redwood, poplar, catalpa, Norway pine, cypress, basswood, spruce and white pine. The fitness of wood for domestic purposes depends upon rapidity of burning and other qualities as well as heating power. Hickory is much preferred, and not only has the highest heating value, but burns quietly and evenly, continuing to give out its heat a long time. Oak, beech, birch and maple are other non-resinous woods especially suitable for home fires. The heat value of pine is relatively low, but is easily ignited and gives a very hot flame that quickly dies down, making it a desirable summer fuel.

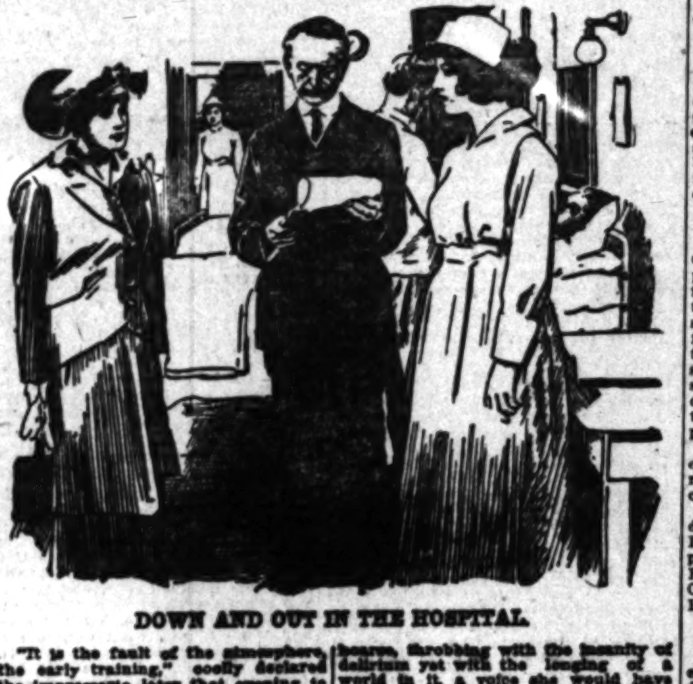
A laugh hurtled from the gallery, the laugh that was sufficient to guide the mob. It grew in volume, grew so that its sound penetrated the heavy curtain as it slowly descended upon a wild-eyed, sobbing tenor, who glared piteously at the back of a laughing woman in the box at the head of the diamond horseshoe.

With the ready effervescent sympathy of the Romance people the Director pillowed the head of his great "find" upon his shoulder. But over that head his eyes sought those of Dr. Holbrook, the world's renowned throat specialist, who had been treating Merwin now for months. And a hard expression, a look of flint was in the Director's eyes as the specialist shook his head to indicate the death of another voice.



DOWN AND OUT IN THE HOSPITAL.

"It is the fault of the atmosphere, the early training," coolly declared the impresario later that evening to the reporters. "Now, Merwin, with the proper, early training would have proved the greatest tenor of our time." He shrugged a bit contemptuously. "You call it here, I believe, a flash in the pan."

VIII.

Ann Merwin's hands still gripped tightly the newspaper with which she had fled from her attorney's office, the newspaper whose startling head had caught her eye even as her hand received the final decree of divorce. There was a wild expression in her eyes as she lunged through the crowded traffic of the streets toward the city hospital where the story said Henry had been taken.

Forgotten the document in her handbag, forgotten the bitterness with which he had treated her. She only remembered that he was the father of her child, that he was the man she had loved——

Had loved? She loved him still. His place within her heart had not been filled by the child, but by his memory.

Voiceless, forsaken by friends, an object of pity and contempt, a vagrant succumbing to exposure at the dark waterside where he might have contemplated making his final resting place—he was still her husband just as he always had been.

She did not heed the curious glances of the nurses nor the internes as she demanded admittance to his bedside. That the story of the celebrity's downfall, the divorce and attendant scandal belonged to the world meant nothing to her. A queen—she demanded the right to be with her husband in his hour of need.

She did not shrink away from the poor creatures upon the cots in the wards through which they passed. The flotsam and jetsam of a great city was there but that mattered nothing to her. That her husband was just such another dependant upon a city's charity meant nothing to her.

She felt a little pain in her heart as the interne paused beside a snowy cot, hesitated a second before approaching the delirious man, tossing and tumbling upon that cot then bravely moved forward again. The interne rested his hand upon her arm. She looked into his face with surprise and saw nothing but sympathy there and desire to avoid harm coming to her. She brushed him aside and then a voice reached out to her, a voice wild and hoarse, throbbing with the insanity of delirium yet with the longing of a world in it, a voice she would have known from all the voices of the world.

"Olga—Olga—Olga——"

On and on and on, interminably, and always with that same piteous appeal, that same throbbing note of heart-rending helplessness cried the voice; the voice of Henry Merwin, her husband toward the woman, the laughing woman's back, the Olga Drake who sat in the head box of the diamond horseshoe.

She held her head proudly, defiantly as the superintendant of the hospital tried to suppress the pity in his look with which he accepted the money she had placed upon his desk, when she fled from that ward, fled from that voice.

"When he is well," she said quietly, "give him this money. Say it is from a—a friend."

"But——"

"From—a—friend," she repeated softly, a faint smile upon her lips.

She rose suddenly for the scent of roses was in her nostrils, the vision of far-flung hills in her eyes, with a tiny white cottage nestling at the foot of them.

"Perhaps he may go back," she murmured to herself, as she left the place. "Perhaps he may go back home—and be glad—glad the hom didn't go when everything else was paid—paid."

The Oil Industry.

"WILD" WELLS TO THE FRONT.

Revival of Interest in the Outlying Sections.

Old Producers Put on Pump in Moody Gulch.

Test is Being Drilled North of Gilroy.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

COALINGA, April 23.—Seven old wells in Moody Gulch have been put on the pump and are making seventeen to eighteen barrels each per day. The oil tests 48 gravity, the highest grade by far that is produced in California. It is being sold, according to information from persons arriving from Moody Gulch, for about $1 a barrel at the well.

The price is not excessive for oil of that grade, but it is excellent, considering the difficulties of shipment. The wells are near the town of Alma, Santa Clara county, and not far from San Jose. The district was one of the first exploited in California, but for many years it has been abandoned. One or two wells have been reported as under construction within the last year. Material for three more rigs is already on the ground.

Near Gilroy.

J. M. Kellerman of Los Angeles, an operator with a record for "wildcat work," is drilling a test well north of Gilroy. J. E. Ennis and Thomas A. Pipper, both "wildcat" operators in Santa Clara county, were in Coalinga recently to look for oil-well supplies. They gave the information that the Kellerman well was down 2700 feet when they last heard from it. Two oil sands, the first at 1600, the second at 1800 feet, had been gone through and cased off in this well without testing, in order that the lower depths may be thoroughly explored.

Messrs. Ennis and Pipper are president and general manager, respectively, of the Paraiso and T. A. P. Oil companies. The first is drilling two miles and a half southeast from Los Gatos, the second twenty-seven miles from Los Gatos in the same direction. The Paraiso is down 700 feet, with its first well in a formation of brown shale with interesting seams carrying light oil and gas. The Paraiso also controls about 1800 acres in the Watsonville field.

Mr. Pipper lives at Los Gatos, and has been a "wildcat" operator in that region for years past. Some three years ago the writer visited Los Gatos and saw two of Mr. Pipper's "wildcat" wells near the town. At that time they were shut down, but there seemed evidence that some oil had been encountered, owing to its presence in the sump hole and on the derrick. Neighboring ranchers likewise testified to the presence of oil and to gas blowouts having occurred. One rancher had some of the oil to show as proof. The quantity was not indicated. The drillers had gone and Mr. Pipper was away, so that no information was available beyond what could be seen. No commercial wells have yet been developed, however.

Prospect Well.

Some twenty miles northwest of Coalinga the Merced Paraffin Company has drilled to a depth of 1160 feet, and reports are that it has gone through two oil-bearing strata with some gas. When in the last at 1000 feet, work was stopped, and oil is said to have risen to within 140 feet of the surface. Samples taken of the oil are said to have tested 42 gravity. The company, however, will explore further. It has a bond on 160 acres of patented land.

The company has been working eighteen months, but so quietly that nothing has been published until now concerning its operations.

The officers and directors, all residents of Merced, Dos Palos and Los Banos, are as follows: Dr. W. E. Lilly, president; W. E. Landram, secretary; R. Bancroft, J. B. Garibaldi, George Christian, Adolph Salam and Charles Bamburger.

Coalinga Red Rock.

One of the features of the Coalinga east side is the red rock formation discovered almost at the surface along the center of section 10, 19-15. It has been found very useful for mixing with the formation whenever the latter is loose and inclined to cave in.

STARTS MORE HABRA WELLS.

UNION BEGINS FILLING LEASE REQUIREMENTS.

Five New Holes Soon to be Going Down in Valley Field—General Petroleum is Reported to Have Struck Birch Sand in Deep Brea Canyon Well.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FULLERTON, April 23.—The Graham & Loftus Oil Company, owner of the land in La Habra Valley leased to the Union Oil Company and operated by that corporation under the name of the Graham & Loftus lease, has forced the resumption of drilling operations in accordance with the terms of the lease. Therefore the Union within the last two weeks has started two rotaries drilling on wells Nos. 28 and 35, and will have No. 31 started immediately. Rigs are nearly complete for Nos. 9 and 10, located at points 200 yards north and east of Nos. 11 and 14, the biggest producers on the lease; hence good results are hoped for. Number 6 has been abandoned on account of casing trouble and the rig has been moved to location No. 8, where drilling will be started quickly.

This means five wells will be put under construction at once. The lease was originally very strict, indeed, in its drilling requirements, it being obligatory upon the Union to keep seven strings of tools busy until fifty wells were completed. Recently the drilling has been practically at a standstill, whether by mutual consent or not is not known, but it has been reported that the Union has obtained some [illegible] terms. Evidently, however, [illegible] still calls for extensive [illegible] as shown by the starting [illegible] almost at once. The [illegible] be one of the [illegible] busiest in the State.

Nor is the Graham & [illegible] the only propery upon which [illegible] ion is pushing active [illegible] starting a well on the [illegible] 5, which offsets the [illegible] on the Coyote lease. DO STRIKES EVER REALLY PAY?

[EDITORIAL.]

The last annual report of the American Federation of Labor admits $4,280,305 as the "cost of strikes" to its affiliated unions in the labor year ended September 30, 1914, besides $109,204 for "donations to other unions." It is hard to conceive what, if any, real benefit, union labor receives in return for that vast expenditure (really vast loss of its wages money.) A few small raises of wages here and there and reductions of working hours in some cases, but nothing at all commensurate with the giving up of more than four and a quarter millions of dollars in a single twelve months, at the end of which period the unions still had 236 strikes pending. The wages gains numbered only 16 out of 721 strikes, won, compromised and lost—practically only 2 per cent.

What, for instance, did the United Mine Workers gain from their $2,965,702 strike cost? We know that in Colorado the gain was nil. After months and months of strike loss, strike violence and some deaths the men were glad to go back to work on the terms in force before the strike began. So it was in case after case of the strikes on which the $4,280,305 of union labor's wages money was wasted. The report quoted does not schedule any wages gain out of the three strikes for the cost of which the United Mine Workers paid out $2,965,702. Striking is, always has been and always will be, the most costly and wasteful luxury in which labor, union or otherwise, can indulge. Think of the women and children that could have been fed and clothed, or the homes bought and paid for, or the savings accounts (those anchors to windward of labor) created out of that $2,965,702 in that one calling alone; or more so, with the $4,280,305 totally wasted on the year's strikes. And that $4,280,305 is not by any means all the loss suffered by the strikers and their wives and children by reason of that year's strikes. Think of the millions of wages lost and of the bank accounts depleted of their last dollar; think of the partially paid for homes lost under mortgage sale for non-payment of installments or interest; think of all the things necessity compelled the strikers' families to go without and ask yourselves the eternal question, "Do strikes ever really pay?"

To bring this vital question home let us tabulate the trades by which this $4,280,305 "cost of strikes" was paid:

WAR AND MILLINERY.

American Milliners Have Been Hunting for a Motif that Will Work in With the Materials.

[Leslie's:] The makers of women's hats are up in the air over next spring's styles. They are looking in vain for an underlying motif. Having depended for so long on the distinguished designers of Paris, now that these have been summoned to the front and skilled workers are no longer to be found, hat makers in the United States hardly know where to turn. Matters are further complicated by a prospective lack of the best materials. The present tariff law permits the importation of only a few feathers from Europe, so that with artificial feather designers scattered by the war, there promises to be a scarcity of both ideas and materials for the new styles. But it would not be a national calamity if the women of America had to content themselves with American-made hats, even though the trimming be not of the finest, and with American designed hats even though they have not the distinction of French creations.

I shall be much disappointed if American manufacturers, under the spur of the present need, do not prove that they can produce a line of artificial flowers equal to the best manufactured abroad. For years we have slavishly followed the dictates of foreign designers, but again we shall be disappointed if American designers do not take full advantage of this enforced freedom from domination by Paris and give us new styles in women's hats, simpler and more in harmony with the character of our American women at their best. Suppose they do lack that indefinable quality that characterized the output of the foremost foreign designers, ought not our women to be satisfied with styles which are our own and which more truly characterize the spirit of America?

A Great Blunder.

DISASTER FROM SEAMEN'S BILL.

TORNADO OF TROUBLE FOR OUR MERCHANT MARINE.

Dictation of Union Labor will Transfer Foreign Trade to Foreign Ships, and will Make Office for a Horde of Examiners of Seamen and an Enormous Payroll.

[San Francisco News Letter:] After two years' struggle between the union labor leaders of this country and leading men behind the shipping interests, the Seaman's Bill became a law March 4 last; its provisions become effective in its entirety November 4 next. In a sentence, the bill may be summed up generally as legislation to discourage American shipping, to involve the administration in irritating controversies with friendly powers and to ensnare the votes of organized labor.

In the Senate, La Follette, who introduced the bill, to quote a newspaper of March 8, "boasted of the fact that he was a landlubber; that he had nothing to do with the framing of the bill; he was ignorant of the subject matter and had no intelligent notion of its possible effects and consequences, except that he was sure that it was satisfactory to the lobby which represented the Sailors' Union." That neither the House nor the Senate, after two years' struggle with the bill, really knew what it was doing, is evidenced by the fact that within a week after the bill became a law it was necessary for the Department of Commerce to submit the bill to the Department of Justice to interpret some of its many conflicting conditions.

The one good thing about the bill is its title: "An Act to Promote the Welfare of the American Seaman in the Merchant Marine of the United States; to Abolish Arrest and Imprisonment as a Penalty for Desertion, and to Secure the Abrogation of the Treaty Provisions in Relation Thereto; and to Promote Safety at Sea." Any uninformed person reading the title, which carries with it all the dignity of United States legislation, would naturally be impressed with the fact that here is something which is going to benefit, first, the American seaman, and, secondly, provide safety at sea. The legislation is now the law of the land, and it remains to be seen, according to those familiar with the situation, whether anything but dire disaster will come out of these high-sounding phrases, which, in words, represent so many better conditions.

An American seaman, truly speaking, is an American born or naturalized citizen who follows the sea as a trade. Technically speaking, he is a man of any nationality shipped as a seaman upon an American vessel. There are so few American-born or naturalized seamen that this legislation seemingly must be in behalf of the foreigners serving upon foreign vessels. It would be fair to suppose that a United States transport would have a representative American crew, yet one of these transports left San Francisco a short time ago, and the actual shipping articles showed that the crew of 168 men was composed of eighteen nationalities, Philippine Islanders leading with seventy-five men; they represented 45 per cent. and Americans 26 per cent. of the crew.

As there is no American merchant marine in the foreign trade, and as the labor union absolutely controls the coastwise trade today, the bill would have been useless to them unless it could be so worded that the control was made to include the crew of every ship that should come to an American port; hence the clause providing for the right of a sailor to desert his ship, when and where he pleases, and the abolishment as seamen of those races who have so long and faithfully fulfilled such duties aboard foreign ships engaged in the foreign trade, such as Arabs, Hindus, and Chinese, because manifestly it would be impossible for the Seamen's Union to take these men in as members of their union and control their movements while in a port of the United States. So, to further establish this cinch on the situation, the requirement that "75 per cent. of the crew in each department thereof . . . must understand any order given by the officer of such vessel," was forced into the bill, and these sections of that instrument are the only parts in which the lobby was vitally interested because these provisions, becoming the law, make the leaders real leaders and the men their dependent slaves.

Accordingly, Congress has instructed the President to serve notice on all the maritime powers with whom this country has commercial treaties that such treaties must be abrogated and for this reason: that from the earliest time maritime law has provided that seamen were the wards of their nation and had to be cared for by that nation no matter in what part of the world they might become ill or indigent, and at all times were they under the protection of the Consuls. Provisions were made to return them to their home ports. In return the seaman signed articles, under such rules and regulations as were prescribed by the government, to stay with his ship until the voyage was completed, and he was as morally bound by this contract as was the captain and owner to stand by the contract with the seamen. By the seamen's bill just passed by Congress, this custom and law ceases, and the union, without the shadow of a doubt, will use this condition of the law to persuade or compel foreign crews in American ports to leave their ships, remain under the jurisdiction of the union, and reship at the wage established and put in force by the union. The foreign shipowner, regardless of the crew's contract with him, must let his ship remain idle unless he accepts the crew put aboard by the union, and at the wages they specify, nor will he be allowed to obtain any seamen except through the Seamen's Union. And to still further cinch this condition under guise of safety at sea, 40 per cent. of the crew of every ship, foreign or American, of over 100 tons, excepting yachts and fishing boats, which leave an American port, must be able seamen by passing an examination before government inspectors. The United States government proposes to examine every foreign sailor who comes to these shores and grant a certificate as to his ability as a seaman; if there is not enough of these seamen who can pass such an examination, then foreign ships cannot proceed on their return voyage, or continue their voyages, unless a sufficient number be educated to fill the necessary 40 per cent. requirement. Men in other ship departments must also be examined as to their qualifications, which means an army of examiners in all languages, and a flood of records of immense prolixity and another immense pay roll added to the growing budget of national expense. Labor dictates the situation at all points, and stands ready to press every advantage that the new law gives signs of allowing.

Foreign nations have their own standards of safety, pay and accommodations for sailors, and apparently there is no agitation upon the ships of foreign nations as regards similar conditions under their flags. And while those in Congress are laying so much stress upon safety of life at sea, they apparently lose sight of the fact that the greatest safeguard at sea, outside of and beyond all importance of mechanical devices, is the efficiency of the officers to maintain discipline, and ready and quick obedience on the part of the crew, and order and cool behavior on the part of the passengers. It is impossible for the officers of a ship to have efficiency and discipline unless the crew remain with the ship voyage after voyage, and are thoroughly drilled in the many and diversified requirements of the ship. With a crew continually changing, and with every ship practically constructed on different lines, it would be manifestly impossible to furnish discipline if crews are to be continually shifting at the beck of a labor union. The crew may hold their certificates and be efficient, apparently, but they cannot be efficient in the specific details of any particular ship unless they have been drilled on that particular ship and in the extraordinary duties they will be called upon to perform under dire emergencies.

By the passing of this bill Congress has added another very serious problem to the many confronting the nation.

HAVOC WROUGHT BY STRIKE.

Many Homes Have Been Lost to Working People as Result of Going on a Strike.

The havoc wrought among the 30,000 shopmen whose strike against the so-called Harriman lines in 1911 was lost, was sketched statistically before the United States commission on industrial relations.

The witness was Frank Comerford, for many years attorney for the men. One thousand question blanks, he said, were sent at random to the strikers four months after the strike. His figures, Mr. Comerford explained, applied to these thousand men and he thought that a fair social survey of the whole number could be obtained by multiplying his figures by thirty.

Of the thousand men, whose replies, according to Mr. Comerford, were checked up, 186 were single when the strike was called September 30, 1911. There were 1743 children, a small number which he thought might be traced to low wages and a subnormal scale of living.

Forty-two per cent. of the men owned their homes or were buying them. The strike cost 15 per cent. of these their homes, and of the whole number 91 per cent. moved from their lowly domiciles to even cheaper quarters. Twelve per cent. of the strikers had to sell their furniture and 10 per cent. to seek charity. The average period of idleness occasioned by the strike was a year. The witness claimed that he had traced sixteen cases of suicide to the strike, and nine cases of insanity.

"This, in brief, is an attempt to represent human values in dollars," said Mr. Comerford.

TAXATION AND MANUFACTURING.

An Extensive Business Enterprise Abandoned Because of Legislative Hindrances to Profit Making.

A communication to the Boston Sunday Herald tells how too many legislative burdens become an injury to business development and the more extensive employment of labor. The Herald says:

"A year ago last fall I came in contact with a friend who had only recently disposed of large real estate holdings and other securities to the amount of over $400,000. When I asked him his next move, he informed me he was interested with five or six men who were starting a manufacturing company here with $1,000,000 capital. He was to invest $200,000. All the stock was subscribed by the above mentioned and none was for sale or to be offered on the market—the prospects were too good.

"Nearly a year and a half passed and I recently met him. I asked him about his million dollar company. His reply was a laugh and this explanation:

"'Our enterprise was planned and every dollar subscribed, as I told you. We had several meetings for discussions and finally the whole thing was abandoned. The reason was this: As it was to be a Massachusetts corporation, we found we would have to pay a corporation tax, then, in addition, a Federal corporation tax; to the city of Boston a tax on our machinery. Then along came the Federal income tax and our own personal tax. We came to the conclusion we would have to do too large a business and work too hard to pay taxes; that there would be doubts of any returns for dividends. Again, there had been so many laws enacted and each year so many presented that aimed at business interests, we finally decided to drop the whole scheme. It was too bad, for we would have employed from 500 to 700 hands at the start and eventually 1500 or more.'

"After this explanation I asked a personal question, 'What did you do with your money?' and the reply was that he had invested it in municipal and State bonds, mortgages and stocks of the State that were non-taxable, and while the interest rate was only 4 to 4½ per cent., it was safe and he had nothing to worry over."

A GOOD EMERGENCY SPEECH.

Six Words That Emptied a Theater Without Creating Panic Though Threatened by a Fire.

[Providence Journal:] Many lives may have been saved by the coolness and tact of the manager of a theater on Twenty-third street, New York, Sunday night. A fire in the adjoining building threatened to break through the emergency exit. All the conditions were favorable to panic and the killing and maiming of scores of men, women and children. The manager, fortunately, was a man of common-sense. Instead of giving an alarm he asked the audience to leave the theater because there was "some kind of trouble next door." In a few minutes the house was empty, and not a person was injured. The handling of the situation was most praiseworthy.

Probably in 99 per cent. of fires in places of amusement there is no actual danger to life—if people keep their heads. As a rule two or three minutes is sufficient for an orderly exit. The peril is in panic—lives are lost when the crowd rushes for the doors—very few of the hundreds killed at theaters are touched by the flames.

This is the point always to be kept in mind by the men in charge of halls and theaters. It is important to make no mention of fire. "Some kind of trouble next door" is a good model for an emergency speech.

Labor's Unrest.

STRIKES AND STRIKERS OF THIS UNEASY WORLD.

THE havoc wrought among 30,000 shopmen whose strike against the Harriman railway lines in 1911 was lost was sketched statistically before the United States Commission on Industrial Relations. The witness was Frank Comerford, for many years attorney for the men. A thousand question blanks were sent at random to the strikers thirty-four months after the strike. His figures, Comerford explained, applied to these 1000 men, and he thought a fair social survey of the whole number could be made by multiplying the figures by thirty. Of the 1000, 42 per cent. owned their homes or were buying them when the strike was called. The strike cost 15 per cent. of these homes, and of the whole number 91 per cent. moved to even poorer and cheaper quarters. Twelve per cent. of the strikers had to sell their furniture and 10 per cent. had to seek charity as paupers. The average period of idleness occasioned by the futile strike was a year. The witness claimed he traced sixteen cases of suicide to the strike and nine cases of insanity. Even at only $2 a day (a very low average rate for railway workers) the wages loss for 300 working days was $18,000,000. Do strikes pay?

Did it pay the American union boilermakers to spend $76,270 on strikes in 1914 labor year and get no wages increase in return? Or, under like conditions, did the following strike outlays in the same year pay?

Timber workers	4,175

The facts (no wage increase) and the figures quoted are from the 1914 report of Frank Morrison, Secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

The strike of Clyde (England) engineers has been settled by an advance of one penny an hour for time workers and 10 per cent. on piecework rates. It was so settled by the court of arbitration.

Two thousand dock laborers are indulging in week-end strikes at Liverpool. That is, they will not work on Saturdays or Sundays while they have to wait till the following Friday for their week-end pay. In that they are very unreasonable, as pay rolls cannot be made up to the last hour of working each week.

The stevedores' strike in the London docks is settled, leaving things about as they were.

Dye works strikers at Newark, N. J., are holding up and beating non-striking workers on their way to work in the most cowardly manner—five or six to one. Several arrests have been made.

Violent strikers at Summit, N. J., 300 of them, fled before streams of water from fire hose, after storming the City Hall and attacking a local priest's home.

A war-favoring general strike—almost a revolution—is on at Milan, Italy, led by Count di Torino, a first cousin of King Victor Emmanuel. The crowds paraded, cheering and idolizing the soldiers. Several persons injured and some deaths. Over 150,000 strikers marched at one funeral.

Senator La Follette, Meyer London and Samuel Gompers think they can stop the war by bringing (if they can) an international strike of 20,000,000 trade unionists. This is a pipe dream—a bid for cheap popularity—as such a strike is impossible, most of the European trade unionists being now in one or other of the armies. It would only make matters worse, anyway.

The trolley strike in New York State is spreading rapidly. Not a wheel is turning in Auburn, Syracuse and other Northern New York cities. It began in Syracuse and is backed by the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees.

One hundred and thirty-five thousand workers in various trades in Chicago are out of employment pending arbitration of the strike of 16,000 carpenters. Thirty million dollars worth of work is tied up. The carpenters want their wages raised from 65 to 70 cents an hour—in other words, they want 40 cents a day more. They are now paid $5.20 per day.

The discharged Western Union telegraph operators at St. Louis have been reinstated and the strike settled.

WOMEN MAKE SUCCESS AS CAR CONDUCTORS.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

GLASGOW (Scotland) April 24.—So satisfactory has the experiment of employing a dozen women as street car conductors proved that the Corporation Tramways Committee decided today to employ as many additional women as would be necessary to fill the vacancies caused by the men enlisting for service at the front.

It is expected that 400 women will be required for these positions. They will be paid 27 shillings ($6.75) weekly and will be provided with service uniforms.

No Work.

LABORERS ARE WARNED TO KEEP OUT OF ALASKA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SEWARD (Alaska) April 24.—There is no demand at present, either here or along the line of the proposed government railroad, for labor. There is no building material here and no work in prospect until people with capital arrive. Permanent buildings of all kinds are needed.

United States Deputy Marshal Evans of this district asks that common labor be warned to remain away from Seward at present.

WHY GERMANY EXCELS.

Its Scientific Students are Content to Work for Less Money than the American Chemists Do.

[Engineering Magazine:] There are literally millions of Germans in this country, and everybody has a personal acquaintance with men of pure German descent, and very likely with some who were born and bred in the fatherland. We recognize that these Germans are in every way our equals in intelligence, culture, and manhood; but we do not recognize that they are in any way superior in culture, and they themselves would be the last to make such a claim.

No one grants to Germany superior culture, but we do grant eminence in applied science. In fact, many people grant her a little bit more honor than she is entitled to, for they give her credit for discoveries in science, when she should have credit only for their development and their practical application to industry. We must acknowledge that she has made herself indispensable to the modern industrial world, as for example in her virtual monopoly of the manufacture of analine dyes; but she has not attained this position on account of her being first to discover the underlying chemical principles. It is true that it was a German chemist, who first found out, way back in 1834, that a blue color could be obtained from coal tar; but this fact remained for twenty years an isolated phenomenon without any commercial or industrial significance. It was an English chemist, Sir W. H. Perkin, who in 1856 discovered the purple dye known as mauve, and this marked the beginning the of the analine-dye industry. Since that time the Germans have been foremost in developing new dyes, among the most important of these being alizarin, discovered in 1869, which took the place of madder-root, used so extensively before that time. Artificial indigo was produced in 1878, and has played havoc with the cultivation of the real indigo plant.

Germany is able to make these dyes on account of her ability to obtain, at a low wage, men who have high technical training. We can start a dye works here, and get young chemists from our technical schools at a moderate salary; but at the end of one year these young men want an advance; they want another at the end of their second year; and they want an advance every year. They do not make the argument that they have accomplished anything in particular, but they think they ought to have more money just because they have been working for a certain time; and if they do not get it, they will go elsewhere. In consequence of such high wages, the cost of the product is higher than the price of the foreign article. In Germany, men do not expect these high wages, but work, year after year, for salaries that would not retain American chemists. Inasmuch as practically the whole cost of analine dyes is in the pay roll, it is out of the question to operate factories in this country to make them.

THE SEA OF MARMORA.

A Wonderful Amphitheater is the Connecting Link Between the Dardanelles and the Bosporus.

[Washington Post:] A statement by the National Geographic Society with reference to the Sea of Marmora, which is the connecting link between the Dardanelles and the Bosporus, says:

"With the strongest fleet ever assembled for battle reported fighting its way through the Dardanelles toward the Sea of Marmora, this quiet Turkish sheet of water suddenly has taken on a thrilling world-importance, for its area may soon witness the last scene of the mighty struggle of centuries for the preservation of Europe from the narcotic effects of eastern aggression.

"Nature has been more than generous in her provisions for guarding this sea between Asia and Europe against hostile power. The Bosporus, its approach from the Black Sea, on the north, is a deep, water-filled, twisting valley, whose surface almost all the way is at the mercy of the enclosing mountain heights. In the south, the Dardanelles, while of greater breadth than the Bosporus, form an easily defended channel, forty-seven miles long, and commanded by its shore heights.

"Marmora Sea is a wonderful amphitheater for a modern naval struggle. An elliptical bowl of bluest water, it is inclosed by a hilly shore line, which is bold and steep upon the Asiatic side. From east to west the sea is 175 miles long, while its extreme width is about fifty miles. It has an area of 4500 square miles.

"Constantinople, the objective of the invading fleets, lies tucked away near the northernmost point of Marmora, at the opening of the Bosporus outlet. In the west and south are several considerable islands, of which the largest, Marmora, has been famous for its alabaster and marbles since the days of Grecian sculptural and architectural glory.

"The Sea of Marmora is the most famous and important sea of passage in the world. Behind its waters, along the northern shore of the Black Sea, are the most fertile and favored provinces of the Russian Empire, Russia's granary; while on the Eastern Black Sea coast lies Russia's greatest oil port and her famous oil-bearing hinterland. This Turk-dominated sea is the most important avenue of Central Asia's raw materials' western transport and of the west's manufactures for consumption in the Central East."

Example of New England Colonial.

Residence for I. O. Levy.

Attractive house planned and now being built by Milwaukee Building Company. The site is on South Wilton.

OLD NEW ENGLAND TYPE.

Home of Insurance Man to Have Quaint Atmosphere of Earlier Days. Grounds to be in Keeping.

Work has been commenced on an attractive residence at No. 909 South Wilton place for I. O. Levy of the Behrendt-Levy Insurance Company. The house, which will be of the New England colonial type, was designed by the Milwaukee Building Company, which is also constructing it.

The shingle exterior of the dwelling will be finished in gray, with white trim. Green shutters and red colonial brick, set in white mortar, together with the dormers and a recessed entrance, will all lend to the effect. The house will be of two stories and will be set on a raised terrace.

From the reception hall will lead the living-room, dining-room, stairway and pass pantry. French doors giving a vista of the brick sun porch and the garden. The upstairs will contain three bedrooms, two dressing-rooms, two bathrooms, a sleeping porch and a trunkroom. The woodwork will be white enamel and mahogany throughout.

The garden treatment will be given especial attention, as the owner is a successful amateur gardener. The planting and terraces will carry out the theme of the home.

PLANS DOUBLE CHALET.

Former Minnesota Woman to Build Large House of Picturesque Lines on Kenmore near Eighth.

Miss Mary M. Haslett, who came to Los Angeles from St. Paul, Minn., last October, has signalized her intention of becoming a permanent resident of this city by purchasing a frontage of 100 feet on the west side of South Kenmore avenue, between Eighth and Ninth streets, as the site for a large double house. One-half of this dwelling will be occupied by Miss Haslett herself, while her nephew, C. D. Northrup, of the Charles L. Hubbard Company of this city, will live in the other half.

The Maine Building and Investment Company has received the contract to build the residence, which will cost about $15,000. Plans for the place were drawn by the company's architect, H. G. Corwin. Work is to be begun at once.

The dwelling will be of the chalet type and will cover a ground area of about 52x67 feet. All the exterior timbers will be heavy and will have sawed ends. The chimneys will be of clinker brick. The entrance vestibule is to be finished in mahogany, the rest of the interior being in oak. The floors throughout will be in hardwood.

OHIO MAN TO BUILD.

Buckeye Contractor Buys Site in New Vermont Square and Plans Bungalow Home.

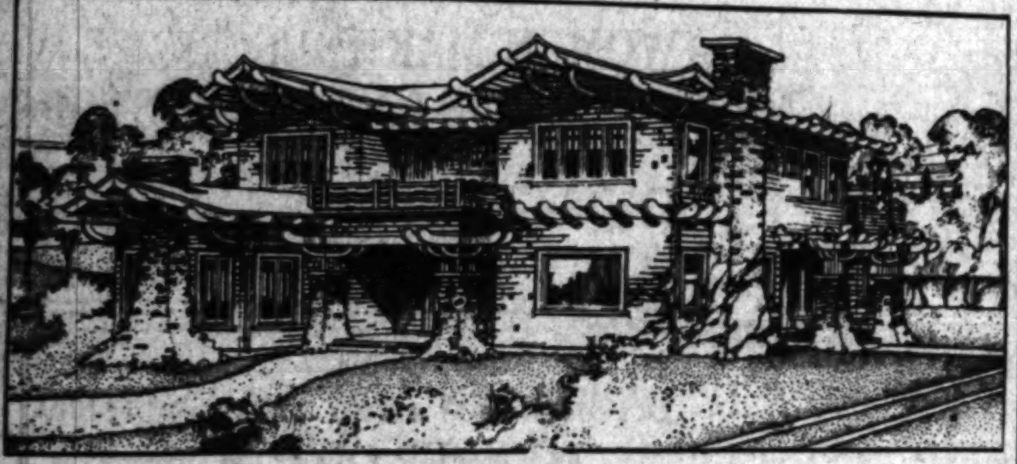
The Southwest Land Company reports having sold to Jean Arent, a contractor and builder of Hamilton, O., a lot in its New Vermont Square tract. Mr. Arent has completed plans for a seven-room bungalow of attractive design, and started construction operations during the past week.

Other lot sales of the week in New Vermont Square are reported as follows: To Frank Sands, lot on Forty-third place, consideration $1050; Edward Nowell, lot on Forty-third place, $1100, and A. L. McClain, lot on Forty-third place, $1150. A six-room bungalow, built by Paul H. Muskat at No. 2028 Forty-first drive, was sold to H. D. Snyder for a reported consideration of $3200.

WILL PLAN SCHOOL.

CUCAMONGA, April 24.—To Paul V. Tuttle and Arthur W. Angel of Los Angeles has been awarded the commission to plan the new grammar school for this place. The building will be one-story high and will contain six classrooms, teachers' rooms and an auditorium. In design it will suggest the Spanish colonial types. The cost of the school is estimated at $16,000.

Interesting Chalet Type.



Double house for Miss Mary M. Haslett.

THE UNCHLOROFORMED.

Orvel S. Darman of Rome, N. Y., who has just passed his one-hundredth birthday, is hale and hearty, and says he has never slept with the window open at night except in the intensely hot weather, and then simply to get cool air—not fresh. He pities the "fresh-air cranks," as he calls them, that they will not be here to see him make good his boast of seeing two centuries.

J. W. Conger, 72, of Cleveland, heard the call of little Dan Cupid and answered it. In consequence he and his bride, 23, former housekeeper, are now somewhere upon the broad Pacific, with their eyes turned upon Japan, where they will spend the first few months of their honeymoon. Later they will go to China.

Mrs. Manora Johnson of Carthage, Mo., who will celebrate her one hundred and first birthday anniversary on May 7, is preparing to leave shortly after that date for San Francisco to attend the exposition. Mrs. Johnson, in spite of her age, will make the trip alone. Mrs. Johnson comes of sturdy Scotch ancestry. Her father lived to be over 100, while her mother was nearly 100 when she died. For the last twenty years Mrs. Johnson has made her home in Carthage. She does her own housework. She is 6 ft. 4 in. in height and weighs more than 200 pounds.

Sentimental people who write or speak of Amelia E. Barr as 85 years young do her a great injustice. She is 85 years old; she has not the affectation of youthful vivacity; she has the wisdom of splendid old age. She has written sixty-six books; she has given birth to fifteen children. They were good books; they were (no one can doubt) good children. Amelia E. Barr, full of health and energy, enthusiastically at work on her sixty-seventh booth, has a beauty of a sort not common in this hurried era—a beauty which is venerable.

Laurentine Highie, 70 years old, a prominent resident of Wilmington, Ill., is telling his wife and children details of his early childhood, which he remembers for the first time in more than half a century. When Highie was discharged from the hospital he continued to use the name by which his regimental comrades knew him, and wandered to Illinois, where he became a prosperous farmer, married and subsequently retired. While relatives in Utica searched for him throughout the country he struggled to remember something of his childhood. When his son-in-law, Judge Albert O. Marshall of Joliet, who died recently, finally traced the veteran's identity through his enlistment papers, Highie was reunited with his brothers and sisters. His parents had both died. Today Highie is recalling incidents of his life and antedating the war. His memory, he says, is gradually returning.

Fred Smith of Akron, O., advertised in a newspaper that he would give away 100,000 marbles. In one day so many "kids" flocked to his office that very few marbles were left.

Constantinople.

THE RIGHT TO EXIST THE YOUNG TURK ASKS.

Especially, Says Enver Pasha, When My Country is Catching up with the Rest of the World in Intellectual and Material Development—Taking Care of His Troops, Hence Their Loyalty.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 18.—"I am glad you asked that question. This is not a war of the Turkish government, but a war of the Turkish people," said Enver Pasha, the most remarkable man in Turkey, who is, at the age of 33 years, War Minister and generalissimo of the Ottoman army, to the Associated Press correspondent in the first interview given to the American press.

"Undoubtedly the world finds difficulty in understanding that the Turkey of today is no longer the Turkey of the past, but that, nevertheless, is a fact which should be apparent to all impartial observers," he continued, showing meanwhile the enthusiasm of youth, although it was almost in a shame-faced manner that he admitted his light burden of years.

The world's youngest commander-in-chief typifies the young Turks in intellectual attainments and ideals. The conversation with him was carried on in German, and besides having a thorough command of the German language, he speaks excellent French. Enver Pasha would be boyish in appearance but for a rather heavy brown mustache. Alert, frank eyes, and pleasing manners make him a delightful conversationalist. He has, moreover, a well-deserved reputation for being the handsomest man in the Turkish army.

When the correspondent entered Enver Pasha shook hands cordially and said: "I am sorry to have kept you waiting, but I am very busy all day. You have come to interview me? Well, I will make an exception in your favor. I am averse to talking to men of the press. What do you want?"

"The exact reasons for Turkey participating in the war," was the reply.

"You refer, no doubt," said Enver Pasha, "to the assertions in the newspapers of Great Britain, France and Russia that Turkey entered the war to help Germany. That is very true at this moment—not when we mobilized. Today Austria-Hungary and Germany help us; we help them. But we mobilized because there was no way out.

"Long before we took this step Russia had grown ugly on the Black Sea and in the Caucasus, invading our territory there, while England had already operated against Mesopotamia and had concentrated a fleet before the Dardanelles. We were unwilling to start the ball rolling, and even after the Russians attacked our fleet in the Black Sea we still waited one week before war was declared.

"We knew that Turkey would again be led to the slaughter block. Being unwilling that this should happen, we took the only course open. We Turks feel that we have a right to exist, especially, when the best of us are straining every effort and are catching up with other countries in intellectual and material development. I believe that there is much good in the Turkish people, contrary to what our traducers say. At any rate, we are about to prove it.

"There was a time when Turkey was merely a government clique, which was not trusted by the people, but gradually the people are beginning to feel that they themselves are Turkey. I think that this is the healthiest sign here today, and there also is the promise that the progress of all civil life will be rapid."

At this moment the War Minister's chief-of-staff entered with papers. When these were disposed of the interview was continued.

"We are taking care of our troops today," said Enver Pasha, "hence their loyalty. Formerly a man was given a rifle and had to shift for himself as best he could; today we see that his land is cultivated in his absence. Each village has this system—while a man is at the front his neighbors till his soil.

"This measure has been so effective that the area of cultivated land is 20 per cent. greater than ordinarily," he went on. "When a man is in the field we see that he is cared for, simply, perhaps, but sufficiently. The Turkish soldier moreover now knows how to shoot well; this is instilling the confidence he formerly lacked."

BETTER QUALITY OF TROOPS.

To the question as to what was responsible for the better quality of troops, which has been so very apparent, Enver Pasha replied:

"When I reached the head of the army I discharged on my second day in office about 2000 old officers who had formerly been merely a burden on the Ottoman military establishment. Next I made every effort to have the common soldier feel that he was part of the service, instead of the subject of it. It can hardly be believed the difference this made. The men have now an esprit de corps."

"How did you manage to mobilize your army of almost two million with limited resources?" he was asked.

"That was a problem, of course, but we overcame it. We had a lot of old Snider rifles ready for the junk market. These I caused to be distributed among the gendarmerie, taking from them their modern rifles. There was formerly a large gendarmerie force in Turkey," explained Enver Pasha, smiling, "now it is not so great—we don't need it. So we armed many men with new rifles. Today every man at the front is well armed. It was a case of helping yourself; we did it."

Replying to questions as to the present status of the campaign, the generalissimo said:

"Conditions in the Caucasus are more satisfactory. Regarding the situation in the Dardanelles, I will say we are fully confident that it has been demonstrated that fighting down the forts there will be a huge task for the allies. But even should that happen we would still be masters of the situation there by means of howitzers, mines and a fleet, which is not so inconsiderable as some think. The allies coming up the strait would be obliged to move in single file and the effectiveness of our protective measures should be apparent."

In view of the fact that some excitement has been observed in Turkey because of the export of arms and ammunition from the United States to the powers of the Triple Entente, particularly Russia, Enver Pasha was asked for his views on this subject and replied:

"The matter has occupied us for some time, even the populace, but you may have noticed that there has been no anti-American outbreak on that account. Since the elimination of the capitulations this was the first situation in which the Turkish people might express resentment in a drastic way, but our people realize that this traffic in favor of a few manufacturers is not the fault of those Americans living here, and therefore our old good relations continue.

"We are not savages who hold the innocent responsible for something not their fault. There are still living in this city under the nominal protection of your embassy plenty of English and French. They have not been molested, despite the fact that our own people have not been treated kindly in France and England. Young Turkey is ready to demonstrate that no particular group holds a monopoly on gentlemanliness and so we shall continue taking the best care of everybody, no matter what the provocation."

Speaking of Turkey after the war, Enver Pasha said:

"Turkey will emerge from this war truly united and stronger than ever. The war is popular with the people now because it has given the government an opportunity to demonstrate that it takes an interest in the people and is for the people."

The War Minister, commenting on the work of the Associated Press correspondents in Turkey, said that it had been straightforward, conditions having been described as they were, and added that he had given orders that the correspondent be permitted to go anywhere.

"We have no secrets," he said. "Describe everything you see."

ENGLAND BECOMING SOBER.

Less Beer is Being Drunk Because of the Tax, and Rural People Turn to Cider.

[New York Herald:] The effect of the extra war tax on beer has been, as Chancellor Lloyd George anticipated, to diminish the consumption of that beverage, but it has also had the unexpected result of increasing the sale of spirits and cider.

The fall in the consumption of beer, as shown by the output of some of the leading breweries, has been nearly double Mr. Lloyd George's estimate. For instance, the output of one large brewery from November 23 to December 31 was 7895 barrels, as compared with 10,566 barrels for the corresponding period of last year. If this decrease is maintained the company estimates a net loss, after taking into consideration the [illegible] price charged, of $70,000 [illegible] per annum. While the takings [illegible] censed houses show, generally [illegible] ing a reduction in both alcoholic [illegible] non-alcoholic, they also show a [illegible] ticeable transference of business [illegible] beer to spirits and cider.

Farm Land Opening

30,000 Acres of Rich Bottom Lands
In the Center of San Joaquin Valley, Fresno County
The Greatest Irrigated Area in California

Valley Garden Farms

A New Project to be Sold in a New Way, and It's the Right Way

The owners recognize that they are partners with the purchasers, simply because the success of each depends solely upon the ability of the farmer to pay for his farm out of the profits from his crops. The following are the most unusual advantages ever given to farm land purchasers:

Complete Soil Report on Every Farm

Made by Professor George W. Shaw, formerly with the University of California College of Agriculture, as head of the soil department, and for twelve years chief of the Field Crop Division. This report tells you the character of the soil, how to handle it to get the best results and the crops to which it is adapted.

Free Services of a Farm Adviser

Service includes advice as to what, when and how to plant your crops and the time and frequency of irrigation to produce the biggest yields.

Ten Years to Pay for Your Farm

Long enough for any farmer to pay for his farm with the profits from his crops.

Double Irrigating System

Gravity water from the Kings River in spring and summer and a battery of large artesian wells to provide a supply in the fall, which deliver directly into the lateral ditches and carry the water to the high corner of each 20 acres. Entire irrigation system owned by a Mutual Water Company, which has fixed the charges. Water Company to be owned and controlled exclusively by the purchasers of the land.

Owners

The project is owned by a Los Angeles Company, whose directorate comprises the following well known capitalists and business men:

WILL E. KELLER
President of Globe Grain and Milling Co.

BENJAMIN F. GRAHAM
Capitalist

WALLER CHANSLOR
Chanslor & Lyon Company

MARCO H. HELLMAN

Black Loam Soil: According to the U. S. Government Soil Report, much of the lands are one-half silt with 27.4 to 42.4 per cent of sand; easily worked, rich in humus—very productive.

Variety of Crops: Alfalfa, garden truck, sugar beets, pears, prunes, apricots, figs, olives, grapes, etc.

Good Transportation: Southern Pacific Railroad runs 16 miles through the land—five stations on the property—no farm further than three miles from the railroad. Easy reach of big markets—San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Joaquin Valley towns.

Fine Growing Climate: Over 300 days of sunshine in the year—free from oppressive humidity. Very healthful section.

Fine Alfalfa Land in the Great Dairying Belt of the State

Already 1000 Acres in Alfalfa Already 500 Dairy Cows on the Property

Only 33 Miles from Fresno—A city of 45,000 population—the metropolis of the San Joaquin Valley. Fresno County is one of the most highly developed sections in the United States—6245 farms in the County—over 446,000 acres under irrigation—the greatest irrigated area in California.

The prices are aimed to be lower than is asked for similar lands regardless of terms. Some farms, $150 an acre, some higher, others as low as $100 an acre.

Flaxseed Market.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ST. PAUL, April 24.—Flaxseed market for today as follows:

At Minneapolis—There was no particular inquiry and offerings were heavier. No. 1 sold at 2@4 under Duluth May. No. 1 seed closed at 1.93⅝@1.91⅝ on spot to arrive. Receipts today, 9 cars; last year, 2 cars; shipments today, none; last year, 1 car. Linseed oil shipments, 506,538 pounds. Linseed oilcake and meal shipments, 281,575 pounds. Duluth receipts today, 4 cars; last year, 7 cars. Winnipeg receipts today, 7 cars; last year, 40 cars.

At Duluth—There was little doing in flax, but crushers demanded enough to offset what influence weakness in Liverpool and Buenos Aires might otherwise have had. May closed ⅝ up, July ¼ up and September ¼ up.

Elgin Tub Butter.

ELGIN (Ill.) April 24.—Butter lower; 423 tubs sold at 28; 100 tubs at 27½, and 400 tubs (Kansas) sold at 26½.

COMMERCIAL.

Owing to the fact that the majority of produce dealers and commission merchants of Los Angeles were in San Francisco at the Panama-Pacific Exposition yesterday, there was not a change of price reported in any line. Receipts were: Eggs, 976 cases; butter, 47,055 pounds; cheese, 775 pounds; potatoes, 1050 sacks; onions, 994 sacks, and beans, 80 sacks.

The excursion party, numbering 130 men, who are traveling on a special train, will return to Los Angeles tomorrow morning to resume activities. Yesterday was designated as Produce Men's Day at the exposition.

"We like you, Hogan, because you are full of pepper."

Clearly, the idea to be conveyed is that we wouldn't like Hap so well if he was full of bon-bons or dill pickles or clam chowder or horse radish.

Stick to a diet of cayenne, Hap, watering the same well with tobasco sauce. Keep yourself comfortably filled with pepper up to about level with your Adam's apple and we will be for you. But if you pause and consider the high cost of pepper, and mix in cold, impassive food with it to reduce expenses, the fans will cease to like you.

Decanniere, who is a Frenchman, pitched a good game while bounded on all sides by Germans. Gleischmann, Hosp, Hetling and Berger all rendered him valuable assistance. The new alliance worked in perfect harmony, and with eye single to the good of the team.

Decanniere has a delivery that is similar to the movement used in hurling a hand grenade, and this baffled the enemy in every inning, except the eighth, when three hits were bunched on him for two runs. The other four hits, which came earlier in the fray, were an inning or more apart, and two of them were very measley.

RUGBY, NOT FRESHMEN RULE, CAUSE OF BREAK.

Berkeley Severs All Connection with Stanford Because State University Favors the American Game—Stroud Pulls Off Diplomatic Coup on Sly and Lines Western Colleges Against Cards.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

CALIFORNIA'S athletic break with Stanford, over the freshman rule, is claimed to be the cleverest coup in the history of western intercollegiate athletics.

For more than two years California has been preparing for war. Rugby football, not Stanford University, was and is the enemy. The wrangle over the use of freshmen for athletic purposes is but an engagement in the shrewdly-generalled campaign.

Like the Kaiser's diplomats, the secret service men of the Associated Students of the University of California covered the entire territory of the enemy. The Rugby forces were tied up and, when it came to the showdown, California held a pat hand with five aces flashing.

More than two years ago William Donald, at that time graduate manager at California, made the prediction that within five years the State university would be playing American intercollegiate football. The war was then on. For months Johnny Stroud, Donald's successor, has been planning for the break. He has been in communication with U.S.C., Oregon, Washington, Utah and Nevada and it is claimed that California now has an American football schedule framed for next fall.

BOVARD SILENT.

Warren Bovard, graduate manager at U.S.C., refused to discuss the possibilities of the action to be taken by the local university authorities following the Stanford-California ruction, and the possible adoption of intercollegiate football by California. He merely said that the U.S.C. Faculty Athletic Committee would meet some time next week to take action on the matters of import, but were at present maintaining the attitude of "watchful waiting."

Regardless of Bovard's sang-froid, U.S.C. has a dual agreement with California which has another year to run. It is claimed that California will meet U.S.C. on the gridiron here next Thanksgiving Day.

SECRET VISIT.

Stroud made a secret visit to Los Angeles last week and spent most of his time with Bovard. The California man let slip the statement, so it is claimed by local football men, that California would not change the agreement. U.S.C. is allowed to use freshmen, according to the terms; but when the present treaty expires the local university expects to be ready to adopt the freshman rule with success.

By similar dual agreements it is claimed that Stroud has also tied up with Utah, Washington, Oregon and Nevada. This makes a six-sided intercollegiate organization with California as the hub, which will rival the greatest conference bodies of the country. In the U.S.C.-California treaty there is a clause which forbids California's meeting any college team within 100 miles of the U.S.C. campus without the approval of the U.S.C. athletic manager. The agreement also bars U.S.C. from competition with any college within 100 miles of the Berkeley campus without the approval of the graduate manager.

CARDS CUT OUT.

In this way Stanford is cut off from U.S.C. and the Southern California colleges are cut out of competition with Berkeley teams in the south, unless Bovard sees fit to put his O.K. on the deal. The same clause is said to exist in each of the dual agreements, forming the six colleges into an intercollegiate athletic trust.

The claim of Stanford men is that California will be forced to give in to the demands of the Cardinal forces for financial reasons. Without Stanford as a rival California will not be able to make athletics pay, it is claimed. The California side hoots at this idea and points to the State universities lined up, as compared to the possible competition for Stanford, if she holds to the English game of Rugby.

Stanford can meet Santa Clara, St. Mary's, the Olympic Club and the Barbarians. The idea of bringing foreign Rugby teams to the Coast to meet Stanford is considered rediculous. The fast Australian teams were brought over to show how the game should be played. They did that little thing and the public wanted to know why the college boys could not put out the same brand of Rugby and figured it out that Rugby was not an American game after all.

CLAIMS EQUAL.

California claims that Stanford is of equal athletic strength. It is on this basis that the Berkeley diplomats demand the freshman rule. Southern California is not rated at equal athletic strength at present and she is given a year of grace to prepare for the anti-freshman legislation.

Coming to the Southern California situation, U.S.C. claims that Occidental and Pomona are of equal athletic strength, but that none of the Southern California colleges are ready for the freshman rule. Whittier and Redlands are rated at a lower standard of athletic strength and it is figured that both these institutions are deserving of a handicap and special consideration from the other Southern California conference colleges.

The attitude at both Occidental and Pomona is to develop athletes, but at the same time keep athletics down to normal and not let the side show get away with the main circus, using the words of President Woodrow Wilson in describing the athletic situation at Princeton.

U.S.C. SITUATION.

U.S.C., on the other hand, is a large city university and yet only a small number of the male students take part in athletics. In order to get the men out, every inducement has to be offered. Athletics are featured. The men are equipped with the best to be had in the line of sporting goods and they are coached and trained by experts.

The big meets with California are the greatest attraction for the athlete at U.S.C. and the proceeds of these meets are necessary for the expensive upkeep of the college teams. It is figured that a California-U.S.C. game on Thanksgiving Day would draw a 5000 gate, at least. The U.S.C.-freshman game, called for in the agreement, would probably draw from 2000 to 3000 on California field.

The interstate games with Oregon, Washington, Utah and Nevada would all draw from 5000 upwards to almost the attendance of the California-Stanford games, which was something like 30,000 last fall. Nevada has not adopted American football as yet, but it is claimed by local California men that the Nevada crowd will follow California and come in on the agreement.

THE COACH PROBLEM.

The California coach would be another problem, but that seems to have been solved. Jimmy Schafer's contract with the Associated Students, which organization supports athletics at the State university, has expired, but it is rumored that he will be retained in the event of the adoption of American football. Schafer was at one time a star at the American game. He later switched over to Rugby and made good as both a player and a coach, but he knows a lot of American football as well.

Schafer would probably be sent East to study under some of the greatest coaches in the country during the summer months.

WON'T PATCH.

Both Stanford and California alumni are anxious for the break to

A terrific wind tore down the stretch behind the sprinters and in the face of the runners on the back stretch so that the time in the races from the 440 up was a good deal better than the records show.

Pennsylvania Breaks World Record in Mile.

Richards Jumps Six Feet Five Inches in High.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 24.—Four new records, one a world's, another an intercollegiate and the other two collegiate, were written in the annals of track and field history this afternoon, when the flower of America's young athletes met on Franklin Field of the University of Pennsylvania in the twenty-first annual relay race carnival.

MILE RELAY BROKEN.

The University of Pennsylvania landed the high honors of the day when the one-mile relay team won the college championship in the world's record time of 3 minutes 18 seconds, one-fifth second under the previous mark held by the Irish-American Athletic Club quartette.

The former intercollegiate record for the high jump was shattered by Richards of Cornell, who cleared the bar in an exhibition trial at 6 feet 5 inches. This was one and three-fourths inches above the mark held by Moffitt of Pennsylvania.

A mighty throw of the javelin—177 feet 4⅝ inches—by John L. Phillips of Idaho University, tumbled into the discard the previous collegiate distance of 169 feet 3¼ inches, the heave having been made by Mike Dorizas, Red and Blue strong man.

PRINCETON TO FORE.

Princeton's speedy two-mile quartet set new collegiate figures—7 minutes 55 3-5 seconds—in winning the college championship relay. The time was 2 3-5 seconds under the world's best figures for the two-mile relay.

Thousands of track enthusiasts who went to Franklin Field expecting to see a repetition of the wonderful four-mile relay race run in 1914, in which Oxford University of England barely nosed out Pennsylvania, were doomed to disappointment. Cornell's quartette jogged around the cinder path and finished in front by a big margin.

MILE FEATURE.

This year it was to be the one mile event which was to send the enthusiasm of the spectators up to the explosive point. In this event were three teams, Pennsylvania, Harvard and Missouri. And it was a battle

MOTOR TRUCK IS A REAL BUSINESS INVESTMENT.

THE modern and progressive idea of cutting down costs and at the same time enlarging the scope of delivery is the sole reason for the existence of the motor truck, according to Watt Moreland, the local truck manufacturer.

"The commercial car has passed the experimental stage; it is now a bona fide investment and with reasonable care it will return handsome interest.

"The successful business man about to have his son graduate from college, presents him with a watch costing probably $150. This watch will be treasured for a lifetime, and handed from the son to his son. Treated with care it will pass into two and probably three generations.

"Another successful business man to meet the growing exigences of his business, buys himself a motor truck costing, say $2500. This truck represents the highest example of modern transportation. He hands the truck over to his driver. Does experience lead us to believe that the truck costing twenty-five times as much as the watch receives one twenty-fifth of the care given the watch.

"Why this strange reversal of personal and business judgment? What a truck does for you, what it earns for you, what it costs to operate, what its life shall be, all depend on the care you, through your operator, give it.

"All this is such plain commonsense," said Mr. Moreland, "that it should not be necessary to dwell upon it, yet truck manufacturers know that it is vitally important to drive these facts home.

"Motor trucks properly handled and cared for, are the greatest example of modern commercial wisdom. They should be an investment paying big dividends. Neglected they prove an expense.

"The time has come when only reliable manufacturers can hope to gain the public's confidence. The unscrupulous manufacturer has been forced off the market and the entire commercial car industry has taken on a new phase.

"Only the best of the high-grade trucks have survived. Twelve hundred Moreland distillate trucks have been sold in and around California. These trucks have stood the severe test of conditions under which they were sold to operate.

"A commercial car is built for certain work, it is designed to run at a certain speed, and it deserves individual study and care. The closer the study and the greater the care, the better will be the return on the investment.

"When you invest in a truck your responsibility only just begins. Your next and most important duty is to see that a duly competent driver is secured who will handle the truck as any piece of machinery should be taken care of.

"Your entire business is paced by your delivery system. A motor truck comes into your organization, not as a mere cart on which to haul your goods, but as a twentieth-century mode of transportation, whose gears mesh harmoniously with those of other modern time-saving devices, such as the telephone and the typewriter."

"The motor truck is a necessity," said Mr. Moreland. "It has proven its worth in a thousand ways and today it is being adopted by every one, progressively inclined."

CORD CARRIES MUCH WEIGHT.

CARROLL PULLS OFF A NOVEL TEST STUNT.

Suspends a Silvertown Cord Tire by a Single Strand of Cord, Seats Husky Girl in the Tire and the Cord Holds Her Without Showing Any Signs of Strain at All.

An interesting test was made by Manager Frank Carroll at the local branch of the B. F. Goodrich Company. A Silvertown Cord casing was taken from stock and suspended by a single strand of Silvertown Cord such as is used in the tires and one of the girls from the office took position in this suspended tire so that her entire weight was placed upon the cord. The cord bore this weight in a manner indicating that many pounds more could have been added without weakening the cord.

Mr. Carroll stated that the history of the Silvertown Cord tire is a most interesting one and gave it as follows: "The advent of the cord tire dates back some twenty to twenty-three years ago when the Goodrich Company first began the manufacture of the Palmer Webb. This was first a bicycle tire and later an automobile tire.

"The construction of this tire was of small cords or string laid several layers deep, frictioned together with rubber. This made the most resilient tire ever constructed but the resilience was not supported by the proper strength to make the tire thoroughly practicable, and the tire was used almost entirely as the equipment of light electric cars rather than the heavier automobiles. The Goodrich Company finally discontinued the manufacture of this tire on account of this weakness. The Palmer Webb had served the purpose, however, of proving the principle of the cord tire to be the correct one. An English manufacturer was the inventor of the present Silvertown Cord tire and the Goodrich officials, seeing that the construction as well as the principle was the proper solution of the non-fabric tire, secured the American rights for this tire at an enormous expense.

"The construction of the present Goodrich Silvertown Cord tire contains exclusive features which are thoroughly covered by patents and, of course, cannot be duplicated. The Silvertown Cord tire is made of two layers of cotton cord thoroughly impregnated with rubber and is the only tire made of this rubber impregnated cord. This feature gives the cords an enormous tensile strength while retaining the resilience of the old Palmer Webb. The Silvertown Cord tire has been so thoroughly tested out by the American motoring public that its efficiency and durability are conceded everywhere.

"Almost unbelievable mileage has been secured from these tires and the resilience is so marked that from 15 to 25 per cent. in gasoline is saved owing to the increased power and speed which the tires add to the car.

"The staples in the new tire are constructed of English steel made by a process which prevents rust or corrosion, and makes it possible for any expert tire repairman, with proper factory equipment, to repair the Goodrich Silvertown Cord tire in case any of the cords are cut by some sharp instrument, and this is another feature which the old Palmer and other so-called cord construction, does not permit.

"The Goodrich Silvertown Cord tire has a wonderfully tough tread made by the special Goodrich process and when this tread has finally worn through the stout Silvertown Cord construction permits such a perfect retread that the tire can scarcely be told from a new one and its life is greatly increased."

Good Business Is Here!

A Message from Don Lee To Motor Car Buyers

There is a steady improvement in business conditions generally.

From now on this improvement will be more pronounced on the Pacific Coast than in any other section.

We firmly believe this and will act accordingly.

Limited Number of Cars on Time Payments

Each month a limited number of Cadillac Eights and Paige Fours and Sixes will be sold on time payments.

This will enable many who intended buying in from four to six months to enjoy their car at the most beautiful season of the year.

Fair Allowance for Used Motor Cars

During the past month there has been a steady demand for used cars of the small type.

We can move a limited number each month and will accept trades.

We will give you what your car is honestly worth. AS WE SAID BEFORE "Good Business is Here" and it will get better if we all do our part.

ARMORED CARS BUSY AT FRONT.

NEWS TELLS OF ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE CARS.

One Complete Battery of Rapid-fire Guns has Been Mounted on Hupmobiles and is in Constant Use by the French Government. Description of Work Done.

The Hupp Motor Car Company is just in receipt of a letter from John L. Poole, Hupmobile export manager at Paris, in which he tells of some of the terrific conditions under which motor cars are forced to travel during war time.

Mr. Poole arrived in France shortly after the outbreak of the war. He immediately received a commission from the French government to construct a number of special armored Hupmobiles equipped to carry a fourteen-millimeter mitrailleuse battery for rapid fire work.

The success of the Hupmobiles was so great that the military authorities placed an order for a large quantity. According to Poole there are now nearly 300 Hupmobiles in use with the allied armies.

"These armored Hupmobiles," writes Poole from Paris, April 5, "are used principally for reconnoitering work. When a detachment wishes to find out just the exact position of the enemy on their front, one of the Hupmobile armored scout cars is put into commission. This car, with a complement of three men, officer in charge, gunner and driver, makes a hurried trip to the front and reports conditions.

"Again, when it is learned that the enemy has commenced an aggressive forward movement, a number of Hupmobiles are rushed out to cover the enemy's front and impede their advance until troops can be sent to the battle lines. It is in this last phase of the work that the stamina and speed of the Hupmobiles have showed to great advantage.

New Model Trucks mean certainty in motor hauling

The first complete series of silent, up-to-date chainless trucks. Seven sizes—1-ton, 1½-ton, 2-ton, 3-ton, 4-ton, 5-ton and 6-ton—a truck to exactly meet the needs of your particular business.

They stand for CERTAINTY—the one quality that counts most in motor hauling, the one quality that is the most difficult to buy.

There are plain, everyday and perfectly obvious mechanical reasons for the dollar-saving ability of these trucks, their great range of activity and their unapproached efficiency.

Begin better and cheaper hauling in your business by inspecting the Packard New Model Trucks, or if you cannot do that right away, do the next best thing, send for a catalog.

VALVE ACTION ON NEW MODEL.

RACING MEN BOOSTERS FOR THE IDEA.

Overhead Camshaft Always Results in Better and Surer Action, Say They, and Nearly All Racing Models Have this Form of Shaft Working—Racing Men Interested.

Not a few of the star members of the local racing fraternity have visited Earle C. Anthony, Inc., this week to inspect the motor of the latest Chalmers Six. The fact that this motor is of the overhead valve type, with cam shaft overhead, has made it of particular interest to the racing men, inasmuch as nearly all the builders of motors of racing type today are turning to this type of construction.

"The overhead cam shaft means better and surer valve action," declared one of the racing men who examined the new car last week. "This is because its action is directly upon the valves. Almost every racing car that has recently distinguished itself for speed and reliability has used this type of construction.

"The same positive and reliable action that has made this the dominant type of motor in racing affairs should make it just as popular in touring. For, after all, racing is merely concentrated touring, as it were, and the same qualities that the racing man appreciates will also be appreciated by the owner of a touring car."

To Ely.

"CACTUS KATE" LEAVES ON HER LOGGING TRIP.

Bound for Ely, Nev., and carrying Frank Jordan of the Automobile Club of Southern California, "Cactus Kate," Earle Anthony's big Packard stunt car, leaves Los Angeles early tomorrow morning on the logging trip preparatory to the signing of the road from this city to the Lincoln Highway.

No time is to be lost by the Auto Club in the latest task they have undertaken, and it is expected to begin immediate work on the signs themselves as soon as "Cactus Kate" returns from her eight-day trip over the road. This will mean that it will be possible to commence the work of placing the signs some time next month, so that the first of the horde of transcontinental motor tourists who are expected to make the long trek this year will find at Ely an alternate route to the Coast, signed fully as well as the main Lincoln Highway.

Careful checkings of the mileages between Ely and San Francisco via the Lincoln Highway and Ely and Los Angeles over the route that "Cactus Kate" is to follow, shows, according to Frank Jordan of the Auto Club, that the Los Angeles road is eighty-three miles shorter. These mileages will be prominently placed on a sign at the point where the Los Angeles town cords will only have to cover 556 miles to reach Ely from here, against a total mileage on the Lincoln Highway from Ely to San Francisco of 639 miles.

The first sample of the red, white and blue banded signs which it is proposed to place along the route reached the Auto Club this week. The club is considering mounting them on boiler tubing, enameled pure white, instead of the galvanized gas pipe which they used on the National Old Trails signs.

"The National Old Trails route has been signed by the club as far as Pueblo, Colo.," said Standish Mitchell, secretary of the Auto Club, yesterday. "With the placing of these signs all the way to the Lincoln Highway I believe the club will have done everything possible to encourage transcontinental motor touring to Southern California. The fame of our good roads in Southern California has gone far and wide in the East, and with well-signed roads inviting the tourists here, I am confident that thousands of motor parties will make the trip.

"Unless one has actually attempted a cross-country trip, it is impossible to appreciate what a systematic and uniform sign system means. It takes the worry and uncertainty from the trip and adds wonderfully to the motorist's peace of mind. Of course, for seven months in the year, motorists are forced to take the Los Angeles road from Ely, because of the Sierra snows blocking the remaining portion of the Lincoln Highway, but we want to make the Los Angeles route one that they will take from choice at all seasons instead of from necessity.

"The announcement of this definite plan for the signing of the Los Angeles-Ely road by the Auto Club has met with a very favorable response all along the way, and we are confident of hearty support all along the line."

The Lincoln Highway swings far to the south through Nevada, so the distance to Ely is not as great as might be imagined. "Cactus Kate's" Silver-road leaves the Lincoln Highway at Ely, and will undoubtedly have much effect in turning travel to the Los Angeles road.

REDLANDS HIGH WINS FROM COLTON.

REDLANDS, April 24.—Redlands High took a game from Colton High this afternoon by a score of 9 to 6. Colton threatened to even up the score in the ninth, but Palmer made the mistake of batting out of his turn, making the third out that retired the Hub City lads.

Patrick pitched seven innings for Redlands and with the best of support was able to hold the visitors down. He allowed seven hits that accounted for but two runs. Frost then went in and had trouble in the ninth, two errors being made behind him, two hits and he walked one man. The result was four runs in a bunch.

Raynor pitched the game for Colton. He was touched for seven hits. He was wild and gave a total of five bases on balls. Lamb, the third baseman for Redlands, by good fielding, cut off three runs at the home plate. Redlands made five runs in the fourth on two hits, Raynor being responsible for three when he gave that number a free pass.

SOUTH PASADENA BEATS COVINA, 4-3.

South Pasadena won yesterday from Covina in a twelve-inning game, by a score of 4 to 3. It was Covina's game until the ninth inning, by a 3-to-1 score, when South Pasadena filled all bases and tied the score. King pitched for Covina and Cravens for South Pasadena. Allen of South Pasadena made a home run.

A consolidation of jitney operators in Grand Rapids, Mich., is being effected. The men will issue six tickets for a quarter and universal transfers, and expect by this means to take much business away from the traction company, which charges a straight 5-cent fare.

HOW THE RAIN HURT HIGHWAYS.

DOPE ON THE ROADS AROUND THE CITY.

Road to Ventura is Pretty Muddy, but is Passable—Coast Road to San Diego Rather Sloppy Between Laguna and Las Flores—Strawberry Flat Road not up to Much.

Information received by the touring bureau of the Weinstock-Nich Company indicates that the rains have done but little damage to Southern California roads.

The Saugus-Fillmore route to Ventura, the only one open at present, is very muddy in places, but a few days of sunshine will put it in a good condition again. Just east of Fillmore is the worst muddy stretch.

Work on the grade between the Castaic del Valle has been completed and the grade has been considerably reduced. The new road at the summit is approximately eight feet lower than the old.

The coast route to San Diego is in bad shape between Laguna and Las Flores, and a few days of sunshine will put it in a fair condition again. The best route to San Diego during the early part of the week will be via Riverside, Elsinore, Fallbrook and Oceanside, and thence by State highway to San Diego, unless we have rain between now and Wednesday. The coast route should again be in shape by Thursday.

The mountain road into Pine Crest and Little Bear Lake is very good except for a bad mudhole at Strawberry Flat and some muddy stretches beyond Strawberry Flat.

The road crew is at work in Waterman Canyon and will be kept busy for some time. San Bernardino county prides itself in the upkeep of this road and it is probably the finest mountain road in the country.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Efforts to bring about baseball peace were halted today because of the absence of two of the leading persons involved in the reported negotiations. President Tener of the National League, who was expected here, went to Philadelphia instead and Phillip Ball, principal owner of the St. Louis Federals, returned to his home.

One of the beautiful Southern California scenes within a short ride from Los Angeles. Below the [illegible] front of one of the new Municipal warehouses at San Pedro.

Great.

POINT FIRMIN DRIVE PRETTY.

ONE OF MANY AROUND IN THE VICINITY.

Los Angeles is Favored by Being the Hub of a Wonderful Series of Roads Which Stretch in All Directions and Give a Fine Chance for Motorists to See the Country.

Los Angeles county's network of good roads and the improved boulevards of Ventura, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties offer the most remarkable touring ground for motorists in the country, declares L. V. Starr, manager of the Los Angeles branch of the J. W. Leavitt Company, coast distributors for the Overland car.

There is no reason, adds Mr. Starr, why the owner of an automobile cannot make a different one day or half-day tour every Sunday. It would take many weeks to cover all the good roads within easy touring radius of Los Angeles.

To aid Overland owners in choosing good pleasure trips, Mr. Starr is always ready to advise as to road conditions and scenic beauties of the Southern California boulevards, and in order to do this is keeping in close touch with the road improvements now under way.

Los Angeles county was the pioneer good roads county of the State, and her automobile highways always have been kept in excellent condition. This year, however, not only the main traveled routes, but the out of the way roads are receiving much attention.

Often the motorist desires a half-day drive for a Sunday afternoon trip which will provide some unusual scenic features. One of the finest of these is the drive over the Harbor boulevard to San Pedro and from there to Point Firmin. Two routes of return offer themselves. One may continue over a good dirt road high on the cliffs, past White's Point and Portuguese Bend to Redondo, or return to Wilmington and drive to Redondo via the boulevard. The scenic attractions on the former, with the breakers foaming a hundred feet below the road and the channel islands across the white-capped waters, the green slopes of Palos Verdes above and the ships, kept company by gulls wending their silent way up and down the Coast, more than atone for the rather poor road.

COMPLAINTS ON ROAD PROGRESS.

CONEJO GRADE STOPS PASSAGE OF MACHINES.

Only Road Open to Santa Barbara is that by Way of Saugus, Which is Very Long—A Single Strip 3500 Feet Long Stops the Opening of the State Highway.

Manager C. A. Jessup of the Los Angeles branch of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company early last week toured to Ventura and Santa Barbara to study market conditions in this section of his territory, in preparation for placing his heavy order for Kelly-Springfield tires.

He found dealers confident of even better business than has prevailed there all season and came home with orders in his pocket for carload shipments to each city.

The road conditions between Los Angeles and Santa Barbara are good, but the only route open, that via Saugus, is a long one, and motorists are complaining over the delay in opening the new State Highway route via the Conejo grade.

The State Highway route is being held up by the paving of a 3500-foot section on the north slope of the Conejo grade, while a bridge out at Saticoy closes the Chatsworth route.

DEALERS USUALLY HAVE VERY LARGE TERRITORY.

IN THE development of their outside territory, Los Angeles motor vehicle distributors are finding their increased business. It is generally conceded that owing to the large number of machines of all kinds in use, the city no longer represents the field it did a few years ago. The proportion of one automobile to every ten of the population is said to be so unusually large that fewer city sales is a natural sequence.

Practically all the important dealers in Los Angeles are distributors for their lines. Some of them have the whole of Southern California, others California and Arizona and a few Southern California, Arizona, Northern Mexico and Nevada. The use of the automobile is growing constantly in the outlying districts and it is due to this fact and their large territory that local distributors are showing their leadership over any other section of the United States.

The truck business is conducted along similar lines to pleasure car affairs. The Mack Motor Truck Company, one of the leading exclusive truck firms, embraces within its territory Nevada, Southern California and Arizona. Manager J. A. Stoner says it keeps him busy attending to his affairs with his sub agents. The company distribute the Mack, Saurer and Republic trucks, three prominent lines.

Each of these trucks represents a distinct selling field or type of construction, Mr. Stoner says. The Saurer is regarded universally as one of the best heavy duty trucks made. It is the giant of the company's line. They are made to carry as much as ten tons. The company has some of these trucks in service under the severest conditions and it is said they never fail to make good.

The Mack is another high-class truck made in the usual capacities. It has distinctive construction features such as a gear-shifting device, which is said to be impossible to strip. A new model equipped with a worm drive will be announced soon.

The Republic is the company's latest addition. Its lighter model is featured by the internal gear transmission, which is making it a favorite, according to Mr. Stoner, who returned Thursday after spending several days in San Diego. He says he brought back the orders for two Republics and one Mack truck.

The eleventh annual automobile outing for the New York orphans will be held June 2. It is the intention of the Orphans' Automobile Day Association to take 5000 on this year's outing.

BIG GUNS OF PREMIER FACTORY ARE OUT HERE.

FRANK E. SMITH, head of the Premier Motor Manufacturing Company of Indianapolis, and Walter Bieling, sales manager, are spending a few days in Los Angeles in a round-the-circle swing of the principal Premier agents.

"I have seen a great deal of California in the last few days," says Mr. Smith, "and having been out almost constantly in a car since being here, I can now readily appreciate the reasons for our factory sales manager depending upon California as a steady all-the-year-round customer for cars.

"The coming season is going to be a hummer. Our sales barometer spells two shifts at the factory for some time to come. We have more orders on hand right now than ever before in the history of the Premier company. This is due to an appreciable tendency of good coming business conditions—to our greatly increased facilities in Indianapolis—and the fact that we have just commenced delivery on the best model car we have ever manufactured.

"We have worked diligently to bring out an up-to-the-minute automobile, which should be second to none on the market, and have, I think, succeeded. By concentrating on one chassis model, we have been enabled to put the price down and the addition of several hundred dollars real value to the car, together with lowering in price, has resulted in our being swamped with business. Mr. Bieling and myself will take in the two fairs before we return to Indianapolis to make preliminary arrangements for the reception of the two Premier tours which will start from the East early in August. The success of the 1912 Premier tour together with the national interest in California this summer, due to the two great expositions, has stirred the 'wanderlust' in the bosoms of many Premier owners with the result that the 1912 coast-to-coast reliability record will be equalled by many enthusiastic owners of the new 1916 Premier."

Great Stuff.

CUT IN TIRE PRICES IS LAST WORD IN ECONOMY.

WHEN tire manufacturers announced a big reduction in consumers' prices recently they drove the last nail in the coffin of the bugaboo of motordom cost of upkeep, according to F. W. Suhr of the truck tire department of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, who is now in the city.

The tendency of the motor car manufacturers is toward standardization, Mr. Suhr stated. There are enormous plants engaged in making parts for cars of various names. Other factories are turning out motors, radiators, axles, bodies, wheels, bearings and delicate instruments such as magnetoes, speedometers and lighting devices as separate items of production.

This has resulted in parts of several cars being interchangeable, and with specialized production has come a reduction in the expense of replacement in case of accident. Gasoline, oil—fuel and lubricating, have been reduced until they no longer represent much of an outlay to the motorist. Lately, the Firestone and other prominent tire companies established a consumers' price for tires, which had remained the chief item of expense. The old lists were disregarded, a new formulated, and now the operation of an automobile is for less than it ever was.

With prices lower than ever the tire companies are in stringent competition. "In order that the Firestone people may increase their business we are devoting our efforts to the perfection of a service department," Mr. Suhr said. "In my particular department—truck tires, we have established service stations all over the country. Our men work day and night. If a truck owner notifies us about 4 o'clock in the afternoon he would like to have a tire or two changed, but must have his truck out again by 7 o'clock the next morning, we are prepared to accommodate him.

"This attitude upon the part of the Firestone company met with remarkable results during our last fiscal year. We increased our truck tire business 150 per cent. and expect to do even better than that the current year.

"There are now about 75,000 trucks in operation in the United States and all of them require tires. Wooden blocks and other substitutes for rubber have not proved very satisfactory, although some of them may make a favorable showing. I understand that, according to population, truck representation is greater here than in any other city. Our local branch is able to keep pretty close tab on things and we know that Firestone is getting a large share of this business.

"The channel type of truck tires was originated by the Firestone company. We have been eminently successful as evidenced by the fact that other manufacturers are attempting to construct tires to conform to our design. We feel we are making good things when others try to duplicate our products."

W SELLING PLAN IS A BIG BOOST TO BUSINESS.

"The first few days of the new plan proved the wisdom of the method and sales have mounted so rapidly that there has been the greatest difficulty in filling orders. Two large additions to the factory in San Diego are being rushed to completion, and the men are working twenty hours a day in an effort to keep up with the sales force.

"When you consider that only two months has elapsed since the new plan went into effect, the results are simply marvelous. Much of the success of the new method of selling can be attributed to advertising in the daily papers. Our advertising agents have put the story before the motor public in such an enthusiastic yet sane and convincing manner, that the sales have simply poured in. In fact, we may have to let up on the advertising a little until the factory catches up."

Electric horn, demountable rim and tire irons are furnished.

Power is combined with economy in the motor, which is a Continental. The small high-speed motor gives unusual flexibility and power, yet the light weight and good balance make it exceptionally economical to operate.

Its many appointments assist in making the Saxon six a distinctive automobile. The body is full streamline, very graceful and pleasing to the eye. The wide doors are flush-fitting with concealed hinges. The bonnet tapers gracefully to the high, well-shaped radiator.

Riding comfort and steadiness are provided by vanadium steel springs of the modern cantilever type, such as are found elsewhere only on cars of much higher price. The cantilever is becoming recognized as the best spring suspension known.

The Saxon dry plate clutch is of the same design as on many other quality cars. The front axle is an I-beam forging; the rear axle is three-quarter floating type with full Hyatt bearing equipment throughout.

Cooling is thermo-syphon, with cellular-type radiator and fan. The water jacket is unusually large. The oiling system is splash with pump circulation to the main bearings. The steering wheel is on the left-hand side. The transmission is selective, three speeds forward and reverse. Gears and shaft are of special alloy steel.

John De Palma, a brother of the road-racing champion, will have a mount in the 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Speedway.

What's In a Name?

What does a name on an automobile mean to you?
What does it stand for?
What does it represent?

Do you believe in a car simply because it is stamped with a certain name, or because that name represents fixed ideals, or certain policies or particular methods, or a unique plan of construction.

What does the name Apperson mean to you?

Do you not immediately associate it with the pioneering days of the automobile industry?

Does it not recall to you the achievements of Elmer and Edgar Apperson?

Does the name not bring to your mind the fact that these men "blazed the way" and that they have been leaders in automobile progress since the foundation of the industry?

Do you know that these men built the first successful American gasoline automobile—the first double opposed motor—the first side door motor car—the first car with a float feed carburetor—the first car with electric ignition—the car that won the first speed contest?

Apperson Brothers have been actively engaged in the automobile business for twenty-two years.

And the name always has stood for honest motor car construction.

The Apperson name has never appeared on an inferior motor car.

They have never built a car to sell at a certain price.

Elmer and Edgar Apperson will never do it.

They say it isn't the safest way to build good automobiles—it does not mean lasting satisfaction to the owner.

And the conservative buyer doesn't want that sort of an automobile, anyway.

You don't buy the cheapest suit of clothes, do you?

You don't build the cheapest house?

You don't buy the cheapest piano?

And in the same light of reasoning, the Apperson is offered to the discriminating buyer because it represents a true mechanical basis. And with it is incorporated safety, grace, beauty, refinement, convenience and economy.

And sold at a price consistent with the quality of the car.

We have a right to say all this because—we know the high order of material used and the method of construction employed.

Apperson cars are made in our shops.

Every unit of any importance is made there. We make the motor, clutch, transmission, front and rear axle and many other things.

The Apperson is one of the safest cars to buy—and you should investigate the various models if you are interested in automobiles.

Your investigation will lead to your purchase; of this we are sure. See today the Model you contemplate buying.

CAR OF THE AMERICAN FAMILY

Ask the Woman Who Drives

One woman who drives a Hupmobile, spoke for all others when she said:—

"I feel when I am driving the Hupmobile, as though I were a part of the car—or as though it were a part of me."

She meant, of course, that the Hupmobile responded immediately to every impulse or direction she gave it.

She meant that it is always as easily and completely under her control as her own movements.

She meant that she always feels safe and sure and secure, because she always knows exactly what the Hupmobile will do under any and all circumstances.

A woman knows, for instance, that the Hupmobile motor will not stall—and because it can not, therefore it's safest.

She knows the turning radius of the Hupmobile is remarkably small for a car of its length. That makes it easy to handle.

With a wheelbase of 119 inches, the Hupmobile will circle in a 40-foot street.

The motor is so flexible that she gets along with a minimum of gear shifting.

The steering is so easy that a child can guide the car almost without effort.

The driving seat is made with a scientific regard for her comfort—with a high, restful back, and the seat cushion tilted at precisely the right angle.

She gives no thought to emergencies which might require repairs, because she knows that repairs are so few and far between that they can safely be forgotten.

The Hupmobile is always a source of pleasure to the woman who drives—or the woman who rides.

That's why in every Hupmobile home there's a woman who is a Hupmobile enthusiast.

Let us give the Hupmobile merit-test at your convenience.

FAIR BOOSTERS FOR THE DETROIT.

SOCIETY GIRLS THINK THEIR CARS ARE BEST ON THE MARKET.

Mrs. Gladys Vogel and Miss Cora Lee Wupperman, both own Detroit Electrics. Both of these young women are very enthusiastic boosters—both having had Detroit cars previous to their new 1915 models.

Miss Wupperman says she enjoys her Detroit car because it responds to her slightest wish. "You start instantly at the touch of a lever. You stop with equal ease. You travel as slowly as you wish, or as fast as you should. You can whirl along on the driveway, or thread your way in and out through the crowded downtown streets, surely and safely."

Miss Wupperman is the daughter of Mrs. Liulu E. Steinhauer of Hollywood and was attending school in Germany when the war broke out and since her return home has been very extensively entertained by the younger set of Los Angeles and Hollywood.

OWNERS SHOULD KEEP EYES OPEN.

INNER TUBES NEED GOOD DEAL OF CARE.

Tom Wilkenson Gives Some First-class Hints to New Drivers on How to Take Proper Care of the Spare Tires Which are Carried About on the Car.

The average motorist is very careful of the big things about his car. He sees to it that the radiator is kept filled, that there always is enough oil in the reservoir and that all moving parts are kept thoroughly greased, but he does not take the same sort of care of his tires and inner tubes.

Proper protection of the spare inner tubes is one feature which should receive the most careful attention, declares Manager Tom Wilkenson of the Los Angeles branch of the United States Rubber Company, makers of United States tires.

A special compartment beneath the rear seat cushion should be provided for the spare innner tubes, and the tubes should be carefully wrapped and tied before being put there. They should always be segregated from tools and other articles which are likely to rub and chafe against them.

When it is impossible to provide a special place for them, they should be carefully wrapped in a canvass or oil-proof bag and so placed that heavy tools cannot get on top of them.

Protection from oil and dirt are two of the most important items in the care of inner tubes as these are two of the worst destroying agents which attack rubber.

EIGHT CYLINDERS GET SAN DIEGO AGITATE

Business conditions are very healthy in San Diego, reports Clarence English of the English Motor Car Company, Southern California distributors of the King line, which includes the King four and the famous King eight. Especially is this true of the automobile industry there, and Mr. English, after a close investigation of the conditions, was free to predict that more cars would be sold there this season than ever before.

The King eight has been accorded a very encouraging reception by San Diego motorists. The eight-cylinder idea has gotten a hold on the people of this enterprising city, and naturally they are anxious to ride in and investigate the King, which is the first popular-priced eight to be placed on the market.

The demonstrator has been kept busy ever since it arrived, and in many cases so many demonstrations have been booked for a given day that it has been necessary to limit them to half an hour. While in San Diego Mr. English took personal charge of the demonstrating work and put the car through some [illegible] that astonished the natives.

The demonstrator has not yet [illegible] in low gear since it went to the [illegible] The car always is started on [illegible] most of the hill work is done [illegible] gear also. The distributors [illegible] yet found a hill which would [illegible] out of the intermediate.

Looking Us Over.

BIG STUDEBAKER BOSS IS HERE IN THE

Vice-President E. R. Benson of the Studebaker Corporation, one of the biggest figures of the automobile industry, is in Los Angeles. He arrived from San Francisco Friday afternoon on his annual tour of inspection, and met all Southern California Studebaker dealers at the Studebaker branch salesrooms yesterday morning.

Every year Mr. Benson comes to the Coast in the spring, visiting the Studebaker branches and dealers throughout the West while on the journey. He has become more and more enthusiastic as he moved westward, and upon his arrival here freely predicted the best season for the Coast the automobile industry has ever known. He believes the general condition of business throughout the country, and especially on the Pacific Coast, indicates a new era of prosperity which will mean much to the automobile industry and its allied firms.

Of course, it is the business of the high officials of any automobile plant to be enthusiastic about business conditions, but Mr. Benson's sincerity is apparent in everything he says, and he backs his statement with sound business facts.

"The fact that last [illegible] best month Studebaker [illegible] proof sufficient of the [illegible] perity of the country," [illegible]

"Naturally we are [illegible] the sales in the United [illegible] indicate that the country [illegible] healthy condition [illegible] tablishment of the [illegible] courageous facing of the [illegible] situation, the high [illegible] stuffs and the [illegible] business must go on as [illegible] tended toward a [illegible] commercial world. I [illegible] country is counting on [illegible] $200,000,000 that formerly [illegible] spent in Europe every [illegible] tremendous sum will [illegible] slack summer.

Information.

DOPE ON ROADS INTO THE SLOPES OF THE SIERRA

All roads into the southern slopes of the High Sierras are open, according to reports received by Don Lee's Los Angeles branch from the northern houses. The Cadillac and Paige distributing points have kept in close touch with road conditions throughout their district and report that eastern tourists will find touring possible into the Yosemite, Calaveras big tree grove and to the snow line above Placerville.

The road into Lake Tahoe is still closed, as there is eight feet of snow at the summit and more than that between the summit and Myers station, while the roads in the vicinity of the lake are under water.

It is possible to penetrate into the Sierras from the eastern side as far as Bishop. Beyond that the roads are in wretched condition on the east of the mountain route and will not be open until June 1.

The best route from San Francisco into the Calaveras big tree grove is via Livermore, Altamont Pass, Tracy, Stockton, Farmington and thence over a twenty-eight mile road to Milton. From Milton the first road to the right is taken into Angels' Camp. From Angels' there is but one road to Big Trees.

Both the Coulterville and Wawona routes are open into the Yosemite, but the Wawona route is advisable. There is still a great deal of snow in the valley, and this probably will not be entirely cleared away for two weeks yet.

Within the next week it will be possible to tour from Sacramento to the Oregon line. The road already is in good shape to Red Bluff and Redding. From Redding the road is open as far as Dunsmuir, but is very muddy and not advisable. The roads in Siskiyou county are not yet passable, and will require several days of good sunshine to bring [illegible] condition for travel.

Of the Southern California [illegible] roads only the route [illegible] Valley remains closed, [illegible] Cadillac distributors. ALSH IS CONFIDENT THAT ARM IS GOOD.

He is Able to Grasp Pill Firmly and Put Plenty Stuff on It — Will Leave Here May 1 to Join the White Sox — Tells How He Mastered Spitter After Learning it from Stricklett.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

WALSH has two blisters. One of these is located on the first base of his pitching hand, and other on the second finger of instrument.

rule, blisters are not necessarily significant. But in this case are. They signify that Ed can grip the ball hard enough and it hard enough to create blisters. This is something which he has been unable to do until now, during past two years.

Walsh has been performing wonders in his work-outs. He has cut loose in his oldtime form, and as far as can be observed from his work in practice, has seventy-five per cent or more of his old stuff.

How he will fare when he stacks up against the batters for which the American League is famous remains for the all-important tacking up process to demonstrate. But just now, he and his friends are very hopeful.

SPITTER NOT BLAMED.

Walsh does not attribute his troubles of the past couple of years to the spitball. He says that it works no greater hardship on the wrist, elbow and shoulder than the dry style of pitching. Ed stoutly maintains that his trouble was not due to throwing the spitball, or to any shortage of stuff. He figures that he simply had a ligament out of place, and that is all there is to it. This ligament, he is convinced, has now been restored to its rightful position, and he asks the public simply to sit tight and watch results. Walsh will leave here on May Day, and will be in harness three days later, provided the locomotive does not slip a cog.

NO CLAIMS.

Walsh is not making any extravagant claims. He is simply confident. And unlike the general run of veteran spitballers, he does not claim to have been the "Christopher Columbus of the spitball." He freely admits that he learned it from another. Walsh contracted the spitball from Elmer Stricklett, generally credited with being the inventor of it, but he wasn't. Stricklett learned it from a man by the name of McCormick in the old Eastern League, progenitor of the present International League. Considering the fact that he became the king of the spitballers, Ed doesn't worry about who invented it. He so far outclassed all others using the slobber slant that there is nothing to it, and this includes Russell Ford, who masqueraded as a spitball pitcher for a number of years when in reality he was depending on the emery maneuver for success.

Walsh yesterday related the manner in which the spitball was unexpectedly injected into his career.

DENIAL.

"Some have credited me with being the discoverer of the spitball," said Walsh, "but nothing could be further from the truth. I copied it, and tried to improve on it. When I first reported to the White Sox they were doing their spring training at Marlin Springs, Tex., a place which has since been dedicated to the New York Giants. Elmer Stricklett also was in the camp. Stricklett confided in me that he had something new in the way of a new fooler. He advised me to watch Stricklett and observe his mysterious slant. Stricklett and I had been chumming, and I did not hesitate to attend his school. I made free to discuss the slant with him. Stricklett was instructing the spitter to major league batters. He showed me how it was done and I started into master it. I had developed the spitter to a fair degree of effectiveness while training that spring, but not until 1904 did I use it in a major league game. Then it was a case of wetting the ball, or being walloped out of all resemblance to myself. This was against the Naps. The Naps were hammering me to all angles of the garden. This goaded me into taking a chance with the spitter, and with its help, I succeeded in restoring calm."

MISTAKE.

The spitter is generally regarded as being severe on the arm. Walsh says this is a mistake. According to his way of thinking, it entails no more strain on the arm to spit on the ball before throwing it than to throw it without spitting. That certainly sounds reasonable. At least, it is difficult for the uninitiated to discover anything like a direct connection between the salivatory glands and the biceps.

"I regard the spitball less trying on the arm than the common or garden variety of curve," said Walsh. "It does not impose the same violent twisting effort on the wing as the dry and unirrigated curve."

RED RETURNS TO PHILADELHIA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, April 24.—The Brooklyn Federal League club announced today that Milton Reed had been returned to the Philadelphia National League. This action was taken in accordance with the policy which took players from the local Federal League club where it is found that other baseball organizations have a prior right to their services.

GOOD BRAKES WORTH WHILE.

ARE MUCH CHEAPER THAN ANY KIND OF FUNERAL EXPENSES.

"The Thermoid Rubber Company" of Trenton, N. J., manufacturers of "Thermoid Brake Lining," have spent in the last few years about one million dollars trying to impress upon the automobile public the importance of good brakes—and yet one scarcely picks up a paper that he does not read of some terrible accident.

Whether a man has or has not the right to sacrifice his own life may be questioned, but there is no doubt about one thing, no man has the right to take out his family or friends unless he knows of his ability to control his car, and no man knows this unless he knows of the condition of his brakes; and no brake amounts to much if the brake lining is not 100 per cent. dependable. A good brake lining is cheaper than a good funeral.

FISHER OF THE CUBS LEADS ALL NATIONAL HITTERS.

Zimmerman of Dodgers is Slugging .500, Ty Cobb .480, Crawford .467 and Veach .464—Snodgrass and Maisel are Best Base Stealers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, April 24.—Bob Fisher, Chicago, with thirteen hits in the first seven games of the season, leads the batters of the National League with a percentage of .500, according to averages compiled here today. The next nine batters are Zimmerman, Brooklyn, .500; Groh, Cincinnati, .450; Cravath, Philadelphia, .429; Doyle, New York, .407; Smith, Boston, .393; Luderus, Philadelphia, .389; Clarke, Cincinnati, .375; Connolly, Boston, .375; Saier, Chicago, .370.

Snodgrass, New York, with five leads in stolen bases.

Another Chicagoan, Jacques Fournier, is setting the pace in the American League. He has been up ten times and made five hits for an average of .500. Next come Cobb, Detroit, .480; Crawford, Detroit, .467; Veach, Detroit, .464; Strunk, Philadelphia, .428; C. Walker, St. Louis, .391; Jackson, Cleveland, .357; Oldring, Philadelphia, .357; E. Walker, St. Louis, .357; Janvrin, Boston, .357.

Maisel, New York, and John Collins, Chicago, lead the base stealers with five each.

In the Federal League, Cooper, Brooklyn, and Rariden, Newark, are leading the batters with .500 each. Magee and Kauff, Brooklyn, are tied for the stolen base record with seven apiece.

SHORTSTOP OUT FOR TWO WEEKS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, April 24.—James Smith, shortstop for the Chicago Federal League club, spiked by Gilmore of Kansas City yesterday, will be out of the game for two weeks, according to an announcement made today by physicians. Tinker will play short in Smith's absence.

Records Fall.

from the sound of the gun until Meredith broke the tape at the finish.

The most spectacular feature of the afternoon was the finish of the two-mile championship relay. This race was a struggle between Princeton, Chicago and Yale pretty much all the way. In the final relay, McKenzie was running for the Tigers, Campbell for Illinois institution and Poucher for the Eli's.

M'KENZIE FALLS.

When they turned into the stretch, the Yale runner was in the lead. McKenzie put every pound of energy in his body into the sprint and forged to the front with the Chicago runner at his heels. The Tiger appeared certain to win, although pushed hard by Campbell. But McKenzie was almost exhausted and just as he reached the tape, with the western runner by his side, he plunged headlong across the finish line.

DREW, KELLY EASY.

On such a splendid day and with the performances in almost all the events either record-breaking or unusually good, it was expected that the sprints and hurdles would provide something to talk about. It was not to be so.

Drew, the world's champion 100-yard man, and Kelly, the Olympic champion and world's record holder in the 120-yard hurdles, both representing Southern California University, walked away with the events.

True enough, both men were pushed, but not hard enough to do their favorite stunts in record time. Drew is said to have pulled a tendon in his leg prior to the race and had it bandaged. He limped slightly when he walked, but when he started down the lane, in the trial heat, the semi-final and the final, he was the same wonder that he always has been. He won the final in 10 seconds, with Smith of Michigan nearest to him at the tape.

SKATERS PLAN TO HOLD RODEO.

Announcement of a nine-day Fiesta and Rodeo on skates, to run concurrently from May 1 to May 9, with the 1915 Rodeo and Fiesta, which the 1915 General Committee of Los Angeles county is staging, was made by the Contest Committee of the Roller Skaters' Association of Southern California yesterday. The affair will be held at the Broadway Rink, and expert skaters from all over California will be invited to participate.

The "movie impersonation contests" during the week at the Broadway Rink were much enjoyed by local skaters, the well-known screen characters being mimicked and burlesqued by the roller artists.

Sales of the Seven-Passenger Chandler Are Establishing New Record

CHANDLER SIX $1295

The Pioneer Light-Weight Six

We are showing the New Seasons seven-passenger Chandler to many enthusiastic callers ever day. Without exception, everyone is delighted with the car, and orders insure by long odds the most successful season this famous pioneer of light sixes has ever had.

The factory has greatly increased its production, and our allotment is liberal, but you will do well to place your order at once to be sure of prompt delivery.

The luxurious new body is a genuine seven-passenger body. No cramping, no crowding. When not in use the two auxiliary seats fold away neatly entirely out of sight in the floor and the back of the front seat, leaving the tonneau free from any marring obstruction and converting the car into an extremely roomy five-passenger carriage.

Not long ago a car of such beauty and size and convenience immediately brought to mind the thought of high price. Rich men were paying four and five thousand dollars for cars of such comfort only a couple of years ago. Yet today you can buy this car for $1295. Only a couple of years ago, too, such a price would have been sensational for a small, good four-cylinder car. And here, today, for this price you get the leader of speedy, powerful, flexible, light-weight sixes.

A great many people who really wanted and needed seven-passenger cars have done without them because of excessive weight and expensive maintenance. This obstacle has been overcome now. For the new seven-passenger Chandler completely equipped is still under the 3000 pound mark.

Such a car seems quite impossible for $1295. But the Chandler has always offered seemingly impossible value for its price. It has brought the highest grade six-cylinder construction within reach of the average purse, and the conservative purse.

No Other Car at Less Than $2000 Possesses All These High-Grade Features

The exclusive Chandler motor, of Chandler design and built in the Chandler factory. A powerful, quiet, economical, beautifully finished motor any man may well be proud of.

CLASSY NEW FIAT CAR TO BE DELIVERED HERE.

ONE of the handsomest limousines ever produced by the exclusive body works of the Fiat company at Poughkeepsie will be delivered through the Carlton-Faulkner-Bowles Company to Col. John Lambert, millionaire steel man and president of the American Steel and Wire Company, May 1.

Mr. Lambert ordered this $7000 limousine several months ago, specifying several features not found in any other car of its type, and Mr. Faulkner of the local Fiat-Jeffery-McFarlan agency personally superintended the drawing of the plans and the preparation of the specifications during his midwinter trip to the Fiat factory. Last week he was advised that the limousine had been shipped to California and would arrive here in time to be delivered to its owner on May 1.

The fittings include not only the usual dome and Pullman lights, but convenience of the passengers at step lights and pillar lights for the night. Two handsome cut-glass and silver flower vases are among the furnishings. A compartment filled with ivory-mounted toilet articles for milady and ebony and silver for the gentleman, a cigar and cigarette case, an electric cigar lighter and many other conveniences are included.

The mirrors are of the finest quality French plate glass. The upholstery is of a new color, composed especially for Col. Lambert's car. Altogether it is the finest limousine job the Fiat factory has ever turned out.

Mr. Faulkner reports the sale of one car for every business day so far this month. Fourteen Jeffery cars, six Fiats and one McFarlan have been delivered.

Interest in the new light four Jeffery is keen, and Mr. Faulkner is unable to hold any but the demonstrator on the floor. Shipments are coming to the Coast as rapidly as possible, however, to take care of the immense demand for this new Jeffery.

One of the finest features of the car is that it is provided with a four speed gear box, something that is seldom found in cars selling for less than $3000. This new Jeffery introduces for the first time a high efficiency, high speed, European type motor in a moderate-priced car.

In a Hurry.

BENTEL GOES EAST TO SPEED HIS SHIPMENTS.

THE demand for the new Mercer 22-70 models on the Pacific Coast has been so insistent that George Bentel of the Pacific Coast Mercer-Simplex agency left yesterday for the East, where he will visit the Mercer and Simplex factories in an effort to hurry deliveries on additional cars.

Mr. Bentel appreciated that the call for the new Mercers would be heavy, but he did not anticipate such an unusual demand. Fifty Mercers of various body types are necessary to fill the orders for delivery within the next two months, and Mr. Bentel, while at the factory, will make every effort to secure deliveries on this number. Twenty-five additional cars will be secured, if the factory production will permit it.

The new Mercer cars have been a sensation wherever they are exhibited. The radically different body and motor construction which is introduced this year has created no end of comment, and the performances of the car in competion and on the road have brought it into instant favor with motorists. The new type windshield, with its decided slope backward, which sends the air currents and dust far above the heads of the passengers, is only one of the many attractive refinements of the new car.

Mr. Bentel will go from the Mercer to the Simplex plant to secure delivery promises on Simplex cars for the Coast and also to examine the four limousine bodies which are being built to special California orders.

Activities will continue at a strenuous pace in the Bentel-Mackey company's big body plant during his absence. The top department is making a specialty of one-man tops for old cars and is having an immense run on them. These tops bring an old chassis and body right up to the minute in equipment.

For some of the older bodies mounted on good chassis foredoors are being built. Many owners have cars like the Cadillac, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, Jackson and other long-life types which they would not exchange for new cars, and they are equipping them with electric lights, foredoors and one-man tops, giving them the appearance of down-to-date cars.

INNER TUBES OUTLAST CASINGS THESE DAYS.

"WE HAVE succeeded in building an inner tube which outlasts any tire, four tubes outwearing five casings, on the average," says Eddie Lingenfelder, local manager of the automobile tire department of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. "Our tubes are laminated, that is, they are built up layer on layer. First, we roll the rubber into thin sheets so that any flaws can be readily seen, and faulty sheets discarded. These sheets are wrapped together and vlucanized into one solid rubber tube. Tubes built of one piece of rubber often contain flaws which are not detected.

"Another reason why our tubes wear so long is our practice of making the valve patch an integral part of the tube. Our valve patch is not stuck on as is the case in many tubes, but is a part of the tube itself. This makes is leakproof.

"This year we are making our tubes thicker, averaging 14 per cent. heavier than before. The increased weight is all in pure rubber and greatly strengthens the tube. Yet notwithstanding this added thickness, we have lowered our price 20 per cent., which makes the Goodyear laminated tube cost about the same as others.

"Our enormous production enables us to do this. The increase in Goodyear tube sales last year was about 31 per cent., and it is our policy to give every saving possible to users.

"Our tubes are gray in color, which is the natural rubber color. Any other color indicates that mineral adulterants have been used, and the life of the tube necessarily shortened.

"We have found that car owners using our innner tubes with other makes of tires are often converted to the use of our Goodyear fortified tires through the splendid performance of the laminated tubes. Automobilists who are buying more tubes than tires can easily obviate this condition by using Goodyear laminated tubes."

World's Longest Contest.

NEXT PHOENIX RACE TO BE A FIVE DAYS' DASH.

THE 1915 Phoenix road race will be a five-day desert dash for a $20,000 purse, if the plans of enthusiastic Los Angeles automobile men and sportsmen carry through. It is the intention of the desert race voteries to combine the Los Angeles to Phoenix and the El Paso to Phoenix races.

A meeting of all those interested in the "Desert Classic" is scheduled for next Monday night at No. 1212 South Olive street. At this meeting the Phoenix Road Racing Association is to be organized and committees appointed to work out the preliminary problems of the great race.

It is claimed that $5000 can be raised between Los Angeles and Phoenix and another $5000 between the Arizona capital and El Paso. With 100 men in Los Angeles each pledging $100 to the purse fund, it is a project that appears promising on paper.

The proposed route is over the National Old Trails route, or the Santa Fe-Grand Canyon-Needles National highway to Ash Fork Junction, then south through Prescott to Phoenix and over the Borderland route through Tucson, Tombstone, Bisbee, Douglas, Lordsburg and Deming to El Paso, Tex. There are to be four night controls at Needles, Prescott, Phoenix and Tucson.

This proposed course would measure approximately 1200 miles. The distance from Los Angeles to Phoenix over the northern route, the course of the "Desert Classic" in 1914, is 671 miles and it is practically 525 miles from Phoenix to El Paso over the Borderland route. This would be the longest automobile race ever held and would come under the head of a semi-transcontinental event.

It is also proposed to hold the race at an earlier date than formerly. The first week in November has always been the time set for the "Desert Classic" but the supporters of the event claim that it should be moved up three weeks or a month. This would emilinate the possibilities of rain interfering with the race to a great extent, and not crowd too close upon the Corona classic, Thanksgiving Day, or if that race is not held in 1915, the Thanksgiving Day race on some other Southern California course. The Phoenix race would also be held at a time when it would not work a hardship on the management of the proposed San Francisco race for a $50,000 purse.

There is to be a change in the entry fee system, according to the plans for the coming desert race. Instead of the usual $250 entry fee, no charge will be made for participation in the race. A fee of $100 is to be collected with each entry as a guarantee of appearance and the money is to be refunded to each starter who reaches the first night control.

The association is to be divided up into several committees under experienced automobile men, who will manage the affairs of the race at the Los Angeles end. Representatives are to be appointed all along the route who will handle the affairs of the classic in each locality. The aid of the highway associations is to be solicited and the "Desert Classic" is to be made the greatest race of its kind ever held, with a real purse.

The race is to retain the name of the Phoenix road race; but it is to be a touring boosting event rather than a sporting event, although all the sportsmanship of the speed game will enter into the contest.

When the Phoenix race was first promoted, it was purely a sporting proposition. There was no prize. The cars were entered by sportsmen and the winner hardly made enough to pay his expenses; but conditions have changed. There must be a real purse for a real race now.

Many former Phoenix race entrants and contestants are interested in the project and with the support of the automobile fraternity of Los Angeles, the affair promises to be a great success in 1915, attracting the eastern manufacturers and the greatest drivers in the country who are anxious to win from Barney Oldfield the title of master driver of the world which goes with first money in the "Desert Classic."

The $20,000 purse is to be cut eight ways. The winner is to receive $8000, according to the plans of the supporters of the race. The second place man is to receive $5000, $3000 is to go to the third, $1500 to fourth, fifth place is to net $1000, $750 is to go to sixth-place winner, $500 to the seventh man and $250 for the eighth place.

Many experiments have been made with the four principal fuels now available in Germany—gasoline, bensol, kerosene and alcohol. From these four fuels, six homogeneous mixtures have been evaolved, each with slightly different characteristics as regards carburetion and power. Mixtures of gasoline and kerosene have been made that require no change in the carburetor, but when alcohol is added, the carburetor has to be heated. Mixtures consisting of gasoline and alcohol in equal parts, and one-quarter bensol to three-quarters alcohol have been tried with success, after altering the air finlet of the carburetor.

YOUNG SEALS LOOK GOOD.

Wolverton appears to have three exceptionally-promising youngsters in Couch, Benham and Jones. Jones, who is playing the third base place regularly, had been more or less erratic owing to inexperience and over-eagerness, but for every bad play he had executed a dozen brilliant ones. Couch's work to date has been of a character calculated to make him a fixture on the team. The former Stanford man has not pitched a bad game this season, although he played in hard luck a few times. Benham looks to be one of the best youthful southpaws seen in the league in some time. He is remarkably cool and has shown a lot of stuff.

Tigers Win Again.

twirling staff which would have to be remedied. If there is any weakness there, the Seals have not yet been able to locate it. The Tigers haven't shown an ounce of bad pitching this week.

FANCY WORK.

Berger and Hosp pulled off a lot of fancy work around second base that tended to discourage the visitors. The Tigers distributed three lightning double plays through the proceedings.

The game started with Purtell at second base, but for some reason, unknown to the general public, Hap changed his mind and sent Hosp out there to play at the end of the first inning.

Ping Bodie supplied the main fielding feature, when in the fourth he threw the crowd into a high fever by making a powerful one-handed catch of a long fly by Bayless. Ping picked the pill off with one hand while running with his back to it. In our cooler moments we sometimes wonder how Wolverton managed to pry Ping loose from the American League.

San Francisco got men around to third in the second and third, but was forced to desist at that point. With two down in the second, Jones beat out a line drive that Gleischmann knocked down. He stole second, and hastened to third when Tub squirted the ball 'nto center field. Corhan flied to Carlisle.

THE THIRD.

In the third, Schmidt drove to Gasoline Gus, and Gleischmann failed to squeeze the throw, which was a bit wide. Baum sacrificed, and Fitz- beat out an infield hit. Leard grounded to Berger, Schmidt being held at third. Schaller ended it with a roller to Hosp.

Berger blasted open the fourth with a clean single to left. This was the first hit off Baum. Risberg popped to Spider. Bayless then drew the first pass off Baum. Hetling drove to Corhan, who promptly heaved the ball to the right field bleachers. Berger scored on this, while Bayless went to third. Dick observed that Heilman was engaged in counting the stitches on the ball, or hunting for emery spots. He took advantage of this to score, and was across the plate before Heilman could recover from his surprise. Meantime, Gasoline Gus had trotted around to third. Gleischmann walked, and Gasoline Gus scored on Hosp's out, Leard to Heilman. Tub also walked, Baum's idea apparently being to walk every other man. Decanniere jammed Tub into a forceout.

AUGUST INNING.

The sixth was an august inning, Gus Hetling tripling to right and scoring on Gus Gleischmann's single.

Corhan, by dint of much speed, beat out a high bounder to Decanniere in the eighth. Schmidt ripped off a triple to left, scoring him. Downs, batting for Baum, drove Schmidt across with a neat single to center. Things then became calm again. Fitzgerald forced Downs, and Leard batted the pill into a double play.

DOANE SINGLES AND SCORES SPEAS, HIT BY PITCHED BALL, IN FIFTEENTH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 24.—It required fifteen innings for Portland to defeat Salt Lake today, 8 to 7. Each team used three pitchers, and at the start there was plenty of hitting. In the fifteenth Speas was hit by a pitched ball, Derrick sacrificed and Doane's single between first and second scored the winning run.

be patched. California's graduates are said to be partial to American football, however, and the arbitration may hinge entirely on that factor.

Local Stanford alumni hold that the breach will be patched within a short time and that Stanford will meet the terms of California and adopt the freshman rule as there is nothing else to be done. One well-known Los Angeles attorney, who spent four years at Stanford, said last night that he was glad that the break had taken place and hoped that his alma mater would cut out athletics entirely as sports were cutting too deep into the real business of the university. Another Stanford graduate said that California had held a high rein too long and that he thought that the best agreement the colleges could draw up would be a contract not to meet for a period of at least ten years.

Mow Mitchell, former Stanford athletic star, said last night that he expected to see the war end before the close of the present college year.

"It may last until after next football season," said Mitchell, "but I hardly expect it. When California begins to figure up the dividends without Stanford competition, I believe she will not be anxious to play the American game."

Mitchell also says that within three or four years California, with her 6000 men, would have such a strong team that the other colleges in the supposed combine would stand little chance and there would be no competition.

U.S.C. men meet this with the argument that in Rugby the local university was able to give California strong competition.

Taxicab owners in Cleveland are preparing to fight the present city ordinance licensing their machines and charging $5 per taxicab and $1 for each chauffeur. With the legal struggle in mind, few of the operators have taken out 1915 licenses from the city, and the first arrest for violation of the ordinance is to be made a test case.

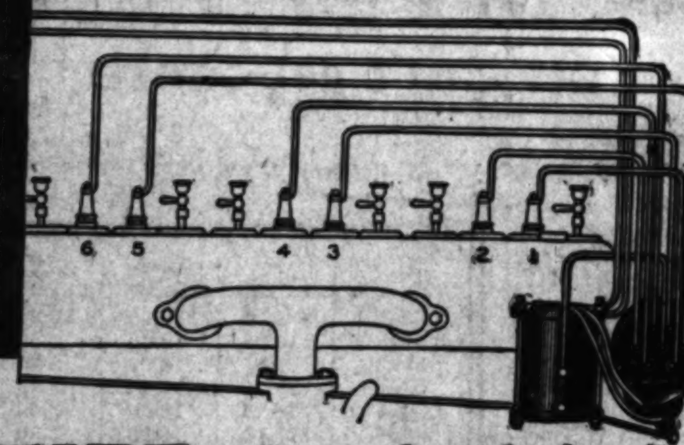
TIGERS GET ELLIS JOHNSON.

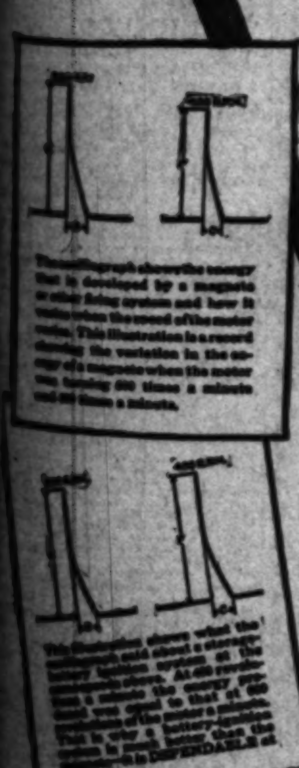
[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, April 24.—Manager Clarence Rowland of the White Sox tonight announced the release of Pitcher Ellis Johnson to the Venice club of the Pacific Coast League. The departing hurler, who was recalled by the Hose from Toronto last fall, left tonight for the land of sunshine, under an optional agreement.

Notice to Motorists

Having perfected a carburetor that burns from 16 to 20 per cent. water with either gasoline or distillate, we wish to have the co-operation of the users of same. We will give one share of stock in the CORSER CARBURETOR CO. with each CORSER CARBURETOR installed in the next 30 days. It is like giving you $5.00, as that is what the stock is worth now, and we think it will be three times that amount inside of one year. Satisfaction guaranteed as we have over 400 in operation here in Los Angeles and every one is happy and satisfied. Some of them have been on for over one year. Increases your mileage and power as high as 100 per cent. Come in and investigate. Put one on your car, if not as we represent we will take it off, and it will not cost you one cent. On the other hand if it does, you will be one of the company, and then you will take an interest in boosting a home industry as it is manufactured right here in Los Angeles. Prices are 25 per cent. less than other high grade Carburetors, besides the water feature you get without extra charge, and does away with your carbon, a patented feature that no other Carburetor has.
Call and see them. CORSER CARBURETOR CO., Inc., 2210 S. Main St., Los Angeles, Cal. WANT SOME LIVE AGENTS.





How Studebaker cars are built—Ignition

SURE steady firing at any speed

Magneto? No, sir! Better than that—the Studebaker-Wagner Electric System that's built to order for Studebaker Cars. Lots of cars, of course, are still using magnetos. But study of the leading cars at the Auto Shows disclosed that more than 52% of the high-grade cars are using a battery-ignition system.

And the reason is simply that electric-system ignition is better than the magneto. When the motor is turning fast, the magneto is satisfactory. But the minute you slow up on a grade or in city traffic the energy developed by the magneto weakens—and that is just when you need ignition energy most.

For when the motor is running at low speeds and the charge is highly compressed, it takes a hotter spark to fire it. And that's why Studebaker is using this battery-ignition system, which is not only simpler but MORE RELIABLE, because it insures maximum voltage at low speeds as well as at high speeds.

It guarantees SURE, steady firing. For the storage battery is ready to deliver the maximum voltage at all times. The motor doesn't skip or miss at low speed. And it PULLS steadily and tenaciously ALL the time the car is moving. Guarantees the CERTAINTY of operation that a man looks for in this car

-because it's a Studebaker

But why not come in and look over this Studebaker ignition system on the car itself. Like to show you the simple wiring system and all the details. Like to have you see the car, too, and know the convenience and the COMFORT and the safety that's built into it. And we'll gladly arrange for any kind of tests you like—hills, roughest roads, anything. Will you phone us? Or if you can't come in, write for our booklet on the Studebaker Electric System.

Goodyear Dominates Everywhere

Do Your Tires Protect You in These Five Important Ways?

If they do, they are Goodyear Fortified Tires, for no other tires are like these.

If they don't, consider these features—all exclusive to Goodyear. Judge if they warrant you in asking for Fortified Tires.

Our No-Rim-Cut feature best combats rim-cutting. Millions of tires have proved that.

Our "On-Air" cure saves so many blow-outs that we spend $1,500 per day on it.

Our rubber rivets, formed in each tire, reduce loose tread risk 60 per cent.

Our 126 piano wires, vulcanized in each tire base, make the tire secure.

Our All-Weather tread, tough and double-thick, gives you maximum tread wear. It minimizes punctures. And its sharp-edged grips are resistless.

These are Extras

There are several tires which, in rubber and fabric, approach the Goodyear standard. There are many which fall below.

But the point we make is that no other tire contains one of these cited features. These are all extras, and all are exclusive to Goodyear Fortified Tires.

Long ago those extras won top place for Goodyears. Last year they sold about one Goodyear tire for every car in use. But never in our history have new users come to us as fast as they are coming this spring.

Prices Much Lower

Our mammoth production now gives you in Goodyears values never before known in tires. Our last price reduction, on February 1st, made the third in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

We promise you that present prices do not mean skimped tires. Not a feature is omitted. Not a reduction has been made in quality, thickness or ply.

On the contrary, the tires have been bettered. We have this year made three important improvements, each of which strengthens these tires.

Never before was it so important as now to insist that your dealer supply Goodyear Fortified Tires. Any dealer will supply you if you ask.

Ford

Especially resistant to shock, strain and vibration, the Ford is the sturdiest, most durable car in the world. Vanadium steel, heat-treated by the Ford process, accounts for the strength and light weight of the Ford car. Strong, light, simple and efficient, the Ford gives service and satisfaction to more than 700,000 owners every day, at an average cost of two cents a mile for operation and maintenance.

Buyers will share in profits if we sell at retail 300,000 new Ford cars between August 1914 and August 1915.

ORANGE CINCHES COUNTY TITLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA ANA, April 24.—Orange Union High School's baseball team practically cinched the county championship today by defeating Fullerton Union, 7 to 0. Santa Ana High was tied with Orange until today, when the Santa Anans were walloped by Anaheim Union in an exciting ten-inning game, with a 5-to-4 score.

Next Saturday the county series schedule will end with a game between Santa Ana and Orange. Today's games, however, put Orange all to the good. That team has not been defeated this year by any high school team. Last year it had the Southern California interscholastic championship. In today's game Lush of Orange struck out sixteen batters.

Fullerton got three hits and Orange eight.

RIVERSIDE POLY BEATS CHAFFEY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, April 24.—Riverside Poly High defeated Chaffey Union High in the Citrus Belt League series game here this afternoon by a 3-to-0 score. Chaffey's poor luck was due to two costly errors in the eighth inning, Riverside taking advantage of them to make as many runs.

Nicholson, who pitched for the visitors, was a host for his team, fanning allcomers in the first four innings and two in the fifth.

Reeder caught for Chaffey. The local battery comprised Hazen and Meairs. Nicholson fanned eighteen and Hazen 14. Benson, for Riverside, made the only two-base hit registered for the game.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The New York Americans took revenge on Walter Johnson, crack pitcher of the Washingtons, for shutting them out last week, when they batted him today for twelve hits and defeated Washington, 4 to 0.

Caldwell held the visitors to two scratch hits, both made by Milan. The score:

DOWNEY WALLOPS EL MONTE HIGH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DOWNEY, April 24.—The seventh game in the valley section of the High School League was played today between El Monte and Downey. The score was:

Downey, 14; hits, 18; errors, 2.
El Monte, 0; hits, 3; errors, 6.

Batteries for Downey—Morrow and Ardis; for El Monte—Drake, Loynd, A. Andrews and R. Andrews.

The feature of the game was the faultless battery work and heavy hitting of Morrow and Ardis. This practically leaves the pennant between Downey and Norwalk, the latter team being one game in the lead. Each has two more games to play for a final decision. As both teams are evenly matched, a battle royal is anticipated.

SAVAGE QUALITY—3
The Bead can't work loose

The Savage Anchor Strip is an exclusive feature of Savage Tires.

A heavy fabric strip with a Savage double grip—positively can't work loose. We have yet to see a loose Savage Bead.

The bead itself is made of special linen thread, proof against stretch. No chance for trouble there.

Another big point—the heavy fabric of the anchor strip is additional insurance against rim cutting.

DODGERS HUMBLE GIANTS, 7 TO 5.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BROOKLYN, April 24.—George Cutshaw's timely hitting featured today's 7 to 5 victory by Brooklyn over New York. Three times the little second baseman faced Mathewson with men on bases, and each time he supplied the necessary hit. In the seventh with the score tied, and the bases full, he drove in two runs with a clean single to left.

WHITTIER BEATS SEAY'S TEAM, 11-5.

Joe Buckmaster, Whittier's pitcher, made the first home run on the new Whittier diamond yesterday in the last half of the first inning in the game between Pasadena High and the Quakers, ending in a score for the Poets of 11 to 5.

Pasadena went to bat first and knocked one run. The fun started when, with two men on bases, Buckmaster knocked a homer into the center field, and scored three runs. The Longhairs made five runs in the second inning. The hurlers for Pasadena were McAdams and Mitchell.

The Whittier battery was White, catcher, and Buckmaster, pitcher.

In addition to exhibition purposes, the building erected specially for motor truck manufacturers at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, at San Francisco, also contains a large testing laboratory. During the fair a series of exhaustive tests, covering every portion of manufacturing processes, the testing of the various steels and alloys in chassis and motor construction and the standardization of the parts which enter into the make-up of the modern machine, will be carried out.

CALIFORNIA CLEANS UP. NORTHERN TRACK TEAMS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, April 24.—The California babes are a husky lot. This afternoon they took nearly everything in sight from the best of the small northern colleges, in the first five-cornered track meet ever held on the oval. The freshmen won nine first places, while Santa Clara won the remainder, four. Nevada and St. Mary's landed no one inside of the five-spot circle.

Scores made were: California freshmen, 81 1-3; University of California Farm School (Davis,) 7; Santa Clara, 34 2-3; Nevada, 22 2-3; St. Mary's, 6 1-3.

Two performances stand out from the mediocre times made during the day as especially good. Johnson, (S. C.) won the 220-yard dash in 2 2-5 seconds, equalling the time made by Stanton in the California-Stanford meet. This is the second time only that this time has been made on the new oval.

The other performance which should receive honorable mention was the 44-foot and 2-inch shot put made by Liversedge, a California freshman. Beebe might have improved his time of two minutes, three-fifths seconds, in the half-mile had he been pressed, but he left competitors seventy-five yards behind at the finish.

Other than the above, there was nothing exhibited of unusual interest. With the exception of the broad jump, which went to Santa Clara when Wallace made 21 feet 6¾ inches, the field events were won with comparatively low records.

Nevada failed to show the strength expected of her, as she gathered all her points by seconds or thirds. St. Mary's fell lower and had to satisfy herself with fourths and split points. The hurdles, the half and field events brought the farm school its diminutive seven points. Johnson, by winning the sprints, upset the freshman dope, and shattered all hopes of St. Mary's for a victory over their rival, Santa Clara. His ten points makes him star man of the meet and actual winner for the Mission college.

Though the times today are not exceptional, and the meet dragged at times, it opens a new field for the small colleges. The winners today are the minor college champions of the north.

SUMMARY.

100-yard dash—Johnson (S.C.) first, Claudius (C.) second, Hawkes (S.C.) third, Clark (C.) fourth; time, 10 2-5s.

220-yard dash—Johnson (S.C.) first, Hawkes (S.C.) second, Claudius (C.) third, Carberry, Silva (S.M.) fourth, tie for fourth; time 22 2-5s.

An easy way to remove valves when the springs are in position is to withdraw the key and insert in its place a split pin or nail long enough to protrude on either side of the valve spring; then turn the split pin to the right and the spring will act as a tread, the valve rising until the head passes above the combustion chamber, when it may be gripped with the fingers.

Pomona Swamps Oxy.

the 880. The Sturges tribe took what was left.

Annin came gamely to the post in the 880 and looked hardly strong enough to run a slow lap, but came through with a burst at the finish, which pulled him into second place very close on La Follette, who covered the two laps in 2.02 4-5 seconds.

The biggest feature of the day was the 440. George Green of Pomona had the pole and Capt. Cook of Occidental was second. Cook let Powelson of Pomona get past him and was neatly boxed on the last turn with Wells running fourth.

The two Occidental men came through with a sudden rush in the stretch, passed the faltering Powelson and began to gain on Green. The latter, however, had too good a lead and was leading by a safe two or three yards when he stumbled about six feet from the tape and fell flat, failing to place. The time was 52 2-5 seconds.

Det Sturges ran a nice race in the two-mile, winning by a good margin from his team-mate, Gerry, in the pretty good time, under the conditions, of 10 minutes 24 1-5 seconds. The race was featured by the reappearance of Paul Pritchard the sensational Tiger two-miler of last year, who ran a fine strong fourth and will be a contender in the conference meet.

The best individual performance of the meet was Creighton's high jump. He easily cleared 5 feet 11¾ inches to win the event and then hopped over 6 feet 1¼ inches in his attempt on the college record.

Johnny Coffeen of Occidental won the pole vault and then cleared the bar at 12 feet 1 inch in an exhibition. Waughtenpaugh of Pomona created a terrific amount of excitement by getting over 10 feet 9 inches.

The Huns were far too strong in the dashes and hurdles to give the Tigers a chance. Fouvenat won the century with Given second, and they exactly reversed the order in the 220. Johnny Cook of Occidental ran a third on both events.

Daggs of Pomona won the high hurdles with Green second and Green took the low sticks with Daggs running third. John Creighton again burst into the limelight in this event by taking a good second.

The shot, hammer and discus were pretty much of a sweep for the Huns, Brandstetner being the only Tiger to break into points in these three events. Durkee of Pomona won the shot, breaking the college records, took third in the hammer and second in the discus. Metz broke the discus record.

The Pomona team as a whole showed itself to be in far better shape than last week and will put up a big battle for honors in the big conference meet. The relay quartette had little trouble in rattling off the mile in 3 minutes 33 1-5 seconds.

New Chalmers Six $1400

The Best Car made under $1650

You are about to select your motor car.

You may be undecided among a number of makes.

In your mind Chalmers quality is doubtlessly associated only with cars costing from $1650 to $3200, at which price Chalmers models have previously been sold.

Here is an item of great interest to you—the Chalmers "New Six" with all the Chalmers quality selling for $1400.

If you are figuring on a car to cost from $1000 to $1200, the Chalmers "New Six" at a couple of hundred dollars more will give you everything additional that you can desire in a motor car.

If you are figuring on a car a little more than $1400 in price, look at this one and see if it does not give you all that you expect to get at the price you have in mind.

The "New Six" at the lowest price at which a Chalmers car has ever been built is now ready. Demonstrations are being given and deliveries made.

Side View

Built to An Ideal

Built to an ideal—tested for 20 months before releasing to the public—this new car at $1400 is the best car made under $1650.

It is a 5-passenger touring car—120-inch wheel base. It has a six-cylinder high-speed motor with small bore and long stroke (3⅛ by 5 inch.)

The motor is of the valve-in-head type with overhead camshaft designed especially for this car.

Exhaust Side of Motor

It gets away instantly and gives maximum power on a minimum consumption of fuel.

"Different" Front Appearance

Owing to the valve-in-head type and very compact construction the radiator is somewhat narrower and higher than the common practice.

It gives the front of the car a very attractive and entirely distinctive appearance.

You can recognize your car and be recognized immediately by this "difference."

Front View

The entire valve mechanism is instantly accessible by removing the dust-proof and oil-proof aluminum cover. It has unusually large size nickel and Tungsten steel valves in the heads of the cylinders. A brake on the cam shaft insures even torque.

Overhead Valve Mechanism

Perfect Lubrication

Valve seats are entirely surrounded by water, and noiseless action is insured by perfect lubrication.

Large streams of oil pour over the naked shaft on the main bearings and the valve mechanism is more thoroughly lubricated than in any other motor ever built.

Lubrication System

Fool Proof Clutch

The oil pipe is fitted with fins for cooling the lubricating oil. The dry-plate clutch requires no attention and is the nearest to being "fool-proof" of any clutch yet devised.

The motor's trim appearance and freedom from "patched on" equipment indicates the improvements and refinements made possible by nearly two years' study and experimental work on this one car.

Carburetor Side of Motor

Price quoted is F.O.B. Detroit.

But even with the mechanical principle exactly right, what values it if the car isn't comfortable to ride in?

It is big and roomy; five people can ride comfortably in it.

Plan View

A look into it shows ample width of both front and rear seats. The control lever arrangement allows easy entrance from either side. You will appreciate the real leather upholstery.

New Cantilever Principle

Then it applies a new principle in spring suspension.

It is fitted with a cantilever spring far and away the best of cantilevers.

Cantilever Spring

The spring is fitted from the rear axle giving riding qualities that are absolutely wonderful.

Rolling, jolting and sideway motto-light cars are entirely eliminated.

Freedom From Repair Bills

Beautiful body lines and absence of projecting springs give the most attractive rear appearance we have ever seen in a motor car.

And the sturdy axle, the substantial frame, the torque (which you will often find in cars at this price) all give security and freedom from repair bills.

Rear View

As a matter of good judgment on your part in buying a motor car, you should call and examine the Chalmers New Six-40. Ride in it and see if it isn't the car you want.

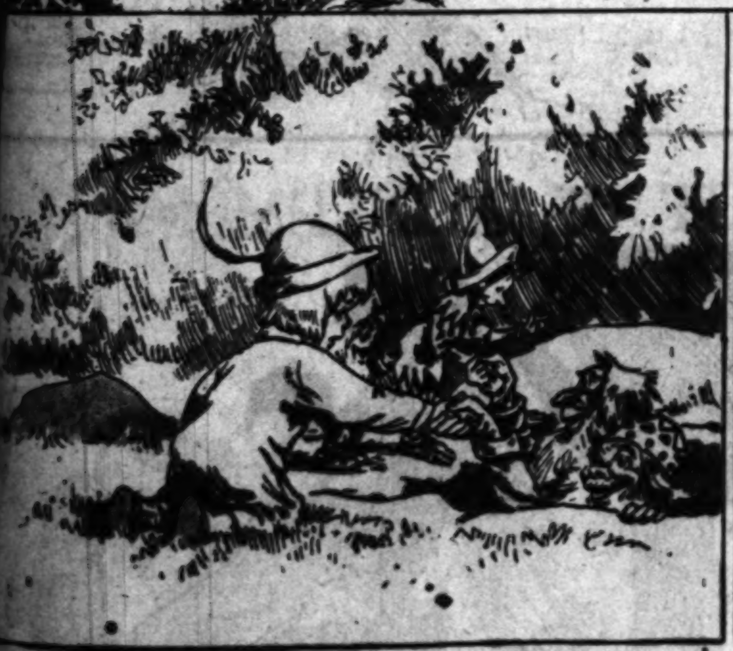
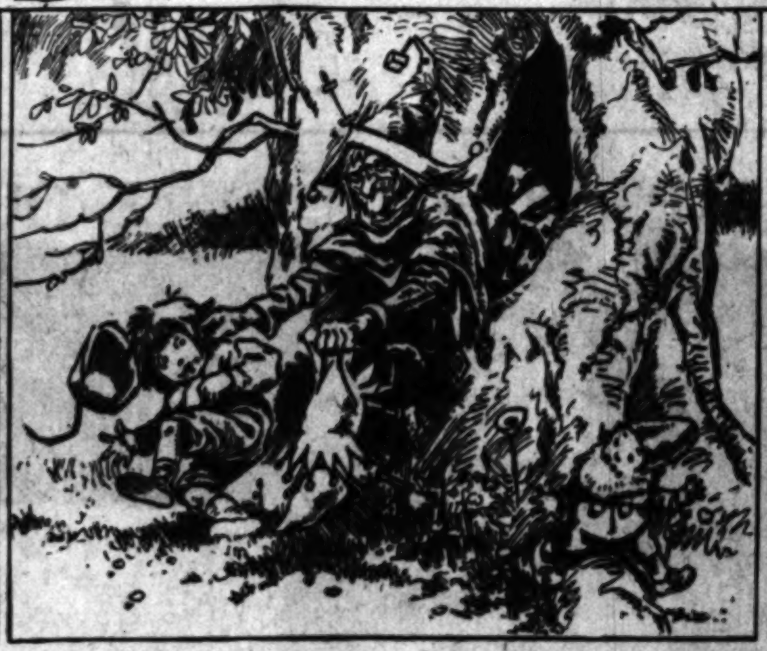
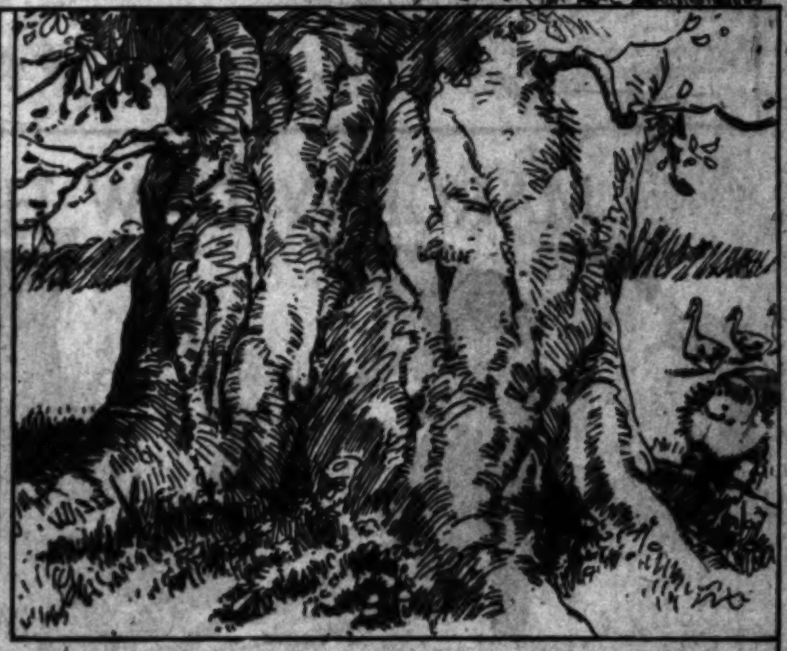
MR. TWEE DEEDLE



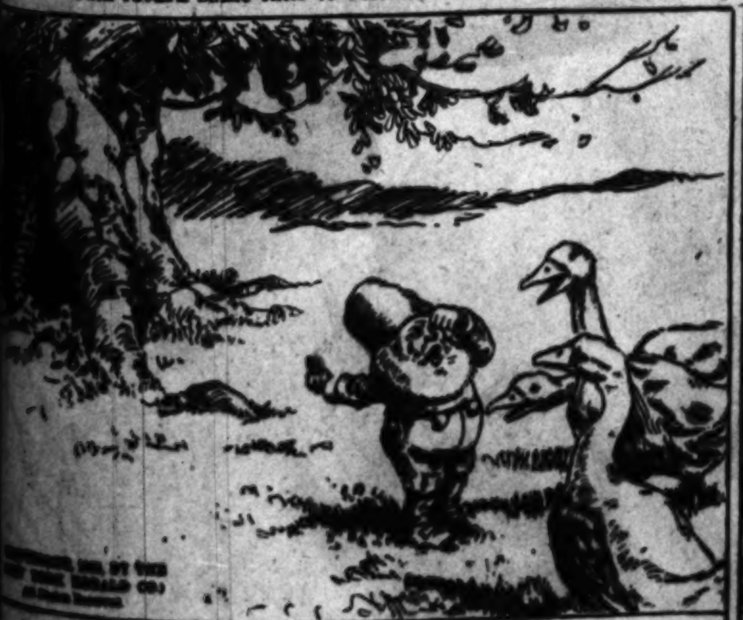
1—When Dickie, Mr. Twee Deedle and Thumkins left the cave, the Cave King and the old man went with them to the entrance and bid them goodby. Our friends promised they would return some time to visit him.



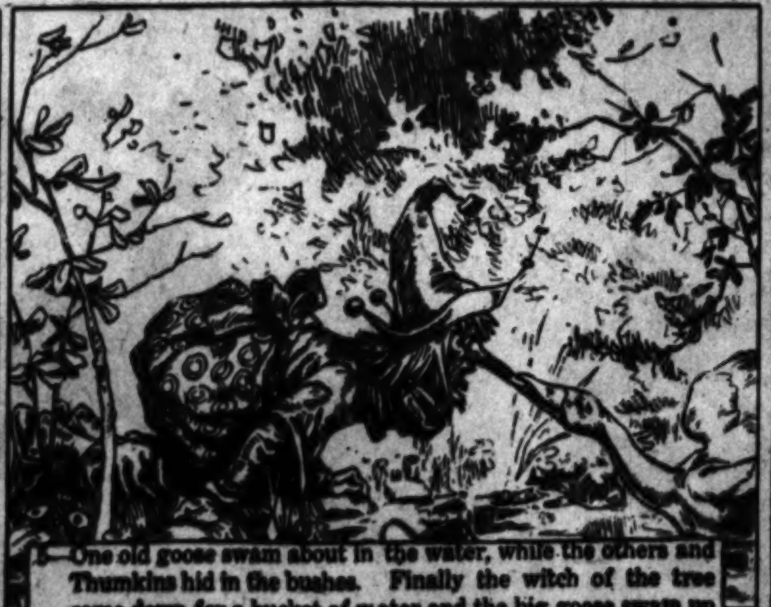
2—Hardly had the three sat down in the shade of a large tree to talk over their adventures when two long arms reached out of the tree and caught Mr. Twee Deedle and Dickie.



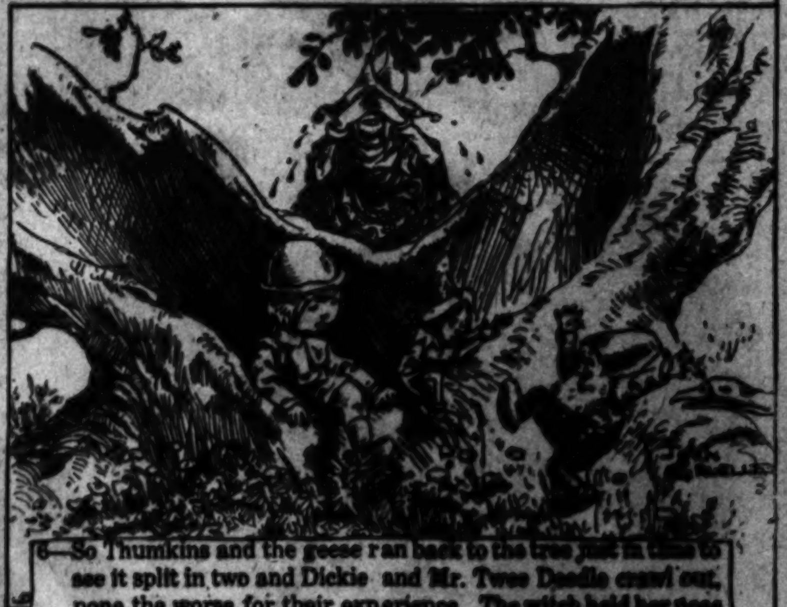
3—Thumkins escaped, but Mr. Twee Deedle and Dickie were lifted into the tree, which closed up after them.



4—Thumkins began to cry as he thought of all that might happen to his two friends. "Why are you crying?" asked three white geese as they came up to Thumkins. "Perhaps we can help you," they said when he told them.



5—One old goose swam about in the water, while the others and Thumkins hid in the bushes. Finally the witch of the tree came down for a bucket of water and the big goose swam up and pulled her nose until it stretched out eight inches. Of course this broke the enchantment, for most witches carry their gift for black magic in their noses, although this is not generally known.



6—So Thumkins and the geese ran back to the tree just in time to see it split in two and Dickie and Mr. Twee Deedle crawl out, none the worse for their experience. The witch held her nose and wept many tears, for she knew it would be some time before her magic would be restored. "Let's run away before she can hurt us," said Mr. Twee Deedle, as he, Dickie, Thumkins and the geese ran across the field.

COMMON SENSE in the HOME

EDITED by MARION HARLAND

TALK AT THE BREAKFAST TABLE.

"BREAKFAST is a dreadful meal in our family," a young girl confided to me long ago. "Half the family come down with a grouch and the great seem to think it is the best time of the day for a heated discussion of all the things they disagree on. When I have a home of my own I mean to insist that each member of the household breakfasts in private. Like the Jews, you know, when every tribe or family mourns apart."

Often have I thought of her resolve and wondered if she kept it.

"We lived together for six years without a quarrel," I heard a young woman say in recounting her experience with a friend who had been her housemate and intimate friend. "I have always believed that the chief reason we kept on such good terms was that we never breakfasted together. You know how people scrap at the table."

Do they always "scrap at the table"? I confess I have known families in which mealtimes seemed to serve as a clearing house for topics of dispute and disagreement, but I have always hoped that these were the exception and not the rule.

To my own mind there are great advantages in the general conversation which should form an adjunct to home repasts. Some of the most delightful memories of my life are coupled with mealtimes and the chat that accompanied the food. At no other time does the family habitually gather together in comparative leisure, and the opportunities thus provided for accustoming the children to good talk are beyond estimate.

"But I thought you believed that children should be seen and not heard at the table," some one may interject here.

So I do in a way and within limits. But this does not mean that, in the colloquial phrase, they are not to open their mouths except to put in their food, any more than the other custom I commend implies that they should absorb the conversation or even take a lion's share of it.

It is easy for a child to be taught when the rule of "seen and not heard" should be adhered to, and when departed from. He will readily learn that his own chatter with the other children, such as may go on in the nursery or on the playground uninterruptedly, is not to be continued when older persons are present who, presumably, wish to put in a few remarks on their own account now and then. Likewise, he should discover after a few lessons that pert comments on the aforesaid remarks are not desired from him, even while he is encouraged to put intelligent questions, to ask information on any special topic which interests him, or to give accounts of his own pursuits—so long as the family is alone.

This last is an important point. When the family is sitting in close committee, so to speak, when only the immediate members are present, the mealtime should be looked upon as a period for helping with the children's education in conversation as well as in disseminating general information. But when guests are there the children should understand that courtesy demands they should subordinate their own desire to talk to the pleasure of the strangers.

Such a state of affairs is not impossible. I have known of homes in which it existed and have had the chance to judge for myself how much more agreeable are such households than those in which the infants are permitted to have their own way, to chatter as they please, to interrupt as they like, and to make themselves the centers of attention. As they grow older they naturally take a more important part in the family chat, but in their early childhood they should be made to understand the deference and respect due to their seniors and that they must manifest this by silence unless they have something worth while to say.

The half grown boy and girl sometimes seems to be even a poorer judge of this than the smaller child and is not to be snubbed quite so ruthlessly as the juniors. Yet even with the sons and daughters of the awkward age the early training will show itself in decent table manners. If it fails to do this further discipline may be attempted and the effort made to turn the talk into a line which will be beneficial as well as pleasant.

Never should quarreling be allowed at mealtimes. The "Scrapping" such as I have referred to is not only bad for the digestion and unpleasant to those who must listen to it—it is also distinctly ill bred. The mother who is striving to bring up her household with good manners must feel that this part of their instruction should by no means be overlooked or slighted.

"When you are at my table I expect you to speak to one another as gentlemen should in the presence of a lady," was the reprimand I heard a mother address to two sons who were disputing more vehemently than good breeding would dictate. "I cannot help your squabbling and bickering when you are alone together, much as I dislike your doing it, but when you are sharing my meals courtesy demands your showing ordinary good manners."

This is the rule which should be enforced in childhood with sufficient vigor to insure its carrying weight in later years. One can easily distinguish between those thus reared and the others who have had the habit of unbridled discussion in any and all circumstances without consideration for the comfort of others.

For such discussion undoubtedly causes discomfort to those who are obliged to listen to it. Many a time I have had my appetite destroyed and my digestion impaired by being an unwilling hearer of a fiery argument at table between two members of a family. The subject under debate might have been something impersonal—usually I have noticed such disputes run to questions of religion or politics—but those engaged in the wordy war waxed as fierce in their utterances and displayed as much animosity in their manner as though the topic were one which involved their own immediate profit and loss.

It is even worse when the subject is one which has really a personal bearing or importance. Why was breakfast late? Is it impossible for that boy—or girl—ever to be at a meal on time? What reason is there for the undue weakness—or strength—of coffee? Why are the library books not returned when they are due? What is the excuse for not having paid such and such a bill the first time it was presented? Is that boy never going to bring in a good report for his Latin? The number of such topics of dispute is legion and the mother of the family feels a sick qualm at the threatened approach of any one of them, especially at the breakfast table.

One of the points never satisfactorily settled in my mind is why certain members of society should consider it an excuse for any display of bad temper that it occurred at the breakfast table. I am willing to grant a degree of malease to many persons early in the morning. The mother who has been kept awake with a sick child; the man who has worked over his books until the small hours or who has tossed on an uneasy couch wrestling with business problems may have a certain excuse for a sober or melancholy demeanor at the first meal of the day—although even these sufferers might reflect that some consideration is due those with whom their lot is cast and who are not to blame for untoward conditions.

Still, if gravity and disinclination to talk were confined to those who can present a valid cause for these feelings one could bear it better. But how about those who have no such apology for their behavior? How about the husky college boy, the healthy young woman who can make no excuse except "I always have a grouch at the breakfast table" or "I hate to talk as soon as I am out of bed." Both these are offered as ample reasons for any disagreeableness which is manifested at the morning meal.

For my own part I consider it one of the most important parts of a mother's work to train her children out of such proclivities as these, for the sake of the children themselves, out of consideration for those who will have to live with them and associate with them at breakfast, as well as for her own personal comfort and peace of mind. If she begins in time she should be able to drill them into a measure of decency, at least. If she finds her lot thrown in with those who are too old to be argued and disciplined into tolerable behavior her best [illegible] to leave the offenders alone. [illegible] clusion I have attained after [illegible] servation and study of this [illegible] riety of malcontent.

Don't try to coax him into a [illegible] humor when he comes into the [illegible] room with a dark cloud on his [illegible] "the black dog on his shoulder." [illegible] doesn't want to be good natured [illegible] made up his mind to be [illegible] and all you will win for your [illegible] likely to be a sullen growl which [illegible] make you uncomfortable and [illegible] the enjoyment of the other members of the household. Leave him alone. [illegible] is usually more likely to be "[illegible] her!"]

Sometimes I think that such [illegible] characters enjoy the attention [illegible] cits by their moroseness and [illegible] noticed and cajoled. With an [illegible] perversity on my own part I [illegible] gratify them. If they have so little consideration for the feelings of the [illegible] members of the household as to [illegible] bear their part in cheerful chat [illegible] them to stay in the gloomy [illegible] of their own ill temper and do not [illegible] them by attention. Occasionally [illegible] neglect has more curative effect [illegible] kindness. This does not apply to children, who should be reprimanded or switched out of their moods, but to [illegible] who have unfortunately grown beyond the reach of such forms of discipline.

After all, the direction of the conversation, like that of the manners [illegible] the table, is largely in the hands of the mother. She it is who may start the [illegible] rolling in the line of innocuous [illegible] who may ask the questions which [illegible] lead to the bestowal of information [illegible] may interest and instruct the [illegible] members of the family and induce them to ask intelligent questions. Likewise it devolves upon her to steer the ball of conversation away from perilous [illegible] may be allowed to change the [illegible] and to direct it into safe channels. [illegible] work is not easy, but it brings an [illegible] able reward to her as well as to her household.

The habit of easy talk is [illegible] outside the home. Those who [illegible] youth and maturity of [illegible] society, of being at a loss [illegible] to talk about and how to [illegible] selves, are those who have [illegible] the family board merely as a place [illegible] ing, not for pleasant conversation [illegible] tom of discussing current events [illegible] ing over the latest discoveries [illegible] the problems of industry and [illegible] tions, the new pictures or [illegible] books, whatever may interest [illegible] large and the family in [illegible] to encourage freedom of [illegible] of association with [illegible] renders those who have [illegible] cation qualified to make a [illegible] sion in any society into which [illegible] cast.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND.

"I WRITE to ask of you a great favor. After a lifetime of enjoyment of moderate wealth it has become necessary for me to support myself. I have always been a bookworm and ardent music lover, and have moreover received the best of private school education at home and abroad. When I lost the income upon which I had thought I could depend my first idea was to secure classes in languages and music. About the time I had come to this decision I noticed a great change in my sight, and on consulting an oculist learned that the optic nerve had become affected in a way no glasses could help. On being pressed he had to own the probability of my becoming blind in five or six years. This crushing news almost stunned me and I have no family or close friends to whom to turn for help and sympathy. I have racked my brains to think of some way of self-support, but even domestic service requires quick eyesight and the same applies to any other line of manual work. The only direction in which I can see any outlet from my perplexities lies in typewriting, since in that my education and tastes could be turned to account. As piano playing in the dark has always been nearly as easy to me as in the light, I think I would find typing easy to learn, while my ability to take dictation in French or German should be an asset of some value. While the outlook may not be promising, yet in no other direction can I see any vista at all. Whether I can make money by it or not typewriting will eventually become necessary to me for my personal use, when I can no longer write by hand. Therefore I must set to work at once while I still have sight to make the learning easier. All this leads to my request. I am told that if I can get a machine I can teach myself with the aid of a manual issued by the makers. Many of the concerns teach the blind. The trouble is that I cannot afford even to rent a machine much less buy it. So I write to ask if any of your readers have a typewriter they don't need or one which they would lend me. I don't dare to hope for it, but I see no other way of getting one, while the precious months are flying. My 'total eclipse' may come in three or four years. I have so much fear of not getting the machine that I am preferring a reserve request. A good fountain pen would be a great help to me. I have had unfortunate experiences with two of the cheaper variety. So, if any one happens to have duplicates or wishes to replace his or her present pen by one of a newer sort I should be very grateful for the discarded one.

"E. M. E."

The letter from which the preceding has been taken is much longer than the condensation I have made, and it is all so interesting that I regret the lack of space which has obliged me to cut it down as I have. I do not know when an appeal has touched me so closely. At the first glance at the letter I perceived that it had been written by an educated gentlewoman, and as I read on the bravery and fortitude of it all went to my heart. Some of the personal items which render her situation especially trying I felt it would not be fair to put into print, but the approaching blindness is only one feature of a position which is almost more than any of us could bear with courage. I venture to be more hopeful than E. M. E. and to believe that both the typewriter she asks and the fountain pen may be forthcoming.

Clothes for Long Visit.

"I expect in June or in September to visit relatives in a distant city. What clothes would be necessary? I expect to stay two months. I am 22 years old. I wish to take as few clothes as possible, but those must be the right things.

"S. P."

Two months is a good while, and you will need a rather liberal supply of clothing. What you will require should, I think, be what you would need for any absence from home during the summer months. The outfit should include, besides underclothing, shoes, slippers, gloves, hats, and other essentials, a neat lightweight traveling dress, two or three pretty house frocks for morning wear, two or three evening or dinner gowns, one or two frocks suitable for afternoon reception or for calling service, and one plain back suit for use when going on rough expeditions or anything of the kind. If you have a skirt and jacket suit which you can vary with shirt waists you will find this useful. Wash frocks you will probably have, such as you would require at home.

Baby Wants Temporary Home.

"I would like to find a temporary home for my baby boy, 2 months old. I am in poor health and unable to give him the care he should have. My physician says I must keep off my feet for several months at least or I shall have to undergo an operation. I cannot afford to hire help; therefore I am hoping to find some kind woman who cares enough for children to be willing to look after mine for a month or two. I will provide for his food and for any other of his expenses. I have a crib and go-cart which would be sent with the baby.

MRS. H. J."

To my own mind it does not seem likely that even a woman who loves children would be willing to take the care of a tiny baby long enough to become fond of him and then give him up as soon as his mother was able to take him back. But I print the request and shall be glad to put any one wishing to consider the proposition of Mrs. H. J. in touch with her. As a matter of course any offer to take the child would have to be accompanied with full references, and these should also be given by the parents.

Magazines and Flower Seeds.

"Do you know of some one who would like magazines? I have a great many I would gladly forward to any one who could pay the cost of transportation. I wish I might pay it, but this is impossible. These magazines were sent to me by friends gained through the Corner and I have many different numbers. Will you ask one of your readers to send me the honeycomb knitting stitch used in making bedroom slippers? My mother wants it very much, as she used to knit by it years and years ago and has now forgotten it. I think your views on dumb animals most interesting. I love them dearly myself—in their place—which is not in bed with their owners, nor at the dining table. If any one has plants of flower cuttings to spare I would like to receive a few, particularly those of geraniums, or some ferns, or seeds, just something to grow. I am a young married woman with a 3 month old baby and live over four miles from my own people. It is a most cheerless place; my husband has been out of work for months and I want something to keep interested in. I would gladly do something in return for the cuttings or seeds—plain sewing or anything in my power. I have gained many friends through the Corner. E. M."

I hope there may be some one who will write for the periodicals and others who will send the seeds or plants and thus supply the plucky little woman with something to "keep interested in." Also I trust that the directions for knitting the honeycomb stitch may be forwarded for the mother.

Makes Housekeeping a Profession.

"I have enjoyed the Corner for a long time and I am especially interested in the articles on better housekeeping, as I am one of the women who try to make housekeeping a profession. I believe my knowledge of how to mend a hot water bag may help other readers, as by its means the bag may be made to serve double or treble its natural life. As soon as a tiny leak appears cut a small piece of adhesive plaster and stick it over the break, first putting hot water in the bag to heat the rubber. A worse leak, however, can come in the mouth of the bag and can be remedied by removing the old rubber washer and putting on a new one. I have noticed the wishes of people who want views and descriptions of the wonders of Arizona, such as the Grand Cañon and the prehistoric remains which exist in the state. I would be glad to send pictures or letters in description of them in return for a favor I myself wish to ask. I am anxious to teach my children about the different birds and animals, so I am making a collection of pictures in their colors. Could some of the members help me in making such a collection? I have started a scrap book and whenever we put a picture in the book we learn as much as we can of the habits and life of each bird or animal. The pictures are more interesting when they are colored. I hope some of the readers of the Corner will save and send me such pictures and let me make to them the return I have suggested.

MRS. A. L."

I am sure this correspondent will be helped by the kindness of some of those who have the colored pictures she craves and will send them from friendliness or in the hope of receiving in return the views and descriptions she offers. On my own account I wish to thank her for her suggestion as to repairing the hot water bag.

They Never Hear Any Music.

"The Corner is an inspiration to me. I had begun to think that my life had settled into a stupid gray, because I was nearly 40 and had spent all of the last seventeen years for my children and had fallen behind. But now I am going to grow twenty-four hours younger every day until I get back my lost youth and ambitions. I have a big favor to ask the Helping Hand. I have eight children under 18 and we live off on a farm where we can never hear music of any kind, and we get very dull sometimes. What I want to ask is if any one has a musical instrument of any kind that could be given to us. An old organ or piano would be welcome. Or if any one has an old phonograph and records, we would surely appreciate it. I know this is a big thing to ask for, but I have tried all the other ways I could think of to get what I want.

"MRS. S. J. B."

I am delighted to know that the Corner is helping this mother to renew her youth, and I hope she may carry out her intention of growing a day younger every twenty-four hours. I trust, too, that some kindly friend may have the musical instrument she craves and may be able to send it to her home. With eight children under 18 I should think there [illegible] much going on all the while that [illegible] would have time to stop to [illegible]

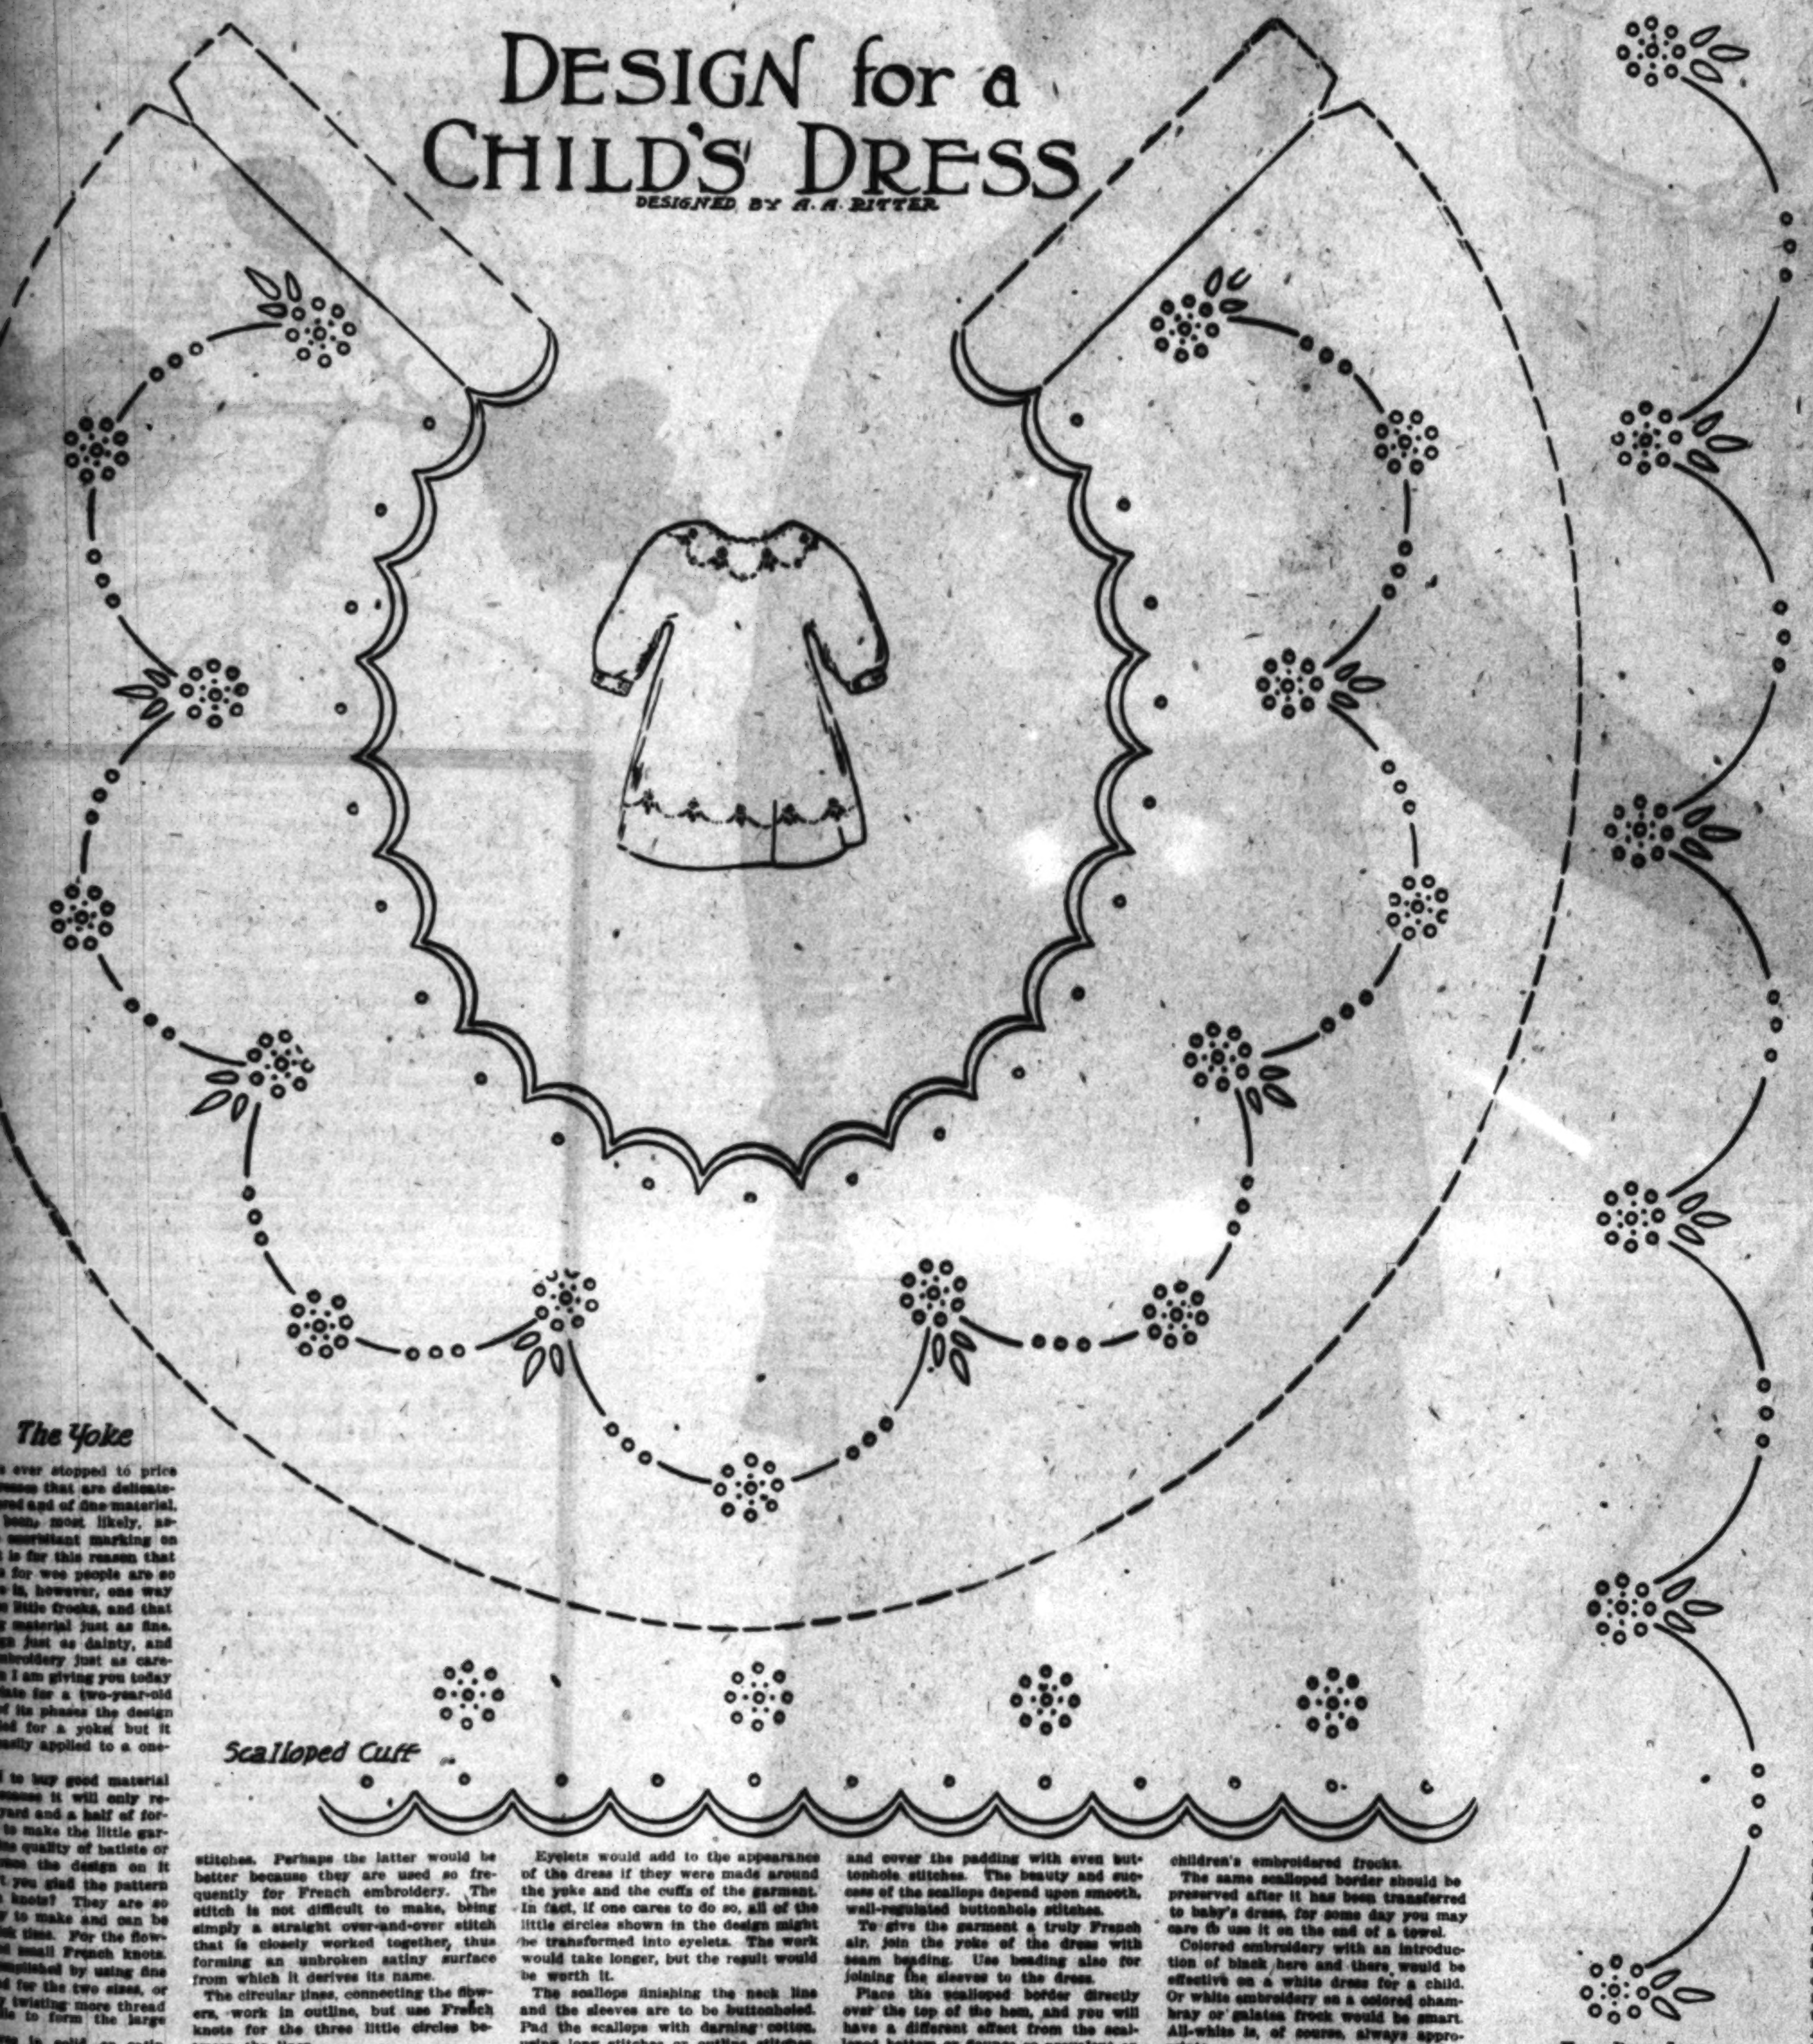
FOR THE INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

BY ADELAIDE BYRD

DESIGN for a CHILD'S DRESS

DESIGNED BY A. A. RITTER



The Yoke

Scalloped Cuff

have ever stopped to price little dresses that are delicate- broidered and of fine material, have been, most likely, as- at the exorbitant marking on ing. They are so so easy to make and can be such quick time. For the flow- large and small French knots accomplished by using fine thread for the two sizes, or done by twisting more thread the needle to form the large the leaves in solid or satin stitches. Perhaps the latter would be better because they are used so frequently for French embroidery. The stitch is not difficult to make, being simply a straight over-and-over stitch that is closely worked together, thus forming an unbroken satiny surface from which it derives its name.

The circular lines, connecting the flowers, work in outline, but use French knots for the three little circles between the lines.

Eyelets would add to the appearance of the dress if they were made around the yoke and the cuffs of the garment. In fact, if one cares to do so, all of the little circles shown in the design might be transformed into eyelets. The work would take longer, but the result would be worth it.

The scallops finishing the neck line and the sleeves are to be buttonholed. Pad the scallops with darning cotton, using long stitches or outline stitches, and cover the padding with even buttonhole stitches. The beauty and success of the scallops depend upon smooth, well-regulated buttonhole stitches.

To give the garment a truly French air, join the yoke of the dress with seam beading. Use beading also for joining the sleeves to the dress.

Place the scalloped border directly over the top of the hem, and you will have a different effect from the scalloped bottom or flounce so prevalent on children's embroidered frocks.

The same scalloped border should be preserved after it has been transferred to baby's dress, for some day you may care to use it on the end of a towel.

Colored embroidery with an introduction of black here and there would be effective on a white dress for a child. Or white embroidery on a colored chambray or galatea frock would be smart. All-white is, of course, always appropriate.

For Hot Biscuits

ANY hostess who prides herself on her delicious biscuits should not fail to keep them tasty by having them covered during the meal, so that they will retain the heat. An attractive cover can be made of white linen having a square center and four pointed ends. On one of the pointed pieces two biscuits might be embroidered. To make the design more realistic you can tint the biscuits brown and then outline the edges of them. Or, in place of using the design, embroider the words "Hot Biscuits" on the linen. Have such a cover ready for the next plate of hot biscuits you serve to your friends and enjoy the praise you will receive for your needlework and your culinary ability.

Damask Lunch Cloths

SOME of the newest lunch cloths are being shown of embroidered damask. The material itself is unfigured, but the embroidery is unusually elaborate. A very silky mercerized cotton is employed for working out the design, and this, with the soft sheen of the damask, makes a very rich cloth almost too pretty for table use. These cloths are more practical when made in the size of a large centerpiece, for then the individual plate and tumbler doilies of plain lace-edged damask can be used to protect the polished table surface and are more easily laundered than the heavily embroidered cover.

The Ends of Guest Towels

AS IF the tiny towels intended for the drop-in guests weren't bright and attractive enough, an ingenious girl has added color to the little towels for her hope chest by attaching a two-inch hem of striped galatea to each end of every towel. When pink-and-white striped galatea is used the little floral spray on the towel is embroidered in white and pink. Whatever color appears in the stripes, the same is repeated in the design. In some instances hemstitching is employed to join the striped material to the huckaback.

Three Utility Cases

A GIRL who was given a linen shower was most delighted over the gift of a dear friend who was forever doing something different from the rest of the girls. The gift she brought to the engaged girl consisted of three cases—one for spoons, one for knives and one for forks. These cases she made herself. The inner lining is of gray canton flannel and the necessary pockets are made of another piece of flannel stitched off to form the receptacles. This work can all be done on the machine. The outside of the cases are of gray linen, on which are embroidered conventional designs in orange silk. Gray tape is attached to the case, so that the silverware can be tied securely.

Overshoe Bag

WITH the vacation period only several months away, it behooves all vacationists to begin now to get as many things ready as possible, so that there will be no great rush a week or two before taking the train for the quietness of the woods or the gayety of the seashore.

If you have heretofore been wrapping your overshoes in a piece of paper and jamming them into your suitcase, surprise yourself this summer by having ready a bag which will make the rubbers feel more respectable. Such a bag can be made from half a yard of tan linen twelve inches wide. Turn the lower part of the material up until it comes within four inches of the top. Stitch this along the sides, so that it forms a pocket, into which the overshoes are to be placed. The bag can be closed by means of snap fasteners. If you are so inclined, you might outline the word "Rubbers" on the outer flap of the case.

An Applique Effect

A MOST attractive roll pillow seen recently has a design of leaves and grapes brought out on a green-tinted background. The leaves and the grapes are outlined with very heavy silk, and stand out in such bold relief that at first glance one is inclined to think that the design is applied to the green center of the cushion. At the ends of the cushion green silk muslin having several lines of shirring apparently grows out beneath the scalloped ends of the white linen cover.

Butterflies and French Knots

ONE of the most attractive serving trays ever made is of white linen embroidered in Alice blue and surrounded with a mahogany frame. The design consists of butterflies flying through a field of blue French knots. The stitches used to embellish the winged insects are just as quickly made as the French knots, for they are nothing more than outline stitches, which delineate the shape of the butterfly, and skeleton stitches, which partially fill the wings and body of the insect.

The frame is so made that the embroidered piece of linen can easily be removed and another piece of handwork can be substituted as a change or to fit in with another color scheme.

Braid Embroidery

A FANCY braid is being used a great deal to embellish designs on table runners and cushions. The braid comes in a variety of colors and is used in connection with herringbone, buttonhole, skeleton and many other embroidery stitches. A very good illustration of the effect the braid and various stitches give is noticed on a table runner of natural linen exhibited by an excellent shop. On either end a conventional floral design is stamped. The leaves and stems of the flowers are covered with the green braid. The petals of the flowers are worked in yellow skeleton stitches, while the centers of the flowers are filled in with brown French knots.

Comb-and-Brush Case

A MOST appropriate gift, which a girl will use in her overnight bag or in the week-end suitcase, is made of tan or white linen. Its purpose is to hold the comb and brush and to keep these articles from coming into contact with the other things in the bag or case. To enhance the beauty of the long and narrow bag sketch or trace on it a floral design which calls for easy embroidering, such as French knots, skeleton stitches or cross stitches. The practical part about such a gift is that, in spite of its usefulness, it can be fashioned of left-over linen and left-over floss.

For the Baby's Outing

THERE is a new idea in carriage robes for the warm spring days when even baby does not want his little feet covered too warmly for his daily constitutional. These new robes are made of the softest white or light tinted wool of light weight and worked out in filet crochet. The design is not heavy and the robe is faced with a soft china silk in a contrasting color. About the edge is a border of the shell stitch, this being edged in turn with a finishing stitch of silk in the same shade as the silk lining. A wreath of tiny rosebuds encircles the entire robe about the edge, and at about what would be the lower left-hand corner there is a large rosette of knotted ribbon with long ends. The entire cover is very light and yet surprisingly warm.

Convenience in the Laundry Bag

THE laundryman is waiting at the door and the laundry bag is chock full of soiled collars and shirts. The string breaks, becomes knotted, and you are all afluster. While the following new model for a laundry bag is not intended for careless housekeepers who allow to happen such a catastrophe as keeping the laundryman waiting, still it will save a few precious minutes in a very busy day. It is nothing but an ordinary laundry bag made of linen or cretonne; the bottom of the bag is left open and faced. An extra piece of material of a plain color, if the bag is of cretonne, is attached at one side of the bottom and fastens on the other with buttons or snap fasteners. The idea is that the soiled clothes can be dropped out from the bottom of the bag without the added trouble of untying and opening what is often a very stubborn drawing string at the top. Another labor-saving device, welcome!

Odd Puffs

HERE are two novel ways of disguising the ever-essential powder puff. The first can be made of ribbon about four inches wide and eight or nine inches long, the selvage edges folded and sewed together, except for about two inches at the center, making a strip of double silk nine inches long and two inches wide. Now gather each end up tightly and attach a silk tassel the same shade or contrasting with the color of the ribbon. Slip two ivory rings over the little bag, and you have an old-fashioned purse just like grandmother used for her pennies, but which you will use to hold in one end a powder puff, very diminutive, but quite adequate, and in the other end a mirror of the same dimensions. This little vanity bag can be carried out in the shades of the favorite evening gown, and makes a dainty and inconspicuous accessory for the carrying of the evening's ammunition. The second puff is for the dressing table, and is in the shape of a bisque ballerina, with voluminous maline skirts, who poises lightly atop of a glass powder jar. The puff is attached in some mysterious manner to the little bisque body, and the maline skirts act as a pretty ornament and a practical cover for the powder beneath. They can easily be renewed from time to time as they become soiled or mussed.

Baby Bibs

BIBS are a necessity for the small baby, but they are not necessarily hideous affairs. With so many quaint and attractive designs in the shops, any mother can fashion a number of the small protectors in a very short time. There are some cunning little bibs being made out of plain hemstitched linen squares about eight inches in dimension. In one case the corner is nipped off and slightly rounded to fit the pudgy little neck, and in another the same rounding out is done directly in the middle of one beautiful side. Plain white tapes are attached and a very square animal of unknown species is cross-stitched at the bottom of the bib. Another style, both practical in its generous size and attractive with its coloring, is made of a linen cloth of loose basket weave which is bound with gay colored braid. A grotesque figure is then cross-stitched in as many colors as possible at the bottom. These bibs make very acceptable offerings to any mother, and if baby does not appreciate the bib, he does love the colors.

Imitation of Smocking

NOT for a long time has smocking been so popular as it is this season. It is used to trim dresses for children, gowns for grown-ups, baby caps, fabric handbags and all sorts of interesting things. To do the work well, time and patience are required, and also an extra amount of material. There is a very easy way to get the effect of smocking without having to go to much trouble. This is by means of outlining slanting lines running from left to right and from right to left and at points of intersection placing a French knot. A cunning white dress for a youngster of four has blocks of imitated smocking, two at the front and two at the back. At each side of the block there are buttonholed slashes and through these wide black velvet ribbon is run. The neck and sleeves of the frock are buttonholed in scalloped lines, while several lines of simulated smocking are placed at the top of the dress, front and back. Blue washable silk is used for the outlining, while black silk is used for the French knots.

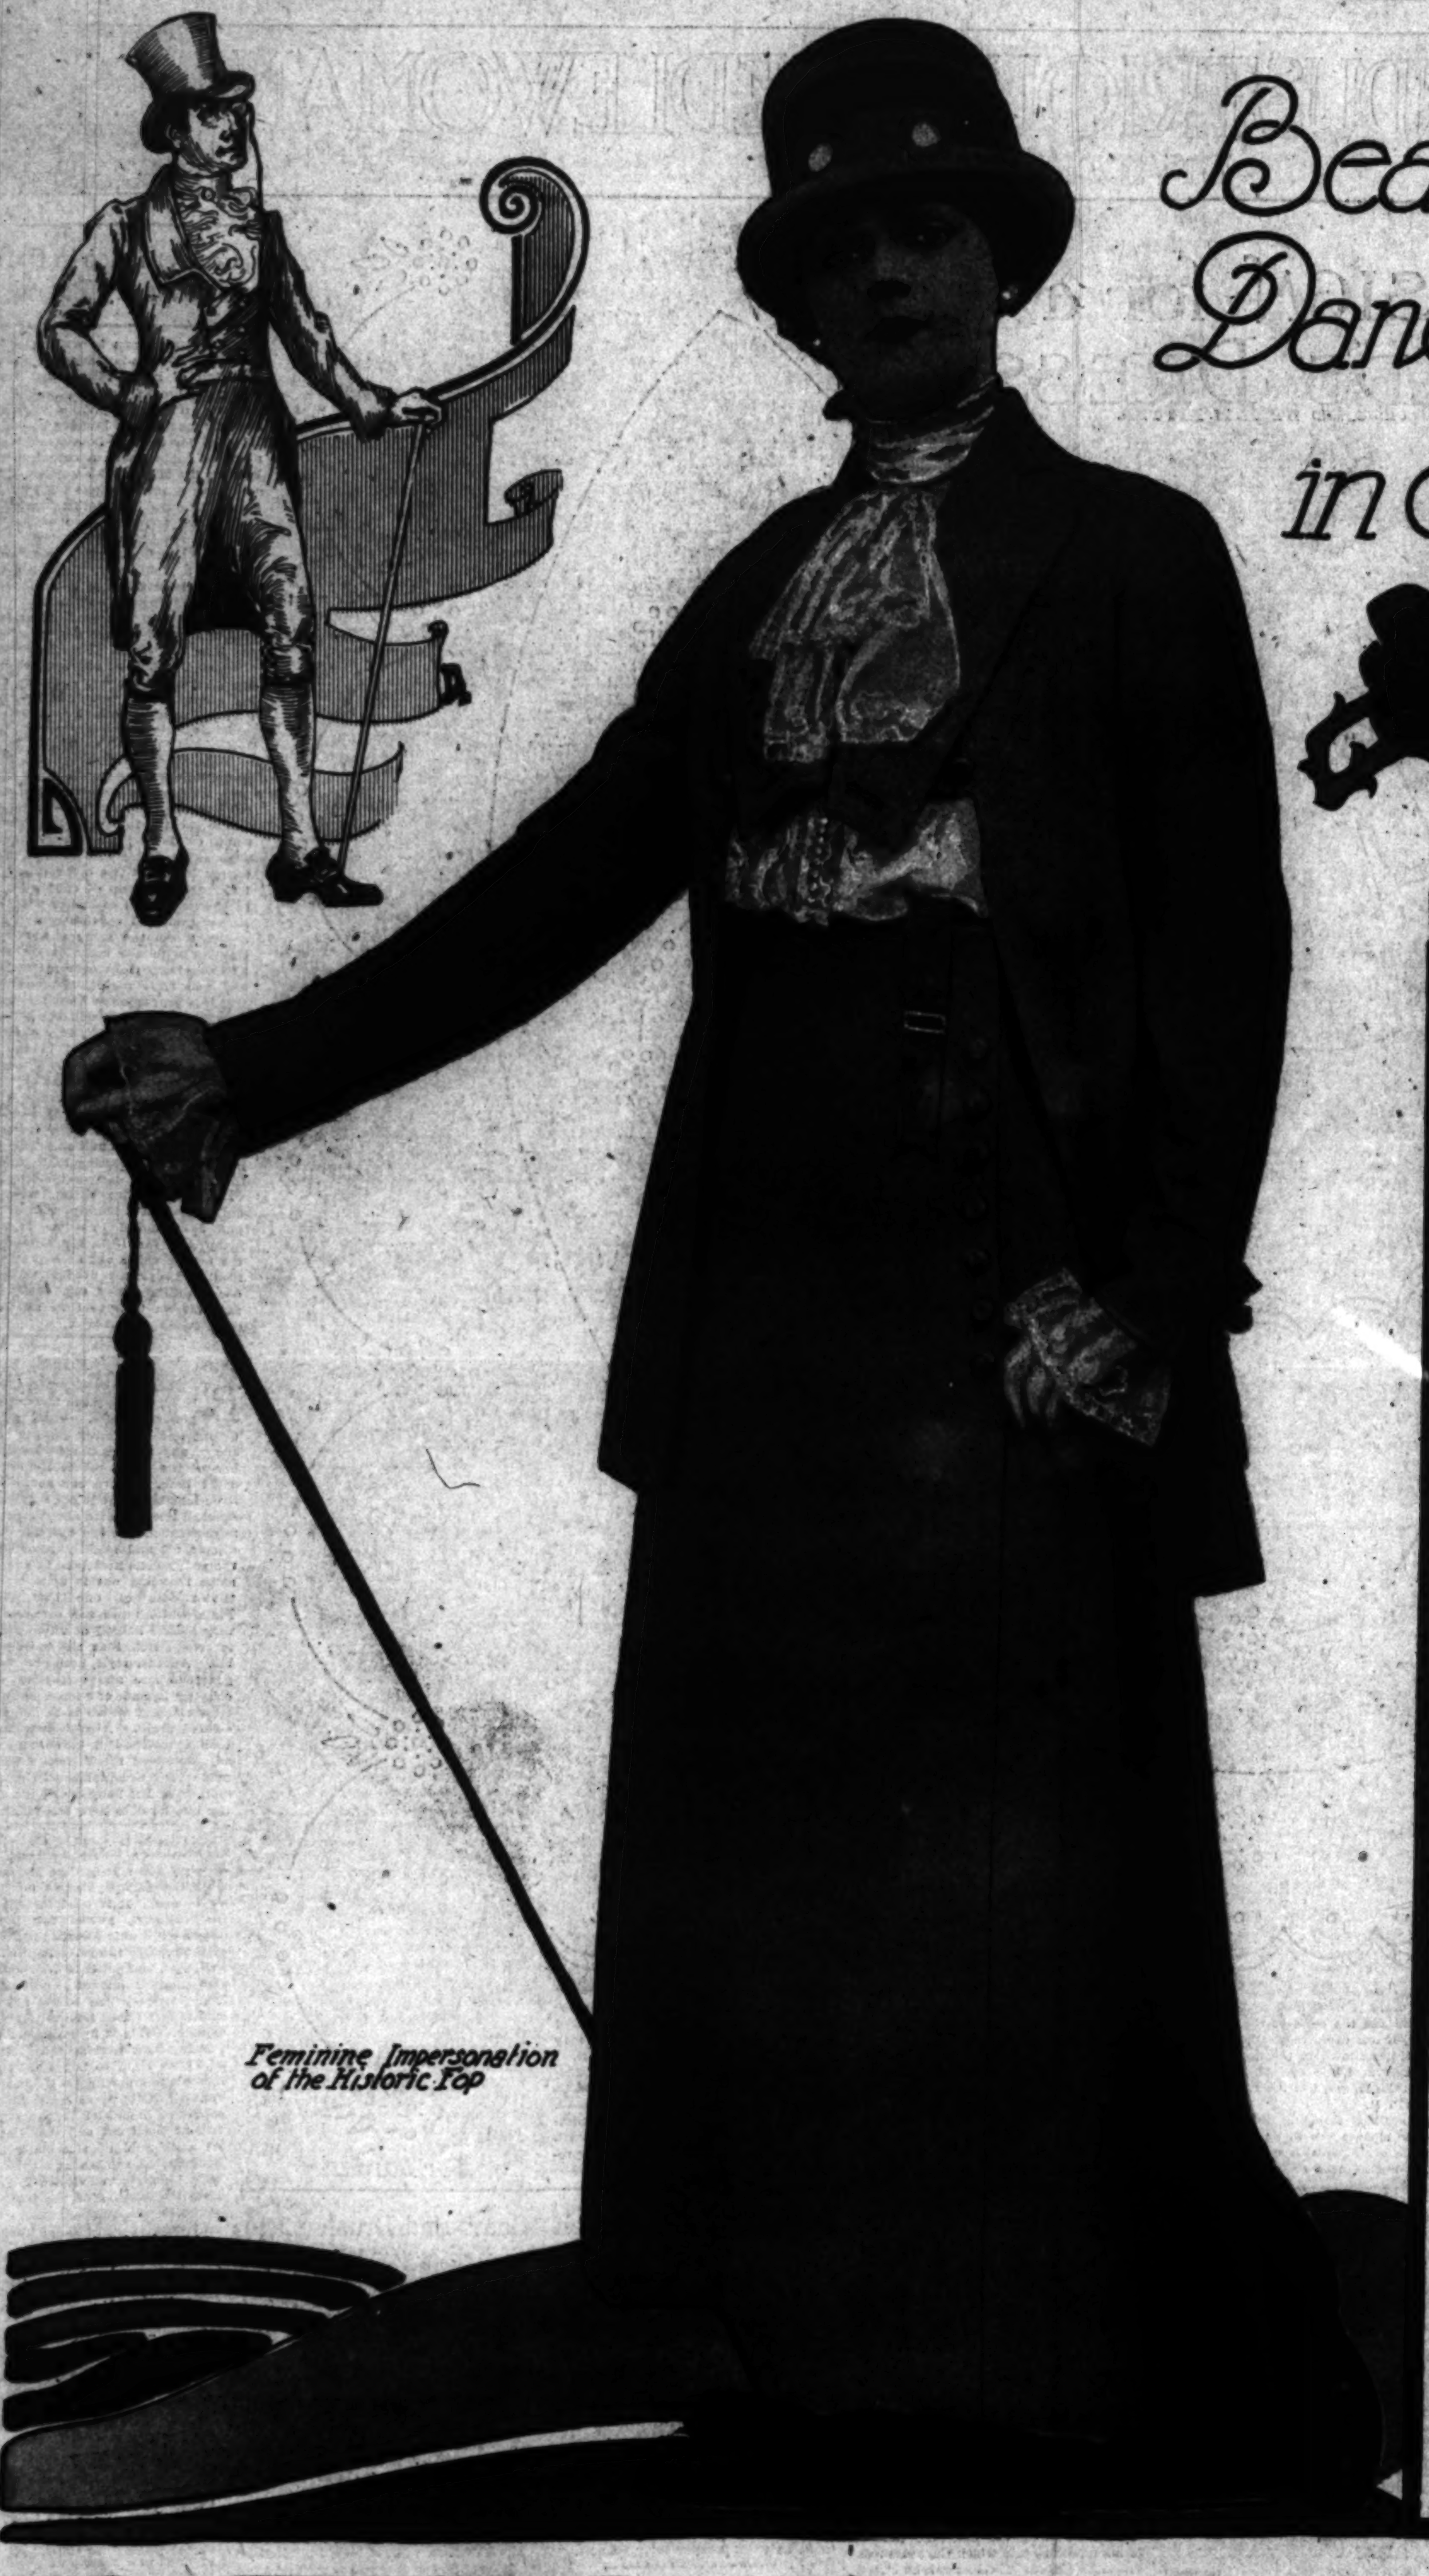
Gift For the Knitter

VERY frequently one feels obliged to send some sort of token of friendship to one who has been especially kind. When such a feeling overwhelms one it is best to look about for some useful gift, even though it takes a little extra time during your shopping hours. An especially appropriate gift for the person who knits is a little bag in which a ball of wool can be kept. The bag is made of two circles of tan linen. The two circles are joined together with a strip of green tape, an opening being allowed for the ball to slip through. To the top of each circle of linen sew a strip of tan linen, which is also bound with green tape and which acts as a handle of the bag. In the center of one of the circles of linen punch a hole. Buttonhole its edge with green silk. Through the hole the wool weaves its way into the shawl, afghan or whatever article the knitter happens to be making. The little bag can be conveniently carried over the arm of the worker as she is knitting, and there will be no time lost hunting for the ball of wool.

How to Transfer

PLACE a sheet of impression carbon paper between your fabric and the newspaper design, the latter on top. With a sharp pencil or a glass-pointed pen go over the outline. The design will be transferred to the material and will last until worked.

Beau Brummel Dandyism Again in Fashion



Feminine Impersonation of the Historic Fop

BEAU BRUMMEL, prince of dandies, has returned, at last in spirit, from the early part of the nineteenth century to again influence fashion. In this instance, however, it is the lure of the eternal feminine which has caused the ghostly fashionplate to walk—the eternal feminine which, in traditional fickleness to line and cut, has pounced upon the delightful Beau and his fads and fancies and revived all three after many years, in search of novelty. There is but one thing wanting—a snuffbox! What a pity to leave a snuffbox out of what otherwise is a faultless copy (trousers banned, of course)—fob, bell hat and all! Some one has said that Dolly Madison carried the most charming of snuffboxes—and used it, too; so why not a modern Beau Brummeless? Truth to tell, why not?

Did you ever see such a charming little fraud as the fob upon the coat suit pictured? The fob is a very small feature compared with the attractive cut of the entire suit, but it is, nevertheless, the thing which first attracts the eye. This particular fob is of bright blue ribbon, having upon it a slide of brilliants, and it's a fraud because it doesn't end in a watch at all, but is only sewed to the blouse several inches above the waist line. One could, however, have a real watch pocket at this place and attach the decorative fob, which is really indispensable to the charming effect of this Beau Brummel creation, to a sure-enough watch.

Notice, too, the cut of the coat—how the oblong panel is cut away at a high waist line in the front, and how the revers are just like Beau's own. A slight deviation is made by the addition of the jabot, though even here the jabot simulates the dandy's ruffled shirt. Faithful and charming is the neckerchief pictured upon the model. In Beau Brummel's time men wore silken and satin kerchiefs knotted about their necks in the form of stocks. It was the fashion, too, to have the neck abnormally large and look for all the world as though one had the mumps. Fancy! And when necks were not naturally puffed, ultrafashionables resorted to padding in the form of little silken cushions, over which the neckerchief was then tied and knotted at the front. Even the dandy's dog-eared collar, worn with the stock, is not forgotten, and it is here produced in organdie tabs, which, you will notice, peep over the white satin neckerchief stock. These tabs may be as large or as small as you prefer, depending much upon the size of the face.

The very chic hat which completes the costume is a modification of the old-time bell hat or beaver. It is, in this instance, of straw in sand color and trimmed with sand-color ribbon ornamented with white dots and topped with black velvet ribbon. The suit itself is of sand-colored covert cloth trimmed with sand-colored buttons. Jabot and stock are in white, the former lace and the latter satin. Lace also forms the blouse worn with the suit. The model carries one of the canes that are becoming more fashionable each day, and which are exceedingly smart appearing when carried by a well-groomed and tailored woman. These canes come in various lengths, some being but eighteen inches long, gold and silver mounted, and carried in the hand without a thought of ever touching the ground.

And why shouldn't Beau Brummel influence the fashions, or at least one phase of them, today? Brummel was a man of most exquisite taste, and one who considered a man vulgarly garbed if his clothes attracted undue attention. Unlike many dandies, Brummel had keen wit and certainly an advanced idea of sanitation compared with those of his time, for it is written of him that he was "a man who dared to be cleanly in the dirtiest of times."

Fortunate poor fashion-ridden womankind indeed if all sources of garment inspiration were as charming and suitable in line as this which has been derived from the courtly Beau, a man styled by some as "a poet of cloth," an "artist in cloth," etc. Why not have the next new suit along Beau Brummel lines? They are inconspicuous, chic, and altogether charming. But that snuffbox, that snuffbox—is it possible that it will return? Shall we hear—"Do have a pinch, my dear! John brought me a pound of it last week, the darling, and it is the most beautiful color." That snuffbox may cause trouble yet.
